POLICIES

General Provisions

010.0 Policy

Policy consists of principles and values, which guide the performance of a Department activity. Policy is not a statement of what must be done in a particular situation; rather, it is a statement of guiding principles, which should be followed in activities, which are directed toward the attainment of Department objectives.

Policy is formulated by analyzing objectives and determining through research those principles, which will best guide the Department in achieving its objectives. Policy is based upon police ethics and experience, the desires of the community, and the mandate of the law.

Policy is articulated to inform the public and Department employees of the principles, which will be adhered to in the performance of the law enforcement function.

An officer in the performance of his duty is confronted with an infinite variety of complex situations, which require police action. Since policy is objective rather than situation oriented, it is broad enough in scope to encompass most situations. Policy, therefore, must be stated in general terms.

020.0 Glossary

020.10 Value

A value is a weight accorded to a quality of performance or accomplishment. Values are the basis for the determination of objectives and may be both ethical and functional.

020.20 Objective

An objective is specific and definable. It is a desired end for which effort is expended and which, if attained, fulfills the purposes of the Department. Within each objective, there may be a number of subordinate objectives, each of which, if attained, contributes to the accomplishment of the police mission.

020.25 Goal

A goal is an ideal, broad and general, to which all Department activities are directed.

020.30 Principle

A principle is a conceptual guide arrived at through logical deduction by evaluating experience with a view toward the attainment of objectives. A principle may be of assistance in the exercise of judgment in a duty-related or off-duty activity, and may be both ethical and functional.

020.40 Procedure

A procedure is a preferred and expected method of performing an operation or a manner of proceeding on a course of action. It differs from policy in that it directs action in a particular situation to perform a specific task within the guidelines of policy. Both policies and procedures are objective oriented; however, policy establishes limits of action while procedure directs response within those limits. Procedures will be established in writing when possible and policy dictates that they be followed.

020.50 Rule

A rule is a specific requirement or prohibition, which is stated to prevent deviations from policy or procedure. Rules allow little deviation other than for stated exceptions. Deviation from or violation of rules generally requires immediate and documented justification and explanation.

030.0 Review

The Policies, Procedures and Rules contained in the Operations Manual shall be reviewed annually to ensure consistency with relevant Statutes, Ordinances, case law, Labor Contracts and contemporary police practice.

Objectives

105.0 Mission Statement

The mission of the Oklahoma City Police Department is to deliver exceptional police services to our community with integrity, compassion, accountability, respect, and equity.

Adopted 12/90; Revised 9/20

106.0 Core Values

The core values of the Oklahoma City Police Department are:

1. Integrity
2. Compassion
3. Accountability
4. Respect
5. Equity

Adopted 9/20

107.0 Vision Statement

The vision of the police department is to ensure Oklahoma City is one of the safest cities in the country through strong community relationships, innovative strategies and healthy, well-trained officers.

110.0 Primary Objective

A society free from crime and disorder remains an unachieved ideal; nevertheless, consistent with the values of a free society, it is the primary objective of the Oklahoma City Police Department to as closely as possible approach that ideal. In so doing, the Department's role is to enforce the law in a fair and impartial manner, recognizing both the statutory and judicial limitations of police authority and the Constitutional rights of all persons. It is not the role of the Department to legislate, to render legal judgments, or to punish.

111.0 Procedural Justice

Fairness and respect in police and community interactions are paramount to the success of any law enforcement organization. It is an objective of the Oklahoma City Police Department to identify and incorporate progressive practices that promote positive community relations.

The department has adopted procedural justice philosophies in order to promote fair enforcement of laws in the community, accountability within the agency and transparency to those we serve. Procedural justice is defined as the idea of fairness in the processes that resolve disputes and allocate resources. When procedural justice, as a philosophy, is translated into day-to-day practices, the results are positive organizational change, increased police legitimacy in the community, and enhanced officer safety. It is the duty of the men and women of the Oklahoma City Police Department to uphold the principles of procedural justice and to approach all aspects of police work with fairness and impartiality.

115.0 Police Authority

According to Oklahoma State Statutes, police officers in the State of Oklahoma "...shall have the power to arrest all offenders against the laws of the State or of the City, by day or by night, in the same manner as the Marshal, and keep them in the City prison or other place to prevent their escape until a trial can be held before the proper office".

Oklahoma City Ordinances established the Police Department for the purpose of performing various public safety functions of the City. The City Ordinances state that the Police Department shall have and exercise the powers and duties of preventing and detecting crime, preserving the peace, protecting the citizens and others in their persons and property and maintaining public order.

City Ordinances further define the "General Power of the Police Department" by stating that police officers shall have the power to arrest all offenders against the laws of the State or the City by day or by night. Offenders will be placed in the County Jail or other place to prevent their escape until a trial can be had before a proper officer, or until a recognizance with sufficient surety is duly entered into by the prisoner in custody as provided by law.

115.10 Authority of the Chief of Police

According to Oklahoma State Statutes, cities may create the position of Chief of Police, who shall at all times have power to make or order an arrest with proper process, for any offense against the laws of the State or of the City, and bring the offender for trial before the proper officer of the City, and to arrest without process, in all cases where any such offense shall be committed in his/her presence.

The Municipal Code of the City of Oklahoma City designates the Chief of Police as the chief administrative officer of the Police Department. All members of the Department serve subject to the orders of the Chief of Police.

The Code also empowers the Chief of Police to make rules and regulations, as he/she deems advisable. When approved by the City Council, these rules are binding upon all members of the Police Department.

Revised 10/04

115.15 Succession of Command

The Chief of Police shall have the authority to designate an acting Chief when he/she is absent from the City or temporarily unavailable.

Should the Chief of Police become incapacitated through illness, death, or for any other reason can not carry out the duties of the office, the City Manager will appoint an interim Chief.

120.0 Functional Objectives

Peace in a free society depends on voluntary compliance with the law. The primary responsibility for upholding the law, therefore, lies not with police, but with the people. Since crime is a social phenomenon, crime prevention is the concern of every person living in society. Society employs full-time professional police to prevent crime, to deter it and, when that fails, to apprehend those who violate the law.

Crime is a symptom of ills within society, which is not the responsibility of the Department to cure. The Department is responsible, however, for interacting with the community to generate mutual understanding so that there may be public support for crime prevention. Community involvement is essential to facilitate a free flow of information between the public and the Department to assist in the identification of problem areas and to inform the public of crime statistics and trends.

Additionally, knowledge of the community is necessary so that each Department employee may be instilled with a sense of concern for the crime problems and law enforcement needs in his assigned area of responsibility.

The prevention of crime remains a basic obligation of society, and to the degree it becomes necessary to rely on police action to secure compliance with the law; society has failed in this responsibility.

120.05 Victim / Witness Assistance

The Oklahoma City Police Department supports victim/witness assistance programs. Encouraging the cooperation of victims and witnesses of criminal acts is important to the Department's mission. The Department strives to treat victims and witnesses of crime with fairness and dignity.

120.10 Apprehension of Offenders

The administration of criminal justice consists of the identification, arrest, prosecution, punishment, and rehabilitation of a law violator, and it has as its objective the voluntary compliance with the law as an alternative to punishment. Once a crime has been committed, it is the duty of the Department to initiate the criminal justice process by identifying and arresting the perpetrator, by obtaining necessary evidence, and cooperating in the prosecution of the case.

120.20 Recovery and Return of Property

The actual costs of crime are difficult to measure; there cannot be a dollar value assigned to the broken bodies, ruined lives, and human misery, which are its products. However, it is possible to observe the steadily mounting cost of lost and stolen property. This loss as well as the other costs of crime must ultimately be borne by its victims. To minimize the losses due to crime, the Department makes every reasonable, good faith effort to recover lost or stolen property, to identify its owners, and to ensure its prompt return.

120.30 Movement of Traffic

To facilitate the safe and expeditious movement of vehicular and pedestrian traffic, the Department enforces traffic laws, investigates traffic accidents, and directs traffic. To enforce compliance with traffic laws and to develop driver awareness of the causes of traffic accidents, the Department appropriately warns, cites, and arrests traffic law violators. Traffic accidents are investigated to protect the rights of the involved parties, to care for the injured, to determine the causes of accidents so that methods of prevention may be developed and, when a traffic law violation is discovered, to gather necessary evidence to prosecute the violator. The Department provides direction for vehicular and pedestrian traffic where necessary. It provides information to the public in assisting them to safely and expeditiously arrive at their destination.

120.40 Public Service

Often, because there are no other public or private agencies available, the public relies upon the Department for assistance and advice in the many routine and emergency situations, which develop in an urban society. For this reason, and because there is frequently a potential for crime, the Department regularly responds to incidents where it is not contemplated that an arrest will be made. To satisfy these requests and to assure the peace and safety of all persons, the Department responds to calls for service and renders such aid or advice as is necessitated or indicated by the situation. Such services are provided in cooperation and in coordinated effort with fire, rescue, ambulance and other safety agencies within the community.

123.0 Assistance to other Law Enforcement Agencies and Events of Concurrent Jurisdiction

The Department maintains a close working relationship with other law enforcement agencies, and recognizes there are instances in which law enforcement agencies will need this Department's assistance and other incidents involving concurrent jurisdiction.

Therefore, it is the policy of this Department to provide assistance to other law enforcement agencies whenever possible.

Whenever a Department officer responds to a call for assistance by another agency outside the city limits of Oklahoma City or to an incident of concurrent jurisdiction, that officer will be governed and protected by the policies and procedures of this Department.

125.0 Specific Subordinate Performance Objectives

In order to direct and evaluate the effectiveness of the daily activities of police officers, the Department will develop performance objectives that are specific, measurable and achievable. Specific performance objectives will be continually analyzed, modified when appropriate, and utilized to determine the degree of success the Department is experiencing in achieving its primary and functional objectives. Specific performance objectives are developed for individual employees, their immediate work groups, divisional units, and the Department as a whole to insure that efforts of all employees are coordinated toward a common purpose.

130.0 Resource Objectives

130.10 Department Personnel

Police officers are frequently required to make decisions affecting human life and liberty in difficult situations where there is no opportunity to seek advice and little time for reflection. Law enforcement in a free and complex society requires an officer to have the stamina, intelligence, moral courage, and emotional stability necessary to fairly and impartially deal with human beings in the many complicated and potentially explosive situations, which he encounters. To obtain the caliber of personnel necessary to provide the public with professional law enforcement, it is essential that the Department participate in the recruitment and selection of potential officers. Thereafter, the Department must constantly strive to maintain and perfect the quality of its officers through education and training and must also strive to promote the most qualified.

130.20 Utilization of Resources

Law Enforcement is one of the most expensive and complex services provided by the City. The quality and extent of service provided is necessarily limited by available resources, which are to a large extent dependent upon the revenue sources of the City. To ensure that the highest level of service is obtained from the resources at its disposal, the Department must make use of the most efficient management and budgeting techniques available. It is further incumbent upon every employee to use resources as economically as possible.

205.0 Standard of Conduct

Success within the community is dependent upon each employee of the Oklahoma City Police Department exemplifying excellence, integrity, honesty and character. The combination of these traits should reflect the highest moral principles in all phases of public service. By uniting the integrity and commitment of each employee, the Oklahoma City Police Department shall reflect a positive image to the citizens.

It is the policy of the Oklahoma City Police Department to provide an employment and business environment free of disruptive, disorderly, abusive, discriminating, or harassing conduct, any unwelcome sexual advance or any other form(s) of verbal or physical conduct that would constitute sexual harassment as defined and prohibited by state and federal statutes.

The Law Enforcement Code of Ethics is adopted as a general standard of conduct for employees of the Oklahoma City Police Department. All employees of the Department shall adhere to the personnel rules and regulations of the City and the policies, procedures and rules of this Department.

Revised 9/95

205.10 Law Enforcement Code of Ethics

As a law enforcement officer, my fundamental duties are to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the Constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality and justice.

I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn, or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my Department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature or that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept ever secret unless revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudices, animosities, or friendships to influence my decisions. With no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals, I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice or ill will, never employing unnecessary force or violence and never accepting gratuities.

I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it, as a public trust to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of the police service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession...law enforcement.

205.15 Oath of Office

All personnel prior to assuming sworn status must take and subsequently abide by the following oath of office:

I do solemnly swear that I will bear true allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, to the Constitution and Statutes of the State of Oklahoma, and to the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Oklahoma City.

I further solemnly swear that I will diligently discharge all orders and directions of the present, or future, Chief of Police of Oklahoma City, and other superior officers appointed over me according to the rules and regulations of the Oklahoma City Police Department.

I further solemnly swear that I will serve honestly and faithfully in the performance of my duties as a Police Officer and will accept my commission as a symbol of authority and a mark of service to the people of this community.

210.0 Loyalty

In the performance of his duty to serve society, an officer is often called upon to make difficult decisions. He must exercise discretion in situations where his rights and liabilities and those of the Department hinge upon his conduct and judgment. An officer's decisions are not easily made and occasionally they involve a choice, which may cause him hardship or discomfort. An officer must be faithful to his oath of office, the principles of professional police service, and the objectives of the Department, and in the discharge of his duty he must not allow personal motives to govern his decisions and conduct.

215.0 Conduct Unbecoming a Police Employee

A police officer is the most conspicuous representative of government, and to the majority of the people he is a symbol of stability and authority upon whom they can rely. An officer's conduct is closely scrutinized, and when his actions are found to be excessive, unwarranted, or unjustified, they tend to be criticized far more severely than comparable conduct of persons in other walks of life. Since the conduct of an officer or civilian employee, on or off-duty, may reflect directly upon the Department, each police employee must at all times conduct himself in a manner which does not bring discredit to the employee, the Department, or the City.

220.0 Respect for Constitutional Rights

No person has a Constitutional right to violate the law; neither may any person be deprived of his Constitutional rights merely because he is suspected of having committed a crime or has committed a crime. The task of determining the constitutionality of a statute lies with a court of proper jurisdiction, not with an officer who seeks to properly enforce the law as it exists. Therefore, an officer may enforce any federal, State, or local statute, which is valid on its face without fear of abrogating the Constitutional rights of the person violating that statute. An officer who lawfully acts within the scope of his authority does not deprive persons of their civil liberties. He may within the scope of his authority make reasonable inquiries, conduct investigations, and arrest on probable cause.

However, when an officer exceeds his authority by unreasonable conduct, he violates the sanctity of the law, which he is sworn to uphold.

222.0 Non-Discrimination

The Oklahoma City Police Department is committed to a policy of non-discrimination. It is the policy of the Department that no person or employee shall benefit or be discriminated against, in any manner inconsistent with the Constitution, federal law, state statutes, the City Charter, ordinances, resolutions, policies, rules, or regulations.

It is the policy of the Department that employment with the City will be free of conduct that is discriminatory, abusive, disorderly, disruptive, or retaliatory. Any employee's conduct, whether intentional or unintentional, that results in discrimination or harassment of other employees or any other person(s) with regard to race, color, creed, disability, age, religion, sex, national origin, or exercise of a legal right is strictly prohibited.

When dealing with persons who are mentally challenged, physically disabled or who clearly demonstrate a special need, employees will consider the disability and make reasonable efforts to take the special needs in consideration in the performance of their duties.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/05

225.0 Bias-Based Policing Prohibited

For the purpose of this policy, bias-based policing shall be defined as the detention, interdiction, or other disparate treatment of an individual on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or handicap.

No officer or employee of the Oklahoma City Police Department shall engage in bias-based policing.

If an officer or employee is found in direct violation of the Department's policy regarding bias-based policing, the Department shall take appropriate action consistent with applicable laws, rules, ordinances, and policy.

226.0 Disclosure of Domestic Violence

The Omnibus Consolidated Appropriations Act of 1997 makes it unlawful for any person convicted of a "misdemeanor crime of domestic violence" to ship, transport, possess, receive, sell, or dispose of firearms or ammunition. This includes law enforcement officers who have been convicted of any qualifying misdemeanor including simple assaults on spouses, ex-spouses, or cohabiting partners. Those convicted will not be able to possess firearms for any reason, including performing their official law enforcement duties. The prohibition also applies to convictions prior to the law's effective date of September 30, 1996.

Any officer with a VPO against him/her, but does not have a conviction of domestic abuse or other related crimes, may be in violation of Title 18, U.S.C.A., Section 922 (d)(8)&(9) while acting in an off-duty status. Officers with a VPO may possess a firearm when acting in an official, on duty capacity, and in an "On Call" status with the approval of the Chief of Police. Off-duty officers with a VPO are prohibited from possessing a firearm even for such events as hunting. This includes the purchase of firearms while a VPO is in effect.

Any employee having any prior conviction, or is convicted of a crime fitting the above circumstances (misdemeanor or felony), while employed by the City of Oklahoma City, or is subject to a current, pending VPO or otherwise has reason to anticipate being subject to a VPO, must notify their Bureau Commander in writing without delay. Each case will be evaluated on its specific circumstances; assistance and guidance will be offered to the employee.

230.0 Integrity

The public demands that the integrity of its law enforcement personnel be above reproach, and the dishonesty of a single Department member may impair public confidence and cast suspicion upon the entire Department. Succumbing to even minor temptation can be the genesis of a malignancy, which may ultimately destroy an individual's effectiveness and may contribute to the corruption of countless others. Each Department employee must scrupulously avoid any conduct, which might compromise the integrity of his fellow employees or the Department, and has the obligation to report the dishonesty of others.

230.10 Gratuities

Employees shall not accept any gift, gratuity, loan, reward, fee, or anything of value where the acceptance of such would influence directly or indirectly, the actions of the employee or any other member or employee in any matter of police business, or would cast an adverse reflection on the Department or any of its employees.

No member of this Department shall offer or give gifts, gratuities, or special privileges to any other person or agency in expectation of special benefit to himself or the Department.

Employees are prohibited from buying, selling, receiving as a gift, bartering, or by any other means acquiring anything of value from a person in police custody, or any person with a criminal record or under investigation or impending investigations by the Department, except as may be specifically authorized by the Chief of Police.

230.20 Solicitations

No employee of this Department shall solicit any form of benefit for himself, the Department, the City, or any other organization, from any person, group, or firm, when the benefit is to be secured as a result of his employment by the Department, except as authorized by the Chief of Police

231.0 Public Statements

Members of the general public tend to assign great credibility and weight to the word of police employees. As such, indiscreet, inaccurate, or incomplete statements made by police employees have great potential to cause irreversible damage to individual reputations, as well as to the reputation of the Department. For that reason, truth, accuracy, objectivity, and due regard for the rights and privacy of individuals must characterize all statements of law enforcement employees who supply information to the public, either directly or indirectly.

232.0 Court Testimony

When testifying in court, employees shall present evidence honestly and without bias or prejudice. The sole object shall be to give evidence as the employee has knowledge of it. The employee shall not identify with the prosecution or defense, but provide evidence on the basis of actual fact.

233.0 Confidentiality

Safeguarding information about an individual or group that has been obtained by the law enforcement employee in the course of duty or an official investigation is a primary obligation of all police employees. Such information is not to be communicated to others, unless certain important conditions are met.

No information shall be maintained or transmitted to another about the private life of an individual, which does not relate specifically to the violation of laws.

Security and privacy shall be assured all individuals whose records are maintained in order that such records shall be used only in criminal justice proceedings.

Only those with a legal right of access shall have access to any criminal justice agency records or record systems.

233.10 Disclosure of Medical Information

A Department employee shall not disclose any information regarding an individual's health status, either verbally, written or by any type of electronic transmission, unless legally required to do so. The U. S. Constitution provides the right to privacy in addition to Oklahoma State Statute Title 63, Section 1-502.2. Medical information cannot be released except in compliance with an enumerated provision of the law. The enumerated sections refer to the release of information for medical purposes. The Department may release medical information in any format only when the involved individual or their legal guardian signs a written release. Any employee whose actions violate these provisions may become civilly liable in addition to their employer.

234.0 Recommending Attorneys, Bail Bondsmen, and Wrecker Services Prohibited

Police employees shall not suggest, recommend, advise or otherwise counsel the retention of a specific attorney, bail bondsman or wrecker service to any person coming to their attention as a result of police business.

235.0 Political Activity

City employees are encouraged to exercise their right of voting as citizens and may belong to political parties of their own choice.

During normal working hours, City employees shall not circulate petitions or campaign literature for, or against, candidates including elected officials, or for initiative or referendum petitions, nor be in any way concerned with soliciting, receiving subscriptions, or participating in political services or activities. On public improvement bond issues, the City Council may authorize qualified City personnel to assist in informing the public.

No person shall use or promise to use, directly or indirectly, an official authority or influence, whether possessed or implied, to secure, or attempt to secure, for any person an appointment to a position in the classified service, or any increase in pay or other advantage in employment in any such position, for the purpose of influencing the vote or political action of any person.

Effective law enforcement depends on a high degree of cooperation between the Department, the public it serves, and other public agencies. The practice of courtesy in all public contacts encourages understanding and appreciation; discourtesy breeds contempt and resistance. The majority of the public are law-abiding citizens who rightfully expect fair and courteous treatment by Department employees. While the urgency of a situation might preclude the ordinary social amenities, discourtesy under any circumstance will not be condoned. The practice of courtesy by police employees is not a manifestation of weakness; it is, on the contrary, entirely consistent with the firmness and impartiality that characterizes professional police service.

236.10 Behavior Towards Other Department Employees

Each employee of the Department shall treat co-workers with respect and dignity. Each individual's demeanor should reflect courtesy and consideration, guarding themselves against any conduct or form of communication, which would discredit other employees.

240.0 Compliance with Lawful Orders

The Department is an organization with a clearly defined hierarchy of authority. This is necessary because obedience of a superior's lawful command is essential for the safe and prompt performance of law enforcement operations. The most desirable means of obtaining compliance are recognition and reward of proper performance and the positive encouragement of a willingness to serve. If there is a willful disregard of lawful orders, commands, directives or policies, retraining of personnel and/or disciplinary action will occur. It is each employee's responsibility to report such occurrences of neglect or the noncompliance of a supervisor's orders.

245.0 Use of Intoxicants

There is an immediate lowering of esteem and suspicion of ineffectiveness when there is public contact by a Department employee evidencing the use of intoxicants. Additionally, the stresses of law enforcement require an employee to be mentally alert and physically responsive. Except as necessary in the performance of an official assignment or with expressed authorization from the Chief of Police the consumption of intoxicants is prohibited while an employee is in uniform or on duty. No employee is to consume intoxicants to such a degree that it impairs his/her on-duty performance. The odor of an alcoholic beverage or low-point beer on or about the breath and person of an on-duty police employee is prohibited.

250.0 Attention to Duty

All employees are responsible for the proper performance of their assigned duties. All officers are also responsible for the safety of the community and their fellow employees.

All employees shall faithfully and diligently perform their assigned duties. Performance that does not meet this standard violates the trust of the community and will not be tolerated by the department.

255.0 Financial Obligations

Public employees have stable income upon which they may forecast future earnings. For this reason and because of public confidence in their responsibility, it is relatively easy for Department employees to contract financial obligations, which, if not controlled, may become an impossible burden. Such financial distress may impair the individual's effectiveness and tends to bring discredit upon the Department. Employees should avoid incurring financial obligations, which are beyond their ability to reasonably satisfy from their anticipated Department earnings.

265.0 Refusal to Work

The alternative to law and its enforcement is anarchy and its resulting devastation. A police employee's commitment to public service and to his professional ethics require that he carry out assignments as directed. For these reasons, police employees do not have the right to engage in any work stoppage or slow-down, nor do they have the right to refuse to work for any reason that can be resolved through the established grievance procedure. It is the policy of this Department to seek appropriate disciplinary action of any employee who engages or attempts to engage in the aforementioned activities.

267.0 Employee's Right to Privacy

Employees may be assigned departmentally owned vehicles, lockers, desks, cabinets and cases for the mutual convenience of the Department and the employee. All personnel are admonished that the retention of personal items in such containers or facilities is at the risk of the employee and the Department will not be responsible for any losses. Such equipment is subject to entry and inspection without notice, even if the employee has placed a personally owned lock on a piece of Department owned property.

270.0 Secondary Employment

The policy of this Department is to provide guidelines to police employees, sworn and non-sworn, to inform them of the types of secondary employment which are appropriate; and to establish procedures to maintain accountability for the welfare of the Department. These requirements are essential for the efficient operation of the Oklahoma City Police Department and for the protection of the community. Employees are reminded the decision to work a secondary job is their option and not a requirement of the Department. Employees are advised secondary employment cannot be worked if the employer is The City of Oklahoma City. Employment by a public trust, even if The City of Oklahoma City is beneficiary of the trust, is not considered to be employment by The City of Oklahoma City.

To clarify the terms of secondary employment, the following definitions apply to the various types of employment that may be engaged in.

- A. Employment: The provision of a service, whether or not in exchange for a fee, other service, or any other valuable consideration.
- B. Extra-Duty Employment: Is defined as any off-duty employment, volunteering or charity work that is conditioned by the wearing of the police uniform or the actual or potential use of law enforcement powers by the police officer employee. All extra-duty employment must be approved prior to working the extra-duty. While working extra-duty, officers must comply with all OCPD Written Directives as defined by Procedure 146.01.
 - 1. A request for approval to work extra-duty employment where the work is within the corporate limits of the City of Oklahoma City must be submitted as outlined in this policy.
 - 2. A request for approval to work extra-duty employment where the work is outside the corporate limits of the City of Oklahoma City must be submitted to the Chief of Police.
- C. Outside Employment: Any off-duty employment that does not include wearing of the police uniform or will not require the use, or potential use of law enforcement powers by the employee.

Revised 6/94; Revised 7/11; Revised 6/14

270.10 Extra-Duty Employment

Any police officer may be secondarily employed with an individual or business where the condition exists for the actual or potential use of law enforcement powers. Police officers may engage in extra-duty employment where a profit or not-for-profit entity requests the services of an off-duty Oklahoma City Police Officer(s) to provide security services. While in this capacity, officers will comply with all OCPD written directives as defined by OCPD Procedure 146.01.

Types of approved extra-duty services include:

- A. Traffic control and pedestrian safety.
- B. Crowd control.
- C. Security and protection of life and property.
- D. Routine law enforcement for public authorities.
- E. Plainclothes assignments.

Officers working extra-duty employment will not enforce company policies or house rules. Officers will only enforce city ordinances, state statutes or federal laws.

Any extra-duty arrest for Interfering with Official Process must be accompanied by a companion charge and approved by a supervisor.

Adopted 6/94; Revised 7/11; Revised 6/14

270.15 Outside Employment

Any police officer may be secondarily employed by an individual or business that does not require the use or potential use of law enforcement powers by the off-duty officer.

A police officer may engage in outside employment that meets the following criteria:

- A. Employment of a non-police nature in which vested police powers are not a condition of employment; the work provides no real or implied law enforcement service to the employer and is not performed while on-duty, nor while wearing the uniform
- B. Employment that presents no potential conflict of interest between their duties as a police officer and their duties for their secondary employer
- C. Employment that does not constitute a threat to the status or dignity of the police as a professional occupation.

270.20 Uniform

Employees working extra-duty jobs will conduct themselves in a manner that will not discredit the uniform, the Department, or the individual employee.

Employees performing extra-duty employment shall comply with Procedure 120.10 and Rule 250.0. The Class C Uniform is not authorized for extra-duty employment. Any exceptions must be approved by the Chief of Police.

Revised 12/99; Revised 6/14

271.0 Extra-Duty Employment Limitations

Limitations may be placed on extra-duty employment in order to regulate the consistency of the officer's actions. Those include:

- A. Officers who have not successfully completed the FTO Program, or
- B. The officer is either on new hire or disciplinary probation, medical leave, temporary disability, injury on duty, restricted duty (anything other than full duty), administrative leave, or disciplinary suspension.

Prior to performing extra-duty employment, a police employee shall comply with departmental procedures for receiving approval of such employment.

A police officer may work a maximum of 16 hours per 24-hour period, which includes a combination of on-duty and off-duty employment. Officers working eight-hour shifts will work no more than 70 hours, which includes a combination of on-duty and off-duty employment, during their five scheduled workdays. Officers working 10-hour shifts will work no more than 112 hours, which includes a combination of on-duty and off-duty employment, during their eight scheduled workdays.

Work hours for all outside and extra-duty employment must be scheduled in a manner that does not conflict or interfere with the police employee's performance or duty.

A police officer engaged in any type of extra-duty or outside employment is subject to call-out in case of emergency, and may be expected to leave his/her outside or extra-duty employment in such situations.

Permission for a police employee to engage in extra-duty employment may be revoked when the officer has not complied with the written directives on secondary employment, or the supervisor can document that the off-duty employment had adversely affected on-duty performance.

In such case, the supervisor must document the performance problem and what the employee must do to improve his/her performance to an acceptable level, as well as the time frame in which the employee has to improve; not to exceed 60 days.

The Chief of Police may authorize off-duty police officers to perform extra-duty work for private employers that are regulated and/or licensed by or through the Police Department, provided the police officer performing the extra-duty work is not regularly assigned or directly involved in the regulation and/or licensing of the employer.

Adopted 6/94; Revised 6/09; Revised 7/10; Revised 6/14; Revised 11/18

272.0 Permission to Engage in Extra-Duty Work

Approval or Denial for Extra-Duty Required

- A. Under no circumstances will an officer engage in extra-duty work until permission has been granted. Denial of extra-duty employment will not be used as a means of discipline. In general, outside and extra-duty employment should be denied only if the terms of this policy and other written directives have not been met.
- B. The Division/Bureau Commander will also consider other factors in reviewing the request form, in order to provide for the safety of the officers while working on and off-duty. Those factors considered should include:
 - 1. Officers being limited to the maximum number of extra-duty hours worked. If the employee's status is being carried as days off with the Oklahoma City Police Department, the employee may work an extra-duty shift with a total of no more than 16 hours in that day;
 - 2. Compensatory or vacation time may be used to reduce "City work hours" allowing employees to work the equivalent amount of hours at extra-duty jobs;
 - 3. Whether the work would interfere with the officer's assigned duties within the Oklahoma City Police Department;
 - 4. Whether the officer is under an order to improve because a supervisor has documented attendance related problems due to off-duty employment;
 - 5. Whether the officer has a high frequency level of sustained complaints; or
 - 6. Whether the nature of the activity at the place of work would bring discredit upon the Oklahoma City Police Department.

Non-Approval of Services

Permission for extra-duty employment may be denied if:

- A. The officer is either on new hire or disciplinary probation, medical leave, temporary disability, injury on duty, restricted duty (anything other than full duty), administrative leave, or disciplinary suspension; or
- B. If the extra-duty employment is outside the corporate limits of the City of Oklahoma City.

Permission will not be granted for extra-duty employment if:

- A. The employment involves collecting bills or checks;
- B. The employment involves domestic difficulties;
- C. A person or entity engaged in a labor dispute or in a political or ideological controversy where the officer's off-duty employment reasonably may be construed as an endorsement or condemnation by the Department of a position taken by either party to the dispute or controversy;
- D. The work involves surveillance for a private security and/or investigative agency, or private individual;
- E. The work is for a private detective agency and involves services other than providing security for a business or individual to prevent theft, burglary, or robbery;
- F. The employment involves process serving, bail bonding, repossessing, eviction from premises notices, towing of vehicles, or in any other employment in which police authority might tend to be used to collect money or merchandise for private purposes;
- G. If the employer requires the police officer to have access to police information, files, records, or services as a condition of employment;
- H. If the employer requests a police uniform and the task requested is not of a police nature;
- I. The establishment sells pornographic books or magazines, sexual devices, videos, or otherwise provides entertainment or services of a sexual nature;
- J. If the employment involves the sale, manufacture, or transport of alcoholic beverages as the principal business;
- K. If the employment involves the sale, manufacture, cultivation, or distribution of:
 - 1. Any marijuana product or any other Schedule I drugs under federal law; or
 - 2. Any CBD or hemp products;
- L. The employment is a gambling establishment;
- M. Employment is, in any capacity, in or upon premises licensed as a tavern, club, or retail liquor store;
- N. Employment for contractors doing business with the City in accordance with Article 4, Section 11 of the Oklahoma City Charter, as amended; or
- O. An employee engages in any private business or employment where his official position might be used to obtain or use information not publicly available.

273.0 Response Procedures

273.10 Extra-Duty Response Procedures

As in all on-duty situations, officers will be required to take immediate action to protect life and property. Officers must therefore respond to crimes in progress or to prevent breaches of the peace. If time and opportunity permit, this should be done after ensuring on-duty officers have been called for assistance. If an officer takes police action, the officer shall be presumed to be within the scope and/or course of his employment as an Oklahoma City Police Officer.

NOTE: If the police action is such that the officer cannot continue to perform the extra-duty employment, he/she will be considered on-duty and compensated according to the current FOP contract.

When an officer receives a request for assistance concerning a non-emergency situation occurring away from the extra-duty job location, the officer will provide assistance by the most practical means available, whether it be assisting a citizen in calling 9-1-1 or personally handling the situation. The officer's guiding principle in any situation will be to ensure that the citizen receives proper and prompt assistance.

274.0 Workers' Compensation

Adopted 6/94

274.10 Workers' Compensation

State law provides that a secondary employer shall be liable for any injury occurring to an employee during the hours of his/her employment. If an officer is injured while working for his/her secondary employer and not performing a law enforcement activity, state law prohibits the City of Oklahoma City from covering the injury under Workers' Compensation. If an officer is injured while working for his/her secondary employer and is performing a law enforcement activity, the City of Oklahoma City will cover the injury under Workers' Compensation. Officers working extra-duty employment should ensure that the secondary employer has workers' compensation insurance that covers the officer, if the officer is injured when not performing law enforcement activities.

In cases where an officer has been injured while taking action to prevent the loss of life, serious injury, the loss of property, the commission of a crime or make an arrest, the officer's action will be presumed to be within the scope of his/her employment with the City of Oklahoma City, whether or not the officer was also employed by another employer at the time, unless the Oklahoma City City Council determines that the officer's action should be considered outside the scope of his or her employment as that term is defined in the Oklahoma Governmental Tort Claims Act. Injuries occurring in the course of City employment shall not be charged against sick leave.

Sick leave may be used for treatment and/or recovery from non-job related personal illness or injury and medical appointments. Any accrued sick leave may be used if an employee becomes physically incapable of reporting for duty due to an off-duty injury. If an injury is submitted as a workers' compensation claim to the secondary employer, sick leave may only be used to make up the difference between the workers' compensation temporary total disability benefits and the officer's salary.

275.0 Employee Grievances

Effective management and respect for individual dignity require that employees have means available for the proper redress of grievances. A Department employee having a complaint relating to any matter affecting his employment is ensured the right to review at succeeding levels of Department authority until his grievance is resolved. The right of an employee to file a grievance and the resulting administrative review promote efficiency and result in improved morale. Those positive benefits are defeated if employees are reluctant to file a grievance. Therefore, no action of a formal or informal nature shall be taken by the Department against an employee, his witnesses, or his employee representative merely for having filed a grievance, nor is such filing to be otherwise looked upon with disfavor by the Department, unless it is determined that the grievance is false or malicious in nature.

280.0 Commendations

The Oklahoma City Police Department expects a very high level of professional conduct from all employees; however, members of the Department frequently perform their duties in a manner exceeding the highest standards of the Department. The official commendation of such performance and the arrangement of appropriate publicity may be provided by the Department to give recognition to those who have brought honor to themselves and the Department.

285.0 Allegations of Employee Misconduct

It is essential that the public confidence be maintained in the ability of the Department to investigate and properly adjudicate complaints against its members. The rights of the employee as well as those of the public must be preserved, and any investigation or hearing arising from the complaint must be conducted in an open and fair manner with the truth as its primary objective.

It is the policy of the Oklahoma City Police Department to document and investigate all allegations of employee misconduct.

285.10 Objectives of Personnel Investigations

Protection of the Public - The public has the right to expect efficient, fair, and impartial law enforcement. Therefore, any misconduct by Department personnel must be detected, thoroughly investigated and properly adjudicated to assure the maintenance of these qualities.

Protection of the Department - The Department is often evaluated and judged by the conduct of individual members. It is imperative that the entire organization not be subjected to public censure because of misconduct by a few of its personnel. When an informed public knows that its police Department honestly and fairly investigates and adjudicates all allegations of misconduct against its members, the public will be less likely to feel any need to raise a cry of indignation over alleged incidents of misconduct.

Protection of the Employee - Employees must be protected against false allegations of misconduct. This can only be accomplished through a consistently thorough investigative process.

Removal of Unfit Personnel - Personnel who engage in serious acts of misconduct, or who have demonstrated they are unfit for law enforcement work, must be removed for the protection of the public, the Department, and the Department employees.

Correction of Procedural Problems - The Department is constantly seeking to improve its efficiency and the efficiency of its personnel. Occasionally, personnel investigations disclose faulty procedures that would otherwise have gone undetected. These procedures can then be improved or corrected.

287.0 Discipline

Disciplinary action, excluding termination, is a tool intended to give the employee the chance to correct unsatisfactory performance and/or behavior.

Revised 10/08

290.0 When to Take Police Action

290.10 Responsibility of On-Duty Officers

On-duty officers within the city limits, after considering the tactical situation, are to take all steps reasonably necessary and consistent with their assignment to protect life and property, to effect the enforcement of the laws of the City, State and Nation and to serve the public, without regard to the person's race, sex, creed, color, religion, occupation, or public position.

290.20 Responsibility of Off-Duty Officers

For the purposes of this policy, the term "off-duty officer" does not apply to officers when they are employed by another entity in a security or police related capacity.

Under Oklahoma law, a peace officer's authority to arrest is limited by jurisdiction. Off-duty officers may, on occasion, encounter circumstances that require police action. Police action may range from direct intervention to causing the appropriate action to be taken. Direct intervention should only be taken after careful consideration of the tactical situation and full knowledge that the officer's action may come under close scrutiny. The officer's decision must be swayed by answering the question: "Is police action in the public interest?"

Under Oklahoma law, a private citizen has the right to arrest a person who commits a felony or breach of the peace in his presence, or to arrest a person where a felony has been committed and where the arresting citizen has probable cause to believe and does believe, the person arrested to be guilty. When a police officer effects a citizen's arrest of an individual in another jurisdiction, he must not do so under the color of his office.

When an off-duty officer uses his peace officer authority or becomes involved in a situation, which may reflect negatively on or cause involvement of the Police Department of the City of Oklahoma City, an on-duty supervisor shall be notified immediately. The officer shall make a detailed written report immediately upon his return to work, unless the on-duty supervisor requests an earlier written report.

290.30 No Peace Officer Authority Outside of State

Peace officer powers of Oklahoma City Police Department Officers do not extend beyond this state except as provided for under the Uniform Act on Fresh Pursuit. Officers who are outside the boundaries of this state for extradition or other matters of direct concern to the City are not to engage in police activities unless necessary in the performance of their duties as an officer of the City, except when called upon to assist another police agency or when necessary to protect the life of any person.

290.40 Off-Duty Weapons

In accordance with Oklahoma Statute 21 O.S. 1289.23, full time duly appointed police officers who are certified according to the provisions of Section 3311 of Title 70 of Oklahoma Statutes, are authorized to carry a weapon certified and approved by their employing agency, within the State of Oklahoma, during periods when they are not on active duty.

When not wearing the prescribed uniform of his/her department, the police officer will have his/her official badge, commission card, and CLEET certification card on his/her person at all times when carrying a weapon certified and approved by the employing agency.

The officers will keep the authorized weapon concealed from view at all times, except when the weapon is used within the established guidelines, rules, and regulations of this department.

Officers electing to carry off-duty weapons as authorized by statute shall be responsible at all times for complying with all applicable departmental guidelines, rules, and regulations and Municipal, State, and Federal Law.

Officers of The Oklahoma City Police Department may be prohibited from carrying off-duty weapons while on administrative leave or suspension.

Revised 3/93; Revised 2/03

Police-Community Interaction

310.0 General Provisions

Police community interaction is based upon the principle that in a democratic society the police are an integral and indivisible element of the public they serve. Community relations are manifested by positive interaction between the people and the police and represents their unity and common purpose.

The Department must strive for the establishment of a climate where an officer may perform his duties with the acceptance, understanding, and approval of the public. Additionally, the willing and practiced participation of the people in enforcing the law is essential for the preservation of freedom.

320.0 Individual Dignity

Recognition of individual dignity is vital in a free system of law. Just as all persons are subject to the law, all persons have a right to dignified treatment under the law, and the protection of this right is a duty, which is as binding on the Department as any other.

An officer must treat a person with as much respect as that person will allow, and he must be constantly mindful that the people with whom he is dealing are individuals with human emotions and needs. Such conduct is not a duty imposed in addition to an officer's primary responsibilities; it is inherent in them.

330.0 Role of the Individual Officer

Police community interaction is manifested in its most common form in the numerous daily encounters between individual officers and citizens. It is at this level that reality is given to the unity of the people and the police and where the greatest burden for strengthening community relations is laid.

In dealing with people, each officer must attempt to make his contact one which inspires respect for himself as an individual and professional, and one which generates the cooperation and approval of the public. While entitled to his personal beliefs, an officer cannot allow his individual feelings or prejudices to enter into public contacts. However, since an officer's prejudices may be subconsciously manifested, it is incumbent upon him to strive for the elimination of attitudes which might impair his impartiality and effectiveness, keeping in mind that initial contacts leave lasting impressions both of the individual officer and of the Department as a whole.

340.0 Equality of Enforcement

As a person moves throughout the city, he must be able to expect a similar police response to his behavior wherever it occurs. Where the law is not evenly enforced, there follows a reduction in respect for the law and a resistance to its enforcement.

In order to respond to varying law enforcement needs in the different parts of the City, the Department must have flexibility in deployment and methods of enforcement; however, enforcement policies should be formulated on a citywide basis, and applied uniformly in all areas.

Implicit in uniform enforcement of law is the element of even-handedness in its application. The amount of force used or the method employed to secure compliance with the law or to make arrests is governed by the particular situation. Similar circumstances require similar treatment in all areas of the City and for all groups and individuals.

To ensure equal treatment in similar circumstances, an officer must be alert to situations where, because of a language barrier or for some other reason, he may be called upon to display additional patience and understanding in dealing with what might otherwise appear to be a lack of response.

350.0 Responsiveness to the Community

The Department must be responsive to the needs and problems of the community. While the Department's task is governed by the law, the policies formulated to guide the enforcement of the law must include consideration of the public will. This responsiveness must be manifested at all levels of the Department by a willingness to listen and by a genuine concern for the problems of individuals or groups. The total needs of the community must become an integral part of the programs designed to carry out the mission of the Department.

351.0 Neighborhood Policing Defined

The Department recognizes that the concepts of Neighborhood Oriented Policing are based on a philosophy that recognizes the interdependence and shared responsibility of the police and community in making Oklahoma City a safer, more livable city. It is a method of policing which encourages a partnership that identifies community safety issues, determines resources, and applies innovative strategies designed to create and sustain healthy, vital neighborhoods. Neighborhood Oriented Policing will coordinate with the efforts being made by private, nonprofit, and public agencies to bring about a comprehensive approach to Oklahoma City's problems of crime and disorder. Neighborhood Oriented Policing reflects the values of community participation; problem solving; officer involvement in decision-making; police accountability; and deployment of police personnel at a level closer to the neighborhood.

360.0 Openness of Operation

Law enforcement operations in a free society must not be shrouded in secrecy. It is necessary that there be full public disclosure of policies and openness in matters of public interest. Consistent with protection of legal rights of involved individuals and with consideration of the necessity for maintenance and confidentiality of Department records and of other primary Department responsibilities, the Department is to disseminate accurate and factual accounts of occurrences of public interest. Additionally, the Department must strive to make known and accepted its objectives and policies.

370.0 Interpersonal Communication

To promote understanding and cooperation, there must be interpersonal communication between members of the community and officers at all levels of the Department. Each employee must be aware of the law enforcement needs of the community and his particular assigned area of responsibility. Guided by policy, an officer must tailor his performance to attain the objective of the Department and to solve the specific crime problems in the area he serves. The Department must provide for programs to encourage productive dialogue with the public at all levels and to ensure that the unity of the police and the public is preserved.

380.0 Language Assistance Plan

Oklahoma City incorporates many diverse cultural backgrounds within its population. Included are individuals who are Limited English Proficient (LEP). The limited ability to speak, read, write, or understand English may inhibit these individuals from accessing or understanding important rights, obligations, and services, and from communicating accurately or effectively with law enforcement personnel. Involvement from all areas of the community is crucial in working towards achieving our primary objective and serving all citizens, including those who are LEP. Therefore, the Oklahoma City Police Department will take reasonable steps to provide LEP individuals timely and meaningful access to the services and benefits the Oklahoma City Police Department provides in all department-conducted programs and activities. All department personnel shall provide free language assistance services to LEP individuals whom they encounter or whenever a LEP individual requests language assistance services. Department personnel will also inform members of the public that language assistance services are available free of charge to LEP individuals and that department personnel will provide these services when needed or requested.

Adopted 6/12

Community Affairs

410.0 News Media Relations

A well-informed public is essential to the existence of a democratic society, and a free press serves the people by supplying needed information.

This Department actively seeks to establish a cooperative climate in which the news media may obtain information on matters of public interest. However, in some instances, certain information must not be released in order to protect the Constitutional rights of the accused, to avoid interference with a Department investigation, or because it is legally privileged. If, at any time, a representative of the news media is denied access to certain information, he will be given a courteous explanation of the reason for such denial.

Unless specifically instructed otherwise, officers involved in matters of public interest should contact the public information officer prior to releasing information to the news media. If this is not practical, officers may release the information; however, they will be held responsible for the information they give and shall not prejudice any case by the information they release.

430.0 Department Role in Non City Labor Disputes

Negotiation and collective bargaining are legally recognized methods of peacefully settling labor disputes. In such disputes, it is not the function of the Department to deal with the issues involved; rather, it is the role of the Department to protect the rights of the public and the disputants by enforcing the law and by maintaining order.

430.10 Impartiality of the Department in Labor Disputes

Except where specifically prohibited by law, strikes and on site picketing are not, in themselves, violations of the law. It is the illegal acts, which sometimes arise from such activities, which are the concern of the police. The effectiveness of the Department in labor disputes is maintained by its remaining at all times impartial regarding the parties and issues involved and by taking appropriate action whenever criminal violations are observed or reported.

430.20 Enforcement of Laws at Labor Disputes

The Department seeks to minimize criminal violations connected with labor disputes by discussing with both parties those laws regarding the right to the use of public sidewalks and roadways, free access to public places and the right of persons to enter and leave private premises without interference. The voluntary cooperation of both parties to insure these rights shall be sought. In a case where there is a violation of these rights, the Department will take prompt and impartial police action. Violations of court orders and injunctions do not ordinarily constitute criminal offenses for which the Department will take enforcement action.

430.30 Liaison with Labor and Management

The Department maintains liaison with management and labor officials to obtain information and to explain the Department's policies and procedures in relation to labor disputes. By seeking the cooperation of the parties involved, tensions are reduced and self-discipline is encouraged so that the parties may police their own conduct.

430.40 Deployment at Labor Disputes

A designated officer gathers information regarding strikes, investigates related crimes, and meets with officials of labor, management, and the Department to discuss and alleviate police problems arising from such disputes.

Police officers will not normally be deployed at strike scenes; however, when such deployment becomes necessary, it is the responsibility of the concerned Patrol Division commanding officer to take the necessary police action to deter crime and to keep the peace.

450.0 Liaison with Criminal Justice System

450.10 Cooperation with Other Law Enforcement Agencies

The Department maintains a close working relationship with other law enforcement agencies, and makes available to them information concerning techniques and procedures developed or used by the Department.

450.20 Criticism of Criminal Justice System

The Department shares responsibility with the judiciary and other law enforcement and prosecution agencies in the criminal justice system. All elements of the system work toward common objectives and each element is functionally complementary. The cooperative and harmonious working relationships, which are essential in attaining those objectives, are impaired by unnecessary criticism of others engaged in the administration of criminal justice. For that reason, officers should be aware of the effect their criticism may have upon law enforcement in general, on other law enforcement or prosecution agencies, or on individual members of the judiciary.

450.30 Interference with the Justice Process

Equal application of the law is the foremost principle of democracy. Race, color, creed, religion, sex or age must not influence an officer's judgment, nor can friendship be used to influence or alter the justice process. Once a complaint is filed or a citation issued, the proper adjudication of it appropriately belongs with the court of jurisdiction. Members of the Oklahoma City Police Department are strictly prohibited from using the influence of their position to alter the outcome of the justice process for personal benefit or gain.

450.40 Plea Negotiations (Plea Bargaining)

Plea negotiations are an essential part of our Criminal Justice System. Final plea-bargaining and plea reductions are entirely within the discretion of the prosecutor. Ideally, negotiations should always be in the public interest and in the interest of effective criminal justice administration.

With prior consent of the prosecuting authority, the officer causing charges to be filed may negotiate with a person accused of a crime by stating to him that his cooperation, clearing of other crimes, or other assistance will be relayed to the prosecuting authority. The officer may recommend that such cooperation or assistance be given consideration in legal action to be taken against the person accused of a crime.

460.0 Diplomatic Immunity

Oklahoma State Statutes exempt ambassadors and other public ministers accredited to the President or the Government of the United States from criminal prosecution under state law. Such persons, as well as their families and employees, are to be returned to their own country for trial and punishment upon commission of a criminal offense.

International agreement protects diplomatic officers, their families, official staff and servants if they are foreign nationals and not permanently residing in the United States. Diplomatic officers are understood to be ambassadors, ministers, minister counselors, counselors, First Secretary, Second Secretary, Third Secretary and Attaché. All persons having this status enjoy an unlimited immunity from arrest and prosecution.

Other consular officers such as consuls general, deputy consuls general and vice consuls are not liable to arrest or detention pending trial except in the case of a capital crime. The extent of their immunity is subject to the determination of the court. Family members of consular officers do not have immunity.

Other foreign nationals such as students and tourists have no immunity from arrest or prosecution but should be allowed to contact their nation's representative after arrest.

Law Enforcement Operations

505.0 Nature of Task

Law enforcement operations consist of many diverse activities, which are directed toward the attainment of Department objectives. Activities such as patrolling, conducting field interviews and issuing traffic citations are not objectives in themselves; rather, they are methods of achieving the real objective of preventing and deterring crime, arresting criminal offenders, and preventing traffic accidents.

Decisions in law enforcement operations frequently must be made in an instant, and the lives of officers and others may depend on the quality of those decisions. An officer is confronted in stress situations with both criminal and non-criminal behavior, and he must base his conduct and action in each instance upon the facts of the situation as they reasonably appear, relying upon his experience, training and judgment to guide him toward morally justified and lawful decisions and actions.

510.0 Police Action Based on Legal Justification

What is reasonable in terms of appropriate police action or what constitutes probable cause varies with each situation, and different facts may justify either an investigation, a detention, a search, an arrest, or no action at all. The requirement that legal justification always be present imposes a limitation on an officer's action. In every case, an officer must act reasonably within the limits of his authority as defined by statute, judicial interpretation, and Departmental Policy, thereby ensuring that the rights of both the individual and the public are protected.

512.0 Alternatives to Physical Arrest or Detention

Once a violator has been identified, it is the function of the Department to initiate the criminal process; however, there are circumstances when a crime may occur and the Department will not make a physical arrest. There may be a report written and a Municipal Citation issued or in some cases, when the offense is of a minor nature, a verbal warning or other direction may be given. The decision not to make an arrest will be guided by Department policy and the factual situation involved, not by the personal feelings of the officer. An arrest does not dictate a booking, and a booking does not dictate continued detention.

516.0 Calls for Service

516.10 Professional Standards of Service

The Department cannot be aware of each circumstance in the City where police action or assistance may be required. The Department is dependent upon members of the community for such information. The people, in return, expect the Department to respond to requests for police service within a reasonable time and to satisfactorily perform the necessary service. A person calling for police assistance expects, as a matter of right, to be provided with a service. As a practical matter, the extent of the service may necessarily be limited but, regardless of its extent, a professional quality of service must be rendered in all cases.

516.20 Priority of Handling Calls for Service

It is not always possible for the Department to respond to every call for service; therefore, the Department must organize available resources to give the highest level of efficient service possible. Priority of call assignment depends on many factors, and it is normally the responsibility of Communications personnel to make such assignments. However, an officer in the field may be required to decide whether to continue on an assigned call or handle a citizen's complaint or other observed event and cause his call to be reassigned. In any event, the decision of the officer or Communications personnel may be overridden by a field supervisor. Such determination should be based upon the comparative urgency and the risk of life and property of the assigned call and of the intervening incident. When it is impossible for an officer to handle a citizen's complaint or an observed event, he should, if circumstances permit, either give directions for obtaining such assistance or initiate the necessary notifications himself.

520.0 Preliminary Investigation

520.10 Scope of Preliminary Investigation

The scope of the investigation made by an uniformed officer may be very restricted or may constitute virtually the entire investigation of a crime. The officer's assignment workload, the number of unassigned calls for service and other factors will affect the decision as to the amount of time which can be spent continuing the preliminary investigation. In all cases, an officer should continue this preliminary investigation to the point where all physical evidence has been gathered and properly submitted, and all witnesses and possible witnesses have been identified and interviewed. If a delay in the preliminary investigation will jeopardize the investigation, the officer should continue the investigation to its logical conclusion, consistent with his other responsibilities.

520.20 Follow-Up Investigation by Uniformed Officers

Uniformed officers may conduct a follow-up investigation when there is a reasonable chance of apprehending the suspect, when there is a need for obtaining additional information for the preliminary investigation report, or when there are other compelling circumstances. The uniformed officer must notify his supervisor as soon as practical.

520.30 Investigative Task Force

In the event a crime of major proportion occurs within the City, the Department may implement an Investigative Task Force, which utilizes a number of trained personnel to conduct the investigation. By saturating the field with highly trained personnel and tracing all possible leads as expeditiously as possible, the opportunity of solving the crime is increased.

524.0 Civil Disputes

Officers are frequently called to the scene of civil disputes where no crime has been committed. The presence of Officers at such scenes is primarily to preserve the peace and to prevent a crime from occurring; it is not to give Legal advice. Officers should avoid becoming unnecessarily involved in civil disputes. If a non-criminal violation of a City ordinance or State statute has taken place, and the officers believe no probable cause exists for an arrest, the party or parties will be advised as to the alternate methods for filing a complaint.

525.0 Domestic Violence

Domestic violence represents a serious threat to the physical and emotional well-being of both adults and children involved in the situation. The manner of police response can substantially affect future incidents of a similar nature. Officers of this Department shall treat domestic violence as criminal conduct, treating requests for police assistance and criminal investigation from victims as any other type of criminal act.

The existence of elements of a crime shall be the sole factors determining the proper method of handling the incident. Dispute mediation shall not be used as a substitute for appropriate criminal proceedings where physical violence has occurred. The Department encourages arrest, when warranted, in domestic violence incidents.

528.0 Field Supervision

Since emergency situations occur without warning, and their duration is often brief, officers must frequently make critical decisions without benefit of on-the-scene direction. In most police operations, however, supervision is available and necessary to provide guidance and training. Supervision gives coherence to the police task and directs the energies of the Department into an organized effort. Proper supervision is essential to maintain a professional level of competence in law enforcement operations.

532.0 Command Responsibility at Police Situations

Command of Department resources at a police situation rests with the field commander or the assigned senior officer. Such person has the authority to direct the operation and is responsible for its outcome. A senior command officer at an emergency scene who does not choose to take command may be held accountable for unfavorable developments, which he could have prevented by assuming control. Appearance of a ranking officer at a scene by itself does not indicate he has assumed command, unless he makes an announcement indicating otherwise.

536.0 Crime Scene Supervision

The Operations Bureau is in charge of a crime scene unless relieved of the responsibility by the assigned investigator or other command personnel.

The investigator shall take command of any scene he deems appropriate. Nothing prevents an investigator from having a task he feels important to the case performed without taking command of the crime scene.

540.0 Follow-Up Investigation

540.10 Investigation of Reported Crimes

Follow-up investigation consists of efforts to interview victims and witnesses; locate, identify, and preserve physical evidence, recover stolen property, identify, locate, interview, and arrest suspects; present the case to the prosecutor, and cooperate in the prosecution of the defendant. Such investigations are conducted to produce evidence relating to the guilt or innocence of any suspect and to recover property.

540.20 Allocation of Resources

As it is not feasible to expend equal time and energy in the investigation of all reported crimes; priority of investigation and allocation of resources must be based upon the relative seriousness of each reported crime and solvability factors. However, reported crimes will be investigated to the fullest extent possible without regard to the status of the victims or the areas of the city in which the crimes occur.

544.0 Informants

544.10 Use of Informants

Often, information from confidential sources is the investigative lead which solves a case and without which, there could not be a prosecution.

Information is received by the Department regarding criminal activities and suspects from persons in all walks of life. Many people who give information have been victims or witnesses of crimes, or they may have a strong desire to aid law enforcement. There are others motivated purely by selfish interest. However, regardless of their motivation, the use of informants is a basic weapon in the fight against crime, and they are judicially recognized sources of information. An informant's motivation should be carefully evaluated in determining the extent upon which the information will be relied.

544.20 Informant's Immunity from Prosecution

Informants will sometimes offer to exchange information for immunity or for their release. Such immunity may only be granted by a prosecuting attorney; however, neither the Department nor any of its members may grant any person's immunity from prosecution without prior consultation with the appropriate prosecuting authority.

Revised 8/97

544.30 Individual Officer's Informant Responsibilities

Officers should keep their supervisors informed of the relations and activities involving informants. The Department requires that the identity of all informants utilized by officers be kept in an informant register maintained under the authority of the Criminal Intelligence Unit Captain.

A release form signed by a parent or guardian which gives the Department permission to utilize a juvenile informant must be included in an informant file, maintained by the control officer, except in cases where a family member is the subject of the investigation.

Revised 8/97

546.0 Conduct of Undercover Officers

In order to obtain information and evidence regarding criminal activities, it may be necessary that the Department utilize undercover officers. Such officers shall not engage in entrapment.

548.0 Department Response to Impending Civil Disorder

When the City is confronted with a situation, which may escalate into a civil disorder, the Department must establish control of the situation by reacting quickly and committing sufficient resources to control the situation. Control must be established in all parts of the involved area so that there are no areas into which the Department cannot go. Law violators must be arrested and their prosecution sought. Finally, the Department must remain in the affected area with adequate personnel and equipment for a sufficient period of time after order is restored to convince all concerned that additional outbreaks will not be tolerated.

552.0 Police Actions Concerning Demonstrations

The Department will expend whatever resources are necessary to protect the rights of any person or group to conduct a peaceful and lawful demonstration at any location within the City. However, unlawful activity, whatever its guise, requires prompt and effective action by the Department. The Department will take appropriate legal steps to discourage unlawful acts.

The tactics employed by dissidents engaged in disruptive activities frequently include efforts to draw the police and other public officials into responses likely to produce violence and injury to participants and thus garner support for their cause. It is therefore incumbent upon the Department to cope with disruptive situations in a professional manner, which will minimize the potential for violent confrontations.

553.0 Body-Worn Cameras

The Oklahoma City Police Department utilizes body-worn cameras to improve openness, transparency and public confidence in the performance of law enforcement functions. Body-worn cameras provide unbiased documentation of law enforcement activities including traffic enforcement, public contacts, emergency responses and critical incidents. These recordings may increase the level of detail in police department records, reports and employee testimony, thereby providing valuable information to the judicial system. While utilizing body-worn cameras, the department will maintain confidentiality and privacy interests of persons and employees consistent with state and federal laws.

554.0 Use of Force

The value of human life is immeasurable in our society. Police officers have been delegated the responsibility to protect life and property and apprehend criminal offenders. The apprehension of criminal offenders and protection of property must at all times be secondary to the protection of life.

Revised 8/03; Revised 2/20

554.10 Definitions

As used in this policy:

“Deadly force” means force which is intended to cause death or serious bodily harm or which is likely to cause death or serious bodily harm, regardless of intent; discharging a firearm in the direction of a person is an application of deadly force; however, deadly force is not limited to the use of a firearm;

“Excessive force” means any force that exceeds the degree of physical force permitted by law as set forth in this policy;

“Felon” means a person committing a felony crime in the presence of the police officer or a person the police officer has probable cause to believe has committed or is committing a felony crime;

“Felony” means a crime, which is, or may be, punishable by death or by imprisonment in the state penitentiary;

“Firearm” means any pistol, rifle or shotgun capable of discharging a projectile or a series of projectiles of any material which may reasonably be expected to be able to cause lethal injury;

“Imminent” means ready to take place, or likely to occur at any moment;

“Misdemeanor” means every crime, which is not a felony;

“Non-violent felony” means a felony crime, which does not pose a danger of death or serious bodily harm;

“Probable Cause” means a set of facts and circumstances known to an officer and of which the officer has reasonably trustworthy information that are sufficient to lead a person of prudence and caution to believe that an offense has been or is being committed;

“Reasonably necessary” means all other means to accomplish the desired action have been reasonably exhausted or would be ineffective under the circumstances;

“Serious bodily harm” means bodily injury that creates a substantial risk of death, causes serious, permanent disfigurement, or results in long-term loss or impairment of the functioning of any bodily member or organ; and “Violent felony” means a felony crime, which poses a danger of death or serious bodily harm.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/05; Revised 2/20

554.20 General Use of Force Requirements

Officers shall only use that degree of force as permitted by law as set forth in this policy to:

1. Effect a lawful arrest or detention;
2. Protect themselves or others; or
3. Otherwise carry out their lawful duties.

All force – deadly or not – must be reasonably necessary based on the totality of the circumstances.

The reasonableness of a particular use of force will be judged from the perspective of a reasonable officer on the scene. The reasonableness of the force will not be judged with the benefit of hindsight. Any information learned after the application of force is irrelevant to determining the reasonableness of the force used. The calculus of reasonableness must embody allowance for the fact that police officers are often forced to make split-second judgments—in circumstances that are tense, uncertain, and rapidly evolving—about the amount of force that is necessary in a particular situation. The reasonableness inquiry is an objective one. An officer’s underlying intent or motivation is irrelevant to the determination.

When determining whether to use force or the appropriate degree or type of force to apply, the following factors may apply:

1. Whether a person is suspected of a crime;
2. The severity of the crime or problem at issue;
3. Whether the person is posing an imminent threat to the safety of officers or others;
4. Whether the person is actively resisting arrest or attempting to evade arrest by flight; and
5. Any suspected or obvious medical or mental conditions.

These factors are not exclusive. Officers shall ultimately consider the totality of the circumstances.

All force must be reasonably necessary both at its inception and in scope.

Revised 8/03; Revised 9/05; Revised 10/15; Revised 2/20

554.30 Weapons

Officers are to use only department-approved weapons for which training is provided in the Oklahoma City Police Department Academy and/or through other specialized and approved training. Such approved weapons are:

- A. Physical strength and skill;
- B. Department issued or approved baton and approved firearms; and
- C. Less lethal devices. Officers choosing to use these devices should not compromise their safety.

Flashlights or other non-approved items should not be used as weapons, except in exigent circumstances.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/05; Revised 2/20

554.40 Use of Deadly Force

Officers may use deadly force against a person only if it is reasonably necessary based on the totality of the circumstances, and it is being used:

- A. To protect themselves or others when the officers reasonably believe that they or others are in danger of death or serious bodily harm; or
- B. To effect the arrest of a person who officers have probable cause to believe has committed a crime involving the infliction or threatened infliction of serious bodily harm, or the person to be arrested is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, or otherwise indicates that the person will endanger human life unless arrested without delay.

Revised 9/05; Revised 10/15; Revised 2/20

554.50 Deadly Force Restrictions

If circumstances permit, a warning should be given prior to the use of deadly force.

Mere suspicion is not sufficient to justify the use of deadly force.

Mere contact between two vehicles does not constitute a violent felony for purposes of this policy. A collision involving an occupied vehicle does not justify the use of deadly force unless:

1. All of the elements necessary to use deadly force in the preceding section are satisfied; and
2. The intent to injure the officer or others is reasonably apparent.

Where authorized to use deadly force in accordance with this policy, officers may discharge a firearm:

1. From a moving vehicle only if the officer or others are being fired upon or threatened to be fired upon; and
2. At an occupant of a moving vehicle only if the officer has considered the presence of other occupants in the vehicle and:

- a. The officer or others are being fired upon or threatened to be fired upon;
- b. Another person is being actively pursued or targeted by the suspect vehicle; or
- c. The officer is being actively pursued or targeted by the suspect vehicle and:
 - i. The officer has exhausted all means to avoid and move out of the path of the moving vehicle; and
 - ii. The officer has not intentionally placed themselves in the path of the moving or stationary suspect vehicle.

Prior to discharging a firearm, officers must be able to identify the threat and be aware of the area behind or around the threat.

Officers shall not use deadly force under the following circumstances:

- A. Solely to effect any misdemeanor or non-violent felony arrest;
- B. When its use clearly constitutes a greater threat to innocent lives than apprehending a suspect; or
- C. When a person's actions present a threat only to themselves.

Officers shall not fire a warning shot.

554.60 Reporting Excessive Force

Officers who witness another officer using excessive force (as defined in this policy) shall report it to their supervisor.

Revised 9/05; Revised 10/15; Revised 2/20

554.70 Intervening to Prevent Excessive Force

Where officers observe another officer using excessive force (as defined in this policy) and they have a realistic and safe opportunity to stop the other officer from using the excessive force, they should attempt to stop the other officer.

555.0 Ingestion of Contraband

When faced with a subject ingesting possible drugs or other physical evidence, officer(s) will not use any physical force to remove the contraband. If a subject is suspected of placing anything in his/her mouth, the officer(s) should only request the subject voluntarily remove the article and:

In cases when the subject is under arrest for other violations and refuses to eject the materials from his/her mouth, or has swallowed the material, transport the subject to the hospital for evaluation by a doctor prior to jail booking.

In cases when a subject is not under arrest, every effort should be made to convince the subject to seek medical treatment if he/she has swallowed a substance. If he/she refuses medical treatment and there is no indication of physical distress, the subject should be released and an incident report made documenting the refusal.

This procedure does not prevent officer(s) from using life saving techniques in cases when the subject is choking and unable to breathe.

Adopted 8/03

556.0 Department-Utilized Vehicles and Equipment

For purposes of this policy, a department-utilized vehicle means a motor vehicle that is owned or leased by the City of Oklahoma City or otherwise being utilized by a police employee for official purposes.

Employees of this department shall operate department-utilized vehicles and equipment in a lawful and proper manner at all times with due regard for the safety of all persons and with due regard for maintaining the proper condition of the vehicle or equipment itself. All drivers and front seat passengers occupying any department-utilized vehicle or equipment shall wear properly fastened restraint devices.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/14; Revised 1/18; Revised 7/18

556.05 Transportation and Restraint of Children

Every driver when transporting a child under six years of age in a motor vehicle shall provide for the protection of said child by properly using a child passenger restraint system. "Child passenger restraint system" means an infant or child passenger restraint system that meets the federal standards for crash-tested restraint systems as set by the United States Department of Transportation.

Children at least six years of age and less than 13 years of age shall be protected by the use of a child passenger restraint system or a properly secured seat belt.

Any exception shall be documented in a report.

556.10 Pursuits Involving Police Vehicles

A pursuit is an active attempt by an officer in an authorized emergency vehicle to perform a vehicle stop, and the operator of the suspect vehicle indicates by his/her action, intent to elude or evade apprehension. The officer must reasonably believe the suspect(s) knows he/she was directed to stop, refused to stop, and was willfully fleeing in an attempt to avoid capture by using high speed driving or other evasive tactics.

Effort should be made to avoid pursuits due to the extreme danger present in such activity. Officers shall consider the risk to the public (and themselves) in any pursuit.

Officers of the department must balance the need for immediate apprehension of the suspect with the need to protect the public from the danger caused by the pursuit. All officers are reminded that their basic responsibility is to protect the public. When the danger of a pursuit exceeds the value of an immediate apprehension, public safety shall be paramount and require alternative methods of apprehension.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/06; Revised 1/18

556.20 Security of Department-Utilized Vehicles

Employees shall lock and remove keys from any department-utilized vehicles or equipment when left unattended, except in emergency situations. Employees shall not disengage or turn off any security or anti-theft device on a department-utilized vehicle. Officers shall remove all firearms from department-utilized vehicles while off duty, unless actively working an extra-duty job.

Canine officers may leave a vehicle running while unattended when necessary for the health of their police dog if they engage the vehicle's anti-theft system that prevents the vehicle from being driven.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/14; Revised 1/18; Revised 7/18; Revised 4/19

556.30 Security of City Equipment

Officers shall not leave any of the following equipment in any vehicle while off duty:

1. City-issued firearms;
2. City-issued portable radio; or
3. City-issued conducted electrical weapons.

While off duty, officers shall remove from any vehicle or secure in the trunk the following equipment:

1. City-issued body armor; or
2. Any uniform items with OCPD markings.

Officers may leave any other city equipment in a vehicle while off duty, but shall secure the vehicle if it is left unattended.

560.0 Hostages

Criminals who use hostages to effect their escape are desperate individuals who, if allowed to escape, will pose a continuing threat to their hostage and to the public at large. Assurance that a hostage will be released unharmed is a meaningless promise. The Department does not have the ability to protect the safety of a hostage who is allowed to be removed from the presence of officers. The safety of hostages can be best assured by keeping them in the presence of officers and by preventing their removal by the suspect. Officers should use every verbal and tactical tool at their disposal to secure the arrest of the suspect without harming the hostage. However, officers should realize that exceptional situations could arise where considered judgment might dictate allowing removal of a hostage, such as where there is imminent and probable danger to a large group of persons.

561.0 Emergency Rapid Deployment

Officers may be required to confront a criminal suspect(s) who is actively engaged in the process of killing or attempting to kill other persons. Such an incident may take place in any geographical area or structure. In those situations where the suspect(s) has shown that the intent is to kill or cause serious bodily harm to other persons, officers can reasonably assume the suspect(s) will continue the activities until physically stopped.

An emergency rapid response, consisting of immediate and armed intervention by responding officers, is the most critical factor in reducing death and serious bodily injury. Responding officers are authorized and encouraged to deploy as quickly as possible to confront the suspect(s). The sole objective in this action is to prevent further injury or loss of life by utilizing force that is reasonably necessary.

564.0 Officers Surrendering Weapon

An officer may find himself at the mercy of a suspect who has the advantage. Experience has shown that the danger to an officer is not reduced by his giving up his gun upon demand. Surrendering his weapon might mean giving away his only chance of survival; therefore, officers shall not surrender their weapon(s) except as a last resort when they are convinced the act of giving up the weapon will save their life or the lives of other persons.

568.0 Barricaded Criminal Suspects and Barricaded Mental Health Consumers

Barricaded criminal suspects and barricaded mental health consumers may pose an extreme danger not only to police officers who seek to place them in custody, but to other persons as well. Good judgment demands that a tactical plan be developed rather than immediately rushing a barricaded suspect or mental health consumer. The Tactical Unit Commander shall be consulted in these circumstances.

568.10 Initial Contact

Upon contact with a barricaded criminal suspect or mental health consumer, the immediate area must be cordoned off to seal avenues of escape. Innocent bystanders must be evacuated from the area. A command post should be established from which operations should be directed. A traffic control perimeter should be established to control traffic in the area. A department tactical radio channel may be activated. Attempts to establish communication with the barricaded criminal suspect or mental health consumer shall be made in an attempt to persuade the subject to surrender. In the case of a barricaded mental health consumer, a CIT officer shall be requested to respond to the scene. The CIT officer will be utilized unless relieved by a Crisis Negotiator with the Tactical Unit.

Every possible attempt shall be explored in order to ensure the barricaded subject is isolated. Time is to the benefit of the officers, and the full resources of the department are available to remove the subject from his or her location.

568.20 Supervision at Scene of Barricaded Subject

In barricaded subject situations which develop from radio calls or spontaneous activities, the senior uniformed officer present is in command, and shall immediately request a uniformed supervisor who, upon arrival, shall assume command. The uniformed supervisor shall remain in command of the scene until the arrival of a higher-ranking commander, at which time the commander may assume command of the operation. The Tactical Unit Commander will assume command upon his or her arrival.

When a barricaded criminal suspect or mental health consumer is located as a result of a follow-up investigation, the senior investigative officer at the scene is in command, and shall immediately request a uniformed supervisor who, upon arrival, shall assume command. After arrival of the uniformed supervisor, the steps outlined in the paragraph above shall be followed.

576.0 Deployment in Anticipation of the Commission of a Crime

The purpose of deploying officers at the scene of an anticipated crime is to arrest the perpetrator of the attempted or consummated crime; however, since that objective is subordinate to the protection of life, officers should not subject themselves or other innocent persons to unreasonable risk. In the event officers contact or anticipate contact with an armed subject who has or may attempt to discharge a weapon, or barricade himself, a preformed tactical plan shall be utilized to effect the arrest with the least possible risk to all persons concerned.

580.0 Traffic Enforcement

580.10 Objectives

The traffic enforcement objective of the Department is to reduce traffic accidents and injuries and to facilitate the safe and expeditious flow of vehicular and pedestrian traffic through the public's voluntary compliance with traffic regulations. The Department seeks to achieve this objective through a combination of education and enforcement. The Department seeks to educate the public regarding traffic regulations through programs aimed at exposing specific problems, by publishing traffic accident and injury statistics, and by giving notice and warnings of changes in regulations prior to taking enforcement action.

The Department will take enforcement action upon the detection of an illegal and potentially hazardous act without regard for such factors as attitude, intent, or frivolous excuse. Enforcement action may consist of a warning, citation, or physical arrest.

Officers of the Oklahoma City Police Department shall not give special preference for either local or non-local residents in any enforcement action.

580.20 Intoxicated Drivers

Persons who choose to operate motor vehicles while they are under the influence of drugs or alcohol present an imminent threat to the safety of innocent motorists and pedestrians. Therefore, the Department encourages its officers to aggressively enforce applicable statutes and discourages non-arrest as a disposition by the officer.

580.30 Violator Contact

Traffic violation enforcement is one of the many routine tasks performed by officers, but for violators it frequently is an emotionally traumatic experience. In many cases, this is the only contact that a person has with the police Department. All officers should be aware of these conditions and should strive to make each contact educational and to leave the violator with the impression that the officer has performed a necessary task in a professional and friendly manner.

580.40 Enforcement of Parking Regulations

Street parking is restricted in various areas of the city to ensure fair access to parking and to expedite the flow of vehicular traffic. All existing parking regulations will be enforced with reasonableness and impartiality in all areas of the City.

580.50 Selective Enforcement

The Department conducts statistical and visual surveys to determine by location, time, and day of week which violations are causing accidents. Based upon the information thus obtained, the Department deploys its personnel to those specific areas to observe violations and to take enforcement action. In addition, when the Department receives complaints of a specific traffic problem in a particular area, it specifically assigns personnel to investigate and take necessary enforcement action.

580.60 Visible Patrol

Any tendency of motorists to knowingly violate traffic laws is deterred by open and visible patrol, and the number of traffic accidents is correspondingly reduced. However, when there is an unusual or continuing enforcement problem at a particular location, officers may park in a conspicuous location and observe traffic.

580.70 Speed Enforcement Tolerance

This Department has a "no tolerance" policy regarding speed enforcement. Speed laws are not arbitrarily managed by this Department; they are a matter of law.

580.80 Accident Investigation

The investigation of traffic accidents is necessary not only to determine traffic law violations, but also to obtain engineering data, to protect the rights of the individuals involved, and to assist in traffic education.

584.0 Vice Enforcement

The people, through their elected representatives, have decided that criminal sanctions should be imposed against certain behavior, which has been traditionally labeled as "vice." The Department is charged with the enforcement of all criminal statutes, including those defining vice offenses. Where vice conditions are allowed to continue, they are soon exploited by organized crime and the money thus obtained is often used to finance other criminal ventures or attempts to corrupt public officials. To prevent the spread of vice conditions, the Department will take aggressive enforcement action against all commercialized vice activities, against those vice activities, which have been complained of, and against vice conditions which appear anywhere in the city.

584.05 Handling Expressive Materials

With respect to expressive materials (including books, music, magazines, and movies, in whatever form), care should be taken to avoid infringing First Amendment rights. Until there has been a judicial determination, following an adversarial process, that the material violates Oklahoma law and is obscene, contains child pornography, or is otherwise unprotected by the First Amendment, possession and distribution of such material cannot be restrained except under very narrow circumstances.

- A. Public Statements - Public statements declaring or suggesting that the material is illegal to possess or distribute should not be made except through the judicial process (such as by filing a complaint for declaratory judgment or filing criminal charges). (Compliance with any open records requirements is excepted).
- B. Criminal Prosecution - In the case of a criminal investigation to result in arrest or prosecution for possession or distribution of obscene material or child pornography, no more than one copy of any such material may be seized, and then only upon a warrant finding probable cause to believe that possession or distribution of the material is illegal. However, if the material is not at a commercial retail establishment, if there is probable cause to believe that the material is obscene or contains child pornography, and if there is probable cause to believe that the material will be hidden or destroyed before a warrant can issue, the evidentiary copy or copies may be seized (detained) for as long as necessary to obtain a warrant and shall be released if a warrant is denied.
- C. Civil Action - In the case of a civil action to prevent the possession or distribution of material believed to be obscene or including child pornography, no copies may be seized prior to a final judicial determination that the material is in fact illegal to possess or distribute and is unprotected by the First Amendment. Any civil action to obtain a judicial ruling as to whether material is obscene or contains child pornography must be filed by the District Attorney, with notice to all interested parties and with an opportunity for them to be heard.
- D. Alternate Means of Acquisition - Evidentiary copies may be obtained without limitation by purchase or rental, or other lawful method generally available to the public, such as free copies or downloading for the Internet.
- E. Adversarial Process - The requirement of an adversarial process means that the prior practice of obtaining an informal judicial ruling (such as without seeking a warrant) on an ex parte basis has been discontinued. Warrants for arrest and seizure of evidence may still be obtained on an ex parte basis.

584.10 Obtaining Video Retailer Customer Records

Federal law prohibits the disclosure of personally identifiable information concerning the customers of any video retail service provider except under limited circumstances. If personally identifiable information is needed from a video retailer, the investigating officer must either obtain the written consent of the customer or act upon a warrant, grand jury subpoena or court order. Court orders authorizing disclosure shall issue only with prior notice to the affected consumers and only if the law enforcement agency shows that there is probable cause to believe that the records or other information sought are relevant to a legitimate law enforcement inquiry, and that such order is not prohibited by state law. For further information see the Video Privacy Protection Act, at 18 U.S.C. § 2710.

588.0 Narcotics Enforcement

It is the objective of the Department to enforce all local, state and federal statutes which prohibit the possession, use, or traffic in narcotics, dangerous drugs, and other restricted or prohibited substances. Through a combination of aggressive enforcement and public education, the Department seeks to prevent and deter the use and possession of, and traffic in, all such substances within the city. In so doing, the Department may also conduct investigations outside the city in cooperation with appropriate law enforcement agencies to prevent the flow of such illegal substances into the city.

To prevent the spreading use of narcotics and other dangerous substances, the Department engages in public education programs to inform people about the effects and hazards of drug abuse. Additionally, the Department provides the public with factual information with which to make decisions regarding the use of drugs and to assist members of the public in recognizing symptoms and indications of drug use in others. An understanding and appreciation of the full effect and extent of drug abuse is essential for success in overcoming its threat. By working with and through the community, the Department seeks to engage the people in a cooperative attack on this critical problem.

590.0 Part-Time / Reserve Police Officers

The Department does not utilize or employ part-time or reserve police officers.

Adopted 6/14

Administration

605.0 General Provisions

Proper Department administration involves the efficient and effective management of a large complex organization, which performs its functions through the acts of its employees. Department functions involve the interaction of people, not only within its ranks, but in all personal contacts between its employees and members of the public. Department administration is, therefore, occupied to a large extent with improving the ability of its employees to properly perform the police task, and with strengthening the relationship, which exists between all employees and the public, they serve. Thus, recognition of the human factor is an administrative challenge in the Department's effort to provide a consistent and professional police response to the community's law enforcement needs.

Department personnel are required to make decisions involving the public and other employees in response to both administrative and operational problems. The decision process involves more than loyalty; it requires an insight into the objectives and purposes of the Department, its duty under the law and to the people, and the objectives achieved. The decision must be a balance of involved interests, considering what is best for the public, the Department, and any individual involved. That decision must then result in effective action directed toward the accomplishment of the Department's objectives. The requirement that such insight be exercised is implicit in all decision-making, and it is the thread, which binds the complex and difficult law enforcement task into coordinated and effective force.

610.0 Command Responsibility

A commanding officer has responsibility and accountability for every aspect of his command. Commensurately, within policy guidelines and legal constraints, he has the authority to coordinate and direct assigned personnel and other allocated resources in achieving his organizational objectives. In doing so, he must perform the full range of administrative functions, relying upon policy, direction, training, and personal initiative to guide him and his command in achieving the highest level of performance possible.

610.10 Transfer of Command

Upon assuming a new assignment and continually thereafter, a commanding officer should critically evaluate all aspects of his command. He should review existing policies, procedures and programs to determine if the need for which they are enacted remains unchanged. Existing budget requests should be reviewed to ensure that any changes made or contemplated have not rendered the request obsolete.

Upon a change of command, the commanding officer being replaced has a duty to lend his full assistance in making the command transition as smooth and orderly as possible. Orientations of a new commanding officer should include information concerning unique problems of the command, and assistance in continuing community and professional contacts relative to the command.

610.20 Command Concern for Employee Welfare

The nature of command is such that there must be a co-existing loyalty to the management of the Department and to subordinates. The resolution of those loyalties, in a manner which benefits both the Department and the individual, and which avoids conflicts between the two interests requires the exercise of leadership. An interest in employees and their welfare is a responsibility of command, which may extend beyond morale problems and their effect upon an individual's performance. It includes a concern for the personal problems, desires, and interests of employees, and positive assistance in resolving those problems or in achieving their goals. However, commanding officers should be cautious to avoid interfering where assistance is not required or desired.

610.30 Community Liaison by Commanding Officers

Commanding officers have a responsibility to maintain professional and community contacts as they relate to their command. As a representative of the Department, commanding officers must take an active role in the community of their command, and participate in identifying and providing for its law enforcement needs.

615.0 Planning Responsibility

It is essential that there be planning in a police service. From the Chief of Police, who must devise long range plans involving the entire resources of the Department, to the officer on patrol, who must formulate an operational plan by himself or with his partner while enroute to a call, there exists an imperative need for planning which is so great that it merges with the action itself. The requirement that an employee plan his action is commensurate with the degree of his responsibility and accountability for the results of the action.

In the performance of their duties, officers are confronted with an infinite variety of circumstances, which require police action. In an attempt to utilize collective experience and research in assisting officers to deal with such diverse situations, the Department formulates procedures to direct action in certain generalized situations. As officers are routinely confronted with the unusual, it is impossible to provide standing procedures for officers to follow in each individual situation; therefore, officers must additionally be provided with policy guidelines to assist them in the necessary exercise of discretion. The combination of policy and procedures, reinforced by training, acts to provide officers with a structurally sound framework within which to function.

In addition to developing standing procedure, the Department must regularly devise single-use plans to accommodate specific needs. These plans may involve a Department wide response to a major unusual occurrence, or a tactical answer to an isolated police incident. Once executed, such plans should be evaluated for the development of standing procedures or for future reference in analogous situations. Every employee of the Department is encouraged to make suggestions to initiate projects in order to further improve its performance, efficiency, and effectiveness.

615.10 Scope of Planning

While each plan differs according to the need for which it is developed, each plan should define its need, objective, scope and purpose, the method for its implementation, and a means of evaluating its effectiveness.

615.20 Use of Task Force for Planning

When a need develops for a single use plan affecting more than a single bureau, or when it is necessary to develop a major project within a limited time, it may be appropriate to assemble a task force whose staff is provided on loan from various divisions or bureaus. When a task force is assembled, it must be structured with clearly defined objectives, organization, responsibility, and authority. It should be placed under the control of an existing organizational unit, whose commanding officer has responsibility and accountability for its performance.

630.0 Completed Staff Work

The result of an effort to research a problem and develop a solution, leaving nothing for the final authority to do except approve or disapprove, is traditionally known as completed staff work. In such projects, it is essential that original instructions include identification of the problem, direction, the desired scope of endeavor, and the time limit for completion. Direction should clearly indicate what is desired by way of the project. The project should include adequate research to accurately define the problem and examine all reasonable solutions. The assigned employee should include in his report a recommendation and a summary of the findings supporting his conclusion. In completed staff work, a final step, prior to obtaining concurrences, is to notify involved organizational components of the findings and recommendations of the project.

635.0 Departmental Directives

In a large and complex organization such as the Department, it is essential that directives communicate desired information to concerned employees as accurately as possible. Directives should be well researched, properly drafted, and subjected to staff review for concurrence. A commanding officer may issue a directive as long as it affects his command only, and does not conflict with Department directives. Ordinarily, where there is more than one Division or Bureau affected, directives should be issued by the Chief of Police.

650.0 Chain of Command

Due to the size and complexity of the Department, there must be a limit to the number of persons who report to the Chief. Therefore, to ensure unity of command, clearly defined lines of authority must be drawn so there exists a structural relationship between each employee and the Chief of Police. Each organizational component is under the direct command of one supervisor. Within each established chain-of-command, the appropriate supervisor is responsible and accountable for the performance of employees under the supervisor's control. Employees must be aware of their relative position in the organization, to whom they are immediately responsible, and those persons who are accountable to them. Employees should operate within the chain of command and keep their supervisors informed as to their activities to the extent possible.

The Chief of Police is available by appointment to any member of the Department. In order to reach the Department's objectives, there are exceptional instances that require an employee to circumvent the chain of command. Subordinates who bypass the chain of command out of necessity have a responsibility to keep their supervisors informed of their activities unless instructed to do otherwise by higher authority. Supervisors exercising authority over a subordinate outside their chain of command shall inform the employee's supervisor at the earliest opportunity.

655.0 Flexibility of Organization – The Concept of Change

In order to implement standards and goals that have been modified to meet the needs of state and local law enforcement agencies, it is incumbent upon the Department administration to develop an orderly and logical local strategy for change that identifies local priorities, local standards, and local goals. Perhaps more importantly, local police executives are responsible for recognizing and accepting the concept of change concomitantly with a firm commitment to the effective management of change.

Change should be identified as an accepted concept of the law enforcement community, and it is imperative that modern day law enforcement executives and police Departments remain flexible administratively and organizationally in order to adapt to changes in contemporary society.

It is important to realize that we are a part of, not apart from, the social, economic, and political system in which we live and work, and that the system is undergoing many forms of change at a remarkably fast pace.

Understandably, change may cause frustration and have a somewhat negative effect on morale, particularly over the short-term period. To arbitrarily change for the sake of change alone, to change without adequate research and planning, to change purely to create an image, or to change without some effective participation from police officers is organizationally and administratively unacceptable. The extreme opposite, organization and administrative stagnation - or no change at all - is also unacceptable and will invariably bring forth reform, usually by external groups and forces.

Therefore, it is both necessary and desirable that criminal justice personnel and particularly police officers become a part of change. Toward that end:

- A. They should understand change.
- B. They should anticipate change.
- C. They should plan and develop change
- D. They should monitor and evaluate change.

660.0 Inspection and Control – Staff Review and Evaluation

Management inspection and control through a process both of operational level and staff review and evaluation are essential to the welfare of the Department. They are necessary to ascertain if command policies, procedures and rules are adequate and to assure that compliance with these directives is prevalent throughout the Department; to determine whether Department resources are adequate and being properly utilized; and to evaluate the overall performance and attitude of the organization.

There are two types of inspection, which lead to internal control:

- A. Authoritative (or line) inspection should be an ongoing process conducted by those in direct command - those who have authority to act or to require immediate action of subordinates. Ongoing authoritative inspection is the duty of every manager and supervisor.
- B. Staff inspection is conducted by members of the Department who, having no direct authority over the entity being inspected, normally can only report the results of their inspection to the Office of the Chief of Police.

The Department has a formal staff review and evaluation system through the Staff Inspections Unit, which reports its finding directly to the Office of the Chief of Police. The purpose of this unit is to provide a management tool to the Chief by conducting comprehensive review and analysis of departmental operations, procedures, personnel, and facilities. The primary objective of these activities is to enhance maximum efficiency and utilization of departmental resources. None of the functions of this unit will serve to relieve any supervisor or administrator of the Department from the performance of line or staff inspections. The most comprehensive inspections must be conducted at the operational level, where the primary responsibility for control rests. Inspection and quality control are not and cannot be performed by a single unit; they must, of necessity, permeate the entire organization.

Internal control must be the end result of the inspection process. Merely finding fault is not inspecting and controlling. Therefore, a commander's responsibility does not end with discovering a deficiency or inadequacy; it includes taking positive measures to correct the problem.

665.0 Personnel

665.10 Recruitment

The Department seeks to obtain qualified police officers. To obtain the highest caliber of candidates possible, it is essential that the Department participate in the recruitment process. To this end, the Department maintains an active formal recruitment program; however, an officer in his daily contact with the public is the Department's best recruiter. By his demeanor and enthusiasm, he favorably impresses and attracts the type of individual, which the police service needs. Because of his experience and knowledge, he is able to counsel persons who show an interest in law enforcement careers and to encourage applications by those who appear qualified.

665.20 Duty Assignments

Allocation of personnel to specific assignments is a management function, specifically reserved to the Chief of Police. Once assigned to a particular bureau, assignment or reassignment within the bureau is within the authority of the Bureau Commander.

This policy shall not apply to those officers holding the rank of Police Major or above, whose assignments and reassignments shall be made by the Chief of Police.

665.30 Promotion of Employees

Promotion of employees is designed to ensure an equitable opportunity for advancement within the Department. The goal of the system is to identify in an orderly and organized manner the most qualified individual available for advancement.

670.0 Training

The Department has an obligation to provide a professional standard of law enforcement service to the community. In fulfilling that responsibility, it is essential that Department personnel be properly trained. This is true not only at the entrance level where officers must receive basic training prior to their assumption of police responsibilities, but it is a continuous process throughout their careers. Training is provided to accommodate Department needs and to actualize the interest and concern which the Department has for the self-improvement and personal development of its employees.

670.10 Recruit Training

The training provided recruit officers are a continuation of the selection process whereby efforts are made to screen out those who are lacking in police aptitude. Recruit training shall consist of education in all areas necessary to make each officer a well-qualified professional with special emphasis on developing reasoning ability, judgment, and community interaction.

It is the responsibility of all officers to teach those with whom they work the skills and knowledge necessary to perform the job at hand. Supervisory and commanding officers of all ranks have the responsibility not only to train subordinates to perform assigned tasks, but also to familiarize all subordinates with their supervisor's job as well, so that employees are prepared to assume additional responsibilities should the need arise.

670.20 Field Training and Evaluation Program

Recognizing that academy classroom instruction alone does not qualify a recruit for police service, the Field Training and Evaluation Program has been formed to provide on-the-job training for the recruit with qualified Field Training Officers. The Field Training Program, therefore, is an extension of the police academy training process. The recruit will not be retained with the Department unless he has been evaluated as having the ability to apply all academy instruction to actual police service.

670.25 Investigator Training and Evaluation Program

Officers who are newly assigned to one of the detective details or transferred within the Investigations Bureau will participate in the Investigator Training and Evaluation Program. This program has been developed to place the officer in a supervised training program while performing the duties of a police investigator. Training is completed in phases, allowing the trainee exposure to all facets of the police investigative process.

Adopted 9/01

670.30 In-Service Training

The In-Service Training Unit will provide annual training to meet specific standards and requirements. The training will be consistent with the professional development of Department employees and focused on maintaining an appropriate response to the community.

Revised 10/04

670.32 Individual Training Records

The In-Service Training Unit will maintain an accurate personal training record for each current and retired sworn employee. All Department sponsored training and training obtained outside the Training Center must be recorded as soon as possible. It shall be the responsibility of the employee to provide documentation of the training to the In-Service Training Unit. The In-service Training Unit will assist in obtaining accurate outside training documentation when necessary.

Training Record

The information contained in the training record should include:

- A. Title of the course
- B. Name of the instructor
- C. Date of the training
- D. Copy of completion certificate (if issued)

- E. Test scores (if applicable)
- F. Corresponding CLEET course numbers.

670.40 Promotional Training

Once the selection process has resulted in promotion, the Department provides training to prepare newly promoted personnel for their added responsibilities. Dependent upon the level of supervision or management involved, an attempt is made to familiarize individuals with problems, which they may face, and to assist them in developing suitable responses to those problems.

670.50 Specialized Training

To increase job knowledge and to prepare employees for new assignments, the Department provides specialized training in those areas where a need has developed. Such training has as its goal the development of specialized skills and knowledge.

670.60 Supervisors as Teachers

The on-going training of working employees is the responsibility of their supervisors. Supervisors are expected to be familiar with the mechanics of the learning process and to routinely apply them in their supervisory tasks.

670.70 Command and Staff in Formal Training

To assure that policy is disseminated, as accurately as possible, and to allow the Department and its employees to benefit from the experience, knowledge, and attitudes of commanding staff officers on a policymaking level, it is desirable that such officers participate in the formal training process to the greatest extent possible.

670.80 Detached Duty for Advanced Education or Training

The Department engages in programs whereby selected officers are granted leave with full salary to participate in advanced education or training programs. The selection process for such courses is designed to choose the most qualified while, at the same time, assuring that the Department receives the value of the individual's acquired knowledge by selecting from the most qualified those officers whose careers have sufficient length of time remaining to benefit the Department.

670.90 Encouragement of Further Education

In fulfilling its commitment to provide professional police service, the Department encourages all employees to further their education to the highest level possible. Therefore, consistent with its basic responsibilities, the Department cooperates with employees in arranging duty schedules and assignments to facilitate and encourage such individual effort.

675.0 Civilian Employees

Law enforcement professionalism is enhanced when officers perform only those tasks where there is an identified need for police knowledge and skills. To this end, the Department employs civilians whenever possible in those positions where there are no such demonstrated need. In addition to releasing officers for more traditional tasks, the use of civilians makes it possible to hire employees for their specialized skills, thus resulting in greater efficiency.

675.10 Training of Civilian Personnel

Where formalized training of civilians is required by State law, the Department will ensure the attendance by those employees.

Where formalized training is not required, the Department will make every effort to ensure adequate training is provided.

Specialized training in technical fields will be made available to designated civilian personnel as arranged by the Director of Training.

Revised 10/04

680.0 Budgeting

The budgetary process is an essential planning tool, which enables the Department to organize its financial resources in an objective directed effort to derive the maximum return for the tax dollars expended.

The Department budget represents an evaluation of relative needs within the Department based upon quantitative and qualitative data. It involves a decision regarding objective priorities with consideration given to the volume and type of work required and the costs involved.

Budgeting is a continuous process, which is the responsibility of each commanding officer. It involves the identification of objectives and the determination of organizational needs based upon a reasonable evaluation of future requirements.

Commanding officers communicate their organizational needs by means of budget requests. Such requests should be limited to those items, which are necessary to continue the present standard of service, materially improve the standard of service, or reduce the cost of service. It is the responsibility of commanding officers to weigh their needs carefully and to present budget estimates, which incorporate reasonable and economically sound requests. If an item is requested on the basis that it will improve the standard of service, the justification should show conclusively that this objective will be reached and that the cost of the item will be returned in some concrete manner, such as the rendering of decidedly superior service to the public, or by an actual saving of money over a period of time.

Support Services / Emergency Communications

710.0 Telephone Communications with the Public

The lasting impression that citizens have of our Department and the support they are willing to give the Department depends primarily on the quality of service provided them.

The Department recognizes its obligation of service to the community. Requests for help or assistance that can be provided by this Department shall never be refused.

A response of "I (or we) cannot do anything about this" is by itself unacceptable for use by personnel of this Department.

710.10 Telephone Courtesy

In answering telephone calls from outside or inside the Department, all personnel shall answer by identifying the bureau, division or work section and themselves. In instances where the calling party needs to contact another person or work section within the Department, employees will make every effort to assure that contact with the desired person or work section is made in a courteous and efficient manner.

715.0 Departmental Communications

The Department maintains and constantly strives to improve its communications network to provide for rapid and efficient police response and to facilitate management control. All Department communications including, but not limited to, radio, telephone, teletype, mobile data terminal and mail are reserved for official business and are not to be used for personal purposes.

720.0 Records

Records are maintained by the Department in compliance with state statutes and city ordinances as a public service, as an investigative and administrative aid, and to provide statistical data. Any person desiring may obtain copies of publicly-available departmental records by submitting an Open Records request and remitting the appropriate fees.

In addition, the Department will provide, for a fee, reports, photographs, and related records to parties who have been involved in a collision and their representatives and other parties who are legally interested in the collision by virtue of potential liability or recovery of damages.

Criminal investigation reports and photographs will be released in whole or in part under court order, valid subpoena, or upon the recommendation of the Municipal Counselor or designee, having due regard for the privacy interests of victims, witnesses and other involved parties, and for the integrity of ongoing investigations and prosecutions. The Chief of Police or designee may also approve releasing investigative reports and/or photographs, when it is in the best interest of the community.

725.0 Automated System Security

The Oklahoma City Police Department utilizes a variety of automated systems to accomplish its goals. As resources are limited in the maintenance of these systems, it is imperative that the needs of all users be met by the assurance of efficiency and economy. The Department is aware of the technical risks of alteration, theft, or destruction of data and will make each user aware of these risks. Each employee must act in a way to protect and ensure the security of departmental information. To ensure systems are maintained adequately, it is necessary to establish procedures and rules for the management, utilization and security of these systems.

730.0 Arrestees

The Department maintains an Inmate Processing Unit within the Oklahoma County Jail for processing and tracking all Oklahoma City Police Department arrestees. Arrestees remain in custody at the Oklahoma County Jail until release, or transfer to other law enforcement agencies.

740.0 Property

The Department will book into the property room, safeguard, and properly dispose of all property, which comes into its custody. The Department strives to maintain property in the same condition as received and to preserve the evidentiary integrity of property, which has been received for possible court presentation. Unless property is contraband or must be presented into court, every reasonable effort will be made to ensure its return to its rightful owner. Property, which cannot be returned to its owner, will be disposed of in accordance with departmental procedures, City Ordinances and State and Federal laws.

750.0 Transportation

In the highly mobile environment in which the Department operates, vehicular transportation is essential. Because of its extensive use, it is an expensive item in the Department budget. The essential function of the transportation system is to provide the proper type of vehicle at the time and place there is a need for it, and to provide the vehicle at the minimum possible cost. Through a process of inspection, maintenance and repair, vehicles are kept in such condition as to be capable of safe performance and operation, consistent with their assigned use.

760.0 Fleet Safety

Not only because they are engaged in traffic enforcement, but because they are the most visible representatives of local government, Department employees have a duty to operate Department vehicles in a legal, safe and courteous manner.

This responsibility is especially great in view of the tactical situations and traffic conditions in which Department vehicles are operated. Vehicle safety involves the establishment of standards, vehicle testing and selection, regular inspections, preventive maintenance, and defensive driving. Defensive driving is a matter of personal practice, which involves proper motivation, and the development of a positive mental attitude toward driving. The Department reinforces safe driving habits through roll call training, defensive driving and driver-training courses, supervision, and discipline.

No employee of the Oklahoma City Police Department will operate or ride in any City owned vehicle unless the driver and all front seat occupants are wearing properly fastened restraint devices.

770.0 Take-Home City Vehicles

770.10 Take-Home Vehicle Program

In order to place marked police vehicles throughout the City, thereby increasing visibility and availability of police services, and to encourage interaction between citizens and the police, the Oklahoma City Police Department has developed an Operations Bureau Take-Home Vehicle Program.

770.20 Take-Home Vehicle for On-Call Police Employees

Realizing that various police functions require certain Police Department employees to be called into service from off-duty status, the Oklahoma City Police Department assigns take-home vehicles to those employees who are subject to call-out. The decision as to which employees are assigned a take-home vehicle is made solely by the Chief of Police.

PROCEDURES

General Procedures

100.0 Designation of Command

Command Staff – Refers to all command officers at the rank of Major and above. Also included are the Legal Advisor, Chaplain, Public Information Officer and department Business Manager.

Revised 9/01

101.0 Employee Telephone and Address Information

Because personnel may need to be located or respond for duty in emergency situations, a current personal telephone number, current residential street address and current mailing address must be on file with the department.

Employees shall immediately notify their supervisor and their Division Commander of any change to their current personal telephone number, residential street address or mailing address. Such notification will be made in writing by completing a Personal Information Update Form. Once the employee completes the form, it will be forwarded to the employee's payroll clerk who shall update the personnel tracking program, and forward the original form to the Police Personnel Office.

101.20 CLEET Requirements

Oklahoma state statutes mandate that on or before the first day of October of each calendar year the Department shall submit to CLEET a complete list of all commissioned employees including their current mailing address and telephone number.

Statutes also require each officer to maintain a current residential street address with CLEET and to notify CLEET in writing of any change of address or name within 10 days of the change. A notification of change of name shall require certified copies of any marriage license, divorce decree or other court document which reflects the change of name. Appropriate forms for a name or address change and related instructions can be found on CLEET's website. CLEET will not accept notices of address or name change by telephone, fax or email.

101.30 Confidentiality

Extreme caution and discretion needs to be exercised prior to releasing an employee's telephone number or address.

102.0 Emergency Notification

In such instances as riots or natural disasters requiring a call-out of personnel, the Chief of Police will be notified by the Communications supervisor on duty. He will then notify his subordinates via the chain of command.

In cases where emergency notification is utilized, all officers must conform to UNIFORM REQUIREMENTS (Rule 250.0). A supervisor will identify appropriate dress and equipment needed in each incident.

Revised 12/93

103.0 Non-Discrimination/Harassment

103.10 Behavior Involving an Act of Non-Discrimination/Harassment towards another Individual

Discrimination can occur where decisions regarding hiring, promotion, job assignment, discharge, layoff, discipline, training, compensation, or other terms or conditions of employment are made based on an individual's race, color, religion, sex (to include sexual orientation, gender identity and/or gender expression), age, disability (mental or physical), or national origin. Employment decisions shall be made on the basis of skill, ability, qualifications, and job performance.

Discrimination may also be found where conduct toward an employee is based upon the employee's membership in a protected class, and is so severe and pervasive that it interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment. Sexual harassment is a form of discrimination.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/20

103.20 Definitions of Sexual Harassment

There are two legal definitions of sexual harassment:

- A. Quid pro quo harassment occurs when unwelcome sexual advances and requests for sexual favors, based upon one's sex (to include sexual orientation, gender identity and/or gender expression) are made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's continued employment; or a tangible employment action is taken against an employee who refuses unwelcome sexual conduct because of the employee's refusal.
- B. Hostile environment harassment occurs when unwelcome verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature is so severe or pervasive that it unreasonably interferes with a term or condition of employment or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment.

Sexual harassment can occur between a supervisor and employee, between employees, and between employees and non-employees (e.g., citizens, contract laborers, vendors, etc.).

Consensual "romantic" or sexual relationships between supervisors and employees they supervise are prohibited. Any supervisor involved in such a relationship with a subordinate is required to immediately report such relationship to the Department's Equal Employment Opportunity Officer (EEO Officer), Division Head, Department Director, or Labor Relations Division of the Personnel Department. Management reserves the right to terminate the supervisor/subordinate work relationship in any manner, including dismissal of one or both of the employees.

Examples of inappropriate conduct:

- A. Unsolicited written comments, verbal comments, physical touching, or other conduct with sexual overtones.
 - 1. Written examples include, but are not limited to, suggestive or obscene letters, notes, invitations, or e-mail messages.
 - 2. Verbal examples include, but are not limited to, derogatory comments, slurs, or jokes.
 - 3. Physical examples include, but are not limited to, assault, touching, or impeding or blocking movement.
 - 4. Other conduct may include, but is not limited to, leering, gestures, or display or sexually suggestive objects or pictures, cartoons, or poster.
- B. Continuing to express social interest after being informed that the interest is unwelcome.
- C. Making reprisals, threats of reprisal, or implied threats of reprisal against an employee who makes a complaint of discrimination or participates in the investigations of a complaint: NOTE: For example, withholding support for an appointment; denying a promotion; preparing or directing a poor job performance report be prepared that is not indicative of actual performance; or termination.
- D. Engaging in coercive sexual behavior, which is used in an attempt to control, influence, or affect the career, salary, and/or work environment of another employee.

- E. Offering favors or employment benefits such as promotions, favorable performance evaluations, favorable job assignments, or compensation in exchange for sexual favors.
- F. Use of terms of endearment that a reasonable person would find objectionable, including but not limited to: “honey,” “sweetheart,” “hunk,” “baby,” “darling,” or “stud,” or any term of endearment after being advised the employee finds the term objectionable.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/20

103.30 Procedures for Reporting Sexual Harassment/Non-Discrimination

The Chief of Police has designated the Director of Training as the EEO officer for the Police Department, who will act as a liaison with the City Personnel Department on all EEO matters. The Office of Professional Standards will investigate all complaints and issue fact-finding reports, unless otherwise directed by the Chief of Police.

- A. Any employee who believes he/she has been subjected to any form of discrimination or harassment must immediately report such activity to any of the following:
 - 1. His/her Department EEO officer,
 - 2. Non-involved supervisor, shift or unit commander,
 - 3. Division Head, Bureau Chief,
 - 4. Department Director (Chief of Police), or
 - 5. Directly to the Labor Relations Division of the Personnel Department.
- B. Any supervisor or employee desiring to file a discrimination or harassment complaint directly with the Labor Relations Division may do so by calling (405) 297-2567 twenty-four (24) hours a day, seven (7) day a week.
- C. Any EEO officer, supervisor, Division Head, or Department Director having knowledge of, or information regarding discriminatory or harassing conduct, is required to immediately notify the Labor Relations Division of the Personnel Department regardless of how the information was obtained (e.g. verbal or written complaint, direct observation, overhearing conversations, information from non-involved persons, etc.).
- D. The Office of Professional Standards and/or a representative of the Labor Relations Division, in conjunction with the department or division EEO Officer, and/or any other appropriate personnel will immediately initiate a confidential investigation, and submit a report containing findings of facts and recommendations for action to the complainant’s Department Director and/or the City Manager. This report is considered to be a Personnel Investigation and is not subject to the Oklahoma Open Records Act. Employees conducting the investigation will attempt to protect the privacy of individuals involved and maintain confidentiality. Employees interviewed during the course of an investigation are required to maintain the confidentiality of the investigation.
- E. The results of the investigation and the nature of any disciplinary action will be communicated to both the complainant and the person accused of discrimination or sexual harassment by the Chief of Police or a representative of the Labor Relations Division.

Employees have the right to make a complaint of discrimination or sexual harassment with the State Human Rights Commission, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or with a court of law. This policy does not restrict the rights of employees secured by the laws of the State of Oklahoma or the United States.

Employees who are ordered to active military service shall provide a copy of their orders to the employee's supervisor as soon as possible. The supervisor will then forward the orders to the Police Human Resources Office and the Police Chaplain without delay.

107.0 Voluntary Termination and Retirement

107.10 Voluntary Termination

Any employee may resign from employment with the Department by writing a letter to that effect via the chain of command to the Chief of Police, stating an effective date. Such resignation may be withdrawn only if the request to do so is made in writing prior to the effective date, with the approval of the Chief of Police and the City Personnel Department.

An employee may be refused re-employment with the City at a later date solely on the basis of having failed to give notice when the earlier termination was made.

107.20 Sworn Personnel Retirement

Sworn personnel employed prior to their forty-sixth birthday are members of the Police Pension and Retirement System as established by State statute, and are not participants in the Social Security system. The awarding of disability or longevity retirement benefits is provided for by the pension fund rules and regulations.

Sworn personnel may retire by submitting a letter of retirement to the Chief of Police stating the effective date of retirement.

Upon retirement, sworn personnel or their heirs may be allowed to retain possession of the Department badge, service firearm and uniform. The carrying of firearms is restricted, pursuant to O.S. Title 11, Section 50-125. Retired personnel may retain their status as a police officer provided they so qualify under the provisions of State Law.

Retired sworn personnel may request approval to retain their Oklahoma City Police Department uniform privilege only by making formal application to the Chief of Police. Approval will be contingent upon and be subject to the same restrictions that apply to acting, full-time Oklahoma City Police Officers. The decision whether to grant the uniform request shall be made for the good of the service or in the best interest of the City.

The denial of either a retired commission and/or the privilege to wear the uniform will be made in writing and provide basis for the denial. Following said notice, the Chief of Police or his designee shall conduct a hearing to ensure the retired officer has notice of the basis for denial and has an opportunity to respond.

A retired officer denied a retired commission card or denied the privilege to wear the Oklahoma City Police Department uniform may appeal the decision of the Chief of Police by written request to the City Manager's Office.

Sworn personnel retiring will sign a checklist indicating they have received a copy of sections 1750.1 through 1750.13 of Title 59 of the Oklahoma Statutes, also known as the Oklahoma Security Guard and Private Investigator Act, and the applicable 1992 West Publishing Company Supplement provisions. They will also return their commission card and, with the approval of the Chief of Police, will receive a Retired Officer commission card.

Once retired, former Police Department employees drawing retirement benefits may be employed by another Department of Oklahoma City government without interruption of police retirement benefits.

107.30 Civilian Employees' Retirement

Civilian employees not covered by the Police Pension and Retirement System are covered by the City of Oklahoma City Employee Retirement Program.

Police Department employees not covered by the Police Pension and Retirement System also contribute to the Social Security system, and are then covered by both Social Security and the City Employee Retirement Program.

108.0 Personnel Confirmed to Have AIDS

Any Department employee who is confirmed to have an active case of AIDS will be immediately relieved of field duty. The threat of harm to the public is too great a risk to allow an officer to continue to perform law enforcement duties in the field. It is recognized that bodily fluids (i.e., blood) are the agents of infection and an officer in the field may be assaulted and in defending himself may infect not only the suspect, but other officers or citizens as well. Any person infected with an active case of the disease will have a non-enforcement assignment within the Department.

109.0 Occupational Exposure to Communicable Disease Pathogens

The Oklahoma City Police Department is committed to the protection of its employees from the health hazards of occupational exposure to communicable diseases. To this end, the following employer's exposure control plan is to be adhered to by all employees. Since there is no population that is risk free for Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), Hepatitis C Virus (HCV), Hepatitis B Virus (HBV), Tuberculosis, or Meningococcal Meningitis infectivity, any employee who has occupational exposure to potentially infectious material will adhere to the following procedure.

109.25 Respiratory Protection Program

The Oklahoma City Police Department is committed to ensuring that all personnel are protected from respiratory hazards they may encounter during the course of their employment. Hazards may include, but are not limited to, harmful dusts, fogs, fumes, mists, gases, smokes, sprays or vapors. Protection shall be accomplished by adhering to accepted engineering control measures, safe work practices, and the appropriate use of self-contained breathing apparatus' (SCBA) and air purifying respirators (APR). For the purpose of this procedure, a respirator can either be a SCBA or an APR.

SCBA and/or APR equipment, training and medical evaluations will be provided to departmental personnel. The required medical evaluations will be consistent with current Occupational Safety Health Administration (OSHA) requirements and will be evaluated by a licensed health care professional. The equipment will be of a type that is approved for the hazard by the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH). The training will be consistent with OSHA requirements. Each employee who is issued a SCBA or an APR shall complete an annual medical evaluation and test fit of the equipment.

All employees who are issued a department owned respirator and associated protective equipment shall have these items immediately accessible to them while on-duty. Further, those officers with take-home or home storage vehicles must have these items in their vehicle whether on-duty or off-duty.

109.30 Universal Precautions

It is the policy of the Oklahoma City Police Department that the term “universal precautions” refers to the concept of blood and air borne disease control which requires that all human blood, all human body fluids, and other potentially infectious materials be treated as if known to be infectious for HIV, HBV, HCV, tuberculosis and meningococcal meningitis or other pathogens regardless of the source.

In addition, the department will make available the series of vaccinations for the Hepatitis B Virus. The inoculation program is administered by the City Occupational Medicine Division (OMD) which also keeps individual employee vaccination records. All new officers who graduate from the OCPD Recruit Academy will be offered the Hepatitis B vaccination within ten (10) days of their field assignment. New civilian employees will be offered the vaccination on an individual basis during their probationary training period.

All Police Department personnel shall receive documented training as required on blood and air borne disease control conducted by trained instructors. The instructor shall be present in the classroom to answer questions and to discuss any video presentations. Those persons in “high risk” job positions listed in Procedure 109.10 shall be provided training in the use of personal protective equipment and in the proper disposal of contaminated equipment and materials. All training records will be kept on file at the training center for a minimum of three (3) years. Retraining shall occur on an annual basis.

109.40 Work Practice Controls

It shall be the responsibility of all supervisors to ensure work practice controls are used by their employees to eliminate or minimize exposures to blood and air borne pathogens. Regular inspections should ensure that all equipment is functioning properly and personal protective equipment is in good condition and being used appropriately.

All employees are required to wear, whenever possible, the personal protective equipment provided by the Police Department if they should encounter a situation in which there is a possibility of contamination through blood and air borne pathogens. The only exception would be in situations that would prevent the proper delivery of public safety services or would pose a risk to the personal safety of the employee. An employee’s decision not to use the personal protective equipment should be prompted by legitimate and truly extenuating circumstances and should be documented in an incident report.

All employees are required to remove their personal protective equipment in a safe manner and properly place disposable equipment in a red bio-hazardous waste container. Disposable gloves may not be washed and reused. Reusable equipment shall be cleaned and decontaminated immediately after use. Under no conditions should any contaminated equipment be discarded in other than the approved red waste container.

In the event an employee’s uniform, clothing or equipment has come in contact with blood borne pathogens, bodily fluids, or hazardous materials, the clothing and/or equipment will be removed immediately after contamination, placed in a red biohazard bag, and dropped inside the labeled biohazardous container located in the Property Management Unit. The container is located underneath the counter in the lobby area. No contaminated clothing or equipment will be taken to an employee’s home for cleaning/decontamination.

The bag will be labeled with the case number as well as the name and commission number, if applicable, of the involved employee. If possible, a copy of the corresponding report should be placed under the Supply Room door, so the circumstances involved are known. The Supply Room staff will check the box daily (Monday-Friday) and have the clothing/equipment professionally cleaned by our contract vendor.

If the uniform, clothing, or equipment is beyond repair, it will be destroyed under the direction of Supply Room personnel, the employee will be notified, and Procedure 121 will become applicable.

All employees must wash their hands and/or other affected areas with soap and water. Virucidal/antiseptic towelettes may be used as soon as possible after an exposure if running water is not available but should be followed by washing with soap and water as soon as possible. Handwashing must occur after an employee removes gloves, which have been used as personal protective equipment. Handwashing facilities are available at all departmental buildings, as well as in other city buildings.

Should an employee encounter body fluids/blood in the eye, the employee should immediately flush the eye for 15 minutes with water.

All employees are prohibited from shearing or breaking contaminated needles. Officers are reminded of the dangers of sticking their hands, even when gloved, into unseen areas such as under car seats, pockets, etc. All sharp objects, which have the probability of being contaminated, will be handled with appropriate personal protective equipment and transported to the property room or laboratory in a proper “sharps” container that minimizes exposure. Any container used to transport contaminated material will be subsequently decontaminated before further use or properly disposed of.

All employees are reminded that their work area may be subject to contamination. For field personnel it may be their patrol car, while for lab personnel it could be the lab counter and floor space. Contamination of the work area involves the exposure or potential exposure to blood or other potentially infectious material along with the potential contamination of surfaces. It is imperative that all work areas be cleaned/decontaminated as often as necessary to minimize the possibility of disease transmission. Employees shall wear their personal protective equipment when cleaning/decontaminating their work area. All employees are prohibited from eating, drinking, and/or smoking in their work areas where there is the possibility of contamination. This includes the backseat of a patrol car that transports injured prisoners, as well as the crime lab, which analyzes blood and body fluids. In order to minimize migration of contamination beyond the work area, employees who are provided lunch or break rooms are permitted to eat or drink in these areas as long as the employees wash up and change any contaminated clothing prior to entry.

All field personnel shall be trained on, and issued, a CPR resuscitation mouthpiece that prevents contamination while performing life-saving procedures. This device is to be used, when practical, by all personnel when administering CPR.

Any contaminated material that must be shipped or transported out of the Police Department must be properly labeled or red color-coded. The container in which the contaminated material is shipped must be decontaminated and it may be necessary to place the container in a secondary container to ensure safety during transport.

All bio-waste waste cans, pails, bins, and other receptacles intended for such use must be regularly inspected, cleaned and disinfected. They must be cleaned immediately with soap and water and disinfected. Vacuum cleaners are not an appropriate device for the cleanup of contaminated material.

All contaminated sharp material (needles, razor blades, knives, glass, etc.) shall be disposed of in an approved “sharps” container. These materials should be retrieved with tongs, broom and dustpan, etc. and never by hand. The “sharps” container must be closable and labeled or color-coded. It should be leak-proof as well as puncture resistant. Self-sheathing needles must be disposed of in a “sharps” container. Employees shall ensure that the “sharps” containers are inspected, disposed of appropriately and replaced in a timely manner.

109.50 Blood Borne Pathogen Exposure Control Plan

Any employee experiencing an exposure to any potential blood borne pathogen by contacting blood, bodily fluids or a needle stick will take appropriate action in accordance with this procedure.

Responsibility of Exposed Employee

Immediately after an exposure, the affected employee should make every effort to:

- A. Secure the source of the exposure, including the use of detention, if necessary.
- B. Report the exposure to a supervisor immediately.
- C. Go directly to the designated hospital, when medically possible, for evaluation of the exposure and treatment. Information regarding the designated hospital can be obtained from the Department Safety Officer or the 911 Communications Unit. In the event of a life-threatening injury, to either the employee or source patient, the nearest hospital will be utilized.
- D. Assist in completing the Oklahoma State Department of Health (OSDH) Form 207.
- E. Complete all necessary injury on duty reports.

Responsibility of Exposed Employee’s Supervisor

The supervisor will accompany the employee to the designated hospital with the appropriate exposure forms and a Physician Authorization Form.

The supervisor will ensure, when medically possible, that the source patient is simultaneously transported to the same hospital as the employee and:

1. A licensed healthcare professional will determine if an exposure has occurred.
2. The supervisor will complete the applicable portions of OSDH Form 207, including the pertinent specific information of the exposed employee, and then sign in the space provided under “Employee Designee.”
3. A licensed healthcare professional will confirm the employee’s exposure status by signing the applicable portion of Form 207. The healthcare professional must place a checkmark in the appropriate box indicating there was or was not an exposure.

If the licensed healthcare professional makes a determination that there was not an exposure, the yellow copy shall be placed in an envelope and forwarded to OCPD Personnel to be placed in the employee’s medical file. The green copy of the form should be destroyed.

In all cases where it is determined an exposure occurred, the supervisor will:

1. Deliver the green copy of OSDH Form 207, a metered envelope and instruction page to:
 - a. A designated person at the health care facility to which the source patient was transported;
 - b. An attending physician, if the source patient was being cared for outside of a health care facility;or
 - c. A health care provider who last had responsibility for the source patient or the medical examiner, if the source patient is deceased.
2. Mail the yellow copy to the OSDH HIV/STD Service in the self-addressed, metered envelope provided, by no later than the next business day.

The supervisor will call the assigned CompCHOICE case manager the following business day to report the location of the source patient, confirm successful delivery of OSDH Form 207 (green copy) to that site, and when source patient blood test results are expected. The case manager’s telephone number can be obtained from the Department Safety Officer or the 911 Communications Unit.

The supervisor will ensure the exposed employee receives the provided packet of information concerning medications and general CDC information regarding blood borne pathogens. The emergency room personnel will offer appropriate medical attention upon determination of exposure including prophylactic treatment and follow-up care as necessary.

The supervisor will instruct the employee to contact CompCHOICE to discuss follow-up care on the day of exposure or the next business day if after normal business hours.

The supervisor will ensure the following forms are completed as soon as possible:

1. OJI/IOD Quick Fax to Risk Management
2. City of OKC Official Injury Report Form
3. Police Department Supplemental IOD Report
4. City of OKC Supervisor’s Accident Investigation Report Form.

Source Patient Procedure

When an appropriate licensed healthcare professional has determined an exposure has occurred, the supervisor will contact the involved source patient as soon as possible. The supervisor will request consent from the patient for him/her to be tested for any communicable diseases requiring immediate treatment, such as Hepatitis B, Hepatitis C, or Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV).

- A. If consent is given, either verbal or written, the source patient shall be tested.

- B. If consent is refused or otherwise unobtainable, the supervisor shall immediately seek court authority to withdraw blood and have it tested for the above listed diseases.

Obtaining Court Authority to Draw Blood

Blood may be drawn from a source patient without his or her consent if a licensed healthcare professional determines an exposure has occurred. If a court order is necessary to draw blood from a source patient, the supervisor shall complete the fill-in-the-blank Emergency Court Order included in the exposure packet.

The supervisor shall contact a district judge for approval. Contact information for the on-call district court judge can be obtained from the Department Safety Officer or the 911 Communications Unit.

A request should be made to the judge to have the court seal all documents, including the order, to protect the confidentiality of all parties.

On the next business day, the supervisor or designee will hand deliver the application for the court order and the court order to the appropriate County Court Clerk Office for filing.

If there are any questions concerning this procedure, the supervisor should contact a dispatch supervisor to obtain contact information for the Department Safety Officer.

Immediately after an exposure, the affected employee should make every effort to:

- A. Report the exposure to a supervisor immediately.
- B. Obtain the source patient's personal information and last known location of the individual.
- C. The following business day, the employee must telephone the COMPCHOICE Case Manager and report the exposure including the name of the source patient. The COMPCHOICE Case Manager will arrange TB testing and direct the employee to the designated clinic.

A licensed healthcare professional will confirm the employee's exposure status by signing the applicable portion of OSDH Form 207. The healthcare professional must place a checkmark in the appropriate box indicating there was or was not an exposure.
- E. Complete all necessary injury on duty reports.

Responsibility of Exposed Employee's Supervisor

The supervisor will supply the employee with the appropriate exposure forms and a Physician Authorization Form.

110.0 Assignments and Transfers

110.10 Assignment of Personnel

The Chief of Police makes all assignments and reassignments of personnel to the various Bureaus within the Department. Commanders and supervisors make assignments and reassignments within their scope and span of control. Participation in any contract for law enforcement services shall not penalize participating employees or threaten their employment rights, promotional opportunities, training opportunities or fringe benefits.

Revised 10/04

110.20 Transfers

All officers will serve three years after their initial probationary period in one of the four Patrol Divisions before being eligible for transfer to another Bureau. Any exceptions to this time requirement must have specific written authorization of the Chief of Police.

Personnel may request a transfer at any time by initiating a memorandum. Whether that request is to another work section within their present Bureau, or to another Bureau, it must be made in writing, through the chain of command, to the officer's present Bureau Chief. Any Division Commander may approve and affect a transfer within their scope and span of control. Supervisors will not prevent or deter the transmittal of the request to the Bureau Commander.

The purpose of this procedure is to identify and select qualified candidates for positions within the Department. Whenever vacancies occur in the ranks of Sergeant and below in any position, the following procedure shall be used to fill said vacancies:

1. If the vacant position is one in which the officer carries a Detective, Investigator or Inspector title, the vacancy and consideration for the position shall first be given to officers in the Department who already hold one of those titles.
2. If the vacant position is not included in No. 1 above, then the vacancy is open to all eligible officers in the Department.
3. All positions will be posted for a period of ten (10) working days prior to the selection process to enable all interested personnel to submit requests for transfer.

110.30 Temporary Assignments

110.40 Involuntary Transfers

Transfers may be made in the employee's interest, for disciplinary reasons, to meet a special need of the Department, or to best meet the interests of effective utilization of manpower.

111.0 Performance Evaluations

All police employees will be formally evaluated by their supervisor on an annual basis. An employee's pay anniversary is either their date of hire or the date of their last promotion. Supervisors shall obtain their employees' pay anniversary dates from the Police Personnel Office. The evaluation will cover an employee's performance for the year prior to the employee's pay anniversary date.

If an employee's performance is unsatisfactory in any category during the rating period, the supervisor must advise the employee in writing 90 days prior to their pay anniversary date. Supervisors must substantiate the rating of any category found to be unsatisfactory and define actions the employee should take to improve his or her ratings. If the unsatisfactory performance continues, the information should be included in the evaluation report at the end of the 90-day period.

Supervisors shall complete an evaluation report for the employees they are directly responsible for, at least thirty (30) days prior to the date of the employees' pay anniversary dates. Rating supervisors will discuss the results of the evaluation with each employee, communicate their expectations for the employee, and establish goals for the next rating period. Supervisors are encouraged to coach employees on how to obtain those goals and should discuss career development opportunities with the employee, such as advancement, specialization, and training opportunities.

Each employee will review their Performance Evaluation Form with their rating supervisor and sign the form. An employee may make written comments on the form. The rating supervisor will sign the Performance Evaluation Form and forward it to their immediate supervisor. The rater's supervisor shall review and sign the form indicating completeness. The rater's supervisor will then forward the report to either their division commander or bureau chief.

The completed original Performance Evaluation Form will be submitted to the Police Personnel Office to be placed in the employee's permanent personnel file. The report shall be maintained in this file in accordance with the City Records Retention Manual. The employee shall receive a copy of his or her completed Performance Evaluation Form.

Appeals to the evaluation will be processed according to appropriate bargaining unit contracts.

After the shift captain and major have reviewed the report, they will update their portion of the report and sign it. The completed reports will be forwarded monthly by the division major to the FTO coordinator (FTOC) for packet collection.

117.04 Reporting for Duty

Unless otherwise directed, employees shall report for duty at the time and place specified, properly attired and equipped.

117.06 Reassignment

If an employee is reassigned to another work section, the name will be moved into the schedule as set out for that new work section, in accordance with the 28-day work cycle required under Fair Labor Standards Act guidelines.

117.10 Tardiness

Because emergency services must be provided twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, and because tardiness by an employee may result in the Department incurring expenses in overtime costs to staff the employee's position until the employee arrives, and because other employees are inconvenienced by an employee who does not report to work on time, the following rules shall apply.

117.12 Tardiness Defined

Tardiness is any unauthorized and unexcused failure to report for duty at the scheduled time.

Revised 12/99

117.52 Meals and Breaks for Non-Sworn Employees

A non-sworn employee may select to have or not to have a meal period. A meal period is considered to be at least 30 minutes long. The employee is relieved from duty and is free to leave the premises during their meal period. The meal period is not considered work time and the employee will not be compensated for this period of time. Each employee may be granted two (2) 15-minute rest periods. Rest periods shall be considered a privilege and not a right.

Revised 12/99

117.53 Meals and Breaks for Sworn Employees

A sworn employee may be allowed a meal period and two (2) 15-minute rest periods during a tour of duty. However, meal periods may be afforded ONLY if the workload and circumstances permit.

Officers shall adhere to the following provisions:

The supervisor will have the discretion in determining how many units will be allowed to take a meal or rest period.

118.0 Personnel Files

Each supervisor will maintain a documentation file for each employee under the supervisor’s command. This file should include articles to be used for evaluating the employee’s performance on an annual basis. At the time of the annual performance rating, the supervisor should use this file to document the factor rating and should attach copies of those documents as evidence to support the rating. Once the performance evaluation has been completed, the documentation file should be purged of documentation used to support the performance evaluation. After the purge, the supervisor should initiate a new file to document the employee’s performance for the next rating period.

The division and OCPD Personnel files should contain articles such as letters of commendation, letters of appreciation, training certificates, training assignments, and letters of reprimand. All files must be maintained in a locked-file cabinet or other secure area.

122.0 Repair/Replacement of Personal Items Damaged in the Performance of Duty

Purpose

The purpose of this procedure is to establish general guidelines for the repair and replacement of personally owned, non-issued items of equipment or clothing, which may become damaged, lost or destroyed as the result of an officer's performance of duty.

The intent of this procedure is to provide assistance to officers whose property may become damaged, lost or destroyed as a result of the performance of duty or training specifically because he or she is a police officer as opposed to any other position in the City. It is not to replace or repair items simply because they were damaged while the officer was on duty.

Scope

This procedure is for personal property necessary or routinely required in the normal function of employment, i.e., eye glasses required to correct vision or protect the eyes, watches, gloves, and special items of equipment or clothing which may be required for training or special assignment.

The wearing or carrying of jewelry is discouraged. If such items are carried or worn and become damaged, they will not be repaired or replaced by the Department. Watches are necessary and, therefore, an exception. However, the wearing or carrying of expensive watches or watchbands is discouraged. Therefore, limits have been set on repair and replacement of watches.

The Department will either repair or replace, at the discretion of the Chief of Police, personal items, which become damaged or stolen as the result of a specific performance of duty.

Damage to personal items resulting from normal wear, accidental dropping, inattention, mishandling, carelessness or clumsiness will not be repaired or replaced by the department.

No personal items damaged while working off-duty jobs will be repaired or replaced by the Department. Damage to issued items resulting from off-duty employment will be the responsibility of the off-duty officer.

Damage to personal items resulting from an official act performed while off duty may occur, i.e., on-sight felony arrest, etc., and may be subject to the provisions of this procedure. However, the Chief of Police will evaluate the specific circumstances of such incidents and determine the applicability on an individual case basis.

Criteria for Applicability of Procedure

The test as to whether the expense of the repair or replacement of any damaged personal items will be borne by the Department will generally be:

- A. The damage must have resulted from the performance of a specific act required by duty.
- B. The circumstances and specifics must be documented on appropriate Department forms.
- C. The circumstances of the incident from which the damage occurred must be unique to the duties and responsibilities of a police officer, i.e., pursuit of suspect, physical confrontation, specialized training; and
- D. The item damaged must have been required and/or previously authorized for use.

Schedule of Maximum Repair or Replacement Costs

Total costs for repair or replacement of damaged watches will be in accordance with the appropriate bargaining agent contract.

Items damaged will be repaired or replaced with like items as per this procedure.

Request Procedure

The request procedure must follow the procedure as set forth in Section 121.0.

If the uniform, clothing, or equipment is beyond repair, it will be destroyed under the direction of Supply Room personnel, the employee will be notified, and Procedure 121 will become applicable.

Officers may carry a department-issued or department-approved personally-owned shotgun in their patrol vehicle while on duty or working in an extra or off-duty capacity.

Officers carrying a shotgun are responsible for ensuring their shotgun is in proper working order, there is no shell in the chamber, and the safety is on before the start of their tour of duty.

At no time will a shell be chambered in the shotgun except when being deployed. After the conditions justifying deployment have ceased, officers shall ensure the safety is on and remove the shell from the chamber, except when the shotgun has been discharged during its deployment. In the event that a shotgun has been discharged during its deployment, employees shall follow the procedures set forth in Procedure 150.40.

No officer shall attempt to search any person while holding a shotgun.

In all instances except in actual or potential combat situations, shotguns will be carried in a port arms position (the muzzle pointing upwards) or slung over the shoulder in either a “muzzle up” or “muzzle down” configuration.

Deployment of Shotguns

The tactical use of the shotgun is at the discretion of the officer. Generally, only those incidents wherein a high probability of armed confrontation exists would justify deployment of the shotgun. Officers must utilize good judgment in weighing the need for the shotgun against the possible problems that might be encountered if the situation resulted in a foot pursuit, a physical confrontation where the use of lethal force would not be justified, assuming control of prisoners, etc. Officers shall not surrender or abandon a shotgun to engage in a foot pursuit.

Shotgun Ammunition

Officers shall only carry department-issued ammunition with their shotgun. Officers may carry 00 buck, 000 buck, or slugs.

125.35 Patrol Rifles

Eligibility to Attend Patrol Rifle School

Sworn employees may apply, through their chain of command, to their division commander, for consideration to carry a patrol rifle.

To be eligible to carry a patrol rifle, employees must:

1. Be assigned to an Operations Bureau division, the Special Investigations division, or permanently assigned to the Firearms Training Unit, unless granted an exception by the Chief of Police;
2. Not be on disciplinary probation; and
3. Have the ability to fully participate in all aspects of the training curriculum.

Division commanders will provide a list of eligible officers that want to participate in the Patrol Rifle Program to the Range Master. The Range Master will schedule the officers for a pre-qualification course. If the officer passes the course, he or she may attend the next available Patrol Rifle School. Officers will not be able to attend a Patrol Rifle School until they have successfully completed a pre-qualification course.

Authorization to Carry Patrol Rifles

Only those officers that have successfully completed the Patrol Rifle School and are currently eligible to carry a patrol rifle in accordance with this procedure are authorized to carry a patrol rifle.

Eligible officers that have successfully completed the Patrol Rifle School will be assigned a department-owned patrol rifle as availability permits.

The Firearms Training Unit is authorized to maintain one rifle for use by the unit.

Carry Regulations for Patrol Rifles

Patrol rifles shall be transported in a department-approved case in the trunk of the officer's assigned vehicle or in a department-approved rifle mount in the vehicle cabin. Automatic trunk release devices must be modified so that they can only be activated when the vehicle ignition is in the "on" position.

Unless being deployed, officers shall secure their patrol rifles with the bolt forward on an empty chamber, magazine inserted, dust cover closed, and the selector switch on "Safe." When being deployed, officers will place their patrol rifle in ready condition—magazine inserted, round chambered in the rifle, and selector switch on "Safe" until ready to fire. After the conditions justifying deployment have ceased, officers shall secure their patrol rifle with the bolt forward on an empty chamber, magazine inserted, dust cover closed, and the selector switch on "Safe," unless the rifle has been discharged during its deployment. In the event that a rifle has been discharged during its deployment, employees shall follow the procedures set forth in Procedure 150.40.

No officer should attempt to search or handcuff any person while holding a patrol rifle. If an officer chooses to search or handcuff a person, strong justification will be required to justify his or her actions.

In all instances, except in actual or potential combat situations, rifles will be carried slung or in a port arms position (the barrel pointing upwards).

Deployment Criteria for Patrol Rifles

Authorized officers may deploy patrol rifles in the following situations:

1. Incidents where suspects are or may be wearing body armor;
2. Perimeter/containment situations involving a hostage or barricaded subject;

3. Response to an active threat, as defined in Procedure 284;
4. High risk traffic stops or events where an officer has a reasonable expectation there is a potential for an armed subject encounter requiring capabilities exceeding those of the officer's primary duty firearm;
5. To provide cover for a police K-9 or another officer in the search for an armed subject; or
6. At the direction of a supervisor.

Officers must evaluate the need for the rifle against the possible problems that might be encountered, such as if the situation might result in a foot pursuit, a physical confrontation where the use of lethal force would not be justified, assuming control of prisoners, or a close quarters search or confrontation. Officers shall not surrender or abandon their rifle.

Storage of Patrol Rifles

Patrol rifles must be removed from police vehicles, unloaded, and properly secured when the vehicle is not being utilized. The magazine will be removed and the chamber checked to ensure no live rounds are in the rifle. A locking device will be provided for all department-owned patrol rifles. Officers must store their rifle either by using the provided locking device or by locking the rifle in a gun safe.

Patrol Rifle Ammunition

Officers authorized to carry a patrol rifle shall only carry and use department-issued ammunition with their patrol rifle.

Officers shall only use approved optics on their patrol rifles. The Range Master will maintain a list of approved optics. Officers must first complete the Patrol Rifle School using iron sights before being allowed to qualify with optics.

Patrol Rifle Qualification Requirements

Ineligibility to Carry a Patrol Rifle and Removal from the Patrol Rifle Program

Officers may be removed from the program or may be otherwise ineligible to carry a patrol rifle for reasons, which may include, but are not limited to the following:

1. Failure to qualify with either their patrol rifle or primary firearm during re-qualifications;
2. Inappropriate display, use, or storage of the patrol rifle based on training received;
3. Any violation of the Patrol Rifle Program written directives or training;
4. Improper maintenance of the patrol rifle;
5. Unauthorized modification to the patrol rifle; or
6. Transfer or promotion from Operations Bureau or Gang Enforcement Unit, unless authorized by the Chief of Police.

Any disciplinary action may be taken into consideration when determining removal from the program.

Upon notification of removal from the Patrol Rifle Program, those officers that were assigned a rifle will immediately relinquish it to the Range Master or designee.

Removal from the Patrol Rifle Program for disciplinary or qualification reasons shall be no less than six months in duration. After six months, the officer may re-apply to participate in the program in accordance with the criteria established under the “Eligibility to Attend Patrol Rifle School” and may be required to attend the Patrol Rifle School.

125.65 Inspections, Modifications, and Repairs

All department-issued firearms and department-approved personally-owned firearms being used shall be inspected for safety and operation by the Range Master or designee at least once a year.

The Range Master or designee is the only individual that may make repairs or modifications on department-owned firearms.

The Range Master or designee will inspect repairs or modifications to firearms that are personal property of officers and carried on duty. Officers are encouraged to have all repairs performed by the Range Master, and the officer will be responsible for the cost of replacement parts only; no such cost will be incurred if the firearm was damaged in the line of duty. If an officer chooses to have repairs performed by anyone other than the Range Master or a designee, that firearm must be inspected by the Range Master prior to its being carried on duty. No modifications may be made to personally-owned firearms, which in the opinion of the Range Master would render that firearm unsafe.

All firearms found to be unsafe will be immediately removed from duty use. In the event the firearm is unserviceable, the Range Master or designee will notify the officer's supervisor and the firearm disposition will be handled as follows:

- A. Department-owned firearm: The officer will be assigned a different department-owned firearm.
- B. Personally-owned firearm: The officer is no longer authorized to carry the personally-owned firearm.

125.70 Firearm Qualification Regulations

Qualification Requirements

Officers are required to qualify with department-issued firearms or department-approved personally-owned firearms being used in any capacity in accordance with the frequencies required by this procedure as scheduled by the Director of Training. Unauthorized failure to attend a scheduled qualifying session will result in corrective action. Subsequent failures to attend will result in progressive disciplinary actions being taken.

Proficiency will be demonstrated by firing a qualifying score on such course of fire as may be mandated by the Director of Training and the Chief of Police. Officers that fail to fire a qualifying score with their firearm on the first attempt will be given an immediate re-fire on the same course.

Exemptions

If an employee cannot shoot a firearm because of medical reasons, that employee will not be assigned police duties that require enforcement activities. The officer's extra work authorization will be suspended until such time as their medical condition improves and they qualify with their firearm.

Permission not to attend a scheduled qualifying session will be obtained in writing from the officer's Division Commander and submitted to the Range Master. The permission will specify the reason for non-attendance and will request a later qualification date.

Presenting Tax Stamps

Officers qualifying with a short barrel rifle or short barrel shotgun shall show the tax stamp or a copy of the tax stamp to the Range Master or designee prior to each qualification.

Failure to Qualify with a Primary Firearm

An officer who fails to qualify with their primary firearm on the second attempt will immediately be provided with remedial training by a certified Firearms Instructor as directed by the Range Master. Once the remedial training is complete, the officer will be allowed two additional attempts to qualify. If the officer still is unable to qualify, the officer will:

- A. Not be assigned police duties that require enforcement activities;
- B. Not be authorized to work any extra-duty assignments or police-related off-duty jobs;
- C. Immediately return their city vehicle to the appropriate police facility and will not be authorized to drive it again until they have qualified; and
- D. Not be authorized to carry a firearm on or off duty.

These restrictions will remain in effect until such time as the officer attends a retraining course and fires a qualifying score with their primary firearm.

Failure to Qualify with an other than Primary Firearm

An officer who fails to qualify with their back-up firearm, shotgun, patrol rifle, or any other auxiliary firearm on the second attempt will not be permitted to carry, use, or be issued such a firearm until such time as they fire a qualifying score. A maximum of two qualification attempts are allowed per day.

Primary Firearm Retraining Course

The retraining course may last up to 40 hours in duration as determined by the Range Master. During this course, the officer will be allowed up to four qualification attempts per 8-hour day. If the officer fails to attend this retraining course as instructed, such failure will result in a Class II Reprimand. Subsequent failures to attend will result in progressive disciplinary actions being taken.

If, during this retraining course, the officer fails to shoot a qualifying score, he or she will be allowed a maximum time of two pay periods to fire a qualifying score. During this time, the officer will be allowed to practice at the range, and the normal ammunition limit will be waived. However, a maximum of four attempts per day to shoot a qualifying score will be allowed during this time.

If an officer fails to shoot a qualifying score during the two pay periods, the Range Master shall report the failure to the Chief of Police, via the chain of command, for possible disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Instructor Coaching

A firearm instructor will be allowed to coach an officer or recruit through a course of fire. However, if a qualifying score is fired while the officer is being coached, it will not count as a qualifying score for record. The officer or recruit must fire a qualifying score without the aid of instructor assistance during the course of fire.

When an employee detects the odor of alcohol on another employee's breath while that employee is on duty and the odor is not related to the consumption of alcohol required by a duty assignment, or when that employee exhibits behavior that leads an employee to believe that he is under the influence of alcohol and/or other intoxicants, the employee shall inform the affected employee's commanding officer of this information. As a general rule, the actions directed by this procedure should be carried out by a Captain or above. If a Captain is not reasonably available, a Lieutenant who is notified of the problem will be responsible for carrying out this procedure.  2. If the Breathalyzer result indicates the presence of alcohol in the employee's system, the commanding officer will transport the employee to his residence.
 3. If the commanding officer selects a blood test, the blood will be withdrawn at St. Anthony Hospital emergency room with an OCPD blood kit. The commanding officer will transport the employee to his residence after the blood is withdrawn. Any police officer requesting permission to perform continual extra-duty services at the same place of business must conform to the guideline set forth in all policies and procedures relating to extra-duty employment. An application must be submitted for renewal by January 1 and July 1 each calendar year. However, if the officer's on-duty assignment, days off or hours change, the officer must resubmit the application. If the extra-duty hours and/or days change, the officer is required to resubmit the application.

Review

Upon the Division, Shift/Unit Commander, or Watch Commander's approval or denial, both copies will be forwarded to the Division Commander of the officer's assigned Division. The original will be returned and marked either "Approved" or "Denied" to the requesting officer. The second copy will be kept in the Division file, appropriately marked.

Maintenance

Applications for Extra-Duty will be maintained in the division for one calendar year. A designated employee(s) of each division will be responsible for the maintenance of the monthly records.

Application for Outside Employment

Officers engaging in outside (non-Police related) services shall submit a notice to their supervisor, on the approved form, that they are engaged in such services. This includes any incident, which would require the presence of a police supervisor if the incident had occurred while the officer was on extra-duty.

Complaints received regarding police related extra duty employment will be forwarded to the appropriate Bureau Commander in accordance with established procedure. The Chief of Police will have the final determination if the allegation is a violation of department written directives or training. 129.0 Attending Court and Hearings

Police employees are required to testify in court and hearings as a function of their employment. Employees are required to attend court and hearings regardless of their duty status unless circumstances beyond their control prevent their appearance.

Training, personal leave, or other personal matters are not valid reasons for failing to appear in court. If any conflict arises with an employee attending court, the employee will make every effort to resolve the conflict with the appropriate court liaison or the attorney prosecuting the case. If the employee cannot resolve the conflict, he or she shall notify a supervisor in his or her chain of command as soon as possible.

Employees who receive hearing notifications from an agency such as the Oklahoma Department of Public Safety are to appear or be available for a telephonic hearing on the date and time specified. The officer receiving the hearing notification is required to provide contact information to the requesting entity prior to the hearing if the hearing is telephonic. Training, personal leave, or other personal matters are not valid reasons for failing to appear at a hearing. If an emergency arises or there is a conflict with any other subpoena or notification of hearing, the employee shall notify both issuing entities as soon as possible. If any other conflict arises with an employee attending a hearing, the employee will notify a supervisor in his or her chain of command as soon as possible.

129.10 Subpoenas

Notification

Testimony in federal, state and municipal courts is a fundamental function of police employees. Employees are required to acknowledge subpoenas when they are received through the department's court notification systems (i.e., e-mail, Agency Web, divisional logs).

Employees should notify the court liaisons of any scheduled leave at least 90 days prior to the leave, when possible, or as soon as the employee is aware of the leave, if it is less than 90 days until the date(s) of leave. If the employee later becomes available on the date(s) the leave was originally scheduled for, he or she must notify the court liaisons of his or her availability.

In the event the employee's leave conflicts with a subpoena, the employee must attempt to resolve the conflict with the liaison or prosecuting attorney. An employee may still be called on a subpoena at the discretion of the court, even when it conflicts with personal leave. If the employee becomes available during dates that previously conflicted with a subpoena, he or she shall notify the liaison of his or her change in availability.

Requirement to Appear when Summoned

Employees who receive subpoenas regarding incidents which occurred during their employment are required to appear to provide testimony when summoned. When an officer is placed in on-call status to appear in court, he or she shall respond within 30 minutes upon notification that he or she is needed to appear. Should an employee have any type of circumstances that prevent their prompt appearance, they are required to notify the appropriate court liaison, the assigned prosecutor, and a supervisor in their chain of command immediately.

Employees will be placed in an on-call status for all preliminary hearings and seizure hearings. Employees will be on-call for the date of the subpoena unless otherwise notified by a court liaison or the assigned prosecutor. Employees who receive a subpoena for a preliminary hearing or a seizure hearing will not appear in court unless directed to do so by a court liaison or the assigned prosecutor.

Employees will be placed in an on-call status for all trial subpoenas, unless otherwise advised. Employees will be on call beginning the first day of the trial and will remain on call until released by the assigned prosecutor. Employees who receive a trial subpoena will not appear in court unless directed to do so by a court liaison or the assigned prosecutor.

Employees who are on call during off-duty hours shall notify the appropriate court liaison as to where they may be located and provide a contact number where they can be reached, if requested to appear by the prosecution.

Employees who receive a defense subpoena are required to appear on the assigned date or contact the defense attorney prior to the court date and make alternate arrangements. Court liaisons coordinate and schedule subpoenas issued on behalf of the prosecution only. They do not coordinate or schedule subpoenas issued by any other person or entity. All other subpoenas are the responsibility of the individual employee receiving the subpoena.

Court liaisons do not have the authority to excuse or exempt employees from appearing in accordance with any subpoena. Only the assigned prosecutor has the authority to excuse or exempt employees for prosecution subpoenas. For any other subpoenas, only the attorney who issued the subpoena may release an employee. Unless an employee is released by the assigned prosecutor or issuing attorney, the employee shall appear as directed.

129.20 Subpoenas Outside of Oklahoma County

Employees may use their personal vehicles for court appearances outside of Oklahoma County, or they may use department-utilized vehicles with the approval of their division commander. When department-utilized vehicles are used, travel orders are required, except when the employee is testifying in one of the counties within or adjacent to Oklahoma City.

If a department-utilized vehicle is used in making a court appearance outside of Oklahoma City, any monies received for mileage must be turned in to the City Treasurer's Office through the Office of Finance and Personnel.

131.55 Officers from other Jurisdictions

Officers from other jurisdictions may ride on routine patrol, in investigation units or in other police vehicles at the discretion of the shift supervisor or Division Commander, subject to the restrictions applicable to civilians. In the course of an investigation there are no restrictions.

132.11 Definitions and Classifications of Collisions

Definition of Collision: Any unintentional impact, sudden contact and/or any other striking of a City vehicle with any other vehicle, person and/or any object while being operated or parked. City vehicle means any motor vehicle owned, leased, owner reimbursed for use, or rented for performing work for the City of Oklahoma City.

Non-Preventable:

For the purpose of this procedure, a non-preventable collision is one in which an employee operating a motor vehicle did not contribute to or did not have a reasonable opportunity to avoid the collision. Non-preventable collisions may also include an incident where a police vehicle is being used to push a citizen's vehicle and damage occurs. Vehicular contact of this type will be documented as a collision but may be classified as “Non-preventable” if the involved officer(s) actions are reasonable and appropriate under the circumstances.

Preventable:

For the purpose of this procedure, a preventable collision is one in which an employee operating a motor vehicle involved in a collision did contribute to or had a reasonable opportunity to avoid the collision; and the collision resulted only in minor property damage and no serious bodily injury.

Serious Preventable:

For the purpose of this procedure, a serious preventable collision is a preventable collision, which involves major property damage and/or serious bodily injury, or an employee who has operated his/her vehicle in a manner of reckless disregard for human life or safety.

Revised 7/93; Revised 9/05; Revised 07/10; Revised 10/15

132.30 Disciplinary Actions

An employee is subject to the following discipline, as determined by the Chief of Police.

Preventable:

The first preventable collision - Class I reprimand.

The second preventable collision within a one year period - Class II reprimand.

The third preventable collision within a one year period - discipline to be determined by the Chief of Police.

When calculating the one year period of time referred to above, one year refers to the date of the collision, and going back 12 consecutive months.

Serious Preventable:

The Collision Review Board will take into consideration all aspects of the collision in determining the appropriate classification. This will include, but not be limited to, the total amount of damage incurred, injuries sustained, and violations of State Statutes, Municipal Ordinances or written directives. The Chief of Police will make the final determination on the classification of the collision.

If the Chief of Police determines disciplinary action should be taken after a review of the collision, the discipline will be determined by the Chief of Police.

In all cases where an employee receives a Class II or Class III reprimand as a result of a preventable or serious preventable collision, he or she will be required to receive remedial training. An employee involved in a preventable or serious preventable collision shall participate in psychological-physical testing and/or corrective training if directed by the Chief of Police.

No entry will be made in the public driving record of the employee under the following circumstances:

- A. The police vehicle was not being driven and was legally parked.
- B. The collision did not occur on a traffic way.
- C. The event was not classified as a traffic collision.

132.50 Off Roadway Damage to City Vehicle / Equipment

In some incidents, an employee may purposely drive off the roadway with resulting damage to the vehicle/equipment the employee is driving. The most prevalent occurrence of this type is during a pursuit. However, there are other instances in which an employee drives across a median to intercept a traffic violator or drives into a field to check an abandoned automobile. These are voluntary courses of action taken by the employee that raise the probability of damage to the City vehicle/equipment. In these instances, the employee is driving over terrain, which is not meant to be traversed by a vehicle/equipment. If the employee chooses to drive off the roadway, the action must be reasonable and justifiable to a Collision Review Board should damage occur. Incidents resulting in damage to a City vehicle or equipment from driving off the roadway shall be classified as "Off Roadway Damage to City Vehicle/Equipment."

An employee who purposely drives off the roadway and damages a City vehicle/equipment will adhere to the provisions of Procedures 132.0 and 225.0. When completing the collision form, the investigating employee will note at the top of the front page "Off Roadway Damage to City Equipment." These occurrences will be reviewed by the Collision Review Board at its monthly meeting, but separately from the rest of the traffic collisions. The Board members will evaluate the incident based on damage to the vehicle/equipment and the reasonableness of the employee's actions.

The Board members may consider the following as possible guidelines in determining whether or not the employee's actions were reasonable, unreasonable, or unreasonable and reckless:

- A. Was there a readily discernable and acceptable alternative to driving off the roadway?
- B. Did the employee use due caution in attempting to minimize damage and/or injury when driving off the roadway?
- C. Was the incident serious enough to warrant pursuit of a vehicle/person off the roadway and increasing the likelihood of damage and/or injury?
- D. Was the helicopter or other police units involved in the incident?
- E. Could the employee have reasonably anticipated property damage and/or injuries as a result of driving off the roadway?
- F. Was driving off the roadway more of a convenience than a necessity?

After evaluating the employee's decision to drive off the roadway, the Board members will classify the damage to City equipment as reasonable, unreasonable, or unreasonable and reckless.

132.51 Disciplinary Actions Regarding Off Roadway Damage

The disciplinary actions specified for the classification of unreasonable or unreasonable and reckless will be the same as administered in Procedure 132.30. A previous reprimand for a traffic collision cannot be considered as part of the discipline for the off roadway damage to City equipment.

The classification of unreasonable and reckless equates in discipline to serious preventable in traffic collisions. If the Chief of Police determines disciplinary action should be taken after a review of the collision, he/she will direct the appropriate discipline.

The classification of reasonable does not warrant the administration of any disciplinary action.

Adopted 9/01; Revised 9/05; Revised 10/15

132.55 Training Collision Involving City Vehicles/Equipment

A collision involving a City vehicle/equipment that occurs during driver training and on a public roadway will fall under Procedure 132.0 and 225.0.

Collisions involving City vehicles/equipment that occur during driver training that involve injury to any person or death will fall under Procedure 132.0 and 225.0.

Collisions involving City vehicles/equipment that occur during driver training and on a driving track or private property, when no personal injury occurs, will be reported to an on-duty supervisor. The involved employee(s) will complete a City Vehicle Accident Report and a crime incident report. The crime incident report will be titled damage to City equipment. The responsible supervisor will take photographs of the damage and ensure a damage estimate is obtained. The packet will be forwarded to the Director of Training for review. An Oklahoma Traffic Collision Report will not be completed on this type of incident.

133.0 Oklahoma Department of Transportation Pikepasses

133.10 Pikepass Use

The Oklahoma City Police Department utilizes Pikepasses, provided by the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority, when employees operate Departmental vehicles on the Oklahoma Turnpike System. The following procedure applies to Police Department issued Pikepasses.

Pikepasses are to only be used for official purposes in Departmental vehicles, and when the Departmental vehicle is being used to:

- respond to Priority 1, Priority 2 or Priority 3 calls for service, or
- respond to crime scenes or call-out locations by investigative personnel, or
- transport mental health consumers to out of jurisdiction facilities, or
- any other official use as approved by a Division or Bureau Commander.

133.20 Jurisdiction on Turnpike Property

Police Department employees do not have jurisdiction to enforce traffic or criminal laws on turnpike property. However, we may provide assistance when requested by the Department of Public Safety or the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation, which has exclusive jurisdiction to enforce traffic or criminal laws on turnpike property.

If an employee is traveling on a turnpike and witnesses a situation that requires law enforcement involvement, the employee should contact the Department of Public Safety and request assistance. The employee may intervene in situations where an immediate response or action is necessary to protect the public. However, any subsequent arrest or enforcement action should be made by an officer of the Department of Public Safety.

Police Department employees should provide assistance to stranded motorists on the turnpikes as they would on City streets.

133.30 Pikepass Mounting

When used, the Pikepass should be mounted on the interior of the windshield so effective communication with toll road sensors can occur. There are currently two types of the Pikepasses in use; one of the devices is a portable hard plastic case with suction cups for mounting and the other device is a small adhesive mounted tag. The adhesive mounted Pikepass cannot be transferred from the vehicle it is installed on to another vehicle; however, the portable device can be moved from vehicle to vehicle. The portable device shall not be transferred from its assigned vehicle to any other vehicle in the fleet without authorization from the appropriate Division Commander or his/her designee.

133.40 Pikepass Lost, Damaged, Stolen or Inoperable

Pikepasses are the property of the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority, and when any Pikepass is damaged, lost, stolen or is otherwise inoperable, the employee must notify their Division Commander and the Fleet Management Unit as soon as possible.

The Fleet Management Unit will be responsible for notifying the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority.

133.50 Prohibition on Pikepass Use

The use of a Police Department issued Pikepass for any of the following is prohibited:

The Police Records Management System (PRMS) is comprised of multiple software programs and databases. It is used by police department employees and non-department employees to record information related to crimes and to assist in the investigation and prosecution of crimes.

The Oklahoma Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (OLETS) is a statewide telecommunications network which serves city, county, state, federal, and military law enforcement and criminal justice agencies in Oklahoma. Additionally, OLETS provides direct computer interfaces to the computer systems of the Department of Public Safety, the Oklahoma Tax Commission, the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation, the National Crime Information Center (NCIC), the National Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (NLETS), and the National Weather Service Computer System.

Both the PRMS and OLETS are protected from unauthorized access through appropriate administrative, physical, and technical safeguards. These safeguards include, but are not limited to, restricting access to persons performing official duties, and using locks, alarm devices, passwords, and/or data encryption. Any person who accesses, obtains, views, copies, downloads and/or releases any information from the PRMS or OLETS without proper authorization may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination, civil liability and/or possible criminal charges.

The incident number is linked to the specific incident for which it was issued. The incident number cannot be deleted from the system or used for another incident.

Prior to requesting an incident number, the employee must ensure a report will be written. Each incident number must be accounted for to reconcile data discrepancies between CAD and RMS. If an incident number is issued in error, Communications will note on the call that the incident number will not be used and state the reason, then close the incident with a “No Report” disposition. In all other cases involving an incident number that is no longer needed, the officer will complete and submit an unused incident number report.

142.0 Confidential Reports

When an employee determines the need to make a confidential report, he may choose from the following options:

- A. The report may be made in-person, with the typing being done by a Report Clerk or other clerical personnel in a private office. The report will NOT be entered into the computer; it will instead be typed on a typewriter. Only one copy will be typed, and this original will be given to the employee making the report.

- B. The employee may elect to type or hand-write the report. The employee may make a copy of the report to retain for his own records. The report will normally be delivered by the employee to the appropriate command personnel, which usually is his Division Commander. In unusual cases, the employee may direct that the Report Clerk deliver the report. In unusual circumstances, the report may be delivered to other command personnel.

143.0 Complaints against Police Department Employees

Each complaint or allegation of misconduct by an employee of the Oklahoma City Police Department, whether from a private citizen, anonymous source or another employee, will be investigated and the results will be reported to both the complainant and accused employee. Employees are reminded that administrative investigations are confidential in nature.

Employees receiving a verbal complaint will refer the complaint to the affected employee's supervisor. If a satisfactory disposition cannot be reached with the complaining party, the supervisor will document the complaint in a memo and forward the complaint through the chain of command of the employee(s) against whom the allegation is made, or if appropriate, the Chief of Police.

Formal complaint forms, requiring the signature of the complainant may be taken 24-hours a day at any division, or at a police facility (including the Information Desk and Headquarters) and City Hall, regardless of where the alleged incident took place. Formal complaint forms are available on the department's website or may be mailed to citizens, if requested, and can be returned by mail or in person.

In the event an employee receives a submitted formal complaint form, it shall be forwarded through their chain of command. The Chief of Police, or designee, will determine if the formal complaint will be investigated by the Office of Professional Standards or referred back to the bureau. A supervisor at the unit, division or bureau level will investigate all formal complaints not investigated by the Office of Professional Standards. The findings of investigations will be forwarded to the Chief of Police. The Chief of Police may direct the Office of Professional Standards to review any investigation.

In order to maintain a record of all formal complaints, supervisors investigating an administrative complaint or criminal complaint on an employee will contact the Office of Professional Standards at the onset of the investigation to receive a Professional Standards' case number.

In the event a complaint is of a criminal nature, the Chief of Police will determine whether the complaint will be investigated by the Investigations Bureau or the Office of Professional Standards. In general, criminal allegations should be assigned to the Investigations Bureau unit that customarily investigates or has expertise with the particular criminal allegations at issue. However, the Chief may assign criminal allegations to the Office of Professional Standards at his or her discretion where conflicts or exceptional circumstances exist.

Employees will be afforded their constitutional rights as they relate to either a criminal investigation or an administrative investigation.

After the investigating supervisor has received the complaint, he/she will contact the complainant as soon as possible. The complainant will be notified that the complaint has been received and an investigation into the alleged misconduct has begun. Prior to being interviewed, the accused employee will be advised of who the complainant is, if known, and of the alleged misconduct. In the event a final disposition cannot be made within 90 days, the investigating supervisor will contact the complainant and employee with a status update, unless directed otherwise by the Chief of Police.

If necessary for the investigation, photographs may be taken of the employee(s). This will be conducted as needed at the discretion of the investigating supervisor.

At the conclusion of an administrative investigation, each individual allegation will be classified in one of the following categories:

- A. “Unfounded” - when investigation shows the alleged acts did not occur;
- B. “Exonerated” - when investigation indicates the act(s) occurred, but did not constitute misconduct;
- C. “Not Sustained” - when evidence is inconclusive;
- D. “Sustained” - when evidence indicates the employee did commit some or all of the acts alleged and the acts constitute misconduct;
- E. “Misconduct Not Based on Complaint” - when the evidence indicates the employee did commit acts which constitute misconduct which were not the basis of the complaint; or
- F. “Withdrawn” - when the complainant withdraws the complaint and there is insufficient evidence to warrant further investigation.

Once the complaint has been investigated and a finding has been reached, the formal complaint along with supporting documentation will be submitted through the chain of command to the Chief of Police, or designee. All disciplinary actions shall be made at the discretion of the Chief of Police, although the Chief may delegate authority for minor disciplinary actions to supervisory personnel. The Chief of Police may refer a completed investigation to the Departmental Review Board and/or direct further review of written directives related to the investigation.

Once the complaint investigation has been reviewed by the Chief of Police, or designee, the investigative file will be forwarded to the Office of Professional Standards where it will be recorded on a complaint register and stored in a secure area to maintain confidentiality. The investigative file and register will be maintained for administrative use only and will be kept confidential, with information disseminated only upon order of the Chief of Police.

Administrative files will be purged in accordance with time limits directed by Oklahoma State Statutes and the current Records Retention Policy of the City of Oklahoma City provided that:

- A. There is currently no pending litigation on the case.
- B. The grievance period has lapsed for any employee disciplined as a result of the investigation.

The destruction of these files shall commence upon approval of the Chief of Police and will follow procedures set forth by the current Records Retention Policy of the City of Oklahoma City.

144.0 Police Community Relations

Police Community Relations is the process by which the police and the community work together to identify and resolve problems that have caused or might cause discord between them. Police Community Relations is not public relations. Public relations is one way communication as opposed to community relations, which is two way communications. The philosophy of community relations has been decentralized to every bureau, division, unit, detail, and officer.

Each officer should work to improve Police Community relations by: taking every opportunity to talk to and with the public; being visible to the community and neighborhood; taking part in the life of the community by joining civic, church, or private organizations; becoming knowledgeable of services available to individuals and groups; keeping both off-duty and on-duty performance on an ethical high; and, becoming an active volunteer.

Police Community Relations is the responsibility of each and every officer of the Oklahoma City Police Department. The best community relations tool is doing something positive for yourself and the community.

Adopted 11/95; Revised 06/09

145.0 Neighborhood Watch Organizations

The City of Oklahoma City believes the successful fight against crime is enhanced by the organization of neighborhoods and neighbors. 146.0 Departmental Directives

The Oklahoma City Department relies upon a written directive system to provide employees with clear information and direction as to the expectations and responsibilities relating to the performance of their duties. Directives establish uniform standards of behavior. The following procedures define each type of written directive and describe responsibilities related to acknowledgment, compliance, access, distribution, maintenance, retention, review, and release for each type.

Written Directives

There are five types of written directives:

- A. General Orders
- B. Special Orders
- C. Personnel Orders
- D. Division Orders
- E. Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs)

Method of Delivery

Written directives may be delivered in a physical or electronic format; however, electronic delivery is preferred. Directives in a physical format will be delivered to intended recipients by the issuing authority or through chain-of-command. Directives in an electronic format will be distributed through PowerDMS.

Acknowledgement of Written Directives

When employees receive a written directive, they will review and sign the directive as soon as practical, but not later than twenty (20) days from receipt. If an employee is on leave or otherwise absent from duty at the time the order is distributed, the employee will, upon his or her return, review and sign the order as soon as practical, but not later than twenty (20) days upon return to duty.

Supervisors shall have the authority to require their subordinates to review and sign their written directives at any time.

If an employee believes they have not received a written directive, they shall advise their immediate supervisor.

Compliance with Written Directives

All police employees are responsible for complying with current written directives. Ignorance of a directive is not a valid excuse for a violation and failure to sign/acknowledge an order does not relieve an employee of the responsibility of complying with it.

Continuity of Written Directives

The transfer of command from one chief to another, by itself, shall have no bearing on the standing or enforceability of written directives issued by or under the command of the transferring chief. All written directives issued by or under the command of a particular chief shall remain in effect and enforceable, even after a transfer in command, until revised or rescinded in accordance with established procedures.

Written Directives Format

All written directives must be issued on the designated departmental form and must be signed/initialed by the issuing authority.

Chief's directives, special orders, and division orders must be numbered in series corresponding to the year of issuance and the series number.

Rescinding Written Directives

The Chief of Police shall have the authority to rescind any written directive. A bureau or division commander shall have the authority to rescind any written directives they have issued. A bureau commander may also rescind a written directive issued by a division commander under their command.

Directives to be rescinded shall be clearly marked "RESCINDED," include the effective rescindment date, and be signed by the chief of police or the appropriate rescinding authority.

A rescinded directive shall be delivered to and acknowledged by all affected employees in the same manner as prescribed for the delivery and acknowledgment of an original directive.

Self-canceling written directives do not need to be rescinded.

If a firearm has been discharged, the involved employee(s) SHALL NOT unload the firearm unless it is necessary to continue the incident for the employee's and other's safety. Once the incident has concluded, the employee should refer to the following procedures for proper handling of the involved firearm.

These procedures shall be conducted by the involved employee(s) unless he or she is physically unable to perform them. 152.0 Less Lethal Devices

Less lethal devices include OC Spray, Conducted Energy Weapons (CEWs), impact munitions, and the police baton. These devices are additional police tools and are not intended to replace firearms or control and defensive tactics. Less lethal devices shall be used in accordance with the department's written directives, Use of Force Options Matrix and training guidelines. Less lethal devices shall not be used to punish. Officers choosing to use these devices should not compromise their safety.

Officers shall only carry department issued OC Spray, CEWs, and impact munitions.

A. CONDUCTED ENERGY WEAPON

A Conducted Energy Weapon (CEW) uses propelled wires, or direct contact, to conduct energy to affect the sensory and motor functions of the nervous system. A CEW enhances an officer's ability to neutralize a situation. This decreases the chance of injury to officers, subjects and others.

Officers who have successfully completed department-approved training in the use of a CEW and have been issued a CEW must carry it while performing uniformed field duties and while performing extra-duty employment while wearing the authorized departmental uniform. Exceptions may only be granted by the Chief of Police.

1. USAGE CRITERIA – CEW

The CEW may be used:

- a. To subdue a subject who actively resists in a defensive manner, is aggressively offensive without a weapon, likely to harm others, or places life or limb in jeopardy and when all other reasonable means to accomplish the desired action have been exhausted or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances;
- b. To prevent individuals from harming themselves or others and when all other reasonable means to accomplish the desired action have been exhausted or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances; or
- c. Against aggressive animals to protect the officer or others from serious injury.

The CEW shall not be used:

- a. On a person who is cooperative or passively resisting;
- b. When the fact the subject is fleeing is the sole justification for the use of a CEW;
- c. When flammable liquids, gases, blasting material or other highly combustible materials are present. Some self-defense sprays are flammable and would be extremely dangerous to use in conjunction with the CEW. Do not deploy near or in the area of a clandestine drug lab, as the environment may be extremely flammable and volatile; or
- d. Against subjects operating or attempting to operate a vehicle, examples include: automobiles, trucks, motorcycles, ATV's, scooters, bicycles, etc.

2. DEPLOYMENT GUIDELINES

- a. Verbal Warning - Officers should give a verbal warning prior to deploying a CEW unless to do so would place the operator or another person at risk.
- b. Preferred Target Zones - The preferred target areas for probe deployment are the back below the neck and the front below the chest. Officers should avoid targeting the head, throat, chest/breast, groin or known pre-existing injuries. Back shots remain the preferred target area when possible.
- c. Multiple CEWs - Officers should not intentionally activate more than one CEW at a time against a subject.
- d. Duration of Deployment - Each activation of the CEW should not normally exceed five seconds. After each activation the officer should evaluate the situation to determine if subsequent activations are necessary. If additional activations become necessary the officer should continue to assess the situation after each activation. Officers should not knowingly exceed fifteen seconds on any one subject.
If a subject has not been taken into custody after 15 seconds of deployment, the officer(s) should stop using the CEW and utilize alternative less lethal methods and/or other custody and control tactics to take the subject into custody, unless deadly force is authorized. The fact that 15 seconds of deployment is ineffective in controlling the subject, does not in and of itself justify the use of deadly force as authorized in Policy 554.40.
Any additional activation beyond the above limits increases the risk of serious injury or death to the subject and shall not knowingly be used unless deadly force is authorized.
- e. Drive Stun Mode - Officers should not utilize a cartridge off drive stun deployment or a cartridge on drive stun deployment as a pain compliance technique, unless necessary as a countermeasure to gain separation between the officer and the subject so that officer may consider another force option. The cartridge on drive stun mode should be used only to supplement the probe mode to cause Neuromuscular Incapacitation (NMI).
- f. Subjects in the Backseat of a Police Vehicle - A CEW should not be used on a subject in the back seat of a police vehicle unless all other reasonable alternatives to gain control of that subject have been exhausted, or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances.
- g. High Risk Groups - CEWs should not generally be used against known pregnant women, elderly persons, young children and visibly frail persons. Officers should evaluate whether the use of the CEW is reasonable, based upon all circumstances, including the subject's age and physical condition. In some cases, other control techniques may be more appropriate as determined by the subject's threat level.
- h. Elevated Subjects - CEWs should not be used when the subject is in an elevated position where a fall may cause substantial injury or death.
- i. Handcuffed Subjects - CEWs should not be used on handcuffed subjects unless doing so is necessary to prevent them from causing serious bodily harm to themselves or others and if all other reasonable means to accomplish the desired action have been exhausted or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances.
- j. Law Enforcement Use Only - Officers authorized to use the CEW will properly secure and deploy the CEW for law enforcement purposes ONLY.

- k. Mental Health Consumers - Before deploying a CEW on a known mental health consumer, officers must consider mental illness as a factor. The CEW shall not be deployed on a known mental health consumer who is not a danger to others and who poses a risk of non-life threatening harm to himself. The CEW should only be deployed on a known mental health consumer when it is objectively reasonable to conclude that the circumstances present a risk of immediate danger that could be mitigated by its use. In such circumstances, officers will take actions consistent with Procedure 215.60.
- l. Fleeing/Running Subjects - An officer may deploy a CEW on an actively fleeing subject under the following conditions:
 - i. To prevent or stop an assault on an officer or other person;
 - ii. To prevent a subject from escaping when the officer has probable cause to believe the individual is an immediate danger to themselves;
 - iii. To apprehend a suspect the officer has probably cause to believe has assaulted another person; or
 - iv. To prevent the escape or aid in the apprehension of a known or suspected felon.When making the determination to deploy a CEW on a fleeing subject, officers should consider the immediate surrounding area (e.g. curbs, concrete, potential obstacles, etc.).

3. MEDICAL FOLLOW-UP

In all CEW deployments where a probe(s) has penetrated the skin, the subject will be transported as soon as possible to a hospital. Supervisors will ensure an officer accompanies the subject to the hospital. Only medical personnel will remove probes which have penetrated the subject's skin.

When subjects are exposed to prolonged CEW applications (three activations or more or a total duration of fifteen seconds or more), officers will call emergency medical personnel to the scene. The subject will be transported to a hospital by emergency medical personnel.

4. NOTIFICATION AND FOLLOW-UP

- a. Whenever an officer has utilized a CEW on a subject, the officer will immediately notify his/her supervisor, who will respond to the scene and complete a Use of Force follow-up investigation. The investigating supervisor will take photographs whether visible injuries are present or not.
- b. In incidents where serious bodily injury has occurred while using the CEW that results in hospitalization (in-patient treatment), the Office of Professional Standards Commander will be notified and determine if the Office of Professional Standards will assume responsibility for conducting an administrative Use of Force investigation.
- c. The Use of Force Investigation may fall under Procedure 150.10, Procedure 150.20 or Procedure 150.30.
- d. Each and every discharge and/or contact use shall be reported and documented in Blue Team. This excludes training, demonstration of the device, and situations in which an in-custody death occurs.
- e. Supervisors will obtain a data download report for all CEWs deployed during an incident. The data download report will be included in the Use of Force follow-up report.
- f. Each arc display, laser display, and/or visual display not resulting in any other type of report will be documented by completing a Non-Use of Force Report and forwarding it to the Less Lethal Coordinator.
- g. In incidents where serious bodily injury or death has occurred, the Watch Commander shall be notified and will respond to the scene.
- h. In-Custody Deaths – When an in-custody death occurs the BlueTeam report will be completed by the commander of the Office of Professional Standards or designee as part of the administrative Use of Force investigation. A data download report of all CEW devices at the scene, whether deployed or not, will be obtained by the Homicide Unit. The Less Lethal Coordinator will be notified of any in-custody death incident in which a CEW was deployed.

5. BOOKING CEW CARTRIDGES AND PROBES

After any CEW deployment that does not occur as part of training, the spent cartridges and probes shall be booked into the property room under the case number for the incident.

6. TRAINING

Only officers who have satisfactorily completed the department's approved training course are authorized to carry CEWs. Training in the use of the CEW will consist of the department approved training and annual re-certification.

B. IMPACT MUNITIONS

Impact munitions are primarily less lethal extended range impact devices. They are intended to incapacitate or disorient a subject. Impact munitions enhance an officer's ability to neutralize a situation and decrease the chance of serious injury to officers, subjects and others. Impact munitions can be deployed from either a 12-gauge shotgun platform or a 40mm launcher. 40mm impact munitions may also carry a payload of Oleoresin Capsicum (OC) powder. More specialized munitions may be carried and utilized by appropriately trained members of the Tactical Unit and Emergency Response Team.

1. USAGE CRITERIA – Impact Munitions

The deployment of impact munitions against an individual is considered a use of force. Deployments against intermediate barriers or illumination (i.e., windows, street lights, etc.) that in and of themselves do not constitute a use of force should be documented in an incident report and an Impact Munitions Usage Form shall be completed and submitted to the Less Lethal Weapons Coordinator. Usage of impact munitions with an OC payload as an area denial tactic, not intended to target the suspect him or herself, would fall under guidelines for OC spray. All usages shall be deployed in a manner consistent with the Department's written directives, Use of Force Options Matrix and training guidelines.

Impact munitions may be deployed under the following circumstances:

- a. When a subject becomes aggressively offensive without a weapon, is likely to harm others, or places life or limb in jeopardy;
- b. When it is objectively reasonable to conclude that the circumstances present a risk of immediate danger to officer(s) or the general public that could be mitigated by their use;
- c. To prevent individuals from seriously harming themselves or others.

2. TARGETING / SUBJECT IMPACT AREAS

- a. Zone 1: Consists of large muscle groups and the least amount of vital organs. When the threat level is appropriate and this zone is viable, it should be considered first. Appropriate Zone 1 areas include, but are not limited to: Buttocks, thigh, and calf. The groin should not be intentionally targeted.
- b. Zone 2: Consists of medium muscle groups, predominantly in the abdominal area. Impacts to this zone offer a greater probability of causing incapacitation. The spine and kidneys should not be intentionally targeted.
- c. Zone 3: Greatest potential for serious or fatal injury. This target area should be avoided unless deadly force would be appropriate. Zone 3 areas include: Head, neck, spine and center chest.
- d. When engaging a target, the officer should evaluate the effectiveness of each round before discharging additional rounds.

3. MEDICAL FOLLOW-UP

When an officer deploys impact munitions on a subject, and the subject is struck by a projectile, the subject will be transported to a hospital as soon as possible. Supervisors will ensure an officer accompanies the subject to the hospital.

4. NOTIFICATION AND FOLLOW-UP

Incidents where impact munitions are used shall be investigated as follows:

- a. The Use of Force Investigation may fall under Procedure 150.10, Procedure 150.20 or Procedure 150.30.
- b. Unintentional discharges of impact munitions shall be worked in accordance with Procedures 150.50 or 150.60.
- c. Each discharge shall be reported and documented in Blue Team. This excludes training, demonstration of the device, and situations in which an in-custody death occurs.
- d. In incidents where serious bodily injury or death has occurred, the Watch Commander shall be notified and will respond to the scene.
- e. In-Custody Deaths – When an in-custody death occurs the BlueTeam report will be completed by the commander of the Office of Professional Standards or designee as part of the administrative Use of Force investigation. The Less Lethal Coordinator will be notified of any in-custody death incident in which impact munitions were deployed.
- f. Use of impact munitions to disable a light, break windows or barriers does not, in and of itself, constitute a use of force. An operator will complete an incident report and an Impact Munitions Usage Form and forward it to the less lethal coordinator any time impact munitions are deployed.

5. TRAINING

Training in the use of impact munitions will consist of the department-approved training and annual re-certification.

C. OLEORESIN CAPSICUM (OC) SPRAY (Adopted 8/94)

All officers will be trained in the use of OC Spray. Officers who have successfully completed department-approved training in the use of OC Spray must carry it while performing uniformed field duties and while performing extra-duty employment while wearing the authorized departmental uniform. Exceptions may only be granted by the Chief of Police.

1. USAGE CRITERIA – OC SPRAY

OC Spray is considered a use of force and shall be deployed in a manner consistent with the Department's written directives, Use of Force Options Matrix and training guidelines. OC Spray may be used on a person who is passively resisting, actively resists in a defensive manner, is aggressively offensive without a weapon, likely to harm others, or places life or limb in jeopardy and when all other reasonable means to accomplish the desired action have been exhausted or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances. OC Spray shall not be discharged at any other time except for conducting a periodic test or training.

2. MEDICAL FOLLOW-UP

In any case where an officer uses OC Spray on a subject, the officer will:

- a. Take the affected subject to an area of clear ventilation. OC Spray swells mucus membranes and constricts the airway. Breathing complications should dissipate rapidly in clear ventilation. If breathing complications persist seek medical aid immediately; and
- b. Assist in flushing the subject's facial area with water as soon as possible; and

- c. Ensure that the subject is kept where the condition can be monitored by observation until the debilitating symptoms associated with OC Spray have dissipated; and
- d. The arresting officer will notify jail personnel or any other officer, who may come in contact with the subject, that OC Spray was used on the subject.
- e. The symptoms associated with OC Spray normally dissipate within 15 to 45 minutes. If redness, irritation, or other symptoms persist, the officer will be responsible for transporting the subject to a medical facility for treatment.

3. NOTIFICATION AND FOLLOW-UP

Procedures covering the Use of Force Investigation (Procedures 150.10, 150.20 and 150.30) shall be adhered to in all instances where OC Spray is discharged (EXCLUDING A PERIODIC CHECK OF THE EQUIPMENT or TRAINING).

When an officer uses OC Spray against a vicious or attacking animal, the officer will contact a supervisor immediately and shall complete a report. Witnessing officers shall also complete a report.

D. POLICE BATON

The baton may be used as a mechanical control device or as an impact weapon. The baton is considered a use of force and shall be deployed in a manner consistent with the Department’s written directives, Use of Force Options Matrix and training guidelines.

The baton, as a mechanical control device, may be used on a person who is passively resisting, actively resists in a defensive manner, is aggressively offensive without a weapon, likely to harm others, or places life or limb in jeopardy and when all other reasonable means to accomplish the desired action have been exhausted or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances.

The baton, as an impact weapon, may be used on a person who is aggressively offensive without a weapon, likely to harm others, or places life or limb in jeopardy and when all other reasonable means to accomplish the desired action have been exhausted or would likely be ineffective under the circumstances.

Officers must successfully complete department-approved training in the use of the baton and carry it while performing uniformed field duties and while performing extra-duty employment while wearing the authorized department uniform. Exceptions may only be granted by the Chief of Police.

153.0 De-Escalation

De-escalation tactics and techniques are actions taken by an officer that seek to minimize the need to use force during an incident and to increase voluntary compliance by a subject. These tactics improve the safety of the officer and the subject, reduce the likelihood of injury, improve community relations, reduce citizen complaints, and are consistent with the department's procedural justice philosophy.

De-escalation tactics shall be used whenever possible, and when such delay will not compromise the safety of the officer or a citizen, and when it is not immediately necessary for an officer to take action to prevent the officer or a citizen from being assaulted or injured. De-escalation shall also be used when time and circumstances reasonably permit, to respond to a person who is attempting to escape or to respond to a person who is committing a crime. When considering the totality of the circumstances, an officer shall use de-escalation tactics by attempting to slow down or stabilize a situation so that more time, options, and resources may become available for incident resolution. The totality of the circumstances may include, but is not limited to, the seriousness of the crime, danger to the public, and threat to officers and citizens.

It must also be recognized that when de-escalation techniques are applied, force may still be required to resolve an incident. However, de-escalation may result in lower levels of force, than if no de-escalation tactics/techniques are utilized.

When dealing with a non-compliant subject and time and circumstances reasonably permit, the officer shall consider whether the subject is affected by conditions such as:

- A. Medical issues;
- B. Mental impairment or mental health crisis;
- C. Developmental disability;
- D. Physical limitation;
- E. Communication barrier;
- F. Alcohol and/or drug use; and/or
- G. Behavioral/emotional crisis.

When time and circumstances allow for de-escalation, an officer's awareness of the above conditions shall be balanced against the totality of the circumstances when determining which de-escalation option(s) are the most appropriate to attempt to bring the situation to a safe resolution. Options to de-escalate a situation include, but are not limited to:

- A. Calling for more resources, such as:
 1. Additional officers/supervisors;
 2. A CIT officer;
 3. Officers equipped with less-lethal devices;
 4. A bi-lingual officer;
 5. Emergency Medical Services; and/or
 6. Other specialty units.
- B. Utilizing available barriers between the non-compliant subject and the officer.
- C. Containing and/or limiting the movement of the subject.
- D. Reducing the officer's threat of danger or exposure by moving to a safer position, considering:
 1. Distance;
 2. Cover; and
 3. Concealment.
- E. Communicating with the subject from a safe position by:
 1. Using verbal persuasion and explanation to promote rational decision making; and/or
 2. Giving clear direction and allowing the subject time to comply.
- F. Short term disengagement from the situation to create more time to observe the subject and plan for re-deployment.
- G. Complete disengagement when it is in the best interest of justice.
- H. Any other tactics that attempt to achieve law enforcement objectives by gaining the compliance of the subject.

To properly de-escalate a situation an officer must also consider other factors when determining what techniques will lead to resolution of an incident. These factors include:

- A. Recognizing factors that increase subject and officer escalation rather than de-escalation;
- B. Environmental considerations;
- C. Identifying limitations to the officer's ability to communicate with the subject; and
- D. Creating a plan for resolving the incident and communicating the plan to other officers/supervisors, etc.

Each officer has a responsibility to attempt tactical de-escalation efforts consistent with their training. Circumstances are unique to each event, and may dictate if an officer can reasonably de-escalate. De-escalation and related tactics will be evaluated as part of a departmental administrative investigation, use of force follow-up by supervisors and the Use of Force Screening Committee. Supervisors must explain why de-escalation would not have been appropriate or how it was used. When related to a use of force, the findings of this evaluation will be addressed as a separate matter from the incident resulting in the investigation. De-escalation will not be used to determine whether a use of force is justified or appropriate. If the Use of Force Screening Committee determines de-escalation and related tactics were not utilized appropriately, the matter will be referred to a Deputy Chief for final review.

154.0 Handcuffing and Restraints

Handcuffing

An arrest is a very traumatic event for most people. Obviously, people will react differently and many times unexpectedly. All arrested persons should be handcuffed. Any person who is arrested for a felony crime or an act of violence shall be handcuffed. When transporting prisoners of the opposite sex together in the same vehicle, the prisoners shall be handcuffed. A decision made by an officer not to handcuff other arrested persons shall require strong justification and the officer will be held responsible for his or her decision.

When an arrest is made, the person should be handcuffed first and then searched for maximum officer safety.

Prisoners should be handcuffed in the manner which affords the most safety for the officer and the most immobilizing effects on the prisoner without inflicting unnecessary pain or injury. This is with hands behind the back, palms facing outward, and the handcuffs double locked. If the prisoner is wearing a belt, the handcuffs may be entwined with the belt. If a person is required or needs to be handcuffed and is injured or has a physical disability/limitation, the handcuffs shall be applied in a manner that provides the most safety for the officer and the person but to the degree possible does not inflict additional injury. The handcuffs will not be removed unless there are two officers present. If a second officer is not available, the handcuffs will remain on until removed at the jail. See Procedure 235.0.

Hobble Restraints and Sit-Belts

Purpose

A hobble restraint or a hobble restraint used in conjunction with a sit-belt are intended to prevent a subject from kicking, thrashing their body, or banging their head during transport.

Application

Only officers that have received department training on hobble restraints and sit-belts may utilize the restraints. Officers will only use department-issued hobble restraints and sit-belts.

Officers may utilize a department-issued hobble restraint and sit-belt on a subject who is in custody and handcuffed and continues to be combative and/or attempts to damage city equipment.

A subject must be handcuffed before attempting to apply a hobble restraint or sit-belt and a minimum of two officers should apply the restraints. Officers applying the hobble restraint and sit-belt are responsible for coordinating and ensuring the proper application of the restraints. The hobble restraint shall be placed around the subject's legs or ankles and the sit-belt shall be placed around the subject's waist.

While the sit-belt is being placed on the subject, the end of the hobble restraint may be temporarily attached to the handcuffs, but only if there is a minimum of 24" of space between the subject's feet and hands. Once in place, the hobble restraint shall be attached to the sit-belt.

Officers shall monitor a subject for signs of physical distress once the subject is restrained with both a hobble restraint and sit-belt. Difficulty breathing, increased pulse rate and/or excessive perspiration are indicators of distress. Any loss of consciousness will be considered critical. In the event the subject loses consciousness, officers will immediately disconnect the hobble restraint from the sit-belt, remove any handcuffs, request emergency medical personnel and initiate first aid procedures.

Officers may utilize a department-issued hobble restraint by itself (without a sit-belt) where they believe a subject may become combative or resistive, or attempt to damage city equipment. The hobble restraint may be secured around the subject's legs or ankles and secured through the rear door of the police vehicle, with the clip end of the restraint inside a front door of the vehicle.

Reporting Requirements

Officers who apply a hobble restraint or hobble restraint and sit-belt on a subject shall:

- A. Notify their supervisor; and
- B. Document their justification for and actions taken while applying a hobble restraint or hobble restraint and sit-belt in an appropriate report.

Violent Prisoner Transport Restraints

Purpose

A violent prisoner transport restraint is intended to prevent a combative or resistive subject from thrashing their upper body or banging their head during transport.

Application

Only officers that have received department training on violent prisoner transport restraints may utilize the restraint. Officers will only use department-issued violent prisoner transport restraints.

Officers may utilize a department-issued violent prisoner transport restraint on a subject that may become combative or resistive or attempt to damage city equipment. A violent prisoner transport restraint may be used in conjunction with or separate from a hobble restraint and/or sit-belt.

A subject must be handcuffed before attempting to apply a violent prisoner transport restraint and a minimum of two officers should apply the restraint. Officers applying a violent prisoner transport restraint are responsible for coordinating and ensuring the proper application of the restraint.

Reporting Requirements

Officers that apply a violent prisoner transport restraint on a subject shall:

- A. Notify their supervisor; and
- B. Document their justification for and actions taken while applying violent prisoner transport restraints in an appropriate report.

Ankle Hobbles

Purpose

Ankle hobbles provide officers with a means to restrain detained persons in medical facilities who are combative, uncooperative, or a flight risk. Ankle hobbles allow a person to walk but prevent them from running or kicking.

Application

Only officers who have received department training on ankle hobbles may use them. Officers will only use department-issued ankle hobbles and are responsible for ensuring proper application.

Ankle hobbles shall be used only in a medical facility.

Ankle hobbles shall be used when a detained person under hospital guard:

- A. Is being moved from one point to another; and
- B. Has been charged with a violent crime or demonstrated he or she is combative, uncooperative, or a flight risk.

Ankle hobbles may be used when an officer can reasonably articulate that further restraint is necessary based on the actions or known conduct of the detained person.

Ankle hobbles should be applied in a manner which affords the most safety for the officer and others and the most immobilizing effects on the person without inflicting unnecessary pain or injury. Ankle hobbles shall not be applied if their use would further complicate an existing injury or medical condition that is known to the officer.

Ankle hobbles shall only be applied to a detained person's ankles and never to any other body part. Ankle hobbles will not be used for prolonged periods of time. They shall not be used in conjunction with the violent prisoner transport system, hobble restraints, or sit belts.

Prior to applying ankle hobbles to a combative person, two officers will assist in the application of the ankle hobbles.

After the detained person has left the medical facility or the ankle hobbles are no longer needed and without undue delay, officers will clean the restraints, inspect them for any signs of damage, and return them to the division where they were checked out.

Reporting Requirements

Officers who apply an ankle hobble on any person shall:

- A. Notify their supervisor;
- B. Document in an appropriate report:
 - a. Their justification for and actions taken while applying the ankle hobble; and
 - b. The approximate duration of time the person spent with the hobble applied; and
- C. Complete the remarks section on the Officer's Watch Log if under hospital guard.

In the event an officer discovers any damage to ankle hobbles after use, the officer will document the incident in a supplemental report and the division will notify Operations Administration.

Administration

Operations Administration will control the inventory and issuance of all ankle hobbles and must ensure all damaged or inoperative devices are properly disposed of or replaced when notified by the reporting division.

SWORN:

The purpose of the Oklahoma City Police Department Probation Review Process is to objectively and effectively evaluate the performance of those new hire Probationary Police Officers (PPOs) nearing the end of their probationary period.

PPOs in a probationary status will be evaluated every 30 days, once they have completed the Field Training and Evaluation Program, by their Lieutenant, Captain, and Division Major using the Probationary Officer 30 Day Progress Report. These supervisors will determine if the Probationary Police Officer (PPO) has or has not made acceptable progress that month, and if they recommend the PPO continue in their probationary period or be referred to a Probationary Officer Review Board. The completed reports will be forwarded monthly by the Division Major to the Field Training Officer Coordinator (FTOC) for packet collection.

The Lieutenant will also prepare the Probationary Officer’s Performance Summary and Confirmation Recommendation after 6 months of unrestricted field duty prior to the end of the probationary period (usually 6th evaluated month). This includes a 6-month summary of field activity and a Probation Confirmation wherein each supervisor (Lieutenant, Captain and Division Major) selects if they would or would not recommend their PPO be released from probation and become a permanent member of the Oklahoma City Police Department. The Probationary Officer’s Performance Summary and Confirmation Recommendation is completed and forwarded before the end of the probationary period from the Division Major to the Field Training Officer Coordinator (FTOC) for packet collection.

Proposal Requirements

Employees submitting a proposal shall include:

- A. A Proposal Tracking Form;
- B. A memorandum—the memorandum should address all of the applicable elements listed in the section below titled “Memorandum Requirements”;
- C. Drafts of any directives or forms that would need to be revised or adopted if the proposal were to be approved that show the proposed changes in the manner described in the section below titled “Draft Formatting”;
- D. Drafts of any directives or forms that would need to be revised or adopted if the proposal were to be approved that appear as they should in final format;
- E. Electronic copies of the drafts in Word format—the electronic documents may be emailed or attached to the proposal on a disk; and
- F. Any supporting documentation, if necessary.

Proposal Tracking Forms

When proposing a revision to or the creation of SOPs, employees only need to submit one proposal tracking form for the whole document. When proposing a revision to the Operations Manual, employees should submit one proposal tracking form for each policy, procedure, or rule in its entirety. For all other proposals, employees should submit one proposal tracking form per document or project.

Memorandum Requirements

Proposals shall include a memorandum. The memorandum should provide an explanation for the proposal, be presented in an organized format, and incorporate the following topics, if applicable:

Introduction – A statement of the general background of the circumstances prompting the suggestion.

Problem Statement – An accurate definition of what the problem is and the effect it has on the department. This should be a factual statement substantiated by adequate research and not assumption.

Alternative Solutions – Statement of the available solutions that will remedy the problem and then identification of the best solution that is the most cost efficient/cost effective and practical. This should also include a statement of how the suggestion will affect the department as a whole. This should be substantiated by adequate research.

Cost Analysis – A breakdown of any cost involved for equipment or personnel.

Method of Implementation – A statement of what the means of implementing this suggestion would be, i.e., new procedure, directive, purchase request, etc.

Summary – A summarization of all the facts that support your recommendation.

Draft Formatting

A proposal should include drafts of any relevant directives or forms, to include (1) drafts that show changes made to any existing documents and (2) drafts that appear as they should in final format.

A draft that shows changes made to an existing directive, form, or document should adhere to the following standards:

- A. Bold text reflects new language;
- B. Strikethrough text reflects deleted language;
- C. Where the text is going to appear in bold in the final version, new language should also be underlined; and
- D. Small changes or changes that might be overlooked may also be highlighted to draw attention to them.

Proposal Routing

Proposals relevant to SOPs will be submitted through the submitter's chain-of-command to Staff Inspections. Staff Inspections will be responsible for studying the feasibility of the proposal.

All other proposals will be submitted through the submitter's chain-of-command to the Planning and Research Unit. Planning and Research will be responsible for studying the feasibility of the proposal and will submit the proposal to the Policy Review Committee if approved or directed by a bureau commander or the Chief of Police.

Supervisor Review

Each supervisor in a submitting employee's chain-of-command (up to deputy chief) will have 14 calendar days from the time a proposal is received to review the proposal and forward it to the next level of review. Each supervisor must forward the proposal whether they approve or disapprove the proposal.

Feedback to the Employee

Whenever a proposal is submitted in accordance with this procedure, the originator of the suggestion will be notified by the Deputy Chief of the status and/or decision relating to the suggestion.

164.0 Police Association

The Oklahoma City Police Department Police Association is a private, not-for-profit corporation that has established by-laws. Membership is limited to employees of the Department and is voluntary. The Board of Trustees of the association is elected from the membership and have principle responsibility for managing the affairs of the association. The association functions primarily in support of its members by providing certain benefits such as parking lots, group insurance, aid and assistance to those in need, scholarships, and supports special projects on a case-by-case basis.

165.0 College Tuition Reimbursement Program

Purpose

Officers are encouraged to pursue educational advancement while they are employed by the Police Department. This program was established to help ease the financial burden of tuition and to demonstrate the department's support for employees who choose to pursue higher education.

Program Regulations

The department will participate in the reimbursement of costs for courses associated with an approved degree plan. The Police Department and the FOP will jointly determine the degrees which qualify for reimbursement.

Tuition reimbursement will be limited to the three traditional semesters during the calendar year. The three semesters are:

1. Spring (First of January through the last of May)
2. Summer (First of June through the middle of August)
3. Fall (Last of August through the middle of December)

Intersession courses which fall outside of the three traditional semesters are eligible for reimbursement; however, the total amount reimbursed for a particular semester, including the intersession course(s) which precedes it or immediately follows it, will not exceed the maximum amount set forth in the Collective Bargaining Agreement.

The maximum amount for which an officer may be reimbursed per semester is established in the current collective bargaining agreement. The employee may receive a maximum total benefit per year of three times the maximum amount established per semester in the collective bargaining agreement.

In order to participate in the Tuition Reimbursement Program, officers must submit a copy of their degree plan to the Director of Training using the Degree Submission Form. The degree plan must include a list of the courses and electives that must be completed to receive a particular degree. The officer's degree plan is to be submitted only once for each degree as long as the officer remains in the Tuition Reimbursement Program. In the event of a degree change, the officer shall submit a new Degree Submission Form. The officer will be notified if their degree plan meets the requirements for reimbursement. Officers should not anticipate reimbursement until they receive notification that their degree plan has been approved. The Degree Submission Form should be submitted at least 15 calendar days prior to the first day of the first semester in which the officer plans to begin a new degree program.

Officers must submit a Reimbursement Application prior to the first day of the semester. Should any change occur in enrollment (e.g., withdrawal from a course), the officer must immediately submit a new form.

Upon completion of the semester for which reimbursement is sought, the officer must submit a Request for Reimbursement form with supplemental documentation. Requests for reimbursement must be submitted to the Director of Training within 45 days after the end of the semester for which reimbursement is sought. Any exceptions should be addressed in a memorandum to the Director of Training, but may result in failure to qualify for tuition reimbursement.

The request for reimbursement should contain the following items:

1. A completed Request for Reimbursement form, with the Reimbursement Affidavit section completed and notarized;
2. A copy of the official school transcript listing the grades for each course completed;
3. An itemized receipt from the college or university indicating the amount paid for tuition and mandatory fees; and
4. Proof of payment.

Proof of payment must meet the following criteria:

1. For payments made by check, copies or originals of the front and back of the canceled check used for payment must be provided. If the officer does not receive canceled checks from his or her financial institution, the officer must provide a copy of the check receipt and a copy of the bank statement on which the payment is noted. The payment record should be highlighted so it is easily identifiable.
2. For cash payments, the officer must provide a receipt reflecting cash payment and the receipt must show that it was prepared by the educational institution.
3. For card payments, a copy of the receipt of payment and a copy of the monthly statement showing that the payment was processed must be provided.
4. If payment for the course(s) was made with a loan, the officer must provide a copy of the loan contract reflecting the officer's obligation to repay the loan.

The officer shall verify the information on the Request for Reimbursement form is accurate prior to submitting his or her request for reimbursement.

The Director of Training shall notify the employee of his or her reimbursement approval, denial, or modification within 20 days of when the officer submits the requisite documentation showing satisfactory completion of the coursework. The officer will receive his or her notification via departmental email.

Eligibility

Tuition and mandatory fee reimbursement are available only to officers who have successfully completed the Oklahoma City Police Department's Field Training and Evaluation Program prior to the start of the semester for which reimbursement is sought. Civilian and management employees may take advantage of the tuition reimbursement program administered by the City Personnel Department.

Courses to be reimbursed should be offered for college credits on a term or semester basis by an accredited college, university, or junior college. Online or correspondence courses are eligible for reimbursement if the courses are part of an approved degree plan. Reimbursement is not available for vo-tech courses.

Officers must attend the college course(s) on their own time. Courses offered through the Police Department or through the City of Oklahoma City will not be reimbursed.

Officers who are the recipients of educational financial assistance (scholarships, grants, etc.) or other remuneration are not eligible to receive tuition reimbursement from the department, except as to the amount of tuition not covered by the financial assistance, up to the amount established in the current collective bargaining agreement. This restriction is not applicable to loans that must be repaid by the officer.

Each approved course must be completed with a grade of “C” or better, or with evidence of “Satisfactory” completion in a non-graded course.

The retirement, resignation, discharge or leave without pay status of an officer automatically terminates eligibility for the Tuition Reimbursement Program.

The Chief of Police or designee will review all Tuition Reimbursement Applications, Degree Submission Forms, and Requests for Reimbursement and approve or deny each one.

166.0 Gifts, Gratuities, and Donations

Employees shall not accept any gifts, gratuities, or donations:

1. Where the receipt of the gift would either compromise impartial performance, or would be viewed by the public as compromising impartial performance;
2. As a condition for the rendering or not rendering of police services; or
3. In violation of City Personnel Policy 309.

Employees shall submit a request through their chain of command and receive approval prior to accepting any gifts, gratuities, or donations with a fair market value of more than $50.

However, employees are not required to notify their supervisor regarding the following:

1. Gifts or gratuities unrelated to an employee’s status as a police employee;
2. Gifts from a relative;
3. Discounts offered by businesses available to all officers;
4. Donations of food or non-alcoholic beverages;
5. Awards from genuine civic clubs or organizations; or
6. Gifts, gratuities or donations authorized by the Chief of Police.

In the event an employee is presented with or offered a donation that is intended to be a gift for the City or Police Department (as opposed to a donation to an individual employee), the employee shall contact their division commander through their chain of command. The division commander shall determine if the gift meets the acceptance criteria established in City Manager’s Bulletin 14-2 and then initiate the process of accepting the gift by completing a Donation Receipt and Information Form and forwarding it through his or her chain-of-command. The donor will maintain possession of the gift until a decision is made by the appropriate authority to accept it. The Chief of Police will review the Donation Receipt and Information Form prior to submission to City Finance.

170.0 Disciplinary Action

Primary Purpose

Discipline, used as a corrective tool, is designed for helping the employee become more responsible, reliable and productive. Discipline should be constructive and positive and encourage the employee to correct unsatisfactory performance.

Action Pending Official Discipline

A supervisor shall take whatever steps and issue whatever orders are necessary to temporarily alleviate a difficult or dangerous situation, pending official disciplinary action by the appropriate authority.

Discipline Determination

Discipline shall only be issued for cause. Discipline shall only be issued in accordance with department directives and the appropriate collective bargaining agreement, including arbitrator interpretations.

Discipline shall be evaluated on a case-by-case basis and determined based on the totality of the circumstances. Elements that shall be taken into consideration include, but are not limited to: seriousness of the violation, the employee's past work record, the employee's past discipline record, the employee's length of service, mitigating circumstances, and comparative discipline for other employees in similar situations.

It is not necessary that lesser disciplinary forms be employed before more severe forms are used. Repeated offenses of a minor nature may be addressed by imposing a disciplinary action of a more severe nature. In addition, more than one form of discipline may be employed at the same time for the same incident when appropriate.

Where department directives or a collective bargaining agreement provide a specific discipline structure, those terms should be followed.

Authority to Issue Discipline

The authority to issue discipline is as follows:

1. Lieutenants
 - a. Lieutenants shall have the authority to issue Class I reprimands, but only after obtaining the approval of their captain and division commander.
 - b. Lieutenants shall have the authority to issue Class II reprimands, but only after obtaining the approval of their captain, division commander, and bureau commander.
2. Captains
 - a. Captains shall have the authority to issue Class I reprimands, but only after obtaining the approval of their division commander.
 - b. Captains shall have the authority to issue Class II reprimands, but only after obtaining the approval of their division commander and bureau commander.
3. Division Commanders
 - a. Division commanders shall have the authority to issue Class I reprimands without obtaining approval from their bureau commander.
 - b. Division commanders shall have the authority to issue Class II reprimands, but only after obtaining the approval of their bureau commander.
4. Bureau Commanders
 - a. Bureau commanders shall have the authority to issue Class I and II reprimands without obtaining the approval of the chief of police.
5. Chief of Police

- a. The chief of police shall have the authority to issue Class I and II reprimands and Class III reprimands in compliance with the collective bargaining agreement and due process procedures.

Discipline Process for Sworn Employees Excluding Office of Professional Standards Investigations

This section shall not apply to investigations conducted by the Office of Professional Standards.

When a supervisor conducts an administrative investigation involving sworn employees, the supervisor will determine whether discipline is appropriate as to each involved employee. The supervisor will document the investigation and their discipline recommendation(s) in Blue Team. The supervisor will forward the investigation up his or her chain of command. Each supervisor in the chain of command will review the matter and document their recommendation in Blue Team. The investigation shall proceed up the chain of command until it reaches a supervisor with the authority to approve a recommendation (hereinafter referred to as “approving authority”). The threshold authority levels are as follows:

1. If the disposition of a follow-up investigation results in a recommendation to not issue discipline, the decision shall be approved by at least a division commander;
2. Class I reprimands require the approval of at least a division commander;
3. Class II reprimands require the approval of at least a bureau commander; and
4. Class III reprimands require the approval of the chief of police in compliance with due process procedures.

Unless otherwise directed by the approving authority or a superior supervisor, the investigating supervisor will:

1. Notify the employee of the outcome of any administrative investigation in which allegations are presented, even when it results in a decision not to issue discipline; and
2. Draft, deliver and explain any approved reprimands to the affected employee.

Once a Class I or II reprimand has been delivered or a decision not to issue discipline is made, the approving authority will immediately forward the investigation and reprimand(s) (if any) up their chain of command.

Where the chief of police recommends a Class III reprimand, the appropriate bureau commander will ensure the involved employee is provided with notice of the department’s intent to issue a Class III reprimand, the basis of that decision, and the employee’s rights. The bureau commander will also ensure the involved employee is provided with their due process options and given a reasonable period of time to make their decision. Once the involved employee makes their decision, the bureau commander will schedule and coordinate the process for the employee’s option. Once the chosen process is complete and a determination has been made, the bureau commander will ensure the employee is issued or not issued discipline in accordance with the determination.

Reprimands for Sworn Employees

All reprimands must be in writing and describe the employee’s misconduct and the directive that was violated. The employee receiving discipline shall read and sign the reprimand. The employee’s signature shall only signify that the employee received the document. The employee may file a letter of response. If the employee files a letter of response, it will be attached to the reprimand.

Reprimands for sworn employees are structured into three categories. The classifications below are intended to serve as a guide when making discipline recommendations and determinations. Supervisors should consider the criteria set forth under the Discipline Determination section of this procedure when determining discipline.

1. Class I
 - a. A Class I reprimand is the lowest level of written discipline that may be issued to a sworn employee.
 - b. A Class I reprimand may be issued for minor violations of any written directive that has minimal impact on the operations or professional image of the department.
2. Class II

- a. A Class II reprimand is written discipline that may be issued to a sworn employee for a mid-level infraction or violation of a written directive.
 - b. A Class II reprimand may be issued for, but is not limited to:
 - i. Acts that have a significant negative impact on department operations;
 - ii. Acts that involve flagrant unprofessional behavior;
 - iii. Acts which demonstrate a lack of integrity or ethics; or
 - iv. Repeated infractions that occur after other means of corrective action have been utilized.
3. Class III
- a. A Class III reprimand is the highest level of written discipline that may be issued to a sworn employee for a serious infraction or violation of a written directive.
 - b. A Class III reprimand may be issued for, but is not limited to:
 - i. Acts that seriously undermine community trust, public safety, or the professional image of the department;
 - ii. Acts which demonstrate a serious lack of integrity or ethics;
 - iii. Acts that constitute a willful and wanton disregard for constitutional rights or department values; or
 - iv. Repeated infractions that occur after other means of corrective action have been utilized and were determined to not be effective.

Discipline Process for Non-Sworn Employees

The discipline process for non-sworn employees mirrors the process for sworn employees, except that:

1. Reprimands for non-sworn employees are issued utilizing a Specific Occurrence Performance Report;
2. Any reprimand that involves a loss of pay, demotion, or discharge shall follow the same process as a Class III reprimand; and
3. All other reprimands shall follow the same process as a Class II reprimand.

Reprimands for Non-Sworn Employees

All reprimands must be in writing and describe the employee's misconduct and the directive that was violated. The employee receiving discipline shall read and sign the reprimand. The employee's signature shall only signify that the employee received the document. The employee may file a letter of response. If the employee files a letter of response, it will be attached to the reprimand.

Reprimands for non-sworn employees will be issued utilizing a Specific Occurrence Performance Report.

Transfers

The assignment of employees is a management right specifically reserved by the department. An employee may be transferred as a corrective measure or for any other reason when it is in the best interest of the employee or the department.

Disciplinary Suspension without Pay

An employee may be suspended without pay for a period not to exceed 160 working hours upon approval of the chief of police. The chief of police or appropriate bureau commander shall notify the employee, in writing, prior to the date the suspension is made effective. Such notice shall include the reason for, and the duration of, such suspension. Employees may not perform extra-duty employment while under suspension nor operate a city-owned vehicle.

Probation

A newly hired non-sworn employee shall be on probation for a period of six months from the date of hire. A newly hired sworn employee shall be on probation for one year from the date of graduation from the academy. The probationary period of these employees may be extended at any time during the original period of probation by agreement of the City and the appropriate collective bargaining agent. Employees whose original probation has not been completed at the time a new probation is imposed or whose original probation is extended will be required to sign an agreement accepting the probation as a condition of continued employment.

The effect of disciplinary probation will be the same as the original probationary period in that an employee on disciplinary probation may be disciplined, up to and including termination, for violating the terms of the probation at any time during the probationary period. Employees on disciplinary probation may grieve their discipline in accordance with the guidelines established by the appropriate collective bargaining agreement.

For sworn new-hire probationary employees, a Probationary Officer Review Board will hear all allegations of misconduct and/or unsatisfactory performance issues that may result in a Class III reprimand, loss of pay, disciplinary probation, or termination.

The employee will be notified, in writing, of the reasons for and duration of the probation or extended probation. All probation or extended probation must be approved by the chief of police and agreed upon with the appropriate collective bargaining agent.

Demotion to a Designated Rank or Classification

An employee may be demoted to a lower rank or classification for cause. The employee will be informed in writing of the reason for a disciplinary demotion. The demotion order will specify the classification or rank and pay step to which the employee is being demoted and the effective date of the demotion. All demotions must be accompanied by a decrease in salary. The chief of police must approve all demotions.

Termination of Employment

Employees may only be terminated for cause and only in accordance with all written directives and collective bargaining procedures. All terminations must be approved by the chief of police.

When an employee is terminated for cause, the employee shall receive a written statement citing the reason(s) for termination, the directives which were violated, and the effective date of termination. All terminated employees shall be advised to contact the Police Personnel Office in reference to the status of their benefits. The employee will also be advised to contact their respective pension system regarding any retirement benefits.

Records

Sworn

All Class I reprimands will be maintained in an officer's bureau file and the employee will receive a copy of the reprimand when it is issued. Class I reprimands related to a collision will also be maintained in the officer's OCPD personnel file. All Class II and Class III reprimands will be maintained in an officer's bureau file, OCPD personnel file, and City personnel file and the employee will receive a copy of the reprimand when it is issued.

Class I reprimands related to a collision shall be removed from the employee's bureau file and OCPD personnel file upon request of the employee one year after the date of issuance. For Class I reprimands not related to a collision, an officer may submit a written request to their bureau commander one year after the date of issuance to have the reprimand removed from their bureau file. If the bureau commander declines the removal at that time, the employee may re-submit the request after an additional year, and the reprimand shall be removed if the affected employee has not received any additional discipline within the preceding 24-month period. If the employee has received additional discipline within the preceding 24-month period, the affected bureau commander will review the request and determine whether or not the reprimand should be removed. For Class II and Class III reprimands, officers may submit a written request to the chief of police three years after the date of issuance to have the reprimand removed from the officer's bureau file and OCPD personnel file. In all cases, officers will be notified whether their request was approved or denied.

If a request for removal is approved, the request form and any copies of the reprimand in the employee's bureau file and OCPD personnel file shall be removed and destroyed. If the request is denied, the request form shall be filed in the employee's bureau file and OCPD personnel file.

Non-Sworn

All Specific Occurrence Performance Reports will be maintained in a non-sworn employee's bureau file, OCPD personnel file, and City personnel file. A non-sworn employee may submit a written request to the chief of police two years after the Specific Occurrence Performance Report was issued to have the report removed from the non-sworn employee's bureau file and OCPD personnel file. In all cases, a non-sworn employee will be notified whether their request was approved or denied.

If a request for removal is approved, the request form and any copies of the Specific Occurrence Performance Report in the employee's bureau file and OCPD personnel file shall be removed and destroyed. If the request is denied, the request form shall be filed in the employee's bureau file and OCPD personnel file.

Appeals

Appeals from disciplinary actions may be made as provided by city personnel policies or the appropriate bargaining unit contracts with the City of Oklahoma City.

175.0 Non-Disciplinary Corrective Actions

The corrective actions described in this section are not disciplinary. These actions, standalone or in conjunction with discipline issued in accordance with Procedure 170, are intended to improve employee performance.

175.10 Verbal Counseling

Frequently, inappropriate behavior by an employee can be corrected without disciplinary action. Supervisors are encouraged to employ informal counseling as a method to inform employees that their actions do not conform to acceptable standards or to obtain improvements in the quality or quantity of an employee's job performance.

Supervisors shall add comments to the Blue Team routing comments, when appropriate, indicating that the employee was counseled, but should only maintain documentation of the counseling in their personal files for future consideration in the employee's performance evaluation. The supervisor shall provide notification to the employee that the counseling was documented in Blue Team.

Revised 9/01; Revised 6/12; Revised 2/20

175.20 Debriefings

A debriefing in and of itself is not discipline.

A debriefing is a gathering of employees for the purpose of analyzing the objectives and results of an incident. Debriefings shall not be recorded, and any officer involved in an officer-involved shooting shall not participate in a debriefing of the incident prior to his or her interview with investigators. Debriefings should be used to identify successful tactics and methods, as well as areas for self-correction and opportunities for improvement. Debriefings should be a matter of practice for all department employees. Supervisors should convene a debriefing with employees when they are involved in a significant incident, as determined by the supervisor, or when they believe a debriefing would benefit the involved employees. Training staff may also convene a debriefing for purposes of determining whether particular training techniques are effective. All staff, regardless of rank, are encouraged to convene debriefings within their respective units or request one be convened through their supervisor any time they determine a debrief would be beneficial to the unit or department as a whole.

An effective debriefing should contain the following elements:

1. Prompt Timing – A debriefing of an incident should occur immediately after the incident, or as close to the incident as possible, and should be brief and concise.
2. Content and Spirit – The debriefing environment should foster positive communication among all ranks of employees with an ultimate goal of shared learning. Members of a debriefing, whether a select group of officers or an entire shift, should feel comfortable discussing the incident in front of their peers and supervisors without fear of ridicule. Though proper debriefings can lead to uncomfortable lessons learned at times, it is each employee's responsibility to foster a judgment-free environment conducive to learning. Harmful or malicious criticism or targeting of individuals will not be tolerated. Disciplinary actions involving individuals should never be addressed in a group debriefing, but should be addressed only with the affected individual(s).
3. Discussion of Execution vs. Objectives – The debriefing should include a discussion of the original objective for a given incident and a review of the results, including successes and operational deficiencies. To be successful, a debriefing must reveal the full truth and accuracy of what took place—operational deficiencies cannot be overlooked.
4. Analysis of Execution – One goal of analysis is to examine what was supposed to happen and what actually happened.
5. Lessons Learned – Prominent or recurring root causes identified in the analysis of the execution should be turned into actions that can be used to improve future executions of similar incidents.
6. Transfer Lessons Learned – Critical gaps in training or directives may be identified by debriefings. Those should be communicated through the chain of command to determine if dissemination throughout the organization is needed.
7. Positive Summary – A debriefing should end by highlighting the successes of the incident.

When debriefing is used to address minor issues with an employee's performance during an incident, it should be noted in the routing comments in Blue Team under the applicable case number, if the incident type is tracked in Blue Team.

A debriefing may be used for self-correction in lieu of remedial training, but employees may still be subject to discipline for violations of written directives.

175.30 Training Reviews

Training reviews are non-disciplinary corrective actions that are intended to provide focused training to address employee performance issues. Training reviews should be specific and provide a measurable opportunity to correct employee performance regarding an incident or issue.

A supervisor of any rank may conduct a training review at the division when deemed appropriate. If a supervisor conducts a training review that does not accompany written discipline, he or she shall add routing comments to Blue Team indicating that the employee received a training review, but should retain any documentation of the training review in his or her personal file for future consideration in the employee's performance evaluation.

A training review should be documented in a memo and uploaded to Blue Team when it:

1. Is recommended by the Use of Force Screening Committee or Collision Review Board;
2. Is conducted by Training Center staff or a qualified instructor at the direction of Training Center staff; or
3. Accompanies written discipline.

The memo should contain a description of what initiated the training review, in addition to a detailed description of what additional training was provided to the employee.

178.0 Police Van Cameras

Purpose

In vans that are equipped with a recording system, the system provides an objective audio and visual record of all detentions and gives officers the ability to monitor occupants in real time. Police van cameras and recordings will only be used for official purposes. This procedure does not supersede the Oklahoma Open Records Act.

Definitions

Van Camera Recording Systems Administrator - The person assigned to manage and oversee all department van camera equipment and systems.

Categorize - The process of labeling a recording for retention purposes.

Function Test - The process of verifying the police van camera is operating properly. This includes a visual inspection for any obvious damage, ensuring the LCD screen is properly displaying camera information, recording a short video, uploading the video and reviewing the video to verify the camera is recording properly.

Monthly Review – A process in which one video is randomly selected by the system database once per month and reviewed by the appropriate supervisor.

Official Purposes - Actions consistent with the duties and responsibilities of a police employee while adhering to the written directives of the police department. Other parties such as prosecuting or municipal attorneys and/or their staff will have access to police van recordings to carry out their official duties.

Operational Purposes - Review of an incident where a specific officer's performance is not the basis for the review.

Police Van Recording System - A recording system that is mounted in a marked police van to capture audio and video recordings of the prisoner transport compartments.

Tag - The process of labeling a recording with all required metadata (identification parameters).

Use of a Camera Equipped Police Van

Officers must be trained in the operation of the police van camera system and applicable written directives prior to being the assigned driver of a police van.

All police van recording systems, associated equipment, and recordings are the property of the Oklahoma City Police Department.

Officers shall not intentionally change or modify any of the police van recording system configuration settings.

Maintenance and Care

Prior to use of a police van, officers shall ensure the police van recording system is operating properly by performing a function test.

If at any time the officer discovers the police van camera system is damaged or malfunctioning, the officer shall immediately notify his or her supervisor. If the supervisor cannot resolve the issue, the supervisor will notify the Van Camera Recording Systems Administrator by email and the officer will submit a Damage/Malfunction Report through SharePoint. If the system is physically damaged, the officer will also complete an incident report titled Damage to City Equipment. If a camera is damaged or malfunctioning, the van shall not be used to transport persons until the camera(s) are repaired.

Activation and Deactivation of Police Van Cameras

Police van cameras are designed to begin recording when any detention compartment door is opened. After the officer returns to the driver's compartment, he or she will examine the recording display to verify that the recording system is activated.

The officer(s) will not deactivate the police van cameras when passengers are present in the detention compartment areas.

Prohibited Use of Police Van Cameras

Police van cameras and/or police van camera recordings shall not be:

1. Used for personal gain or activities;
2. Copied, deleted, altered, uploaded, reviewed or released in any manner, except as authorized by written directives; or
3. Viewed by citizens in the field, unless authorized by a supervisor.

Police van cameras shall not be:

1. Used to record department employees, except as provided for by this procedure;
2. Removed from the police van; or
3. Altered in any way.

Incident Identification and Reporting

Each recording will be tagged by the officer, and shall be completed no later than the end of the officer's shift. The officer shall make a notation, comment, or statement on all reports, citations, FI cards or CAD calls, if applicable, when a recording is made. The officer shall document the existence of a police van camera recording in all applicable reports and this documentation will take place in the first line of the narrative or immediately thereafter.

If an officer does not make a complete recording as required or interrupts a recording, the officer will document the circumstances of such action in the appropriate report.

The use of a police van recording system does not alleviate the responsibility for an officer to complete a detailed report related to their involvement in an incident as required by written directives.

Uploading

Videos will be automatically uploaded after they are recorded.

Access and Viewing of Police Van Recordings

All access, viewing and activity related to police van recordings are logged and subject to review at any time by personnel authorized by this procedure.

The Van Camera Administrator and/or designee may access van camera videos as needed to diagnose and resolve issues with the system hardware and software. The reason for viewing the video(s) must be directly related to the scope of the hardware or software issue observed.

Officer Review of Police Van Recordings

Van operators and officers captured in police van recordings may review van recordings:

1. To assist with an investigation and completion of reports;
2. Before making any statement or being interviewed (If the officer is the subject of a criminal investigation, which is outside the scope of his or her duties, the Chief of Police may restrict his or her ability to review any police van camera recordings. If the officer is the subject of an administrative investigation, he or she may have an employee representative/legal counsel present during the review. If the officer is the subject of a criminal investigation, he or she may have legal counsel present. If requested by the officer, employee representative or legal counsel the review of the recording shall be conducted privately so that the event may be discussed); or

5. When periodic review is a condition of disciplinary action.

Each recording reviewed by a supervisor for one of the above listed reasons will be re-categorized to the appropriate retention category, if needed. If a higher retention category has already been applied, the supervisor shall not re-categorize the recording.

A supervisor may have to tag an officer's police van recording(s) if the officer is unable to do so.

A captain or above may review a police van camera recording for the reasons listed in 1-5 of this subsection or for operational purposes. A review of the police van camera recordings will occur once a month in any division that has utilized a marked police van which is equipped with a recording system. The supervisor will give the appropriate investigative personnel access to the police van recording system when they arrive on scene. The investigator(s) shall review the recorded contents of all police van recordings related to the incident and will be responsible for the police van camera recording(s).

5. Processing requests for review from authorized personnel.

Open Record Requests

The Oklahoma City Police Department through the Records Unit will provide copies of recordings from police van cameras in accordance with federal and state law.

If an Open Records copy of an original recording is released, the retention period for the original recording and the Open Records copy will be three years from the date of the recording, unless a longer retention period already applies.

When an Open Records request is made for a police van recording, the Digital Evidence Management Unit will send the recording officer an e-mail, through the City e-mail system, notifying the officer of the request. If the officer chooses to review the Open Records recording, it is the officer's responsibility to log into the system and review the Open Records recording, and he or she may review a copy of the Open Records request form as well.

Except as provided in statutory provisions that create confidentiality for persons detained by the department, van camera recordings will be treated as an open arrest record pursuant to the Open Records Act.

The Records Unit and/or the Digital Evidence Management Unit will consult with the Municipal Counselor's Office as needed.

Recordings Used for Training

After a meeting with the involved officer and his or her FOP representative, the Chief of Police or designee, shall review the recommendation and determine how best to utilize the van camera recording considering the identity of the officer(s) involved, sensitivity of the incident and the benefit of utilizing the recording versus other means to accomplish the training objective.

180.0 NCIC

The National Crime Information Center (NCIC) database is a tool to assist officers with apprehending fugitives, locating missing persons, recovering stolen property, and identifying terrorists. NCIC shall be used for official purposes only.

Hits / Positive Responses

When officers receive a positive response, or hit, on a person or property in the NCIC database, they shall take reasonable steps to confirm the person or property they have in custody or are searching is the person or property described in the hit. Upon receiving a hit, officers shall contact CIU for verification of the hit. CIU shall contact the entering agency to verify the information contained in the hit is accurate and valid and advise the inquiring officer of the validity of the hit. A hit alone does not constitute probable cause to arrest a person or seize property. However, confirmed hits may provide adequate grounds to arrest a person on a warrant, to establish probable cause to arrest a person for a new crime, to seize stolen property, or to return a missing juvenile, among other things. Officers are required to follow written directives when using NCIC hits as a basis for any police action.

Reporting Requirements

In all instances where an NCIC hit is received on a person or property, a report will be made, whether or not an arrest is made or property is seized.

Privacy of Information

All information obtained from NCIC, OLETS, or NLETS is only for criminal justice agencies in the discharge of officially mandated responsibilities. Disclosure of any information obtained from these systems shall be only to federal, state, county, or city law enforcement and criminal justice agencies.

182.0 Municipal Court Uniform Citations (Non-Traffic)

Municipal Court Uniform citations will be used as the information form for municipal charges.

Use of these citations will not affect the requirement for a legal arrest, and will not change department policy or procedure governing report making.

182.10 Disposition of Municipal Court Uniform Citations

The Department of Court Administration provides Municipal Court Uniform Citations for officer's use in the prosecution of municipal offenses. A record of all Municipal Court Uniform Citation issued to officers must be maintained. Each officer is responsible for the Municipal Court Uniform Citations, which are issued to him/her. Adopted 10/90

182.20 Personal Recognizance Releases

Whenever possible within the framework of this procedure, adult misdemeanants may be released on their own personal recognizance, i.e., signature bond. Officers are expected to exercise good judgement in each individual situation in deciding to release or not release when the procedure does not specifically cover the circumstances. Supervisors should be consulted and may authorize an exception when unusual conditions exist and the best interests of justice and the community would be better served.

Use of these citations will permit the officer to release an arrested person on his personal recognizance EXCEPT under the following circumstances:

If a citizen's arrest is later determined to be frivolous, or illegal, the officer accepting custody of the prisoner may be held civilly liable for damages if he fails to act as a reasonable, prudent person would under the same circumstances such as taking steps to determine whether a crime was committed, or whether the complaint is frivolous. An officer may not commit, or knowingly assist a citizen in committing a violation of law such as unlawful search or breaking and entering to effect an arrest. An officer will not knowingly participate in an unlawful or frivolous arrest.

182.40 John Doe Warrants

Under exceptional circumstances, the Municipal Court may issue a "John Doe" arrest warrant when the offender is not known by name. The complaining witness must be able to describe the offender, be able to identify the offender without doubt, and be willing to accompany an officer serving such a warrant in order to make the positive identification of the offender. There must also be a reasonable likelihood that the offender can be located, such as information regarding the offender's home address, place of employment, frequent visits to a certain location, etc. No request for issuance of a "John Doe" arrest warrant will be submitted to a prosecuting attorney without the approval of a supervisor. The supervisor will investigate the circumstances and evaluate the justification for such a request before approving it.

183.25 Documentation

When an officer impounds a vehicle:

- A. The officer will fill out all areas within the impound report applying to the impounded vehicle;
- B. A copy of the impound report will be printed and provided to the wrecker driver; and
- C. The officer will submit the vehicle registration and NCIC return information with the impound report. If the tag does not check to the impounded vehicle, the officer should remove the tag and book it into the property room. The tag should be listed in the evidence seized section, not in the tag number section.

An incident report will be completed for every impounded vehicle.

If an investigative hold is placed on a vehicle, the officer will document the reason in the impound report as well as within the incident report.

When a vehicle is seized for forfeiture, a Money/Property Forfeiture Affidavit must be completed and submitted to the property room.

Adopted 12/93; Revised 07/07; Revised 9/19; Revised 2/20

183.30 Custodial Inventory

All vehicles impounded will be subjected to a routine custodial inventory. The inventory will be conducted by the impounding officer at the scene of the impoundment (whenever this can be reasonably accomplished) in the presence of the wrecker driver. Contents of the vehicle will be recorded in the appropriate space provided on the impound report.

The only exception to the “Routine Custodial Inventory” will be, if the vehicle is to be transported to the evidence holding facility for processing by crime scene unit personnel or the investigator. When this occurs the impounding officer and wrecker driver will make only a visual inspection of the interior/exterior portions of the vehicle for safety and liability reasons. Officers will note on the impound report and incident report that only a visual inspection was completed.

Prior to impoundment, officers will obtain vehicle registration information (10-28). This information will be compared to the vehicle being impounded to ensure the information placed on the impound report is accurate. In addition, the vehicle will be checked for stolen (10-29) through NCIC by tag and VIN.

183.60 Vehicles Towed for Evidentiary Processing

If an officer responds to a call and determines the vehicle belonging to a victim of a serious crime must be processed for evidence at a location other than where it was found, the officer will notify a supervisor or the investigator assigned to the case.

If the vehicle is to be transported to the evidence holding facility when possible, the vehicle should be left in the condition it was found and not be manually inspected by the impounding officer. A visual inspection in the presence of the wrecker driver should be conducted in place of a manual "hands on" inspection. Officers will note on the impound report and incident report that only a visual inspection was completed.

The officer will contact the Communications Unit and request a district wrecker. The vehicle will be towed to the designated facility.

The following procedures will be followed when placing vehicles into the evidence holding facility:

1. The employee needing access to the evidence holding facility must sign out for the key at the Information Desk. The key is tagged with information and instructions on how to access the building. The employee who signs out for the key, is solely responsible for maintaining security at and within the building while it is unlocked and the alarm disarmed.
2. The employee who signs the key out, is solely responsible for the prompt return of the key to the Information Desk. Under no circumstances should this responsibility be delegated to someone else or be delayed.
3. The employee's personal access/entry card must be used in addition to the key, in order to enter the building.
4. If a vehicle is towed to this location, the impounding/requesting employee must obtain the key from the Information Desk and an officer will follow the towing service to the specified location in order to maintain the chain of custody of the evidence. Existing vehicle impound procedures and forms should be followed and used.
5. The employee and any other authorized person entering the facility will sign in on the logbook. Any employee who escorts anyone (i.e. wrecker driver, owner of vehicle, non-departmental employee) into the facility will ensure each person entering the facility signs the logbook.
6. The use of any tobacco product in this facility is prohibited.
7. The vehicle being stored must be parked in the proper designated area. The Crime Scene processing area is on the north side of the building, closest to the overhead door. Any new vehicle entering the facility must not block access or egress of any other vehicle.
8. No vehicle or object shall be placed in the marked perimeter zone inside of the building, which will result in the alarm not being properly engaged and the building being left unsecured.
9. The employee must completely and accurately fill out the provided tag, securely attach it to the vehicle being stored by placing the keys along with the identification tag on the front windshield underneath the windshield wipers. If keys are in the vehicle, they should not be disturbed.
10. The employee will place evidence tape on each door, hood and truck lid seam. The employee responsible for sealing the vehicle must place his/her initials, commission number and the date on each piece of evidence tape placed upon the vehicle.
11. Unless specifically authorized to do so by the assigned investigator, no vehicle or item being held for evidentiary purposes will be intentionally approached or touched. If inadvertent contact with the evidence or vehicle occurs, the employee will notify the assigned investigator as soon as possible.

The impounding officer will document in his/her report the crime and its' relationship to the vehicle. Then the investigator will meet with the Crime Scene Investigator and brief the CSI regarding the crime and its relationship to the vehicle. The evidence building is not designed to be a long term holding facility. Vehicles should be processed and released in a timely manner. The investigator assigned to the case is responsible for adhering to this process and releasing the vehicle to the towing service or owner by following these procedures and meeting the party at this facility.

The person requesting the tow will complete and submit an impound report, listing the location and purpose of the impound. Any hold being placed on a vehicle should be directed towards the designated investigative detail. No holds should be placed on a vehicle for the Crime Scene Unit.

After processing the vehicle, the Crime Scene Investigator will notify the investigator that the vehicle may be released.

The investigator will notify the owner and make every effort to release the vehicle to the appropriate party. If the officer/ investigator is unable to contact an appropriate party, the original wrecker service will be contacted to move the vehicle to their lot. 183.80 Disposition of Animals in Impounded Vehicles

Officers will occasionally make an arrest out of a vehicle and be required to impound a vehicle where an animal is involved. When a vehicle is impounded and the owner cannot release the animal to someone else, the arresting officer will contact the Emergency Operations Communications (EOC) dispatcher and request Animal Welfare to pick up the animal.

During hours when Animal Control Officers are not on duty, the arresting officer will contact the Emergency Operations Communication (EOC) dispatcher and request an Animal Control Officer on call. An officer will remain with the vehicle until the Animal Control Officer arrives to take custody of the animal or other arrangements can be made.

Adopted 3/97; Revised 07/07

183.90 Impounding for Failure to Maintain Liability Insurance

If an officer has established probable cause and issued a citation for Failure to Maintain Liability Insurance, the officer may impound the vehicle. The owner or operator may be released in the field if they sign the citation and qualify for field release. Prior to issuing a citation for Failure to Maintain Liability Insurance, officers must utilize the Oklahoma Compulsory Insurance Verification System (OCIVS) and any other source of information available to them to establish probable cause for the violation. It is important to note that OCIVS does not verify commercial vehicle policies, vehicles registered by another state, or vehicles insured by an operator's insurance policy. Officers may not conduct a traffic stop or impound a vehicle based solely on the information from the OCIVS.

Officers will not impound any vehicle if the operator can produce a security verification form that appears to be valid or if the vehicle is displaying an unexpired temporary license plate. This law can be enforced on vehicles that are registered out of state, as long as that state requires its vehicles to maintain liability insurance.

An employee shall not retain in his personal possession, in a police vehicle, or under his control any property taken into custody.

All property shall be properly booked in accordance with department directives and deposited with the Property Management Unit as soon as feasible, but no later than the end of the officer's or employee's shift. All property shall be documented on the Property/Evidence Booking Sheet. This shall include all drug and/or serology evidence, but not to include latent fingerprint cards being submitted to AFIS. A written report shall be made by the booking officer on all property placed in the property room.

Property Management Unit personnel will review all property taken into custody, to verify content and accuracy. The Property Management Unit reserves "a right of refusal" for any property not accurately documented at time of initial booking or return from release. Property not booked in accordance with established department procedures will not be accepted for booking until the discrepancies are corrected. Items will be inventoried and stored, but not officially booked until all corrections are made.

Exception is made for sealed items submitted by Crime Scene Investigation personnel or packages that are submitted in an evidence envelope for fingerprint, serology and/or ballistics testing. Crime Scene Investigation personnel shall document the contents of the sealed items on the outside of the respective packaging.

Personnel accepting custody of property will describe, itemize, and list the serial number of each article on the Property Booking Sheet and Disposition Card and shall preserve all records pertaining to arrested subject(s), the finder of the property and/or the owner. The only time a Disposition Card is necessary is in instances when the booking officer is also going to make disposition on the property.

All persons submitting, receiving, temporarily signing out or returning property will document their action by signing the Chain of Custody Log.

During the hours the Property Management Unit is closed, officers will utilize the storage lockers, storage cages and drop boxes provided in a secured area of the warehouse of the Property Management Unit building designated for "after-hours" booking operations. Property will be placed in the most appropriate sized storage area for the property being booked and the location will be documented in the upper right-hand corner of the booking sheet. Officers will ensure the locker or cage is locked with the attached padlock before leaving the area. If overhead doors to the secured area are used, they will be secured before exiting.

A separate card shall be completed for each individual whose property has been booked into the PMU. The card shall denote the name, date of birth, address and phone number of the person the property should be released to if known. The property items to be released shall be listed on the card. This shall include prisoners property the detention unit would not accept. Property being held for safekeeping not claimed within thirty days will be considered unclaimed and disposed of as allowed by law.

The Notice of Property Storage Receipt & Release Authorization form shall be completed under the following circumstances:

1. When an arrestee is booked into jail and his or her property is booked into the PMU for safekeeping; or
2. When an officer books property for safekeeping and the owner is present at the time the property is taken.

The Notice of Property Storage Receipt & Release Authorization will serve as notice that the person's property is being stored at the PMU and if the property goes unclaimed, it shall be disposed of in accordance with state law. The booking officer shall complete a Notice of Property Storage Receipt & Release Authorization and list all property booked into the PMU for safekeeping. One copy of the form shall be printed and hand-delivered to the property owner at the time of booking or when the property is taken. If the property owner is being booked into jail, the officer will place the notice in his or her jail property only after hand-delivering it to him or her. A copy of the completed form shall be attached to the incident in FBR and the reporting officer shall document in his or her report that the Notice of Property Storage Receipt & Release Authorization was hand-delivered to the property owner.

All currency, found or confiscated, shall be submitted to the Property Management Unit as soon as practical, or no later than the end of the shift.

All currency booked into the Property Management Unit shall be counted in the presence of at least two employees of the Oklahoma City Police Department. If the employees cannot agree on the amount of currency, a supervisor will be contacted to verify the amount.

All currency will be placed in a currency evidence envelope and secured. Each employee who counted the currency will affix his or her signature to the envelope and the Currency Card. The total amount of currency and the denominations of bills and coins will be written on the outside of the envelope. The Currency Card will be placed inside the envelope before sealing. Employees will list the total amount of currency on the Property Booking Sheet.

184.30 Found or Confiscated Narcotics, Dangerous Drugs or Narcotics Implements

Field-testing of narcotics will be utilized to identify possible evidence prior to booking of the suspect. Field test materials for testing suspected narcotics will be provided by the Forensic Services Laboratory and maintained in the jail. Written directions will accompany the test materials. The on-duty jail supervisor is responsible for notifying Forensic Services personnel when test materials are running low, so as to ensure an adequate supply is always on hand for testing purposes.

The arresting officer will conduct a field test of suspected narcotics following the directions provided with the testing materials.

The Forensic Lab normally requires a minimum of five capsules or tablets or five cubic centimeters of liquid for conclusive analysis and evidence purposes. If there is not an excess of the required amount, then the suspected narcotic should not be field-tested. If there is less than five capsules or tablets or five cubic centimeters of liquid, it still should be submitted for analysis.

The officer will ensure the evidence is not contaminated through field-testing or packaging by separating all evidence by type (i.e. marijuana, amphetamines, barbiturates, etc.).

Each type of narcotic shall be placed in a separate container (envelope, pill bottle, etc.) and sealed. Each container will be placed in an OCPD Evidence Envelope / Submittal sheet, which shall be sealed with a pre-numbered evidence seal so access into the envelope cannot be gained without damage to the envelope.

When the seized narcotics/drugs are more than five pounds, the officer shall contact the on-call Special Projects supervisor, while still at the incident location. The Special Projects supervisor will arrange for specific processing.

When the seized narcotics are too large or bulky to be placed in the evidence envelope, the narcotics will be placed in a larger container, which shall be sealed with a pre-numbered evidence seal. The officer will complete the information on the envelope clearly and thoroughly. When items too large for the evidence envelope are submitted, the officer shall complete the information on an OCPD Evidence Envelope/Submittal Sheet and attach it to the large container.

The narcotics envelopes shall be deposited inside the narcotics evidence “drop box” located within the secured area of the Property Management Unit.

When the narcotics seized are too large or bulky to be placed in the narcotics locker during the hours the Property Management Unit is closed, officers will utilize the storage lockers and cages located in the secured portion of the warehouse designated for “after-hours” booking. If sufficient storage space is not available, the on-call PMU supervisor will be contacted, and arrangements will be made to accept the evidence.

The officer will ensure the arrest report contains a physical description of the evidence, the manufacturer and identification or code number of the evidence, when known. The arrest report will also contain the field test results as to the type of narcotic identified and the name of the person conducting the field test. The name(s) of all persons handling the narcotics evidence will also be listed in the arrest report.

If the field test is inconclusive, the suspected narcotic shall be submitted to the Forensic Services Lab for chemical analysis.

If other charges are pending on the person in possession of the suspected narcotic, and a field test is not available, that person may be placed in jail on those charges and the suspected narcotics submitted to the lab for chemical analysis. The officer should note on the evidence submittal sheet that the prisoner is in jail on other charges and a possession of narcotics charge is awaiting the outcome of the chemical analysis. If a field test is not available and no other charges are pending on the person in possession of the suspected narcotics and sufficient identifiers are available (i.e., positive identification, address, etc.) that person may be released, and the suspected narcotics submitted for chemical analysis.

NOTE: It may be necessary to photograph and fingerprint the person prior to release.

All drugs, taken into custody, shall be placed in the drug locker. If the drug package is too large to place in the drug locker, it will be packaged in sacks or boxes holding no more than 50 lbs. each. The packages will be placed in one of the storage cages provided at the Property Management Unit. All drug evidence shall be packaged separately from drug paraphernalia. If property is to be destroyed or released to an owner, officers will attach a Property Disposition/Release card to the booking sheet denoting to whom property shall be released.

All syringes not being submitted for analysis shall be placed in the syringe disposal drop in the PMU.

NOTE: If it is necessary for currency to be submitted for testing, officers will denote denomination and serial number on the evidence envelope.

If property is to be destroyed or released to an owner, officers will attach a Property Disposition/Release card to the evidence envelope.

When booking firearms, they should be made safe by removing the magazine and unfired ammunition. Officers will lock the action (slide) to the rear of the firearm or open the cylinder on a revolver when possible. DO NOT place any items through the barrel and/or action of the firearm. This could potentially cause damage to the rifling of the barrel and or the breach face of the firearm which in turn may alter or destroy critical markings inside such evidence. The booking officer will ensure there is no ammunition in the firearm and will render it safe.

NOTE: If unsure of a safe way to unload a firearm, call the Firearms Range Master or seek advice from your supervisor. Do not assume the firearm is safe! FIREARMS WHICH HAVE NOT BEEN UNLOADED AND MADE SAFE WILL NOT be booked into the Property Room. 185.0 Handling Expressive Materials

185.10 General

Until there has been a judicial determination that the expressive material (including books, music, magazines, and movies, in whatever form) violates Oklahoma law and/or is obscene, officers should not confiscate this material except under the very narrow circumstances defined below.

Adopted 07/10

185.20 Criminal Prosecutions

If officers are involved in a criminal investigation that may result in arrest or prosecution for the possession and/or distribution of obscene materials or child pornography, those officers may seize only one copy of any such material, and then only when a warrant for this seizure has been obtained. The warrant will have to be obtained based on a finding of probable cause to believe that the possession or distribution of the materials is illegal.

However, in a case where the material is present somewhere other than at a commercial establishment, where the officers have probable cause to believe the materials are obscene or contain child pornography, and where the officers believe that the materials will be hidden or destroyed before a warrant can issue, that officer may seize the evidentiary copy or copies and hold that copy or copies for as long as necessary to obtain a warrant. If no warrant is obtained, the material shall be released.

186.0 Automated License Plate Readers

The purpose of Automated License Plate Readers (ALPRs) is to help identify stolen vehicles, stolen license plates, or locate vehicles that have been entered into the hot list databases described below. ALPRs will be used in accordance with State and Federal Laws, and in a manner consistent with Departmental written directives and appropriate privacy concerns. The data captured will be used exclusively for official law enforcement purposes.

A. Definitions:

AUTOMATED LICENSE PLATE READER (ALPR) – Equipment consisting of cameras and other computer hardware/software used to automatically recognize and interpret the characters on vehicle license plates. This data is then compared to a hot list of license plates.

CONFIRMATION – A hit must be verified through the active database in which the license plate was entered. Example, a hit on a stolen license plate that was originally entered into NCIC, must be verified through NCIC as per Departmental written directives. A hit on the hot list alone is not confirmation.

DATA DOWNLOAD - Automatic updating of the hot list.

HIT – Visual and/or audio notification of a match between a scanned license plate and a license plate on the hot list.

HOT LIST - A database populated with specific license plates related to a law enforcement concern. The databases include, but are not limited to NCIC, OLETS, Municipal Court, or local data entered by CIU.

MANUAL/LOCAL ENTRY – License plate information that is manually entered into the hot list by CIU personnel.

SYSTEM ADMINISTRATOR- Manages the technical aspects of the server (maintenance and connections) and establishes access accounts for ALPR users.

- B. General Statements:
 - 1. Only officers who have successfully completed the Department's training program on ALPRs shall operate the ALPR.
 - 2. ALPR equipped vehicles will only be assigned to divisions authorized by the Chief of Police.
 - 3. Officers should remember that a license plate number does not identify a specific person; rather it simply identifies a specific license plate.
- C. EQUIPMENT
 - 1. When assigned to a vehicle equipped with an ALPR system, the officer shall ensure that the equipment is turned on and functioning properly during their entire tour of duty.
 - 2. Any ALPR equipment malfunction or damage will be immediately reported to a supervisor. The supervisor will notify the System Administrator via e-mail of the malfunction/damage. All maintenance or repairs to ALPR equipment will be performed by Radio Shop personnel.
- D. ALPR HIT
 - 1. When a hit is obtained by the ALPR, the officer will visually verify the license plate scanned and confirm the status of the license plate/vehicle prior to taking any enforcement action. Officers will not rely on the hit alone to take enforcement action.

187.0 Crime Scenes or Investigations Involving Computers, Electronic Devices and Digital Evidence

Computers, phones, tablets and other electronic devices may contain evidence of criminal activity and accessing these devices must be done appropriately. Some examples of electronic devices may include, but are not limited to the following:

- A. Computers;
- B. Caller ID boxes;
- C. Gaming systems;
- D. Cell phones;
- E. Security cameras/closed circuit television devices;
- F. Digital cameras;
- G. Digital video recorders;
- H. Electronic organizers;
- I. Pagers;
- J. Portable mp3 players;
- K. USB memory devices (thumb drives) or memory cards; and
- L. Other similar devices capable of storing data electronically.

Other than mobile forensic examinations conducted pursuant to Procedure 187.30, seized computers and/or other electronic evidence will only be forensically examined by a member of the Oklahoma City Police Department Computer Forensics Unit. No forensic examination will take place using department computers, which are part of the City of Oklahoma City Network.

Officers responding to crime scenes involving computers or other electronic devices shall:

- A. Secure the scene by ensuring all persons are removed from the immediate area from which evidence is to be collected;
- B. Do not alter or allow others to alter the condition of any electronic devices. If it is off, leave it off. If it is on, leave it on; and
- C. When appropriate have communications notify the on call Computer Forensic Unit Supervisor. Once the on call Computer Forensics Investigator contacts the primary officer on the scene, the officer shall follow the directions given by the Computer Forensics Investigator.

Adopted 2/15

187.10 Definitions

- A. Computer – A general purpose device that can be programmed to perform a set of arithmetic or logical operations automatically. A computer usually consists of a processing element (CPU), some form of memory (HDD or Flash) and peripheral devices to facilitate input and output.
- B. Computer Forensics – The science of examining digital media in a forensically sound manner with the aim of identifying, preserving, recovering, analyzing and presenting the facts and opinions about the digital data.
- C. Digital Evidence – Information stored or transmitted in digital form that a party to a court case may use at trial. Must be deemed by the courts to be admissible, relevant and authentic.
- D. Forensic Examination – Investigation of material found on devices capable of storing digital data. It consists of several elements including forensic imaging (acquisition), analysis of digital data and the production of a report containing collected evidence.
- E. Forensic Software – Software that allows a Computer Forensic Examiner to create an exact copy of digital media and analyze it to obtain digital evidence without modification to the original media.
- F. Logical Extraction – An acquisition of data as a bit-by-bit copy of files (Directories and Files) that reside on a file system partition within a mobile device. Usually a logical extraction returns only information that is available to the user of the mobile device (excludes deleted files). A Logical extraction acquires information from a mobile device using the device manufacturer’s application programming interface to synchronize the mobile device’s content with a computer
- G. Mobile Forensic Examination Device – A commercially produced device consisting of hardware and software capable of acquiring digital data from a mobile device, extracting hidden, deleted or encrypted digital data and conducting an analysis of the extracted data. An example of this device is commonly referred to using its brand name “Cellebrite” or “UFED.”
- H. Physical Extraction – An acquisition of data as a bit-for bit copy of an entire physical store. All data, including deleted files and data remnants, are acquired during the extraction. A physical extraction acquires information from the device by direct access to the flash memory.

Adopted 2/15

187.20 Submitting Evidence to the Computer Forensics Unit (CFU)

1. Book the item into the Property Management Unit (PMU):
 - A. When possible, evidence should be booked into the Property Management Unit by the person collecting the evidence. In all cases, chain of custody shall be documented.
 - B. Ensure all devices are powered OFF by removing the battery, if possible. In devices without removable batteries, turn the device OFF utilizing normal power-down procedures. This will prevent the device from communicating with cellular or Wi-Fi networks during storage to prevent remote

- “wiping” (destruction) of the evidence. If unsure about how to properly power down the device, call the Computer Forensics Unit for assistance.
- C. Anyone requiring the examination of a computer, cell phone or other digital device should first ensure the items have been properly booked into the Property Management Unit as per OCPD Procedure 184.0. A bar-code sticker (issued by the Property Room) must be affixed to the item before Computer Forensics examiners can pick up or accept the item. This is required to establish a proper and clear chain of custody for the evidence.
2. Submit a request for examination to the Computer Forensics Unit (CFU):
 - A. Once the evidence has been processed and tagged through the PMU, a CFU “Request for Service Form” shall be submitted in person or electronically, by sending it to the CFU email folder. The person submitting the request for examination will need to provide any documentation or information needed to assist in the accuracy of the examination. CFU examiners will not officially pick up or accept custody of the item(s) without the form being completed first.
 - B. For the purposes of prioritizing examinations, the case investigator shall discuss the evidentiary item and the type of examination needed with the CFU examiner. This is necessary to ensure exams are only completed on devices which are capable of having digital evidence forensically removed and preserved; also, this dialogue will help to ensure examinations are completed on devices with a direct nexus to the investigation.
 3. Examination of the Item:
 - A. Submitted evidence will be placed in queue and prioritized by the unit supervisor; the prioritization is based upon the type of crime involved, time issues, exigent circumstances, etc. If a device needs to be examined immediately due to the imminent threat of life or property, or other circumstances, that information should be communicated at the time of submission.
 - B. No computer, cell phone or other electronic item capable of storing data can be accepted or examined without legal search authority being obtained (search waiver, signed search warrant, etc.). It is the responsibility of the case investigator to obtain the paperwork necessary to authorize the search.
 - C. Once the examination of the item is completed, the case investigator will be contacted and provided with a copy of the evidence for review. Further processing of the evidence, after the initial examination, may be needed once the case investigator has made a preliminary review. Due to the examiner having a lack of direct knowledge about the case, it shall not be the examiner’s role to determine what is or is not considered evidence related to each case. The case investigator shall determine what is to be considered evidence with the assistance of the forensic examiner. The Computer Forensic Unit Examiner will provide the case investigator with a detailed written report and an evidentiary report generated by the forensic software.
 - D. The CFU examiner will return the evidence to the property room when the exam is completed and communicate this fact to the case investigator. At this point, the disposition of the evidentiary item will be the responsibility of the case investigator.

Adopted 2/15

187.30 Use of a Mobile Forensic Examination Device

The department currently utilizes mobile forensic examination devices (commonly called “Cellebrite”) within the Investigations Bureau and the Special Investigations Division. These devices shall only be used by authorized personnel under the following guidelines:

1. Authorized personnel within the Investigations Bureau and Special Investigations Division who are a “Certified Cellebrite Physical Analyst” (CCPA) are permitted to conduct both logical extractions and full physical extractions.
2. Personnel who are only a “Certified Cellebrite Logical Operator” (CCLO) shall only be allowed to conduct a logical extraction.

Adopted 2/15

187.31 Mobile Forensic Examination Device Report

Any authorized personnel utilizing a mobile forensic examination device shall complete a detailed report including, but not limited to, the following information:

1. Observations about the condition of the mobile device prior to extraction (powered on, powered off, inoperable, locked, physical condition / damage, etc.);
2. Authority to search the mobile device (search warrant, search waiver or consent);
3. The pattern lock, pass phrase or pass code used to access the device;
4. Make, model and identifying number (serial number, IMEI, or MEID) of the mobile device;
5. Presence of SIM Card and ICCID (SIM Card ID #);
6. Device name, number and the software version used to process the mobile device;
7. Any actions taken to prepare the mobile device for extraction (charge the battery, place in airplane mode, etc.); or
8. Results of the extraction.

Adopted 2/15

187.40 Retrieval of Video Evidence

The use of closed circuit television, DVR's, remote cameras and video surveillance has increased and this evidence may be vital to the successful resolution of criminal cases. Personnel should make every effort to preserve, collect and submit the evidence to the PMU and document the collection of any evidence in a report.

If personnel are unable to collect the video evidence, contact the on-call Computer Forensics Unit supervisor for assistance.

Video evidence related to incidents involving a homicide, in-custody death, or officer involved shooting should only be collected by personnel assigned to the Computer Forensics Unit; unless otherwise authorized by the investigative supervisor(s).

Adopted 2/15

188.0 Body-Worn Cameras

188.05 Purpose

Body-worn cameras provide objective recordings of events that officers encounter. These recordings may provide valuable evidence for prosecution, assist officers with completing reports and protect officers from false allegations. Body-worn camera recordings will only be used for official purposes and shall never be used to embarrass, exploit or harass an employee or the public.

Adopted 12/16

188.10 Scope

The following procedures govern the use and management of body-worn camera systems. These procedures do not apply to undercover investigations and/or court-ordered or court-authorized electronic surveillance.

Oklahoma is a one-party consent state; therefore, when an officer is a party to a recorded conversation he or she is not violating state law.

Adopted 12/16

Adopted 12/16; Revised 2/18

188.20 Use of Department Issued Body-Worn Cameras

Each officer must be trained in the operation of the body-worn camera system and the applicable written directives prior to use. Only department issued body-worn camera systems shall be used. Each officer assigned a body-worn camera is required to use it during his or her shift and shall operate the assigned body-worn camera in accordance with written directives. If a priority call or other circumstance prevents an officer from attending lineup and checking out a camera, the officer shall return to the briefing station after completing that incident or call and check a camera out for the remainder of the shift. All department issued body-worn cameras, associated equipment and recordings are the property of the Oklahoma City Police Department.

Body-worn cameras contain configuration settings that are applied by the Body-Worn Camera Administrator and settings that are configurable by the officer. The officer will not intentionally change or modify any of the Body-Worn Camera Administrator's configuration settings.

Adopted 12/16

Each officer is responsible for all body-worn camera equipment assigned to him or her. Prior to each shift, the officer shall ensure the assigned body-worn camera is operating properly by performing a Function Test. An officer may perform a Function Test at any other time he or she believes it is necessary. If at any time the officer discovers the body-worn camera is damaged or malfunctioning, the officer shall notify his or her supervisor as soon as practical. If the supervisor cannot resolve the issue, the supervisor will notify the Body-Worn Camera Administrator by email and the officer will submit a Damage/Malfunction Report through SharePoint. If the body-worn camera is physically damaged, the officer will also complete an incident report titled Damage to City Equipment. If a camera is damaged or malfunctioning, it shall not be used and will be returned to the Body-Worn Camera Administrator.

Adopted 12/16

188.30 When a Body-Worn Camera Shall Be Activated

Each officer shall activate his or her body-worn camera under the following circumstances:

1. Voluntary contact (only in a public place or a place where the public and the officer have a right to be). 188.36 Use of Body-Worn Cameras in Healthcare Facilities

Federal law imposes severe restrictions on healthcare providers concerning the release of “Individually Identifiable Health Information.” The definition of such information is very broad and includes patient identity, directly or indirectly by any means including clothing, event or a particular injury.

An officer shall activate his or her body-worn camera in a healthcare facility, only under the following circumstances:

1. When conducting a voluntary contact;
2. Prior to any investigative detention, mental health detention, custodial arrest or use of force;
3. When interviewing anyone detained or arrested. The interview should be conducted in a private room or area where recording would not knowingly capture any “Individually Identifiable Health Information” of another person;
4. While involved in a foot pursuit;
5. When conducting a Standardized Field Sobriety Test (SFST) or Drug Recognition Expert (DRE) evaluation;
6. While transporting, guarding or coming into contact with any person who becomes uncooperative, agitated, combative, threatening or makes statements related to his or her arrest/protective custody;
7. For the purpose of documenting a dying declaration; or
8. When directed by a supervisor.

Adopted 12/16

Adopted 12/16

188.45 Incident Identification and Reporting

Each recording will be tagged by the officer, and shall be completed no later than the end of the officer’s shift. The officer shall make a notation, comment, or statement on all reports, citations, FI cards or CAD calls, if applicable, when a recording is made. The officer shall document the existence of a body-worn camera recording in all applicable reports and this documentation will take place in the first line of the narrative or immediately thereafter.

If an officer does not make a complete recording as required or interrupts a recording, the officer will document the circumstances of such action in the appropriate report.

The use of a body-worn camera does not alleviate the responsibility for an officer to complete a detailed report related to their involvement in an incident as required by written directives.

If any IMPACT officer, detective, undercover officer, or supervisor is aware that an undercover officer or informant may have been captured in a body-worn camera recording, they will either notate this information in the body-worn camera database or ask a supervisor to do so.

Adopted 12/16; Revised 2/18

188.46 Uploading

Each officer is responsible for preservation of recorded content on his or her assigned body-worn camera until uploaded. The officer will upload his or her body-worn camera recording(s) no later than the end of their shift, unless authorized by a supervisor. The officer will upload recordings when the camera is nearing its storage capacity.

Adopted 12/16

188.47 Access and Viewing of Body-Worn Camera Recordings

All access, viewing and activity related to body-worn camera recordings are logged and subject to audit at any time. Access and viewing of body-worn camera recordings shall only be by personnel, as authorized by this procedure.

The Body-Worn Camera Administrator and/or designee may access BWC videos as needed to diagnose and resolve issues with BWC system hardware and software. The reason for viewing the video(s) must be directly related to the scope of the hardware or software issue observed.

If the officer is the subject of a criminal investigation, which is outside the scope of his or her duties, the Chief of Police may restrict his or her ability to review any body-worn camera recordings. If the officer is the subject of an administrative investigation, he or she may have an employee representative/legal counsel present during the review. If the officer is the subject of a criminal investigation, he or she may have legal counsel present. If requested by the officer, employee representative or legal counsel the review of the recording shall be conducted privately so that the event may be discussed; or

188.51 Requests for Redaction or Deletion

An officer may request to redact or delete recordings (i.e. personal recordings unrelated to any law enforcement action) by submitting a Request for Redaction or Deletion of Body-Worn Camera Recording Form. This form will be submitted directly to the officer's Division Commander. If the Division Commander is unavailable, the form will be submitted to the officer's Bureau Chief. The Division Commander or Bureau Chief will review the recording and the request to authorize or deny the redaction or deletion. The Division Commander or Bureau Chief will include an explanation for his or her decision and will immediately send the form electronically to the Digital Evidence Management Unit. The officer will be notified of the decision.

The Digital Evidence Management Unit will review the request as soon as practical, and may consult with the Municipal Counselor's Office prior to taking action on requests that involve redaction. All requests shall be stored electronically by the Digital Evidence Management Unit.

An original recording that may have evidentiary value will be maintained by the Digital Evidence Management Unit. If a redaction is made, a copy of the original recording will be made and only the copy will be redacted. The original and the copy will be maintained by the Digital Evidence Management Unit.

An original recording that has no evidentiary value may be deleted as provided above. However, prior to deletion of any non-evidentiary recording the Digital Evidence Management Unit shall consult with the Municipal Counselor's Office. When a recommendation from the Municipal Counselor's Office differs from the recommendation of the Digital Evidence Management Unit regarding deletion, the information will be forwarded to the Chief of Police or designee, for resolution.

Adopted 12/16

188.55 Supervisor Responsibilities and Review Requirements

Supervisors shall ensure each officer who is assigned a body-worn camera uses the camera throughout each shift and in accordance with this procedure. To ensure compliance and effectively carryout their responsibilities, lieutenants shall review recordings under the following circumstances only:

1. When investigating allegations of misconduct concerning a specific incident involving any officer;
2. When a recording has been identified for departmental training or instructional purposes;
3. When an FTO or FTO supervisor is reviewing a recording(s) for training or instructional purposes related to a specific probationary officer;

5. When conducting a use of force or a pursuit follow-up investigation; or
6. When conducting the monthly review, as defined in Procedure 188.15.

When a supervisor is conducting an administrative investigation the supervisor will research the body-worn camera system for any relevant recording. Each relevant recording will be re-categorized to the appropriate administrative retention category, unless a higher retention category is already applied.

A supervisor may have to tag an officer's body-worn camera recording(s) if the officer is unable to do so.

A captain or above may review a body-worn camera recording for 188.55, numbers 1-5, or operational purposes.

Monthly Review of Recordings

Between the 1st and 15th of each month, each lieutenant who supervises officers equipped with body-worn cameras will conduct a review of those officers' recordings. The lieutenant will access the body-worn camera database which will provide him or her with one randomly selected recording for the previous month for each officer under his or her span of control. While conducting this review, the lieutenant shall evaluate the actions of all officers captured in the recording for compliance with written directives. For each recording reviewed, the lieutenant shall complete a Body-Worn Camera Review Form within the database. Recordings reviewed by a lieutenant for any of the reasons listed above in Procedure 188.55, numbers 1-5, shall not fulfill this review requirement.

Recordings subject to random review shall only include recordings uploaded within the previous month that are greater than 60 seconds in duration, and shall exclude the following types of recordings:

1. Pending Review by Supervisor;
2. Administrative: Pursuits;
3. Administrative: Use of Force (No Injury/Minor Injury with or without Hospitalization);

9. Administrative: Criminal Investigation of Department Personnel Involving a Death.

Captain Responsibilities and Usage Audit

A captain shall ensure his/her lieutenants comply with Procedure 188.55.

Once a week, captains shall review the usage report solely for the purpose of determining whether the officers under their command that are assigned a body-worn camera activated their cameras when required to do so in accordance with Procedure 188.30. The software program will randomly select one day per week and will compile a list of all officers that were assigned to a CAD call that would require a recording in accordance with Procedure 188.30.

Captains will audit each incident in which the software has determined that a recording should have been produced by an officer and was not. Captains shall complete a Body-Worn Camera Usage Audit Form within the database for each incident audited.

If during the course of this audit, a captain requires access to any officer's body-worn camera video to make their determination, the video(s) will only be viewed up to the point it is determined if the officer was in compliance with procedure or not.

Adopted 12/16; Revised 2/18

188.56 Investigator Responsibilities

An investigator shall review any body-worn camera recordings related to and in furtherance of his or her assigned investigation(s). When appropriate, the investigator will request a copy of the recording for their case file from the Digital Evidence Management Unit.

Adopted 12/16

188.57 Officer Involvement in Incidents Resulting in Death or Serious Injury

When an officer is involved in an incident that results in death or serious injury, the involved officer(s) and witnessing officer(s) body-worn camera(s) will be turned over to the first supervisor on the scene. That supervisor shall take possession of the camera(s) and secure the camera(s). The recordings will not be downloaded or viewed unless approved by the Watch Commander. If an Open Records copy of an original recording is released, the retention period for the original recording and the Open Records copy will be three years from the date of the recording, unless a longer retention period already applies.

When an Open Records request is made for an officer's body-worn camera recording, the Digital Evidence Management Unit will send the recording officer an e-mail, through the City e-mail system, notifying the officer of the request. If the officer chooses to review the Open Records recording, it is the officer's responsibility to log into the system and review the Open Records recording, and he or she may review a copy of the Open Records request form as well.

191.80 General Guidelines for Conduct

All informants are to be considered assets of the Police Department and not the asset of the control officer(s). The Chief of Police or designee may reassign an informant to the control of another officer when it is in the best interest of the Department. Unless prohibited by the Chief of Police, the control officer and his or her supervisor will be notified of such reassignment.

An officer will not transport or meet an informant unless another officer is present or the officer and informant are under direct visual observation by other officers. There are no exceptions.

Informant (including past and censured informants) contacts will be of a strictly professional nature. Officers will not meet with an informant for personal reasons at any time, on-duty or off-duty.

All contacts with informants which provide actionable information regarding criminal activity will be relayed to the officer's/investigator's supervisor. Within five working days, the information provided by the informant will be documented in writing and submitted for review and approval by a supervisor. The report number will be documented in the informant's file by the control officer.

When OCPD assistance is requested by other police agencies, and as a part of this assistance, OCPD investigators are requested to utilize the other agency's informant(s), an OCPD informant file need not be initiated unless the informant is to be paid with OCPD funds or the informant will become involved in an OCPD investigation.

When debriefing an informant any information relating to violations of law, which would be of interest to other agencies or divisions of the Department, will be explored and appropriate notification and correspondence forwarded.

191.90 Censuring an Informant

In the event an officer/investigator believes use of an informant would be detrimental to the goals of the Department, hazardous to officers or that the informant is factually unreliable, the officer shall immediately cease using the informant. The officer/investigator will write a memorandum outlining the reasons why the informant should be censured and submit the memorandum to his/her supervisor. The supervisor will prepare a memorandum stating his/her recommendation and forward both documents to the Criminal Intelligence Captain.

The Criminal Intelligence Captain will review the recommendation to determine if censuring the informant is warranted and make a recommendation to the Special Investigations Division Commander. The Special Investigations Division Commander will determine if the informant is officially "censured" or not. The officer/investigator and his/her supervisor will be notified of the decision.

In the event the officer/investigator and/or his/her supervisor do not agree with the decision, the officer/investigator or supervisor may appeal the decision through their chain of command to the Chief of Police. The Chief of Police may approve or reject censure. If rejected, the Chief of Police may reassign the informant to another officer/investigator.

If the decision by the Chief of Police is that the informant should not be censured, the original report requesting censure will be placed in the informant file by the control officer and a notation of the date of final disposition. The informant file will continue to be maintained by the primary control officer unless the Chief of Police has reassigned the informant. The informant file will then be transferred to the new control officer.

If censured, the informant will no longer be utilized without prior approval of the Chief of Police. The report censuring the informant will be permanently placed in the Informant Register.

The control officer will place a copy of the report in the informant file, make a notation of the date the informant was censured, and turn over the informant file to the unit Captain for secure storage. In the case of IMPACT units, the file will be turned over to the Division Executive Officer for secure storage.

192.0 Deconfliction

Definitions

Beer and Alcohol Compliance Investigations – A law enforcement activity conducted by officers for the primary purpose of determining compliance with statutory or administrative regulations.

Blue-on-Blue Incident – An action by an identifying or uniformed officer which results in a confrontation with another officer who is not recognizable as a law enforcement officer. If a blue-on-blue incident occurs, the covert or plainclothes officer shall immediately comply with the requests and demands of the identifying or uniformed officer.

Covert Massage Parlor Investigations – A law enforcement activity where the primary target is an individual or business engaged in the business of massage, where a covert operation is utilized to determine the presence of criminal activity.

Covert Operation – A law enforcement activity conducted in secrecy involving confidential informants and/or undercover officers.

Deconfliction – A method of ensuring investigations do not overlap span of authority or control and conflict does not occur.

Deconfliction Operator – OBNDD employees who staff the OIC.

Deconfliction Process – The process by which officers contact the OIC to enter a specific address, subject, vehicle or telephone number into the deconfliction system. All requests are entered as a target/case or as an event. The address, subject, vehicle or telephone number is then searched to determine if another law enforcement action is occurring within the same deconfliction radius or if the address, subject, vehicle or telephone number is under investigation by another law enforcement officer. The deconfliction process enhances officer safety by assisting in the prevention of blue-on blue incidents as well as helping to reduce the potential for duplication of efforts or redundant investigations by other agencies or units.

Deconfliction Radius – If an address is entered as an event, the OIC system checks for any conflict within a radius of 950.4 feet. The radius may be adjusted upon request. If an address is entered as a target/case, then the OIC system only checks for a match at that exact address.

Direct Conflict – A response from OIC to a requestor indicating possible concurrent operations or investigations are planned or are in progress at the same address.

Enrollment Process – The Special Projects Group (SPG) Captain serves as the liaison between the OIC and the Department. Officers requesting to be enrolled should forward their request in writing through their supervisor to the SPG Captain. The SPG Captain coordinates with OIC for enrollment. Once enrolled an officer may serve as a requestor. The SPG Captain will conduct an annual review of the Department's enrolled officers and inform OIC of any changes.

Entry Deletion – The Requestor may request deletion of the address, subject, vehicle or telephone number from the OIC deconfliction system by completing the appropriate OIC form and faxing it to the OIC. The OIC will not accept deletion requests by email or telephone.

Event – A planned high risk law enforcement activity at a specific location such as a search warrant, buy-bust, buy-walk, controlled buy, jump-out, reversal, etc. The OIC will enter such activities as an event. If the same address has already been entered as a target/case, then the OIC case number will be carried forward. An event is entered into the system for a period of one to thirty days depending upon the type of operation.

High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA) – An area or region designated by the United States Government to receive federal funding for narcotics enforcement activities. The Texoma region includes north Texas, the Texas panhandle and Oklahoma.

High Intensity Drug Trafficking Program – A federal grant program administered by the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy which provides resources to assist federal, state, local and tribal agencies coordinate activities that address drug trafficking in specially designated areas of the United States.

High Risk Law Enforcement Activities – Serving a search warrant, conducting a buy-bust, buy-walk, controlled buy, jump-out, reversal, etc. are considered high risk activities.

Indirect Conflict – A response from OIC to a requestor usually indicating possible operations or investigations within the same radius.

Juvenile Beer and Alcohol Sales Investigations – A law enforcement activity, both covert and overt, conducted by officers for the primary purpose of determining compliance with statutory or administrative regulations and/or to determine if the target is engaging in the sale of regulated product to minors.

Match – A response from OIC to a requestor indicating that the same address, subject, vehicle or telephone number is being investigated by another law enforcement officer.

Massage Parlor Compliance Investigations – A law enforcement activity conducted by officers for the primary purpose of determining compliance with statutory or administrative regulations.

Oklahoma Intelligence Center (OIC) – A subsidiary of the Texoma HIDTA that is housed, managed and staffed by the Oklahoma Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (OBND). The OIC is tasked with operating the deconfliction system for the State of Oklahoma.

Prostitution In-Call Investigations – A law enforcement activity where the primary target of the investigation is a criminal target who advertises prostitution services and the customer must respond to their location.

Prostitution Out-Call Investigations – A law enforcement activity where the primary target of the investigation is a criminal target who advertises prostitution services and the target responds to a location controlled by the investigator.

Prostitution Reversal Investigations – A law enforcement activity where the primary target of the investigation is the customer who responds to a prostitution ad or initiates prostitution contact, regardless of the target's location.

Requestor – The officer who requests that an address, subject, vehicle, telephone number or event be entered into the OIC Deconfliction system. To serve as a requestor an officer must be officially enrolled with the OIC.

Target/Case – If an address, subject, vehicle or telephone number is under investigation or surveillance the OIC will enter it as a target/case. This information will remain in the system indefinitely or until the requestor requests removal.

Purpose

The purpose of deconfliction is to coordinate high-risk law enforcement activities and investigations in order to reduce the risk of injury or death and to reduce the duplication of effort by local, state, tribal and federal agencies.

Deconfliction Requirement

Any officer who intends to conduct a covert investigation or a planned high risk law enforcement activity at a specific address shall ensure the OIC Deconfliction Center has been contacted and the deconfliction process initiated.

Officers conducting covert prostitution investigation out-calls, covert massage parlor investigations, prostitution reversal investigations, and other similar investigations shall utilize the deconfliction procedure. Prostitution investigation in-calls, juvenile beer or alcohol sales investigations, routine massage parlor compliance investigations, and beer and alcohol compliance investigations do not require deconfliction.

The requestor who contacts OIC will provide the target address, subject, vehicle or telephone number, the time frame, the type of investigation and other pertinent details as requested by OIC. OIC will provide the requestor with an OIC confirmation number and an official response as to any possible conflict or match.

Resolution of a Possible Conflict or Match

If a possible conflict or match is detected, the OIC will alert all requestors, from whom they have received an address, subject, vehicle, telephone number or event. The OIC will provide contact information for each requestor to all involved requestors. When notified by OIC of a possible conflict or match the requestor shall call the contact provided by OIC and attempt to resolve the possible conflict or match prior to initiating any activity. If the conflict or match cannot be resolved at this level or the requestor cannot contact the law enforcement officer identified by OIC, the officer shall notify his or her supervisor before taking any further action. If the conflict or match is not resolved at the supervisory level no further action will be taken without prior approval of the Special Investigations Division Commander.

Reporting

The officer who requested an address, subject, vehicle, telephone number or event be entered into the OIC Deconfliction System shall complete a report. The report should include the address, subject, vehicle, telephone number or event entered, the OIC confirmation number for entry and the OIC's response (i.e. no conflict, direct conflict, indirect conflict, match). If there is a direct conflict, indirect conflict or match, the officer will indicate in his/her report who he/she contacted and the result of that consultation.

Exception to Deconfliction

Certain organized crime investigations shall be conducted in accordance with the provision of federal regulations (i.e. 28 Code of Federal Regulation Part 23). Such investigations shall remain in compliance with the United States Attorney General's Guidelines that require certain investigations to remain classified. Disclosure of any information regarding such investigations could compromise the investigation and violate those guidelines.

If the commander of a division tasked with conducting an investigation determines that complying with this procedure would violate the aforementioned regulation and guidelines or should otherwise be an exception, he/she shall notify the Chief of Police. Only the Chief of Police may grant an exception to the Deconfliction Procedure.

Internal Deconfliction

Specified officers are granted access to the Department's intelligence database. Officers who have such access shall use this system to deconflict any covert investigation or planned high risk law enforcement activity in addition to the OIC Deconfliction Process and document the results in his/her report.

Adopted 6/16; Revised 4/17

193.0 GPS Tracking Device

The Oklahoma City Police Department utilizes GPS tracking devices and maintains these devices in the Special Investigations Division. These devices may be used to track moveable items such as containers, vehicles and other vessels in order to lead to the discovery of evidence or the fruits or instrumentalities of a crime or attempted crime.

Any officer needing to use a GPS tracking device during the course of an investigation will coordinate with either the Criminal Intelligence Group (CIG) or the Special Projects Group (SPG) GPS Program Coordinator. Regardless of which GPS program coordinator is utilized to obtain a device, these procedures will be followed.

The Special Investigations Division Commander will designate at least two GPS program coordinators within the Special Investigations Division. One shall be assigned from the Criminal Intelligence Group and one from the Special Projects Group. The coordinators will be responsible for the storage, maintenance and handling of all GPS tracking equipment owned or leased by the department. The program coordinators will maintain all GPS records in accordance with the division SOPs.

Instruction on the Use of a GPS Tracking Device

All officers requesting the use/deployment of a GPS tracking device will be instructed on its use prior to being allowed to check out a device. The instruction will be provided by one of the program coordinators and will include a review of these procedures.

Deployment - Consensual

A GPS tracking device may be utilized without a court order if an officer has the consent of the person who owns or is in lawful control of the property to be tracked. Examples include, but are not limited to, deployment with consent by victims or potential victims of crimes and deployment with consent for controlled deliveries. In all consensual deployments of a GPS device, the following procedures will be followed:

- A. An officer must make a request to their immediate supervisor for a consensual deployment. The immediate supervisor will notify the next level of their command if approval is granted.
- B. The requesting officer will complete the department authorized GPS Consent Form, fully explain the information included on the form to the owner of the property the GPS device will be deployed on and obtain the requisite signatures. The immediate supervisor may grant approval after the form has been completed and all signatures are affixed.
- C. After approval has been authorized by the officer's supervisor, the officer will provide a copy of the completed and signed consent form to the program coordinator. The program coordinator will check out the device and provide a user name and distinct password to the employee(s) who will be monitoring the device. The user name and password will be effective for the time period the officer(s) has need to access the GPS data.
- D. Prior to checking out the GPS device, the officer will fill out the "GPS Sign-out Log" located in the program coordinator's office.
- E. When deploying a GPS device, at least two (2) officers will be present at the scene for officer safety purposes and to witness the deployment.
- F. The officer making the deployment will document the date, time and location when the device is deployed. That information will be forwarded to the program coordinator.
- G. The officer that checks out the GPS device is responsible for monitoring the battery life and for recovering the GPS tracking device prior to the expiration of the battery life.
- H. After use, the device must be returned to the program coordinator as soon as practical.

Deployment - Non-Consensual with a Court Order

When an officer is assigned a case where a GPS device may further the investigation, the following procedures will be followed:

- A. The officer will consult with their immediate supervisor for approval to make a request for the use of a GPS device. The immediate supervisor will notify the next level of their command if approval has been granted.
- B. If approved, the officer will make application for a court order in accordance with the requirements of Section 177.6 of Title 13 of the Oklahoma Statutes or, Section 3117 of Title 18 of the United States Code and Rule 41 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.
- C. Once the court order is obtained, the officer will provide a copy (paper or electronic) of the Affidavit and court order (signed by a magistrate) to the program coordinator who is providing the GPS device.
- D. After receiving a copy of the Affidavit and court order, the program coordinator will check out the device and provide a user name and distinct password to the employee(s) who will be monitoring the device. The user name and password will be effective for the time period the officer(s) has need to access the data from the GPS device.

- E. Prior to checking out the GPS device, the officer will fill out the “GPS Sign-out Log” located in the program coordinator’s office.
- F. When deploying a GPS device, at least two (2) officers will be present at the scene for officer safety purposes and to witness the deployment.
- G. The officer making the deployment will document the date, time and location when the device is deployed. That information will be forwarded to the program coordinator.
- H. The device may not be deployed for more than sixty (60) days if a state order is obtained, or more than forty-five (45) days if a federal order is obtained. If an extension warrant is obtained, a copy of the Affidavit and extension will be provided to the program coordinator. The program coordinator will monitor GPS deployment for the expiration of court orders.
- I. The officer that checks out the GPS device is responsible for monitoring the battery life and for recovering the GPS tracking device prior to the expiration of the battery life.
- J. It is the responsibility of the officer that checked out the device to discontinue use of the GPS tracking device by the court order expiration date.
- K. After use, the GPS device will be returned to the program coordinator as soon as practical.
- L. Within ninety (90) days after the expiration of a state order and ten (10) days after the expiration of a federal order, the officer who obtained the court order shall serve a copy of the court order upon the person(s) likely to have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the area where the electronic monitoring device was installed, unless an extension for delay of notification has been authorized by the court.

Deployment - Exigent Circumstances

- A. In rare cases, exigent circumstances may justify the deployment of a GPS tracking device without a court order when there is an immediate danger of death or serious injury to a person and there is insufficient time to obtain a court order.
- B. In such rare circumstances an officer may deploy a GPS tracking device without first obtaining a court order with supervisor notification.
- C. When deploying a GPS device, at least two (2) officers will be present at the scene for officer safety purposes and to witness the deployment.
- D. The officer making the deployment will document the date, time and location when the device is deployed. That information will be forwarded to the program coordinator.
- E. When a device is deployed under exigent circumstances, the officer’s supervisor will ensure an officer is seeking a court order to continue the use of the GPS tracking device as soon as reasonably possible.
- F. If the magistrate declines to issue such an order, the supervisor will ensure officers immediately discontinue tracking the GPS device and that the Special Investigations Division Commander is notified of that fact.
- G. If a court order is obtained, the officer will provide a copy (paper or electronic) of the Affidavit and court order (signed by a magistrate) to the program coordinator who is providing the GPS device.
- H. The device may not be deployed for a longer time period than authorized in the warrant unless an extension warrant is issued by the magistrate. If an extension warrant is obtained, a copy of the Affidavit and extension will be provided to the program coordinator. The program coordinator will monitor GPS deployment for the expiration of court orders. It is ultimately the case agent’s responsibility to discontinue use of the GPS tracking device by the court order expiration date.
- I. The officer that checks out the GPS device is responsible for monitoring the battery life and for recovering the GPS tracking device prior to the expiration of the battery life.
- J. After use, the GPS device will be returned to the program coordinator as soon as practical.
- K. Within ninety (90) days after the expiration of a state order and ten (10) days after the expiration of a federal order, the officer who obtained the court order shall serve a copy of the court order upon the person(s) likely to have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the area where the electronic monitoring device was installed, unless an extension for delay of notification has been authorized by the court.

Deployment - Personnel Investigations by Order of the Chief of Police

The Chief of Police may authorize the use of a GPS tracking device for personnel investigations without consent from another party or application for a court order. In all such cases, the deployment will only be authorized by the Chief of Police for City owned or leased equipment. In all cases involving an order by the Chief of Police, the following procedures will be followed:

- A. Investigators will provide a copy of the Chief's written authorization to use of a GPS device to the program coordinator.
- B. After receiving a copy of the memorandum, the program coordinator will check out the device and provide distinct password to the employee(s) who will be monitoring the device. The user name and password will be effective for the time period the officer(s) has need to access the data from the GPS device.
- C. Prior to checking out the GPS device, the officer will fill out the "GPS Sign-out Log" located in the program coordinator's office.
- D. When deploying a GPS device, at least two (2) officers will be present at the scene for officer safety purposes and /or to witness the deployment.
- E. The officer making the deployment will document the date, time and location when the device is deployed. That information will be forwarded to the program coordinator.
- F. The officer who checks out the device is responsible for monitoring the battery life, recovering the GPS device prior to the expiration of the battery life, and discontinuing use of the GPS tracking device when instructed by the Chief of Police.
- G. After use, the GPS device must be returned to the program coordinator as soon as practical.

Documentation and Retention of Evidence

After the GPS device has been returned to the program coordinator, the officer who obtained authority to utilize the device will be responsible for:

- A. Downloading all data onto a disc or separate drive (memory stick, thumb drive, etc.);
- B. Making a copy of the disc or drive to maintain as a working copy or for discovery;
- C. Transport and book the original download disc or drive to the Property Management Unit for retention and evidence purposes, unless instructed otherwise by the Chief of Police; and
- D. Download and print all reports for the case file.

The program coordinator will be responsible for updating deployment records to indicate the date the device was returned.

196.0 Suspicious Activity Reporting

Definitions

The Nationwide Suspicious Activity Reporting Initiative (NSI) - A joint collaborative effort by federal, state, local, tribal and territorial law enforcement partners to provide law enforcement with a tool to raise public awareness regarding the indicators of terrorism and other criminal operations. The NSI emphasizes the importance of the public to report suspicious activity to state and local law enforcement.

Oklahoma Information Fusion Center (OIFC) - The OIFC operates within the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation. The OIFC and all other Fusion centers across the United States operate as focal points for the receipt, analysis, gathering, and sharing of threat-related information between federal, state, local, tribal, territorial and private sector partners.

Suspicious Activity Reporting (SAR) - Is any observed behavior reasonably indicative of pre-operational planning associated with terrorism or other criminal activity. The following types of suspicious activities should be reported due to the possibility each one may indicate a planning phase of a terrorist or other criminal operation:

1. Surveillance: Suspicious recording or monitoring of activities.
2. Elicitation: Unusual or suspicious attempts to gain information.
3. Tests of security: Suspicious attempts to measure first responder reaction times or other security measures.
4. Acquisition: Purchasing and/ or theft of explosives, weapons, ammunition, cell phones, first responder equipment, etc. Discovery and/ or storage of large amounts of the same.
5. Suspicious person(s) out of place: Observation of a person or people who don't belong in a particular area.
6. Rehearsal: Suspicious placement of people or resources in locations and moving each around without committing the act.
7. Funding: Suspicious transactions involving cash payments, deposits, or withdrawals.
8. Photography: Taking pictures or video of persons, facilities, buildings or infrastructure in an unusual or surreptitious manner. Examples would include photographing the superstructure of a bridge, perimeter fence or infrequently used access points.

Reporting Requirements

The success of the NSI is dependent on the timely and accurate sharing of information. The department must respond to the public's report of suspicious activity and document the information on a SAR form.

When an officer is assigned a SAR call, he or she shall complete the following:

1. Make contact with the calling party in person or by phone if possible;
2. Regardless of the location of occurrence, officers shall document the information provided on the OIFC SAR form found on the department's SharePoint site (<http://departments/police/specinvest/SARS/Forms/AllItems.aspx>). If a SAR occurred outside the jurisdictional boundaries of Oklahoma City, the department's Criminal Intelligence Group will ensure the completed SAR form is provided to the proper local, state or federal agency for follow-up and investigation;
3. In addition to the completion of the online SAR form, officers shall submit an "SAR Receive Information" incident report. The incident number for the incident report shall be included in the narrative section of the online SAR form;
4. If the reporting officer believes the call or incident requires immediate attention, the officer will notify his or her supervisor who shall contact the on-call Criminal Intelligence supervisor.

Once the reporting officer completes and saves the OIFC SAR form on the department's SharePoint site and submits an incident report, both documents will be automatically forwarded to the department's Criminal Intelligence Group, where it will be assigned for investigation and shared with the applicable law enforcement or governmental agencies, as well as any private sector partners.

Adopted 8/16; Revised 9/19

197.0 Notification of Next-of-Kin

When a next-of-kin notification becomes necessary, officers will make every effort to locate and notify the nearest next-of-kin as soon as possible. Two officers should make the notification. If the next-of-kin is alone at the time of notification, a family member, close friend, or neighbor should be sought to stay with that person.

If the next-of-kin resides within the department's jurisdiction, officers will attempt to make the notification in person. Where the next-of-kin resides outside the department's jurisdiction, officers may contact the police agency in that jurisdiction and request a notification on our behalf.

When police dispatch receives a next-of-kin notification call from an outside agency, the call taker will obtain the necessary information to include a contact phone number for the agency requesting our assistance. Dispatch will provide the officer assigned to the call with this information.

When an officer is assigned a next-of-kin notification call from an outside agency, the officer will make every effort to attempt to contact the originating officer or agency by phone prior to making contact with the next-of-kin in order to ensure all necessary information has been relayed to our agency. After the call is completed, whether the notification attempt was successful or not, officers will contact the requesting agency and advise them of the disposition.

 3. Any other incident deemed important by the Watch Commander.

The Watch Commander may authorize the deployment of police personnel or specialized units to assist other law enforcement agencies with an emergency situation outside the limits of Oklahoma City, but within the four encompassing counties. However, after doing so, the Watch Commander must immediately notify the Chief of Police or designee via the chain-of-command. Only the Chief of Police or a Bureau Commander may authorize the deployment of police personnel or specialized units to assist other law enforcement agencies with an emergency situation outside the four encompassing counties.

Revised 2/17

205.0 Vehicle Programs

The department currently maintains the following vehicle programs:

- A. Take-Home Vehicle Program
- B. Home Storage Vehicle Program

For the purpose of these procedures, a Take-Home Vehicle is a marked unit assigned to an officer within the Operations Bureau.

A home storage vehicle is defined as a vehicle, marked or unmarked, that is stored at a police employee's declared residence after normal working hours.

Employees participating in the Take-Home or Home Storage Vehicle Programs will be issued a city vehicle for commuting to and from their on-duty law enforcement assignment. Off-duty use is restricted to official police business (i.e., court appearances, training sessions, neighborhood group meetings, vehicle maintenance, etc.) and driving to and from extra-duty employment. The assigned employee(s) will be responsible for the care and use of the vehicle in accordance with current written directives.

Eligibility for Vehicle Programs

In order to be considered eligible to participate in the Take-Home Vehicle Program, officers assigned to the Operations Bureau must:

- A. Perform law enforcement duties to the minimal performance standards for the preceding six (6) months;
- B. Have satisfactorily completed the required Field Training and Evaluation Program and the recruit probationary period; and
- C. Permanently reside within the corporate limits of the City of Oklahoma City.

Officer selection for the Take-Home Vehicle Program will be at the discretion of the Chief of Police or designee and may be dependent on vehicle availability and/or vehicle distribution needs.

The Chief of Police or designee will determine the assignments which are eligible for a home storage vehicle, marked or unmarked. Home storage vehicles may be issued to individual employees based on assignment, call-out status, or any other relevant factors.

A home storage vehicle may be assigned to an employee who resides outside the City limits at the discretion of the Chief of Police.

Revocation from Take-Home or Home Storage Vehicle Program

An employee’s participation in the Take-Home or Home Storage Vehicle Program requires adherence to all applicable written directives. The employee’s supervisor will recommend corrective action for minor infractions, as they occur. All infractions must be documented. The Chief of Police may revoke or suspend an officer’s participation in the program.

The following are examples of actions that may result in suspension from the program, in addition to disciplinary action:

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| A. Abuse of the car through neglect or carelessness | Minimum of 14 days per infraction |
| B. Violation of provision of vehicle program | Minimum of 14 days per infraction |
| C. Involved in three or more preventable collisions in year | Two 28-day work cycles per infraction |
| D. Temporary VPO/Domestic Violence against the officer | Duration of VPO |
| E. Administrative leave, with or without pay | Duration of the leave |
| F. Injured on duty/light duty assignments | Duration of the leave/assignment |

The following are examples of actions that may result in revocation from the program in addition to disciplinary action:

- A. Multiple violations of the provisions of the vehicle program within a year
- B. Serious abuse of the car through neglect or recklessness
- C. Serious preventable collision resulting in injury or death
- D. Falsify home address for program eligibility
- E. Move outside city limits of Oklahoma City, unless a home-storage vehicle is authorized by the Chief of Police
- F. Permanent VPO/Domestic Violence conviction against the employee
- G. Personal use of the vehicle

Take-Home and Home Storage Vehicle Agreement

As a vehicle is assigned to an employee, a Take-Home and Home Storage Vehicle Agreement will be signed and dated by the participating employee and a supervisor.

The original form will be maintained in the employee’s division file. Copies will be provided to the employee and the Fleet Management Unit.

Vehicle Distribution

The maximum number of marked vehicles that can be designated as take-home vehicles shall be 302. As they are available, vehicles will be distributed as directed by the Chief of Police. The current distribution, which can be amended, includes a certain percentage assigned to each of the Operations Bureau divisions based on authorized staffing. The take-home vehicles are then equitably allocated to the shifts within each division as determined by the Division Commander. One vehicle per set on each shift in each of the geographical divisions will be reserved for officers/sergeants who choose to reside in certain City Council wards identified as having disproportionately fewer take-home vehicles than other Council wards. The vehicles will remain within the wards and officers who move from the wards will relinquish the vehicle. The Division Commanders can determine what is best for their division by deciding if unassigned ward vehicles can be assigned as temporary take-home vehicles. The Division Commanders will take into account the status of their fleet and the availability of vehicles and personnel. The assignment of the temporary take-home vehicle will be documented on the Take-Home and Home Storage Vehicle Agreement.

Home storage vehicles are distributed based on the needs of the department at the discretion of the Chief of Police. There is no maximum number of vehicles that can be designated as home storage vehicles.

Vehicle Transfers Prohibited

Once take-home vehicles have been assigned to shifts within divisions they will not be transferred from one shift to another nor will they be transferred from one division to another without the expressed authorization, in writing, from the Chief of Police. The number of take-home vehicles authorized for a division will not be exceeded unless approved, in writing, by the Chief of Police.

If a home storage vehicle is assigned to a specific position, the vehicle will not be transferred to any other position without the authorization of the Chief of Police. Fleet Management will be notified when any home storage vehicle is transferred.

Personnel Transfers

Take-Home Vehicle Program

When an employee participating in the Take-Home Vehicle Program voluntarily or involuntarily transfers to another shift, division or bureau, his or her status within the program will be handled as described in the following section.

An assigned take-home vehicle will be relinquished when:

- A. An employee transfers from the Operations Bureau to any other bureau;
- B. An employee transfers from one division to another division within the Operations Bureau; or
- C. An employee transfers from one shift to another shift within the same division.

An employee who relinquishes a take-home vehicle will return the vehicle to his or her shift. Following inspection and acceptance by the employee's shift commander, the return of the vehicle will be documented on the Take-Home and Home Storage Vehicle Agreement and a copy of the agreement will be provided to the relinquishing employee. The vehicle will be retained by the shift at the division until it is reassigned. If not immediately reassigned to an eligible employee, the vehicle will be utilized as a pool car for the shift until an eligible employee is available for assignment.

Employees who transfer into the Operations Bureau or from one division to another division within the Operations Bureau will not be eligible for a take-home vehicle in the new division for a period of six months. The employee will then be placed on the eligibility list for a take-home vehicle in order of department seniority, only after maintaining minimal performance standards on the new shift for the preceding six months.

Employees who transfer from one shift to another within the same division will immediately be placed on the eligibility list for a take-home vehicle on the new shift. Employees will be placed on the list in order of department seniority.

Home Storage Vehicle Program

When an employee participating in the Home Storage Vehicle Program voluntarily or involuntarily transfers to another unit, division, or bureau, his/her home storage vehicle will be relinquished. The employee may be reassigned a home storage vehicle based on the employee's new assignment and eligibility for the program.

Temporary Transfers / Assignments

Employees who are temporarily transferred or assigned to a different unit or bureau may retain a take-home or home storage vehicle for the duration of the assignment with the approval of the Chief of Police.

Vehicle Reassignment

Any time a take-home or home storage vehicle is reassigned to another employee, Fleet Management will be promptly notified by e-mail. The e-mail notification should contain the following information:

- A. Assigned employee's name and commission number, if applicable;
- B. Vehicle equipment number; and
- C. Bureau, unit, and shift assignment.

Vehicle Inspections

The employee's supervisor will conduct vehicle inspections not less than twice each month. The departmental vehicle inspection form will be completed, signed by the inspecting supervisor and forwarded to the respective division administrative office. If any category is deficient, a re-inspection must be done as soon as possible. If a vehicle is not available for inspection due to a mechanical condition, the vehicle will be inspected as soon as it becomes available. Employees are expected to maintain vehicle appearance standards, which are deemed appropriate to weather conditions and public contact. Failure to provide proper care and maintenance of the vehicle may result in discipline and suspension or revocation from the take-home or home storage vehicle program.

Required Equipment

For marked police vehicles, the following equipment must be carried within the vehicle at all times when the vehicle is in operation:

- A. Department approved firearm;
- B. Proper police identification;
- C. Handcuffs;
- D. Flashlight; and
- E. Ticket and report forms.

For unmarked vehicles driven by sworn employees, a department approved firearm, proper police identification, and handcuffs must be carried within the vehicle at all times when the vehicle is in operation. It is recommended that the employee also carry a flashlight and documents necessary to his or her current assignment.

Equipment Additions / Alterations

All additions and/or alterations of internal and external police equipment to vehicles must be approved through the Division Commander and by the Fleet Management Commander. This requirement is to ensure proper installation, minimum defacing, and the prevention of electrical malfunctions.

An employee may request additions or alterations to his or her assigned vehicle by forwarding a memorandum request through his or her chain of command to the Fleet Management Commander. The request should contain at least an introduction, description of the problem, and cost analysis. The Fleet Management Commander will retain a copy of the memorandum if changes are approved.

For safety reasons, nothing will be hung from the rear view mirror of the car. Also nothing will be placed on the dash or in the rear window except for a properly mounted radar, video camera, and/or emergency lights. No decals or bumper stickers will be affixed to the vehicle without the approval of the Chief of Police.

Key Control

In keeping with the assigned employee's responsibility for the sole care and maintenance of the take-home or home storage vehicle, Fleet Management will maintain a master key with a tag bearing the assigned city equipment number. No duplicate keys may be provided and no locks will be changed, unless authorized in writing by the Fleet Management Commander.

Additional Restrictions

In addition to the previously mentioned restrictions on the use of the take home or home storage vehicle, the following also apply:

- A. Only the assigned employee may operate the vehicle. Authorized exceptions include city employees or approved vendors as required for vehicle maintenance, equipment outfitting, and other official purposes.
- B. Vehicles will be legally parked at all times and the employee will obey all traffic and parking ordinances, unless responding to an official emergency police call.
- C. All employees will strictly adhere to the rules, regulations, policies and procedures as set forth in the Oklahoma City Police Department Operations Manual.
- D. Personal use of the vehicle is strictly prohibited.

205.50 Off-Duty Regulations

Parking and Conditions for Return of Take-Home or Home Storage Vehicle

Take-home and home storage vehicles will be primarily parked at the residence of the assigned employee during off-duty hours. Off-street parking is preferred, but the vehicle should remain visible to the community. There may be incidents where neighborhood covenants dictate where a vehicle may be parked. Employees should abide by those covenants as set forth. Marked vehicles should not be garaged except in inclement weather or as indicated below.

Take-home and home storage vehicles will be returned and stored at the assigned employee's division or work location when he/she:

- A. Will be away from his/her residence for more than 72 hours, and the vehicle cannot be garaged or placed out of public view;
- B. Has been placed on light duty, whether as the result of an injury on duty or any other injury, illness, or medical condition, unless the employee has been granted an exception by the Chief of Police;
- C. Has been prohibited from driving a city vehicle as a condition of restricted duty; or
- D. Has been placed on administrative leave, with or without pay.

Off-Duty Activity Records

Officers are encouraged to respond to calls or incidents requiring a law enforcement response while commuting to and from their work site and in the course of conducting official police business while off-duty. Official police activity, regardless of the nature, must be recorded on a departmental activity card. Tickets and reports are to be turned in to the nearest police station on the same day they are issued or written.

Overtime / Exchange Time

Officers responding to calls during off-duty hours will not normally be required to remain on the call as the primary unit; however, should the officer's presence be required for an extended period of time, any compensation will be provided in accordance with the current agreement between the City and the Fraternal Order of Police. An on-duty supervisor must approve any overtime compensation at the time of its occurrence.

Unit Numbers for Off-Duty Officers

Permanent unit numbers will be provided to each officer depending on current program requirements and constraints within the computer aided dispatch system. In the event an officer has not been assigned a permanent unit number, the four-digit commission number of the officer will be used as the off-duty unit designation.

Geographical Limitations

Take-home and home storage vehicles are restricted to travel within the corporate limits of Oklahoma City and the surrounding suburban communities. The use of the take-home or home storage vehicle while conducting official police business off-duty beyond the prescribed boundaries would require the written authorization of the Chief of Police, except in an emergency situation.

Dress Requirements

Employees who are driving a take-home or home storage vehicle off duty will wear the Class A or B uniform, an approved special-duty uniform, or appropriate non-uniformed attire in accordance with Procedure 120.

However, employees who are driving a take-home or home-storage vehicle may dress:

- A. In accordance with current dress-down directives on days the Chief has authorized dress-down or if transporting/using the vehicle for maintenance purposes or firearms training;
- B. As directed by the Director of Training for any particular training; or
- C. As otherwise authorized by the Chief of Police.

When an officer exits the vehicle to conduct any official police function, a full size Oklahoma City Police badge, department-approved weapon, and handcuffs must be worn. The badge will be readily visible on the outer garment.

Transporting Passengers

Passengers in the take-home or home storage vehicle are not permitted during off-duty operation, with the exception of transporting stranded individuals.

Dispatcher Notification

Although officers are not required to notify the police dispatcher when the vehicle is in operation while off-duty, they are required to notify the dispatcher whenever responding to a police call or when conducting any business that is police/public service related.

Vehicle and Equipment Security

The vehicle will be locked at all times when not in use. All weapons and portable radios will be removed from the passenger area of the vehicle when it is parked and out of service. In the event of theft, employees found to be negligent in securing the vehicle and/or its contents may be required to reimburse the City for the cost of the stolen item(s).

Damage to Equipment / Traffic Accidents

Damage to take-home or home storage vehicles incurred off-duty due to vandalism or traffic accidents will be reported in accordance with current department directives. Any vehicle deadlined, or otherwise not repairable as a result of vandalism or a traffic accident, will be replaced when approved. The involved employee will be placed in a pool car, when applicable and available, which is not to be used as a take-home or home storage vehicle. Depending on the circumstances surrounding the damage to the vehicle, the employee may receive the next take-home or home storage vehicle that becomes available on that shift within the assigned division. If a take-home or home storage vehicle does not become available prior to the arrival of a replacement vehicle, the employee will be assigned the replacement vehicle.

Off-Duty Employment

The vehicle may be used, while off-duty, by an officer in a Class A or B uniform or appropriate civilian attire as mandated by OCPD for travel to and from an extra job that requires the performance of law enforcement related duties. The take-home or home storage vehicle may be used during that employment only in a fixed-post capacity. While being used in a fixed-post capacity, officers shall not let vehicles sit with the engines running. The use of the vehicle in a patrolling or moving capacity is prohibited, unless prior authorization is received by the officer from the Chief of Police.

Use and Transportation of Alcohol and Medical Marijuana in Vehicles

As pertains to the use and/or transportation of alcoholic beverages and beer, off-duty officers in take home vehicles will adhere to the following restrictions:

- A. Vehicles will not be utilized by officers who are under the influence of alcohol or drugs, who have the odor of an alcoholic beverage or beer on or about the breath or person, or who have taken prescription drugs that would impair the ability of the driver to operate the police vehicle.
- B. Vehicles will not be parked directly in front of liquor stores, bars, or locations where alcoholic beverages or beer are primarily consumed or sold unless on official police business.
- C. No alcoholic beverages or beer will be transported in a police vehicle unless it is in conjunction with official police business.
- D. Vehicles will not be parked directly in front of any dispensary, stores, or locations where medical marijuana is primarily sold unless on official police business.
- E. No medicinal marijuana will be transported in a police vehicle unless it is in conjunction with official police business.

Answering Calls for Service

Whether assigned or self-initiated, sworn employees are expected to provide assistance to any and all persons in need, including stranded motorists and citizens involved in accidents. Vehicle police radios and/or MDCs will be turned on at all times when the vehicle is in operation. Officers will monitor the appropriate radio channel for the area in which they are traveling. Officers will adhere to the following rules regarding dispatched calls:

- A. Priority Calls – Sworn employees are required to respond to any life threatening police call in their immediate vicinity while operating a police vehicle in an off duty capacity. Once at the scene, the officer will remain at the location of the call until properly relieved by an on duty officer or until the problem is concluded. An immediate report may be required and submitted, if necessary.
- B. Routine Calls – Sworn employees may voluntarily respond to routine calls while operating the vehicle in an off-duty capacity.
- C. Traffic Violations – Sworn employees may stop and cite motorists for traffic violations. Officers should keep in mind that the general public expects an officer in a marked police vehicle to take enforcement action when a flagrant and hazardous violation is committed in the officer's presence.

207.0 Knox Box Keys

All Knox Box keys are the property of the Oklahoma City Fire Department. Operations Administration is responsible for the distribution, tracking, and replacement of Knox Box keys to authorized personnel.

Knox Box keys are distributed to sworn personnel who are currently assigned to a patrol division, Bricktown, or the Gang Enforcement Unit. Employees working in other units may request a key through their chain-of-command with final approval made by their division commander.

There are two types of Knox Box keys: sub-master and master. Sub-master keys are issued to officers, sergeants, and lieutenants. Sub-master keys provide limited access to exterior gates and doors of businesses and apartment complexes. Master keys are only issued to watch commanders and Tactical Unit commanders. Master keys provide access to all interior and exterior gates and doors of businesses and apartment complexes. Master keys require an additional security mechanism which is installed in the trunk of police vehicles operated by master keyholders.

Upon retirement, resignation, termination, or transfer/promotion out of Operations, Bricktown or Gang Enforcement, the Knox Box key will be returned to Operations Administration.

Use of Knox Box Keys

Knox Box keys shall be used solely for official law enforcement purposes and may only be used under the following circumstances:

- A. When responding to a call for service or investigating a crime in the performance of official duties; or
- B. When responding to an emergency where immediate access to a gated complex or building is necessary to render emergency aid.

Officers that utilize their Knox Box key to gain access to a gate or facility shall document, in a report (if a report is necessary), otherwise in the call disposition in the CAD system, the following information:

- A. The reason for entry;
- B. The officer's name and commission number; and
- C. The serial number for the Knox Box key that was used to gain access.

Officers should ensure the gate lock is reset and not left in the open position upon leaving the scene of the call or incident.

Inspections, Loss or Damage to Knox Box Keys

Knox Box keys shall be inspected twice a month as part of personnel inspections. Supervisors will ensure officers who have been assigned a Knox Box key have the key in their possession during each inspection.

The loss or destruction of a Knox Box key shall be reported to a supervisor immediately and documented. The supervisor shall notify Operations Administration of the incident as soon as possible, but no later than 24 hours after the key is discovered missing or damaged.

Operations Administration will keep an inventory of Knox Box keys and who they are issued to. This inventory will be audited every six months by division commanders and the results will be reported to Operations Administration.

210.15 Radio Communications Protocol

Police dispatchers are responsible for ensuring an efficient exchange of communication between themselves and officers in the field. Allowing dispatchers to acknowledge officers prior to officers broadcasting their information or request will assist in ensuring vital information is not missed. Compliance with this process will reduce the time spent dealing with repeat and or missed radio transmissions and will ensure the radio air is available to officers with urgent communication.

Urgent communication is defined as communication associated with incidents that pose an immediate threat to officers and/or civilians. Examples include, but are not limited to: a subject with a firearm, the initiation of a pursuit, or an officer requesting back-up.

Excluding urgent communication, officers will contact the radio dispatcher and await acknowledgement prior to transmitting their request or delivery of information.

Adopted 8/16

In order to keep radio transmission time to a minimum, employees shall keep their transmissions as brief as possible and shall limit their transmissions only to that information which is needed.

Revised 9/05

210.25 Lengthy Transmissions

In order to avoid lengthy transmissions from interfering with the use of the radio by other employees, those employees who need to transmit lengthy messages that do not pertain to all employees operating on the same channel should switch to a non-primary channel to transmit their information to those interested employees.

211.0 Major Disaster Scene

211.10 Assigned Officer's Responsibility

When an officer is assigned to, or happens upon the scene of a major disaster (i.e., tornado, flood, or explosion scene), his primary concern will be to determine if there are any injured victims and call for medical assistance to the disaster scene. The officer will render first aid to victims when possible.

The first officer on the scene should adhere to the following procedures:

- A. Notify dispatchers of the disaster and request additional police, medical, and Fire Department assistance if needed.
- B. Contact a field supervisor and advise him of the extent of the damage.

- C. Try to establish a scene perimeter and keep unauthorized persons and spectators outside of the disaster scene area.

211.20 Supervisor's Responsibility

A field supervisor, upon arriving at the scene, will immediately take control of activities and duties of the officers assigned to the disaster scene. He will be responsible for assigning personnel to specific locations around and within the scene and advise those officers of their specific duties during their assignment.

The field supervisor on the scene will determine if the Mobile Command Post should be activated and will contact the shift Captain or Watch Commander. When determination is made to establish the command post, procedures will be followed as outlined under Procedure 280.0.

212.0 Hazardous Materials

Every truck or railroad car should be considered a hazard because of the material it may be carrying, even though it may not be posted by signs. In case of an accident, fire or spillage, the first emergency personnel at the scene should:

- A. Ascertain from the driver of the vehicle the type of material being carried.
- B. If the driver is unconscious or dead, an attempt should be made to retrieve the shipping papers from the vehicle to determine the type of material, if this can be accomplished without risk to the officer.
- C. Have Communications request additional support as needed (medical, fire, public works) and call the transporting company or shipper involved to obtain the information on the material involved.

Always approach from up wind and stay out of smoke, mist, cloud or dust. Keep well away until you know you are safe. DO NOT step in liquid spillage.

If rescue needs to be effected, do so only after steps have been taken to avoid having rescuers becoming additional victims. Evacuate and secure the immediate area without endangering yourself and secure it. Obtain enough assistance to insure security of the area.

Allow no flames, sparks, or smoking in the area and do not allow vehicles to sit running as heat generated from them may cause fire or explosion.

If persons are being transported to the hospital for treatment, the supervisor will ensure that the emergency medical personnel and emergency room is advised of the type of material involved.

Revised 9/05

212.30 Fire Department Responsibility

The senior Fire Department officer at the scene will assume command of the area needed for fire fighting, rescue operations and area needed to contain or neutralize the spill.

213.0 Downed Aircraft

In all instances where a downed aircraft has been reported, an officer will:

- A. Assist with all injured persons;
- B. Protect the scene;
- C. Ensure the Federal Aviation Administration has been notified; and

D. Complete a detailed report.

When the FAA investigators arrive, they will assume overall responsibility for the investigation.

Officers shall assist the FAA investigators in any manner consistent with their authority. Communications and CIU will maintain FAA contact numbers.

Revised 9/05

214.0 Animal Calls

214.10 Livestock Impoundment

When responding to a call where livestock is loose on the streets or highways within the city limits of Oklahoma City, the responding officers primary objective is the safety of the citizens.

214.11 Assigned Officer's Duties

The first unit on the scene of loose livestock is to determine if further police units should be assigned to the scene for traffic and/or crowd control. The officer should then advise the dispatcher to assign or cancel any additional assistance.

Once the scene and the livestock are under control the officer will have the owner of the livestock notified as soon as possible, if the owner can be determined. When the owner is contacted and is given the location of the livestock, the officer shall inform the owner to be at the scene within one hour. If the owner cannot arrive within the time limit, the owner shall be advised the livestock will be impounded for safekeeping at the owner's expense.

When an owner is not available or cannot be readily determined, the assigned officer will notify the dispatcher and advise them of the type and number of livestock. The officer will advise the dispatcher that the owner cannot be located and the livestock-impounding contractor needs to be sent for impoundment.

When the impounding personnel arrive at the scene, the contractor will fill out a livestock impoundment form and the officer will sign it. The contractor will be responsible for delivering a copy to the City Animal Control Department; however, the officer will need to obtain the impoundment form number for the crime incident report.

After the livestock have been impounded the assigned officer will make a completed report on "Impounded Livestock". If the owner of the livestock takes custody of the animal(s), the officer still must fill out a report to be sent to Animal Control.

Revised 2/98

214.20 Vicious Animals

A vicious animal may be defined as any animal, which poses a threat to attack and cause bodily injury to the general public.

214.21 Primary Concern is Safety of Public

An officer responding to a call of a vicious animal must remember that their primary concern is the safety of the public, and not the capture or killing of the animal. An officer, under any circumstances, should not try to capture a vicious animal, since they are not properly equipped or trained to do so.

Revised 2/98

214.22 Assigned Officer's Duties

The officer should first attempt to locate the animal, and once it has been located, the officer should try to contain the animal, if possible, and keep it in sight. The assigned officer will then notify the Communications Unit of the circumstances. Communications shall contact Animal Control to have an Animal Control officer sent to the scene.

Revised 2/98

214.23 Animal Control Response

Animal Control officers will only respond to the scene of a vicious animal after normal duty hours under the following circumstances:

- A. Vicious animals attacking people or other animals.
- B. Confined vicious animals - when the victim demands the animal to be picked up.
- C. Loose vicious animals when the animal is present at the time assistance is requested.

214.24 Shooting Vicious Animals

An officer will not shoot the animal unless the animal attacks or attempts to attack the officer or any other persons.

When the shooting of a vicious animal is required for the protection of the officer or another person, the officer should, if at all possible, avoid shooting the animal in the head. Any animal that is suspected of having contracted rabies cannot be tested for rabies if the head of the animal is destroyed.

If an officer intentionally shoots a vicious animal, the officer will immediately notify the Communications Unit and their supervisor. The involved officer shall follow Use of Force Procedure 150.70.

Revised 2/98; Revised 7/10; Revised 6/14

214.30 Injured Animals

An officer coming in contact with an injured domestic animal (dog or cat) will have the dispatcher notify Animal Control and have a unit sent to the scene. Animal Control will send a unit to the scene after normal duty hours only when the animal is severely injured and is located in a public area.

214.31 Shooting Injured Animals

A police officer will shoot an injured animal (cow, horse, deer, etc.) ONLY after a supervisor has responded to the scene, evaluated the situation and ALL of the following conditions have been met:

- A. Communications has notified Animal Control.
- B. The animal is so severely injured as to require the immediate extermination of the animal to prevent its further suffering.
- C. When shooting the animal can be done so safely and would not pose a risk to the life or property of the officer or other citizens.

In such cases where narrow confines do not allow an officer to use a shotgun, the supervisor or an officer selected by the supervisor may use a handgun. Situations where the officer/supervisor uses a weapon on an injured animal shall not require investigation by the Office of Professional Standards.

Once the animal has been killed, the supervisor shall complete a crime incident report titled "Intentional Discharge of Firearm - Animal Euthanasia" and forward it through their chain of command to the Operations Bureau Commander.

Revised 2/98

214.40 Animals Protected under State or Federal Law

214.41 Definition

A “protected” animal may be defined as any animal that is protected by law under the State and/or Federal wildlife statutes.

214.42 Notification of Wildlife Department

When an officer comes into contact with an injured animal, which is protected under wildlife statutes, the officer must notify the Oklahoma State Wildlife Department and advise them of the type of animal that is injured and its location.

The Oklahoma State Wildlife Department business hours are 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. on weekdays and can be contacted at (405) 521-3851 during business hours.

When officers come upon an injured animal after business hours they will have the dispatcher contact a State Game Ranger in the county where the injured animal is located.

After the Wildlife Department or State Game Ranger has been contacted, the officer will comply with the instructions of that official. If the officer feels unable to comply with the instructions of the official, a supervisor shall be contacted prior to taking any action contrary to those set out by the game official.

When attempts to contact a State Game Ranger are unsuccessful and the animal is dead, the officer should make an effort to remove the animal from the roadway. The officer will then advise Communications of the location of the animal carcass and have day shift Communications notify the State Wildlife Department.

Revised 2/98

214.43 Shooting Protected Animals

A police officer will shoot a protected animal ONLY after a supervisor has responded to the scene, evaluated the situation and ALL of the following conditions have been met:

- A. Notify the Oklahoma Wildlife Department or a Game Ranger.
- B. The animal is so severely injured as to require the immediate extermination of the animal to prevent its further suffering.
- C. Destroy the animal only when their weapon can be fired safely without endangering the lives and property of others.

In such cases where narrow confines do not allow an officer to use a shotgun, the supervisor or the officer selected by the supervisor may use a handgun. Situations where the officer/supervisor uses a weapon on a protected animal shall not require investigation by the Office of Professional Standards.

Once the animal has been killed, the supervisor shall complete a crime incident report titled “Intentional Discharge of Firearm Animal Euthanasia” and forward it through their chain-of-command to the Operations Bureau Commander.

Revised 2/98

215.0 Mental Health Procedures

The purpose of this procedure is to provide for the humane care and treatment of persons who are mentally ill, alcohol dependent or drug dependent.

215.10 Definitions

Alcohol dependency is a condition where a person uses alcoholic beverages to such an extent it impairs their health, family life or occupation and compromises the health and safety of the community.

Drug dependency is a condition where a person uses a controlled substance as presently defined in § 102 of the Federal Controlled Substances Act and who is in a state of psychic or physical dependence, or both, arising from administration of that controlled substance on an intermittent or continuous basis. Drug dependence is characterized by behavioral and other responses, which include a strong compulsion to take the substance on a continuous basis in order to experience its psychic effects or to avoid the discomfort of its absence.

Mental illness is a substantial disorder of thought, mood, perception, psychological orientation or memory that significantly impairs judgment, behavior, capacity to recognize reality, or ability to meet the ordinary demands of life.

Person requiring treatment is a person who because of his or her mental illness or drug or alcohol dependency:

- A. poses a substantial risk of immediate physical harm to self as manifested by evidence or serious threats of or attempts at suicide or other significant self-inflicted bodily harm;
- B. poses a substantial risk of immediate physical harm to another person or persons as manifested by evidence of violent behavior directed toward another person or persons;
- C. has placed another person or persons in a reasonable fear of violent behavior directed towards such person or persons or serious physical harm to them as manifested by serious and immediate threats;
- D. is in a condition of severe deterioration such that, without immediate intervention, there exists a substantial risk that severe impairment or injury will result to the person; or
- E. poses a substantial risk of immediate serious physical injury to self or death as manifested by evidence that the person is unable to provide for and is not providing for his or her basic physical needs.

Unless a person also meets the above-listed criteria, a person requiring treatment shall not mean:

- A. a person whose mental processes have been weakened or impaired by reason of advanced years, dementia, or Alzheimer's disease;
- B. a mentally challenged or developmentally disabled person as defined in Title 10 of the Oklahoma Statutes;
- C. a person with seizure disorder;
- D. a person with a traumatic brain injury; or
- E. a person who is homeless.

Revised 2/03; Revised 6/12; Revised 5/15

215.20 Emergency Detention Procedures

Any officer who reasonably believes that a person is a person requiring treatment as defined in Procedure 215.10 shall take the person into protective custody.

Officers may base their determination on personal observations or the statement of a third party. The mental health or substance abuse history of the person may be used as part of the evidence to determine whether the person is a person requiring treatment. The mental health or substance abuse history of the person shall not be the sole basis for this determination.

Officers shall make every reasonable effort to take the person into custody in the least conspicuous manner.

When an officer takes a person into protective custody based upon personal observations, the officer will complete a Peace Officer's Affidavit for Emergency Detention and shall include the observations that led the officer to believe the person is a person requiring treatment. When an officer takes a person into protective custody based solely on the observations of a third party, the officer shall (1) have the third party complete and sign a Third Party Statement

Form, (2) ensure the third party is a credible source for the information they provided, and (3) verify the third party's statement describing the person in crisis meets the criteria for taking the person into protective custody.

Officers will complete a Crime Incident Report in all incidents where they have to make a determination whether a person is a person requiring treatment, regardless of whether the person is ultimately taken into custody and regardless of whether the determination was based upon the officer's personal observations or the observations of a third party.

Officers will transport the person in protective custody to an appropriate mental health facility. Officers shall provide the mental health facility with the Peace Officer's Affidavit for Emergency Detention and/or the Third Party Statement Form.

A licensed mental health professional will examine the person and determine if the person is in need of treatment. The mental health professional will complete and sign the licensed mental health professional statement, petition, and verification form and may retain the consumer in the facility. If the individual is deemed not to be in need of treatment, the facility will make arrangements to have the person released. If transportation cannot be arranged, an officer will transport the individual to the original location where the custody took place.

If an officer encounters a mentally unstable suspect on a call involving a felony or violent misdemeanor criminal matter, the officer will handle the person as in any other criminal investigation. The officer shall advise a jail supervisor that the arrested person may be mentally unstable and document in the arrest report why the officer believed the person may be mentally unstable. If the person also meets criteria for emergency detention, the officer shall complete a Peace Officer's Affidavit and turn it in during jail booking.

Revised 6/96; Revised 2/03; Revised 6/12; Revised 5/15

215.30 Mental Health Transports and Consumer Stability

Officers shall contact their supervisor if the officer believes the mental health consumer they have been called to transport from a hospital emergency room or mental health facility to another facility is not medically or mentally stable enough to allow for safe transport in a police vehicle. This would include being ambulatory. In these situations, the supervisor will respond to the hospital or facility and discuss these concerns with the medical and/or mental health professionals involved, or their supervisor, to determine whether the consumer's medical and/or mental condition is stabilized for transport and evaluate whether the transfer to another facility by department vehicle is appropriate. Additionally, the involved supervisor will ensure the information surrounding the consumer's condition is relayed to the receiving facility for admittance approval prior to the transport taking place. In these cases the involved supervisor will determine a reasonable and safe means in which to transport the consumer to the receiving facility. If the supervisor cannot resolve the issue he/she will contact the Watch Commander for assistance. The supervisor will complete a supplemental report detailing their actions.

Adopted 5/15

215.40 Mental Health Transports outside the Metro Area

Oklahoma State Statute Title 43A §1-110 requires local police departments to respond to mental health calls occurring within their jurisdiction. This includes public places as well as private dwellings, hospital emergency rooms, doctor's offices, community mental health centers, etc. The statutory requirement includes the responsibility to transport such patients to and from Oklahoma Department of Mental Health designated sites for examination and detention.

The Oklahoma County Crisis Intervention Center (OCCIC) or private emergency rooms occasionally request our department transport a consumer to a facility outside the metro area. If such a request is received, the primary officer on the call will notify the Watch Commander through his/her chain of command. If unable to locate a facility in the metro area, the Watch Commander will complete travel orders for the mental health transport. The destination information will be supplied by the Crisis Center or hospital personnel.

Mental health consumers present conditions for their transport that dictate special care and attention during transports. Officers are required to transport mental health consumers from a mental health facility or hospital to another mental health facility or hospital only when it has been confirmed the following criteria are met:

- A. Voluntary/involuntary status of the consumer is verified with the requesting mental health professional.
- B. Clinical condition of the consumer is determined prior to officers taking custody, i.e. conditions of the consumer that may need monitoring during transport are not a deterrent to the safety of the consumer or officers.
- C. Arrangements have been made between the two facilities.
- D. Two officers are available to make the transport. If available, at least one of the officers should be the same gender as the mental health consumer.
- E. The transport vehicle must be equipped with a barrier between the officers and the consumer.
- F. Obtain travel orders.

If the consumer and the involved agencies meet the criteria for transport the following procedures will be adhered to by OCPD personnel:

- A. Points of contact are confirmed and noted; names of requesting/receiving facility, names of requesting/receiving mental healthcare professionals, phone contact numbers for requesting/receiving mental healthcare professionals.
- B. Emergency communication information is established when traveling outside the metro area – local law enforcement agency phone numbers, radio channels and advising OCPD dispatch of the transport details, route, departure time, arrival time etc.
- C. Officers shall use caution when transporting mental health consumers due to the potential threat of destructive and/or dangerous behavior the consumer poses to themselves or the officers. Officers should evaluate each transport individually and take appropriate restraint measures to protect their safety and the safety of the consumer.
- D. Explain to the consumer the following:
 1. Identify yourself as an Oklahoma City police officer and explain to the consumer they are in custody and the custody is not a criminal arrest.
 2. The name of the facility to which the consumer is being transported.
 3. The transport is for an examination of the consumer by mental health professionals.
- E. All personal property of the consumer will be collected by the officers and will accompany the consumer to their destination where it will be turned over to the receiving agency.
- F. Weapons, or other items which could be used to inflict injury, shall be removed from the consumer and secured by officers prior to transporting the consumer. Officers will book weapons or other potentially hazardous items into the Property Management Unit according to written directives.
- G. Should the consumer display the potential for violence, they shall be transported in a paddy wagon using appropriate restraints and security measures to ensure the safety of the consumer, officers and others.
- H. The officers will take any additional safeguards necessary at the receiving facility to ensure a safe transition and notify the receiving agency of any medical problems and potential security hazards the consumer presents.
- I. Juvenile consumers shall be processed in the same manner as adults but with due regard as to the individual's age and mental state.
- J. Any officer making a mental health transport must complete a Crime Incident Report. The Crime Incident Report will include but not be limited to the following:
 1. Transport vehicle type and vehicle number.
 2. Total mileage of transport.
 3. All stops scheduled and unscheduled.
 4. Use of restraints and/or additional security measures utilized for officer/consumer safety and the consumer's behavior or demeanor motivating the use of additional precautions.
 5. Point of contact information for the requesting facility and the receiving facility.

In the event transporting officers use force during a mental health transport and the use of force occurred outside the corporate limits of Oklahoma City, employees shall proceed in accordance with Procedure 150, Use of Force Investigations. In addition to compliance with Procedure 150, the following procedures shall be adhered to:

- A. If the consumer requires medical attention, the officers shall contact local emergency services and ensure medical assistance is dispatched.
- B. The transporting officers shall immediately contact their supervisor and advise them of the incident.
- C. The supervisor shall notify the watch commander, respond to the scene, and conduct a use of force investigation in accordance with Procedure 150.
- D. If criminal charges against the consumer are appropriate, the watch commander shall be responsible for ensuring the law enforcement agency with jurisdiction where the use of force occurred is notified.
- E. If applicable, the agency with jurisdiction will be responsible for conducting the criminal investigation.
- F. If the consumer is not charged or charged by the investigating agency but released in the field, the transporting officers will continue with and complete the mental health transport.
- G. If the consumer is charged by the investigating agency and to be detained in jail, the investigating agency will take custody of the consumer and transport him or her to their appropriate jail.
- H. If the consumer is detained by the investigating agency, the watch commander shall contact the arresting agency to make arrangements for the completion of the mental health transport upon release. If the arresting agency is unwilling or unable to complete the mental health transport, the watch commander will arrange to have our department notified upon release so that we can arrange to complete the transport.

If officers are unable to contact their supervisor, they shall attempt to contact dispatch. If officers are unable to establish any communication, they shall proceed to the nearest location where they are able to do so.

All involved or witnessing officers shall complete a report, unless instructed not to by a supervisor or investigator.

Any deviation from these procedures must be approved by a bureau commander.

Adopted 6/12; Revised 5/15; Revised 1/16

215.50 Attempted Suicide Calls

Cases involving an attempted suicide will be treated the same as those involving a person requiring treatment.

When an officer confronts a person who is talking of committing suicide and no overt act has occurred, no one is present to give a third party statement, and the officer is of the opinion that the person is not presently a threat to himself/herself or others, the officer can advise the family members of the statement and release the person to the custody of the family with a referral to a Mental Health Center. A full report will be written of the incident and will include an explanation why the person did not meet emergency detention criteria.

When an officer is of the opinion that the person is serious about committing suicide, the person will be placed in protective custody in accordance with Procedure 215.20.

When a person has committed an overt act, the officer's first responsibility will be to get medical aid for the person.

In all cases, the officer will complete a Crime Incident Report.

Revised 2/03; Revised 5/15

215.60 How to Handle the Mentally Ill

More than one officer should answer calls involving known mental health consumers. If it is not known that the call involves a mental health consumer, the officer who arrives first on the scene should immediately ask for backup and if possible, a CIT officer, once it is apparent the subject is suffering from a mental illness.

The CIT officer will assume responsibility for direct intervention, if a smooth transition can be made.

Stay with the mental health consumer until additional help arrives. If necessary, ask someone to phone for assistance rather than leave the person.

Move slowly. Resist the impulse to do something immediately. With a mental health consumer, it is better to take time and to carefully assess the situation. Immediate action is only necessary when handling an immediate danger.

Reassurance is important. Remember that mental health consumers are generally very frightened.

Solicit help from friends, relatives, and others acquainted with the mental health consumer. The time spent in getting this help may make the task easier and prevent violence and harm from coming to the individual, yourself, or others.

Deception is often a poor tool to use with a mental health consumer. If the individual knows you are being deceptive it could make the situation more difficult and create a barrier to his/her willingness to accept future help.

Do not rely on your firearm. The threat of a gun is quite meaningless to a person who is mentally ill. The individual may grab it and use it or you may be tempted to use it. A firearm should be used only in the very rare situation when it is necessary to save a life.

Revised 2/03; Revised 5/15; Revised 8/17

215.70 Use of Force Involving CIT Officers

If a call involving a CIT officer results in a use of force, standard Use of Force procedures will be followed. When a CIT officer is dispatched outside of his/her assigned division, and the call results in a use of force, a supervisor in the division where the use of force occurred will conduct the follow-up investigation.

Adopted 2/03; Revised 5/15

216.0 Missing Persons

Although being a missing person (child or adult) is not a crime, a missing persons report should be treated as a criminal investigation until a determination can be made as to the location and physical well-being of the missing person. Any individual can report a person missing, regardless of the relationship. Therefore, the Police Department and the individual officer should use all available resources to document and locate all reported missing persons.

Jurisdictional conflicts are to be avoided when a person is reported missing. If a missing person resides in this jurisdiction, this department will immediately initiate the required reporting process. If a person resides in this jurisdiction and was last seen in another jurisdiction, but the law enforcement agency covering that jurisdiction chooses not to take a missing child report or a missing person report, this department will assume reporting and investigative responsibility.

Questions concerning parental custody occasionally arise in relation to a missing child report. This department will accept the report of the missing child even if custody has not been formally established. Reporting parties will be encouraged to obtain legal custody as soon as possible; however, since the safety of the missing child(ren) is paramount, members of this department will open a case when it can be shown that the child(ren) has been removed, without explanation, from the location they were last known to be.

Revised 9/05; Revised 9/19

216.01 Definitions

Missing Child - Refers to a person who is younger than 18 years of age and whose whereabouts are unknown to his or her parent, guardian, or responsible party.

Missing Adult - Refers to a person who is 18 years of age or older and whose absence is contrary to his or her normal patterns of behavior.

A missing child or person will be considered “At Risk” when one or more of the unusual circumstances noted below are present:

- A. The missing child is under 13 years of age.
- B. Out of the zone of safety (area parents/guardian has defined as acceptable boundaries) as for his/her age, developmental stage, and/or physical condition.
- C. Mentally diminished to the point they are hindered in their ability to properly care for themselves.
- D. Suspected victim of criminal activity.
- E. In a life-threatening situation.

If it is determined the missing child or person is “At Risk,” a decision will be made by the officer’s supervisor to notify Communications and contact the on-call Investigations supervisor.

Adopted 9/05; Revised 6/12

216.10 Waiting Period for Reporting

There is no waiting period before a missing persons report may be taken, regardless of the age of the person. A report shall be taken on any missing person in all instances in which the reporting party requests a report to be taken. In the absence of a specific request by the reporting party, the officer may feel a report is necessary. In such instances, a report will be made.

216.15 Federal Privacy Act

In cases of a reported missing adult, officers should be aware that the Federal Privacy Act prohibits police officers from disclosing information that is of a personal nature to any person not connected with a law enforcement agency. This prohibits an officer from disclosing personal information on a missing adult to the person who filed the missing persons report.

Officers will advise the reporting party if the missing adult is located, but the department will only disclose information concerning the person’s general welfare. The location of the missing adult and any other personal information will not be provided to the reporting party.

The officer will advise the missing person that he or she has been reported as missing and should contact the reporting party.

Revised 8/99; Revised 9/05; Revised 4/19; Revised 9/19

216.20 Assigned Officer’s Duties

The assigned officer will accumulate all available information on the missing person/child. The assigned officer shall:

- A. Interview parent(s)/person making report.
- B. Verify the child/person is missing and identify the circumstances of the disappearance. Request consent to conduct an immediate search of the missing person’s home even if the person is reported missing from another location. If consent is denied, immediately notify a supervisor.
- C. Obtain the name, race, sex, DOB, and Social Security number. A physical description, including clothing description should be included. Additionally, the missing person’s vehicle should be described, if applicable.
- D. Identify the child’s/adult’s zone of safety (area parents/guardian has defined as acceptable boundaries) for his/her age and developmental stage.
- E. Verify the child’s custody status.
- F. Identify any known mental or physical disabilities of the missing person (i.e. Alzheimer’s Disease, developmentally challenged, heart problems, etc.).

- G. Based on the available information, make the initial determination of the type of incident whether non-family abduction; family abduction; endangered runaway; or lost, injured or missing.
- H. Obtain a detailed description of any suspect and/or vehicle involved.
- I. Identify and interview all individuals who were present at the scene, or location where the person was last seen or reported missing from.
- J. Treat the location where the child and/or person was last seen or reported missing from as a crime scene.
- K. If there is suspected criminal activity involved in the disappearance, secure the child's/person's home until a determination is made.
- L. Relay detailed description information to the Communications Unit for broadcast.
- M. Brief all responding personnel including supervisors and investigative staff.
- N. The assigned officer will submit an incident report prior to going back in service. The report clerk will be responsible for issuing the Information Bulletin after entering the report. The report clerk will then deliver the required information to CIU for NCIC entry.
- O. All missing persons or child reports must have an Information Bulletin in order to be entered into NCIC.
- P. Missing persons or children may not be listed as such on a report, unless an Information Bulletin and entry into NCIC was made.

If it is determined unusual circumstances are involved in the report of a missing child or person, the person will be considered "At Risk" and a field supervisor will be notified immediately. A report will be completed containing all the above information.

216.30 "A Child is Missing" / "Silver" Alert

"A Child is Missing" is a program devoted to assisting law enforcement in the search/early recovery efforts during the initial hours of a child(ren) and/or missing person(s) who disappear. This includes senior citizens and disabled persons. This program also assists law enforcement when persons are found who are unable to provide pertinent information. This is accomplished by law enforcement providing required criteria on the missing child or person to "A Child is Missing" technician. The technician will record a personalized message with case specific details asking residents to check their property for the missing child or person.

In order for "A Child is Missing"/ "Silver" Alert to be activated the officer must notify a supervisor and the following criteria must be met:

- A. Child(ren)
 - 1. The child(ren) must be under 13 years of age, unless unusual circumstances exist. The reporting person must be an adult family member, teacher, or another adult who is responsible for the child.
 - 2. If the child is a habitual runaway (more than once), the alert will be used if criminal activity is suspected.
"A Child is Missing" alert will be issued in a stranger abduction incident prior to initiating the "Amber Alert".
- B. Senior Citizens
 - 1. The Alert will be used even if the elderly person is a frequent walk-away from a nursing home.
 - 2. A "Silver Alert" shall be activated if the senior citizen is verified as missing, sixty (60) years of age or older, the location of the senior citizen is unknown, the senior citizen has dementia or other cognitive impairment, and it is determined the disappearance of the senior citizen poses a credible threat to the health and safety of the senior citizen. The officer shall:
 - a. Require the family or legal guardian of the missing senior citizen to verify or provide documentation of the impaired mental condition of the senior citizen.
 - b. Determine identifying information about the missing senior citizen and any other information which might be useful to the general public.
 - c. Report the individual through the National Crime Information Center immediately upon the issuance of the "Silver Alert".
- C. Disabled Person
 - 1. There is no age requirement for a disabled person.

2. Caution must be used when determining whether a person is truly disabled. There are many definitions of a disabled person. For purposes of this procedure, a disabled person will fall into one of the following categories:
 - a. The person has a physical or mental impairment that severely limits self-care;
 - b. The person is disoriented or unable to respond to simple questions regarding personal information such as name and address; or
 - c. The person is dependent upon life sustaining medication.
- D. Found Person
1. There is no age requirement for a found person.
 - a. Child is too young to provide information.
 - b. Person is unable to provide information because of illness, age, disability or unconscious.

Adopted 9/05; Revised 6/12

216.40 Locating Missing Persons

The assigned officer shall advise the reporting party that if the missing person returns at a later time or is located, the reporting person should call the Missing Persons Unit during normal business hours. The assigned investigator will obtain certain information verifying the identity of the reporting person and confirm the missing person has returned. CIU will be contacted and the Information Bulletin and NCIC will be cancelled. After normal business hours, the reporting party should call the Communications Unit so an officer can be assigned. The officer will confirm the missing person has returned, contact CIU for cancellation of the NCIC entry and the Information Bulletin. An incident supplement shall be completed.

Wireless 911 hang up and open line calls will be assigned only when there is an indication that police or emergency services are needed, and the reason for the call being assigned will be listed in the call notes. 911 Communications will make every attempt to contact the caller to get more information for the responding officer or to determine if an emergency response is necessary.

Adopted 1/18

218.0 Assisting Bail Bondsmen or Bail Enforcers

The purpose of this procedure is to create a consistent approach to handling calls in which a bail bondsman or enforcer is requesting assistance from patrol officers to recover a defendant. This procedure is in accordance with Oklahoma State laws on bail bondsmen or bail enforcer arrests.

Definitions

Bail bondsman - any person who is approved to pledge bail bonds, cash bonds, or property bonds in a judicial proceeding and receives money for his or her services.

Bail bond/surety - a contractual agreement between a defendant and a licensed bondsman issued as security for the appearance of the defendant in court.

Bail enforcer - an individual who contracts with a bondsman (the “client contract” or “bail recovery contract”) to recover a defendant under a bail bond contract. A bail enforcer is given limited statutory authority to arrest based on his or her contract with the bondsman to recover a defendant.

General Provisions

Officers shall not assist a bail bondsman or bail enforcer in the recovery of a subject based on a bail bond contract, bail recovery contract, client contract, or any other type of surety contract, or personally engage in the recovery and surrender of a subject. Further, officers shall not be visibly present during any bail bondsmen’s, or bail enforcer’s, attempted recovery of a subject. This prohibition includes calls for officers to standby and “keep the peace” while a bail bondsman or bail enforcer attempts such a recovery. State law allows for bail bondsmen or their licensed bail enforcers to recover the subject by granting them limited powers of seizure. The bail bondsmen or bail enforcers should be encouraged to use their own seizure powers if their sole desire is to collect on their contracts.

Officers should remain aware of the location where the bail bondsman or bail enforcer is attempting to recover a defendant when notified. Any secondary calls generated at that location resulting from the recovery efforts shall be responded to and handled as provided by the law and all departmental directives regardless of whether the call is generated by the property owner, resident, occupant, bail bondsman, or bail enforcer.

Officers may arrest based on a valid, executable warrant if the opportunity arises. The officer may contact the bail bondsman or bail enforcer and offer to make the arrest and take custody of the subject in the following manner:

- A. The officer can contact the bail bondsman or enforcer over the phone, or by agreeing to meet the bail bondsman or bail enforcer at a location other than the recovery site.
- B. If the bail bondsman or bail enforcer agrees, then the officer can run the subject through the Crime Information Unit to verify any outstanding warrants.
- C. If a valid, executable warrant is verified, the officer should then attempt to arrest the subject on the warrant in accordance with all written directives involving the service of arrest warrants.
- D. All subjects arrested on these warrants will be transported and booked into jail by the officer in accordance with current written directives.
- E. The officer will be responsible for completing and submitting an arrest report prior to the end of his or her shift.

If the bail bondsman or bail enforcer provides the officer with information that would reasonably suggest a subject is barricaded inside the recovery location or a violent encounter could arise, then the officer should notify their supervisor before any action is taken. Before contacting a supervisor, the officer should try and gather as much information as possible such as:

- A. How many bail enforcers are at the recovery location;
- B. How long have the bail enforcers been at the recovery location;
- C. Have the bail enforcers kept constant surveillance on the subject;
- D. Has the subject been positively identified inside the recovery location;
- E. How many other occupants are inside the recovery location;
- F. Gather information on whether contact has been made with someone inside the location; and
- G. Any other relevant information.

220.0 Police Vehicle Operations

The purpose of this procedure is to set forth guidelines for the operation of police vehicles in a non-emergency response, when catching up to a traffic violator or other subject/suspect, a Code 3 response or a pursuit in order to minimize risk of death, injury or property damage, to police officers and citizens. For purposes of this procedure, police vehicle is defined as a vehicle that is owned, leased, owner reimbursed for use, or rented for performing work for the City of Oklahoma City.

Revised 9/14; Revised 10/15

220.10 Safe Operation Directed

In order to prevent collisions, injuries, and property damage, and serve, as an example to the motoring public, police vehicles will be operated in a safe and courteous manner. Employees must undergo vehicle orientation with a certified LEDT instructor prior to driving any:

1. Pursuit rated sedan or utility vehicle;
2. Non-pursuit rated marked vehicle, including a police motorcycle or truck;
3. Armored vehicle;
4. Police van; or
5. Any vehicle used to haul a trailer.

Authorized exceptions to the orientation requirement include city employees or approved vendors as required for vehicle maintenance, equipment outfitting and other official purposes.

Police vehicles, in motion, stopped or parked, must be in the control of the operator. Operators of police vehicles must obey all provisions of the Oklahoma Motor Vehicle Code, Oklahoma City Ordinances, and Oklahoma City Police Department written directives.

In an emergency situation requiring the services of a police officer, the most important responsibility of the officer is to arrive at the scene safely, in a timely manner and with minimal risk to the public and the officer. The accomplishment of a mission is jeopardized if an officer is involved in a collision while operating a police vehicle.

When an officer operates a police vehicle in violation of any traffic law or ordinance, the officer shall utilize the vehicle's emergency lights and the audible siren/signal. The use of the emergency lights and the audible siren/signal shall be defined as Code 3. The officer must remember he/she cannot rely exclusively on the emergency lights and the audible siren/signal to clear traffic in the officer's path. Furthermore, Oklahoma State statutes require an officer to drive with due regard for the safety of all persons and the use of emergency lights and the audible siren/signal does not shield the officer from the consequences of operating a vehicle with reckless disregard for the safety of others.

An officer directly involved in escorting a funeral, motorcade, parade or special event is required to utilize their emergency lights at all times if traffic laws or ordinances are being violated. The use of the audible siren/signal will be used at the discretion of the officer consistent with traffic conditions, route considerations and the event itself.

Revised 9/14; Revised 10/15; Revised 9/19

220.20 Non-Emergency Response

Non-emergency designation indicates the call assignment or incident is not urgent and an immediate response is not required. An officer assigned to this type of call or incident will respond without the use of emergency lights and the audible siren/signal, and shall abide by all traffic regulations.

Revised 9/01; Revised 2/03; Revised 10/15

220.25 Catching Up to a Traffic Violator or Other Subject/Suspect

When an officer is trying to pace a motorist suspected of speeding and needs to establish the speed of the violator, the officer may violate traffic laws or ordinances without using emergency lights and the audible siren/signal (Code 3) if this can be done safely. While operating a police vehicle in this manner, the officer must consider and evaluate the criteria listed in Section 220.30 A-H, and any other relevant criteria, when determining the appropriate speed to operate the police vehicle. If the emergency lights and the audible siren/signal are not used, citizens are not required to yield the right of way to the police vehicle. As soon as the officer has established a speeding violation has occurred, the officer must utilize necessary emergency equipment to safely conduct the traffic stop.

When an officer witnesses a traffic violation and is trying to catch up to a traffic violator, and the officer will be violating any traffic law or ordinance, the officer will ensure the emergency lights and the audible siren/signal (Code 3) are utilized. In this situation, the officer is not required to notify Communications he/she is operating Code 3, unless a pursuit is initiated. For the purpose of this paragraph, an officer may exceed the speed restrictions listed in Section 220.30, for a short and reasonable period of time in order to safely catch up to the traffic violator. Prior to exceeding the speed restrictions, the officer must consider whether the danger to the public by the increased speed is outweighed by the need to apprehend the violator, considering the traffic offense the violator committed. If the officer determines the violator is stopping his/her vehicle in a location that is unsafe, the officer may disengage the audible siren/signal and direct the violator to move to a safe location. This paragraph does not apply when an officer is attempting to catch up to a pursuit.

When an officer has observed and is trying to catch up to a subject/suspect in a motor vehicle for other than traffic charges, and the officer will be violating any traffic law or ordinance, the officer will ensure the emergency lights and the audible siren/signal (Code 3) are utilized. In this situation the officer is required to advise Communications he or she is operating Code 3. For the purpose of this paragraph, an officer may exceed the speed restrictions listed in Section 220.30, for a short and reasonable period of time in order to safely catch up to the subject/suspect. Prior to exceeding the speed restrictions, the officer must consider whether the increased danger to the public by the increased speed is outweighed by the need to apprehend the subject/suspect, considering the offense the subject/suspect is suspected of committing. If the officer determines the violator is stopping his/her vehicle in a location that is unsafe, the officer may disengage the audible siren/signal and direct the violator to move to a safe location. This paragraph does not apply when an officer is attempting to catch up to a pursuit.

If the officer is trying to catch up to a traffic violator or other subject/suspect and the officer and the traffic violator or subject/suspect are on an interstate or highway with no cross intersections and limited roadway access, the officer is not required to utilize emergency lights and the audible siren/signal as long as the officer's actions do not endanger life or property and if the officer has probable cause to believe that:

- A. Knowledge of the presence of the officer will cause the subject/suspect to:
 - 1. destroy or lose evidence of a suspected felony;
 - 2. end a suspected continuing felony before the officer has obtained sufficient evidence to establish grounds for arrest; or
 - 3. evade apprehension or identification of the suspect or the vehicle of the suspect;
- B. Because of traffic conditions, vehicles moving in response to the emergency lights and the audible siren/signal may increase the potential for a collision.

Adopted 10/15; Revised 11/17

220.30 Code 3 Response

A Code 3 response may be utilized under the following circumstances:

- A. In an emergency situation where the prevention of bodily injury to a person may be accomplished by the immediate presence of the responding officer;
- B. When responding to a felony crime in progress where there is information the suspect(s) is/are in the immediate vicinity of the crime; or
- C. When responding to a vehicle pursuit, in accordance with the provisions set forth in Procedure 220.47.

Prior to responding Code 3, specific information must be provided to the officer that indicates the conditions listed above exist. An officer shall not respond Code 3 to any other type of call, including a motor vehicle collision, unless approved by a supervisor.

When responding Code 3 where the use of audible siren/signal would alert a suspect and increase the risk of serious bodily injury to a citizen or officer, the officer may discontinue use of the audible siren/signal for a short duration upon approaching the destination. It shall be the responsibility of the officer to articulate the facts that support the decision to discontinue use of the audible siren/signal.

When an officer exceeds the speed limit or violates any other traffic law while operating Code 3, they must be able to articulate why such actions are reasonable in responding to the type of incident involved. The most important aspect of operating the police vehicle is to get to the location of the incident safely, in a timely manner and with minimal risk to the public and the officer involved. When an officer responds Code 3, the officer shall operate the police vehicle with due regard for the safety of themselves and others and consider factors, including, but not limited to, those listed below when determining what is reasonable in operating the police vehicle:

- A. Seriousness of the call/incident based on the information available during the response;
- B. Volume, type, speed and direction of vehicular traffic;
- C. Nature of the area, (such as residential, commercial, school zone, open highway or roadway elevation changes);
- D. Population density and volume of pedestrian traffic;
- E. Environmental factors (such as weather and time of day);
- F. Road conditions such as ice, construction, poor repair;
- G. Intersections; and
- H. Distance to incident.

When responding Code 3 and considering all factors including those listed above, officers shall not exceed the following speed restrictions:

- 1. When traveling through active school zones, officers will not exceed the posted speed limit.
- 2. When traveling through areas where the speed limit is 30 mph or less, officers will not exceed the speed limit by more than 10 miles per hour.
- 3. When traveling on all other streets and roadways where the speed limit is greater than 30 mph, officers will not exceed the speed limit by more than 20 miles per hour.
- 4. When traveling on interstates, divided highways or turnpikes where the speed limit is 55 mph or greater, officers will not exceed the speed limit by more than 30 miles per hour.

The speed limitations listed above do not apply to an officer directly involved in a vehicular pursuit or dignitary protection.

In calls/incidents that may involve imminent loss of life, an officer is authorized to exceed the speed limitations listed above. However, the officer is not relieved of the duty to drive with due regard for the safety of all persons, nor is the officer shielded from the consequences of operating the police vehicle with reckless disregard for the safety of others.

When an officer determines a Code 3 response to a call or incident is appropriate, the officer will notify Communications immediately. Officers do not need to notify Communications they are responding Code 3 to “Active Threat” calls (as defined in Procedure 284) or other potential mass casualty events. A field supervisor may change the Code 3 response at any time. Officers and dispatchers are required to respond in accordance with such orders.

Communications will not assign an officer to a call or incident Code 3. The decision to respond Code 3 will be made by the responding officer. No more than two police vehicles will respond Code 3 to any given situation, unless approved by a field supervisor. All other units will respond in non-emergency mode.

220.35 Emergency Medical Transports/Escorts

In exceptional circumstances an officer may be confronted with a situation where a person is in need of immediate emergency medical care to save his/her life. If an ambulance is needed for this person, but the arrival of the ambulance is delayed, a supervisor may authorize the transportation of this person to the closest appropriate emergency medical facility in a police vehicle, Code 3. If an emergency medical transport is approved by the officer's supervisor, the officer will notify Communications of the departure location and the emergency medical facility the person is being transported to.

When an officer encounters a situation where a medical escort is necessary to save a life, an officer may escort a private vehicle to the closest appropriate emergency medical facility, with supervisory approval. In the case of an emergency medical escort, the following will apply:

- A. Speed limits will be strictly observed;
- B. A complete stop will be made prior to traversing an intersection against a traffic control device;
- C. The driver of the private vehicle will be required to display emergency flashers and headlights;
- D. The officer will advise the driver of the private vehicle of the above conditions prior to the escort; and
- E. Notify Communications of the departure location and intended destination.

Adopted 10/15

220.40 Oklahoma City Police Department Pursuit Procedures

A pursuit is an active attempt by an officer in an authorized emergency vehicle to perform a vehicle stop, and the operator of the suspect vehicle indicates by his/her action, intent to elude or evade apprehension. The officer must reasonably believe the suspect(s) knows he/she was directed to stop, refused to stop, and was willfully fleeing in an attempt to avoid capture.

Effort should be made to avoid pursuits due to the extreme danger present in such activity. Officers must balance the need for immediate apprehension of the suspect with the need to protect the public from the danger caused by the pursuit. All officers are reminded that their basic responsibility is to protect the public. When the danger of a pursuit exceeds the value of an immediate apprehension, public safety shall be paramount and require alternative methods of apprehension.

- A. Officers are authorized to engage in a police vehicle pursuit only in the following circumstances:
 - 1. When an officer has probable cause to believe a crime has been committed and has reasonable suspicion to believe the person being pursued committed that crime. Justification for engaging in a police vehicle pursuit must be limited to the facts known by the officer at the time a decision is made to engage in such pursuit. Information not established as fact at the time the pursuit is engaged, no matter how compelling, cannot be considered in later determining whether the pursuit was justified.
 - 2. On all legal traffic stops when the pursuing officer and/or managing supervisor have balanced the nature of the offense for which a subject is being pursued, against the danger posed to themselves and the public if the pursuit is initiated and/or continues.
 - 3. A low-profile vehicle which is not equipped with overhead lights, but is equipped with emergency equipment pursuant to state statute, may engage in a pursuit, provided due care and caution are used. RAAID, COMIT and marked vehicles with no overhead lights are the only pursuit-rated low-profile vehicles permitted to engage in a pursuit. Once the first marked emergency vehicle with overhead lights engages in the pursuit, that vehicle shall assume the lead. The low-profile vehicle will discontinue the pursuit once a second marked emergency vehicle with overhead lights has entered the pursuit.
- B. Officers are prohibited from engaging in police vehicle pursuits in the following circumstances:
 - 1. When a passenger in the police vehicle is not another officer.
 - 2. When the police vehicle contains a prisoner.
 - 3. When the officer is not the primary or secondary pursuit vehicle.

4. When the degree or risk to the involved officer(s) and/or public exceeds the value of an immediate apprehension. For the purpose of this procedure, felony attempting to elude shall not be considered a violent crime.
 5. Employees of the Oklahoma City Police Department shall not engage in a pursuit, on or off-duty, in any vehicle that is not pursuit-rated, to include all police vans, trucks, and unmarked sedans, except authorized RAAID and COMIT vehicles. Employees shall not engage in a pursuit in a police motorcycle, authorized leased vehicle or a private vehicle.
 6. In violation of any other provisions of this policy and procedure.
- C. Initiating Officer: The following factors shall be considered before initiating and continuing a vehicle pursuit:
1. Degree of risk created by pursuit;
 2. Seriousness of the suspected crime;
 3. Whether the identity of the violator is known to the point that later apprehension is possible;
 4. Volume, type, speed and direction of vehicular traffic and direction of pursuit;
 5. Nature of the area: residential, commercial, school zone, open highway, etc.;
 6. Population density and volume of pedestrian traffic;
 7. Environmental factors such as weather and time of day;
 8. Road conditions such as ice, construction, poor repair, etc.;
 9. The speed of the suspect in relation to the speed of all other traffic, road conditions, nature of the area, population density, pedestrian traffic, and environmental factors;
 10. The suspect's total disregard for traffic control devices.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/06; Revised 9/14; Revised 10/15; Revised 9/19

220.41 Pursuit Termination

If the managing supervisor, or the primary officer orders the termination of a pursuit, all officers directly or indirectly involved shall immediately stop all attempts to pursue. This includes termination of code 3 responses and officers shall no longer follow the suspect or violate any traffic laws. The primary officer in the pursuit will have final authority managing the pursuit until a managing supervisor takes responsibility for it.

Adopted 9/06

220.42 Police Vehicles and Their Operation

- A. An initiating unit that is no longer the primary or secondary vehicle in a pursuit shall proceed to the point of termination, obeying all traffic laws and regulations. Code 3 driving is not permitted.
- B. Immediately upon meeting the conditions of a pursuit as defined in this procedure, emergency lights AND siren shall be activated and remain activated at all times during a pursuit.
- C. Officers shall not drive on the wrong side on streets, freeways, or any other type of roadway. In the event the pursued vehicle is going the wrong way, the following options shall be utilized:
 1. Maintain visual contact with the pursued vehicle by paralleling on an adjacent street, or the correct side of a street, freeway, or any other type of roadway.
 2. Request other units to proceed to and monitor exits available to the pursued vehicle.

EXCEPTION: During a pursuit, officers may drive on the wrong side of the roadway, only long enough to pass vehicles blocking the pursuing officer's lane of traffic. Officers should return to the correct lane as quickly as possible once past the blocked traffic lanes.

Adopted 9/06

220.43 Primary Officer Responsibilities

- A. Before attempting a vehicle stop when a driver is likely to flee (such as known stolen cars or wanted subjects) the primary unit will attempt to avoid a pursuit by coordinating the response of assisting officers. For example, an apprehension at a stoplight or other preplanned location may be an appropriate tactic.

- B. The primary officer is the lead pursuit unit and must remain a safe distance from the suspect vehicle.
- C. Officers initiating a pursuit will immediately notify the dispatcher of their location, reason for the pursuit, direction of travel, estimated speed of the suspect and any other relevant actions by the suspect vehicle. Officers shall also provide the license plate number, vehicle description, number of occupants, traffic conditions, and any other pertinent information.
- D. Officers shall give updated information concerning direction of travel, speed and unusual actions. Radio transmissions shall be kept as short as possible, allowing the dispatcher, supervisory personnel, and assisting units to air information.
- E. The decision to continue to pursue must constantly be evaluated. Based on the facts known at the time, officers shall continually evaluate whether the risk of danger to the officers and the public resulting from the continuation of the pursuit is greater than the risk of injury to any person that may result from the successful escape of the suspect.
- F. The primary officer may cancel or terminate the pursuit. Other officers, including the secondary unit, may not continue or reinitiate the pursuit without the authorization of the managing supervisor.

Adopted 9/06; Revised 10/15

220.44 Secondary Officer Responsibilities

- A. The secondary officer's function is to assist the primary vehicle during the pursuit and at the point of termination.
- B. The secondary officer shall not overtake the primary officer unless specifically requested to do so and shall drive behind the primary unit, maintaining a safe distance, sufficient to avoid colliding with or interfering with the primary unit. The secondary officer may block an adjoining lane to prevent interference with the pursuit by other vehicle(s) traveling in the same direction.
- C. The secondary officer shall be prepared to assume the role of the primary vehicle if needed.
- D. The secondary officer may broadcast the pursuit if requested by the primary vehicle or if ordered by the managing supervisor.

Adopted 9/06

220.45 Dispatcher Responsibilities

- A. Immediately upon being notified of a pursuit, the dispatcher shall clear the channel by notifying all officers of the pursuit, obtain the necessary information from the pursuing officer and identify a managing supervisor. Dispatch will notify other Divisions of the direction of the pursuit.
- B. If the officer's supervisor cannot be contacted, the dispatcher shall attempt to contact any Lieutenant or Captain from the division in which the pursuit is occurring. Once contacted, the supervisor shall be the managing supervisor for the duration of the pursuit.
- C. If a Lieutenant or Captain from the division in which the pursuit is occurring does not respond, a supervisor will be contacted from the closest adjacent division to the location of the pursuit. Once contacted, the supervisor shall be the managing supervisor for the duration of the pursuit.
- D. The dispatcher will immediately determine if Air Support is available, and if so, dispatch it to the scene. The dispatcher will notify the managing supervisor of the availability of Air Support.
- E. Dispatchers shall immediately run the suspect vehicle license number through NCIC and OLETS, and advise the managing supervisor of the results.
- F. When it appears a pursuit is approaching another division or jurisdiction, the dispatcher shall establish radio communications with the receiving division or jurisdiction.
- G. The dispatcher shall keep the radio channel clear, allowing transmissions only from the primary or secondary units, the managing supervisor, and officers responding to their directions. The dispatcher will continue to monitor the pursuit and relay information when requested.
- H. Radio transmissions by other units are prohibited unless of an emergency nature. Upon the termination or discontinuance of a pursuit, the dispatcher shall notify all officers and jurisdictions involved.
- I. If a collision occurs as a direct or indirect result of a pursuit, an officer will be assigned to investigate the collision. Communications personnel will make all necessary notifications.

- J. If a collision involving death or injury which may result in death occurs as a direct or indirect result of a pursuit, the applicable Operations Bureau Chief(s) and Division Commander(s), Office of Professional Standards, Signal 30 Unit, Public Information Officer, and the Municipal Counselor's Office shall be notified by dispatch upon notification by the Watch Commander. An Operations Bureau Chief shall notify the Chief of Police.
- K. The Communications supervisor shall forward a copy of the CAD printout and a tape recording of the radio transmissions of all pursuits to the managing supervisor.

Adopted 9/06; Revised 6/16; Revised 3/18

220.46 Managing Supervisor Responsibilities

- A. Once contact is made with the officer's supervisor or other appropriate supervisor, that person will be the managing supervisor for the duration of the pursuit.
- B. The managing supervisor shall consider all issues identified in section 220.40. Based on the facts known at the time, the managing supervisor shall continually evaluate whether the risk of danger to the officers and the public resulting from the continuation of the pursuit is greater than the risk of injury to any person that may result from the successful escape of the suspect.
- C. If a supervisor, regardless of rank, is the primary unit in a pursuit, another supervisor of any rank shall be designated the managing supervisor.
- D. The managing supervisor has the authority and responsibility to:
 - 1. Ascertain the reason for the pursuit and the surrounding conditions from the involved officer(s) and the dispatcher.
 - 2. Authorize or terminate the pursuit based on all available information and the provisions of department policy and procedure.
 - 3. Continually assess the risks and hazards involved in allowing the pursuit to continue.
 - 4. Immediately move in the direction of the pursuit, actively monitor its progress, and engage in the pursuit as a third vehicle if necessary. If the pursuit involves a violent felon, the supervisor may respond Code 3. The speed restrictions listed in Procedure 220.30 apply until the supervisor is actually in the pursuit.
 - 5. Control the tactics used in the pursuit including the use of stop sticks.
 - 6. The managing supervisor shall ensure that no more than three (3) vehicles (primary unit, secondary unit, and managing supervisor) are actively taking part in a pursuit.
 - 7. The managing supervisor is responsible for ensuring the primary officer is compliant with all notifications in Procedure 220.43.C and D by requesting additional required information if it is not being broadcast.
- E. Should a pursuit leave Oklahoma City jurisdiction, only the primary and secondary officers along with the managing supervisor are authorized to leave the City. The managing supervisor may assign additional units depending upon the severity of the offense, number of occupants or likelihood of armed and/or violent suspects.
- F. Should a pursuit cross division boundaries, any officer, or supervisor with relevant information shall notify the dispatcher of any special conditions or hazards along the projected route.
- G. All supervisors in the path of a pursuit shall remain alert to its progress and location and shall actively assist with traffic control and/or the management of traffic control along the route of the pursuit in an effort to promote public safety, as well as providing for coverage during accident investigation, perimeter containment, foot pursuit, etc.
- H. The managing supervisor is required to respond to the scene of termination on all pursuits where Air-One is not involved. When the managing supervisor terminates the ground portion of a pursuit and Air-One continues tracking the violator, the managing supervisor will ensure ground units comply with Procedure 220.48.A.1.
- I. The managing supervisor shall determine if a traffic collision resulting from the pursuit has occurred at any point along the route of the pursuit. This includes damage to police equipment, the suspect vehicle, civilian vehicles, and any other property. If a collision has occurred, the managing supervisor will ensure an appropriate investigation is conducted.
- J. If a collision involving death or injury which may result in death occurs as a direct or indirect result of a pursuit, the managing supervisor will notify the Watch Commander who will then notify dispatch of the necessary details for the notifications required in Procedure 220.45 J. An Operations Bureau Chief shall notify the Chief of Police.

- K. In instances when a suspect has escaped apprehension, the managing supervisor shall immediately coordinate efforts to follow up any investigative leads.

220.47 Tactical Pursuit Management

- A. All officers in the path of a pursuit shall remain alert to its progress and location and shall actively assist with traffic control along the route of the pursuit in an effort to promote public safety, as well as providing for coverage during accident investigation, perimeter containment, and foot pursuits.
- B. If only one OCPD unit is directly involved in the pursuit when it begins, the closest OCPD unit is authorized to respond Code 3 and exceed the speed restrictions listed in Section 220.30 1-4 if it can be done safely, until that unit becomes the second vehicle in the pursuit. This unit must advise Communications he or she is responding as the second (closest) unit to the pursuit and provide his or her location. Only two additional officers may operate Code 3 to respond to the area of a pursuit. Those officers will notify dispatch they are operating Code 3 and will not exceed the restrictions in Section 220.30 1-4 while responding to the pursuit. Additional officers may respond to the area of the pursuit, but are not authorized to operate Code 3 or violate any traffic laws or ordinances, unless authorized by a supervisor.
- C. If possible, officers should avoid approaching an occupied suspect vehicle at the termination of a pursuit. A high-risk vehicle stop shall be the most appropriate method of taking suspects into custody. Exigent circumstances may exist at the termination of a pursuit that may cause an officer to approach an occupied suspect vehicle.

Adopted 9/06; Revised 10/15; Revised 9/18

220.48 Vehicle Pursuits with Oklahoma City Police Air Support

Once the helicopter has established visual contact with the pursued vehicle and can follow the pursuit, the managing supervisor shall be notified. Helicopter personnel will call the pursuit and update units as to the suspect's location, direction, speed, etc.
 - 1. At this point, the managing supervisor shall order all ground units to terminate Code 3 response. This means officers shall no longer follow the suspect vehicle, nor violate any traffic laws or regulations. This will generally occur when the suspect(s) has (have) stopped and is(are) exiting the vehicle. Helicopter personnel will assist units in establishing a perimeter until the suspect(s) is(are) in custody or the managing supervisor terminates the police response.

Adopted 9/06; Revised 11/18

 - c. This procedure is in effect for pursuits originating in other jurisdictions and crossing into Oklahoma City. Supervisors and commanders shall have final authority over the involvement of Oklahoma City police officers in outside agency pursuits. Oklahoma City police officers will provide assistance at the point of termination, to include suspect apprehension, accident investigation, perimeter containment, area searches, etc. In addition, Oklahoma City police officers shall also assist with traffic control along the path of an outside agency pursuit in order to promote public safety.
 3. Investigation/Jurisdiction at Termination
 - a. The Oklahoma City Police Department shall investigate all collisions resulting from an Oklahoma City Police Department pursuit regardless of the jurisdiction in which it occurred. This does not include collisions, outside of Oklahoma City, which occurred prior to the involvement of Oklahoma City Police Department personnel in the pursuit. This does not preempt the jurisdiction from conducting its own investigation or a joint investigation.

Adopted 9/06; Revised 10/15

Revised 06/09; Revised 10/15

220.70 Tire Deflation Devices

The purpose of the deployment of the tire deflation device is primarily to safely end vehicle pursuits, while placing paramount importance on the safety of officers, the public and the suspects. When any vehicle crosses a deployed tire deflation device, hollow spikes are embedded into the tires, causing the tires to deflate at a controlled rate. While the driver may continue to drive, the ability to operate the vehicle at high speeds is greatly reduced, if not eliminated.

It is the responsibility of the supervisor to ensure those deploying the tire deflation device are trained in its proper use.

Adopted 9/01

220.71 Deployment

- A. Tire deflation device locations should provide deploying personnel with good visibility of the approaching pursuit and other traffic in the area. The locations should provide as long a visual path as possible. Deploying personnel should seek protective cover that provides good visibility of the surrounding area and the approach of the suspect vehicle. Using any vehicle as cover is discouraged.
- B. The deploying unit should never overtake a fleeing vehicle in an attempt to place the tire deflation device on the roadway.
- C. When possible, the deploying unit should advise the pursuing unit and Communications of the location of deployment. Communications should provide information regarding the pursuit and the position of the tire deflation device in order to avoid damages that might occur to other vehicles.
- D. Tire deflation devices will not be used on any vehicle with less than four (4) tires.
- E. After the fleeing vehicle has passed over the system, it should be removed from the roadway immediately.
- F. Pursuing vehicles should increase the gap between them and the fleeing vehicle (approximately 3 to 5 seconds).

Adopted 9/01; Revised 10/15

220.72 Outside Agency Request for Deployment

Watch Commanders shall limit their authorization for deployment of the tire deflation device in an outside agency pursuit, to those pursuits that are either approaching or are within reasonable close proximity of Oklahoma City jurisdiction.

Adopted 9/01

220.73 Post Deployment Inspection / Spike Replacement

At the conclusion of a pursuit operation, when any tire deflation device is deployed, whether a vehicle drove over it or not, personnel shall inspect the device for damaged, loose, and/or missing spikes. Damaged or missing spikes shall be replaced, and loose spikes re-tightened, prior to re-deployment of the tire deflation device in the field.

Adopted 9/01

220.74 Reporting

The use of a tire deflation device shall be indicated in the Vehicle Pursuit Form. The report should contain the following:

- A. Location of deployment
- B. Name(s) of person who deployed the device
- C. Injuries and/or death
- D. Which vehicle (suspect, passing motorist, patrol vehicle, etc.)

Adopted 9/01

220.75 Vehicle Disabling Maneuvers

Employees are prohibited from utilizing vehicle disabling maneuvers, including tactical vehicle interventions and pursuit intervention/immobilization techniques, to stop a subject fleeing in a vehicle. Ramming is addressed separately in Procedure 220.80.

Employees shall not directly or indirectly request the assistance of any other law enforcement agency for the purpose of performing a vehicle disabling maneuver to stop a fleeing vehicle.

Adopted 9/18

220.80 Ramming

Ramming is the intentional act of driving a vehicle into a person or vehicle or object occupied by a person. Ramming may be used only:

4. In instances where deadly force would be permissible (See Policy 554.40);
5. To stop known, extremely dangerous, fleeing felons; and
6. As a last resort when it is reasonably clear that all other methods of capturing the fleeing felon(s) have failed or will fail.

Prior to ramming a vehicle with multiple occupants, officers must reasonably confirm all the occupants are extremely dangerous felony suspects. If officers reasonably believe the vehicle contains a person that is not an extremely dangerous felony suspect, officers will not ram the vehicle.

Acts of ramming are considered a use of force and will be reviewed by the Use of Force Screening Committee. The Collision Review Board will not review acts of ramming.

Revised 10/15; Revised 4/19

221.0 Police Escorts

221.10 Escorting Emergency Vehicles

Emergency vehicles, particularly ambulances, shall not be escorted by officers except under special circumstances. Two emergency vehicles traveling together more than double the hazard to traffic. One exception will be to escort an emergency vehicle from the City limits to a hospital when the driver of the emergency vehicle is not familiar with the location of the hospital.

221.20 Escorting Private Vehicles

Whenever possible, officers shall avoid escorting private automobiles on emergency runs. Every effort will be made to have EMS respond and transport the patient. If immediate transport is necessary and the patient can be transferred to the patrol car without absolutely jeopardizing his life, he shall be transferred to the patrol car for the emergency run. If an officer determines that a private vehicle must be escorted to a hospital the escort will be done in accordance with Procedure 220.30.

Officers who make themselves available for off-duty escorts will be permitted to use Police Department vehicles for the assignment. Policies governing the operation of Department vehicles will be observed.

222.0 Transporting Injured Persons in Police Vehicles

A primary police goal is the protection of life. In this regard, and in the case of injured persons and the immediate need of their receiving professional medical aid, officers will utilize the following procedures in their transportation. Transportation of injured persons in police vehicles should be considered only as a last resort.

Upon learning of a traffic accident or other event in which persons are injured, emergency medical service should be summoned to the scene.

Officers arriving upon the scene should administer first aid in accordance with their training and knowledge until EMS arrives.

Officers shall assist EMS personnel in handling injured persons as necessary.

222.10 Emergency Medical Service Not Available

In the event EMS service is not available or will not be available for an extended period, and in the officer's opinion the life of the injured person is dependent upon immediate professional medical aid, the injured person may be transported in the police vehicle. The following rules will apply:

- A. Officers shall seek approval of supervisory personnel in determining when to transport injured persons in police vehicles.
- B. When injured persons are to be transported in police vehicles, preliminary first aid should be administered at the scene. Additional police personnel should be summoned to the scene to assist in the emergency and in protecting the scene.
- C. Officers transporting injured persons should insure they are properly attended to and exercise due care and caution in driving.

223.0 Traffic Direction

Officers are expected to direct traffic when the need arises, and must be cognizant of their appearance to the public.

Traffic direction will be conducted in a safe manner; consistent with accepted traffic direction techniques.

223.10 Headgear While Directing Traffic

The Police hat shall always be worn when directing traffic.

223.20 At a Fire Scene

Frequently, the Oklahoma City Fire Department requests assistance from the Police Department for assistance in traffic control at the scene of a fire. At such times, assigned officers should contact the Fire Department supervisor to determine where traffic control is needed. Once traffic control is established, all assigned officers will remain at their posts until properly relieved.

If a situation arises which requires that an officer leave his post to respond to a higher priority event, a field supervisor may authorize such departure. In such cases, the authorizing supervisor will be responsible for ensuring that the Fire Department supervisor is notified of the officer's departure.

224.0 Issuing Traffic Citations

224.05 Initial Communications

Issuing a traffic citation(s) is part of the Police Department's responsibility for enforcing traffic laws and keeping the public safe. When an officer makes contact with a person who has been stopped for a traffic violation, the officer will notify the driver of the officer's name and request the driver present his or her driver's license and insurance verification. Once the driver presents his or her driver's license and/or insurance verification, or the driver indicates he or she does not possess a driver's license and/or insurance verification, the officer will notify the driver why he or she was stopped. If at any time during the contact, even prior to obtaining the driver's license and/or insurance verification, the driver asks why he or she was stopped, the officer will immediately advise the driver of the reason for the traffic stop.

Adopted 11/17

224.10 Warning Citations Prohibited

Officers will not issue warning citations for any moving or hazardous traffic violation. When circumstances dictate that enforcement action is not deemed appropriate for a hazardous traffic violation, an oral warning may be issued.

224.15 Grace Periods for Vehicle Registration Decals

The Oklahoma City Police Department may recognize a degree of tolerance regarding the enforcement of vehicle registration decals as per Oklahoma State Statutes 47-1151.A. A 30-day grace period may be recognized for expired tags. A verbal warning or a warning citation may be issued in place of a Municipal Court Citation.

Adopted 3/93

224.16 License Plate Return of "Not on Master File"

A license plate return of "Not on Master File" alone is not sufficient probable cause to effect a traffic stop. The officer must have another form of reasonable suspicion or probable cause before effecting a traffic stop.

Adopted 11/17

224.20 Release on Personal Recognizance

When an officer issues a traffic citation to a motorist the following procedures will apply:

If the arrested person is eligible for release on personal recognizance as provided for above, then the arresting officer shall:

- A. Designate the traffic charge;

- D. Record the arraignment date and time which is on the citation; and
- E. Permit the arrested person to sign a written promise to appear as provided for in the citation.

The arresting officer shall release the person upon personal recognizance based upon the signed promise to appear. The citation shall contain a written notice to the arrested person that release upon personal recognizance based upon a signed written promise to appear for arraignment is conditional and that failure to appear for arraignment shall result in the suspension of the his/her driver's license in Oklahoma, or in the nonresident's home state pursuant to the Nonresident Violator Compact.

Revised 10/04

224.40 Exceptional Circumstances

If unusual circumstances exist, such as age, medical condition, or custody of children, and the community and/or justice might be better served by making an exception when the violator would have to be placed in jail under normal procedures, the officer may request a supervisor to review the circumstances and grant an exception to the procedure.

Upon identifying a driver who may be a hazard or otherwise incapable of properly controlling a motor vehicle, and who may require re-examination or testing, officers should complete a Department of Public Safety Request for Driver Review Form; including the following:

- A. Include and/or describe any physical or mental ailments that exist to create a hazard to the public safety.
- B. Include specifics of any incidents that occurred or were observed, providing such detail that reasonable grounds for re-examination or re-testing are conclusively established.

Forward the completed form through the chain-of-command to the Division commander prior to forwarding to the Department of Public Safety Driver's License Examination section.

Anytime a Request for Driver Review Form is completed on a driver, the officer will make a miscellaneous report documenting the request.

Revised 10/04

224.50 Traffic Arrest Reports

Any time a violator is placed in jail for traffic violations the arresting officer will make an arrest report.

DUI, DUS and Reckless Driving charges all require a report by the arresting officer.

Revised 10/04

224.60 Parking Citations

Written warnings for parking violations may be issued at the discretion of the issuing officer or Police Service Technician.

224.70 Speed Measuring Devices

Training and Certification

All officers using any speed measuring device or method, must successfully complete the appropriate training prior to issuing citations for speed violations.

Operational Procedures

The equipment and or method for speed measuring will vary. The following procedures are applicable to all speed measuring devices operated by this department:

- A. Speed measuring devices must be properly installed, secured, and connected to the power supply.
- B. The effective range of the speed measuring device must be thoroughly understood by the operator so visual observations can support the speed measuring device's readings.
- C. The operator must choose an appropriate location conducive to the effective and safe operation of the speed measuring device.

Proper Care and Upkeep

All personnel issued a speed measuring device will adhere to General Procedures 123.0. When a speed measuring device fails the accuracy test, is damaged, or is scheduled for a manufacturer recommended maintenance, it will be removed from service until repairs or maintenance is completed. The Uniform Support Division will maintain records of all defects, repairs, and/or manufacturer's calibrations on all radar units used by the department. The Uniform Support Division Commander will designate personnel authorized to maintain these records.

Equipment Specifications

All speed measuring devices used by the Oklahoma City Police Department will be certified by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), or the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) standards.

Checking Accuracy of the Speed Measuring Devices

Speed measuring devices will be properly tested to ensure accuracy by following the manufacturer's instructions. Speed measuring devices must be checked for accuracy in both stationary and moving modes, and at the beginning and end of each shift, or if the device is turned on or off.

Adopted 10/4; Revised 07/07; Revised 11/17

225.0 Traffic Collision Investigation

Traffic collision investigation, as opposed to traffic collision reporting, is the thorough examination of all elements contributing to the collision, resulting in an explanation of the series of events based upon the factual data.

Consideration should always be given to the circumstances of each individual collision. Priority should be given to serious injury collisions, collisions involving disturbances between principals, and collisions involving police equipment or police personnel.

Traffic collision investigation remains a basic responsibility of all uniformed police officers.

The Signal 30 unit is comprised of traffic specialists utilized to investigate certain types of collisions. The Signal 30 unit will investigate the following types of collisions:

- A. Fatality Collisions;
- B. Police vehicle or authorized leased vehicle collisions (except those which result in no injury and/or minimal damage), unless otherwise directed;
- C. City equipment collisions involving serious injuries or significant property loss;
- D. Serious injury collisions where death appears to be imminent; and
- E. Collisions as directed by the Watch Commander.

The Watch Commander may temporarily suspend investigation of non-injury collisions during times of inclement weather, or other emergency situations when staffing or other safety issues dictate such action. Communications will notify the Office of Media Relations during times of suspension and when investigations are resumed.

Revised 9/05; Revised 9/14; Revised 3/16

225.01 Responding to the Collision Scene

The first officer assigned by the Communications Unit will be the primary investigating officer and is in charge of the traffic collision scene. If multiple officers are assigned to a collision scene, the first officer assigned will be the primary investigating unit. If another officer volunteers to assume the investigation, and the first officer consents, Communications should be notified. The volunteering officer will become the primary officer in charge of the collision scene. A supervisor will make the final decision on who works the collision if a dispute exists.

Upon notification of the traffic collision, the assigned primary officer and the secondary officer, if necessary, will be informed as to the exact location, the severity of the collision, whether traffic is blocked, and of other units that are assigned, including ambulance, wrecker and fire apparatus.

The officer should drive safely remembering that the objective is to arrive so assistance can be rendered.

Enroute to the scene, the officer should be alert for vehicles, which give an indication of involvement in the collision.

Upon approaching the scene, the officer should be alert for unusual conditions including visibility and view obstructions, condition of traffic control devices, and hazards, which may have contributed to the collision.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

225.02 Arrival at the Collision Scene

Upon arrival at the scene, the officer should park the police vehicle in such a way as to provide maximum protection to injured persons, to protect the scene, and to assist other motorists in safely negotiating the scene area.

The officer should be alert to hazards including fire, chemicals, and electrical. If these conditions exist, appropriate agencies should be notified and the hazard minimized as soon as possible.

Upon arrival, the officer should check all persons for injuries. The officer should administer first aid and summon medical assistance, when necessary.

The officer should summon adequate assistance to protect the scene and detour traffic as necessary.

The officer should locate the drivers and principals involved in the collision, as well as locate and identify witnesses to the collision.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

225.03 Responsibility at the Scene

- A. Locate and collect short-lived evidence.
- B. If needed, arrange for photographs to be taken of the scene.
- C. Examine and question each driver, being alert for indications of shock, confusion, extreme nervousness and intoxication.
- D. Question witnesses separately and arrange for statements to be taken if necessary. In a fatality collision or possible fatality, witnesses should not be released prior to completing a witness statement form and, if possible, questioned by the Signal 30 Investigator.
- E. Perform a thorough examination of each vehicle, and arrange for it to be held for further examination if appropriate.
- F. Perform a thorough examination of the road and weather conditions, including traffic control devices.
- G. Perform test skids if appropriate. This must be approved by the Signal 30 Supervisor and only under conditions that do not jeopardize the safety of persons or property.
- H. Clear the roadway and resume traffic flow.
- I. Take appropriate enforcement action.
- J. Assist drivers and other persons as necessary. Assure that the driver and insurance information is exchanged in a written form between all involved parties.
- K. Complete a thorough and accurate account of the traffic collision to include the required traffic collision report, investigative report and an accurate diagram of the collision if appropriate. The report should be completed by the end of an officer's shift unless a delay is approved by a supervisor.
- L. Explain to drivers their individual responsibility in reporting the accident.

Revised 4/90; Revised 9/05

225.10 Collision Investigation Report Forms

An officer shall investigate motor vehicle collisions and determine the method of reporting such collisions using the criteria specified in Title 47, Sections 40-101 and 40-102, and the latest edition of the official Oklahoma Traffic Collision Report Instruction Manual, published by the Department Of Public Safety.

An officer called to the scene of a collision will complete an official Oklahoma Traffic Collision report if any of the following events have occurred:

- A. There has been personal injury, death;
- B. Damage has occurred in a total amount of $500 or more; or
- C. When called to other areas of the City or to private or public property where the Traffic Laws of Oklahoma City do not apply, the officer will fully investigate those collisions, which involve death, personal injury, or a cumulative property damage of $500 or more.

If a citizen contacts the Department to report a collision where all involved parties have left the scene, evidence is gone and/or a significant amount of time has passed, the officer will respond to the reporting party's location, examine the involved vehicle, and complete the Official Oklahoma Traffic Collision Report. At no time should officers, who are called to the scene of a collision, refer citizens to the Hit and Run office or a briefing station to complete a report when adequate information is available for the officer to complete a report in the field.

Upon completion, the investigating officer will submit the report to the proper reviewing supervisor. Reports SHOULD be turned in at the end of the officer's regular tour of duty; the officer's supervisor MAY grant a delay. The reviewing supervisor will ensure the report is complete and accurate prior to approving it.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

225.20 Interviewing Drivers and Witnesses

Once drivers and witnesses have been located and identified, they will be given an opportunity to relate their account of how the collision occurred. Efforts to obtain the driver's or witness' entire account of the collision requires interviewing them as to certain aspects of the collision and their involvement or perceptions. Officers should continually strive to develop and improve their ability in interviewing drivers and witnesses. The following procedures are basic to this skill development:

- A. Officers will interview drivers and witnesses separately and individually concerning the traffic collision
- B. In minor traffic collisions, the interviews of drivers and witnesses are usually conducted at the scene.
- C. In collisions of a serious nature, a brief account will be obtained at the scene, and subsequently a formal and comprehensive statement should be taken at a more suitable location.
- D. When interviewing drivers and witnesses, the officer will be objective, exhibiting emotional stability, diplomacy and understanding and reflecting a professional attitude and demeanor.
- E. Officers will avoid conflict, profanity and sarcasm.
- F. Officers will interview drivers and witnesses as soon as practical following the collision. The interview may be delayed until the person has received medical attention, regained emotional control or attended to other urgent personal business.
- G. Officers will discourage drivers and witnesses from discussing the collision among themselves.
- H. When interviewing drivers, the officer will be alert to any physical or emotional impairment (either temporary or permanent), which may have affected the driving ability of the person.
- I. The officer should interview the driver relative to trip plan, emotional experience (aggravation with traffic during rush hour), at what point danger was first perceived, what the driver was doing at the time, evasive action taken and the condition of the vehicle.
- J. Witnesses will be interviewed as to their exact location when they witnessed the collision, what they were doing at the time, what called their attention to the collision and what they saw, heard or performed in response.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

225.25 Traffic Collisions Involving City Vehicle / Equipment or Authorized Leased Vehicle / Equipment

To ensure an impartial investigation and to maintain public confidence in the investigation, the following procedures shall be followed in addition to the procedures for investigating City vehicle/equipment or authorized leased vehicle/equipment collisions:

- A. The Oklahoma City Police Department will investigate all collisions, which involve City vehicles/equipment or authorized leased vehicle/equipment, regardless of the amount of damage. Police vehicle or authorized leased vehicle/equipment collisions occurring outside Oklahoma City will be investigated by the Oklahoma City Police Department. The employee's Division Commander must approve exceptions
 1. In a Police vehicle/equipment or authorized leased vehicle/equipment collision, when any party has sustained an injury and transportation to the hospital is required, a Signal 30 officer shall be notified to investigate the collision. If a Signal 30 officer is not available, Communications shall notify the Signal 30 supervisor. The Signal 30 supervisor may talk with a field supervisor or an officer on the scene to determine if the circumstances justify calling an off-duty Signal 30 officer to respond to the scene. A field supervisor shall also be notified and respond to the scene. A Signal 30 supervisor will ensure the Municipal Counselor's Office is notified as soon as practical, of any collision and/or incident involving any City vehicle/equipment or authorized

- leased vehicle/equipment and/or personnel which results in serious injury or death. Notice shall be directed to the Municipal Counselor's investigator or designee when appropriate.
2. In a Police vehicle/equipment or authorized leased vehicle collision, on or off-duty, when minor injury or no injury occurs, a Signal 30 officer will work the collision if one is available. If a Signal 30 officer cannot respond, a field supervisor shall respond to the scene and assign the investigation to another unit.
- B. Photographs of the vehicles involved, any other damages, and of the scene will be taken.
 - C. In a Police vehicle/equipment or authorized leased vehicle/equipment collision involving sworn employees, on or off duty, no traffic citation will be issued at the scene to either party involved, with the following exceptions:
 1. Driving Under the Influence.
 2. Driving with a Suspended or Revoked License.
 3. Reckless Driving.
 4. Leaving the Scene of a Collision.
 5. No record of a valid state driver's license (when the driver has NO license, as opposed to not having it with him/her at the time); and,
 6. Any other offense, when directed by the supervisor.
 - D. Any collision involving Police vehicle/equipment or authorized leased vehicle/equipment driven by a non-sworn or non-departmental employee should be investigated and citations issued to either and/or both parties as deemed appropriate.
 - E. In a collision involving any other City-owned or leased vehicle(s) driven by a non-departmental employee(s), the officer should proceed with the investigation and issue a citation to either and/or both parties as deemed appropriate.
 - F. Every effort will be made to cooperate with other involved agencies when the collision occurred in their jurisdiction.
 - G. If the employee completes a supplemental report, a notation will be made at the top of the Oklahoma Traffic Collision Report form.
 - H. A supervisor will complete the Risk Management "Supervisor's Investigation Report" form.
 - I. The employee involved, the employee's supervisor or the assigned supervisor will make immediate arrangements for the police vehicle/equipment involved to be inspected for safe operating condition and have a damage estimate prepared by the Fleet Management Unit. Asset forfeiture vehicles will have a damage estimate prepared by an approved City vendor. Authorized leased vehicles/equipment will be handled in accordance with the vehicle lease agreement.
 - J. No vehicle/equipment will be returned to service until the inspection and estimate has been completed.

225.30 Hit and Run Collisions

Hit and Run refers to the evasion of responsibility by a driver who is involved in a traffic collision. The law defines the responsibility of each driver involved in a collision. The challenge to officers investigating collisions where a driver has left the scene is two-fold:

- A. Investigate the collision in accordance with usual procedures to identify causes; and,
- B. Locate and identify the missing driver and vehicle.

Officers should be aware that hit and run collisions which result in death or serious bodily injury are felony crimes. All other hit and run collisions are investigated as misdemeanor offenses and probable cause is insufficient to effect an arrest of a person suspected of being the hit and run driver. The suspect vehicle involved in a hit and run should not be impounded solely on that basis.

Although each collision presents unique problems demanding flexibility, the following duties and responsibilities remain with the investigating officer:

- A. To be thoroughly familiar with the laws relative to hit-and-run and driver responsibility.

- B. Upon verifying a collision as a hit and run, the officer should obtain the best possible description of the car, probable damage to the car, the driver, passengers, and the direction of travel.
- C. The descriptive information will be relayed to Communications for dissemination to other field units and other law enforcement agencies.
- D. If a license number is received in the description, the dispatcher will check for vehicle registration utilizing state computer networks and NCIC data.
- E. If the collision results in death or serious injury, units in neighboring beats should be coordinated to search for the missing vehicle.
- F. The investigating officer should locate, collect and preserve all physical evidence, which may be useful in the identification of the missing vehicle and operator. Types of physical evidence include, but are not limited to blood, hair, soil, fabric, automotive parts and accessories and paint.
- G. The investigating officer will record statements from the witnesses at the scene and may conduct a neighborhood canvass to locate and identify other witnesses who may have information relating to the hit and run collision.
- H. The investigating officer will report all information on an Official Traffic Collision Report. Any information gathered which cannot be reported on the collision report can be made on a Supplemental Report form.
- I. When a suspect vehicle is located, establish positive identification utilizing physical evidence collected at the scene.
- J. Interview the owner and determine the identity of the driver at the time of the collision.
- K. Take any appropriate enforcement action.

Revised 9/05

225.31 Hit and Run Follow-Up Investigation

Success in bringing a hit and run traffic collision investigation to a successful conclusion depends upon the effective gathering and disseminating of accurate and factual information, diligence in pursuing available leads, and the gathering and protecting of physical evidence to associate the vehicle and driver with the collision. The coordination of effort within the Department and the cooperation of other law enforcement agencies in the search for the missing driver and vehicle are essential to this investigation.

Officers investigating traffic collisions shall take appropriate enforcement action when investigation reveals the actions of one or more of the drivers were unlawful and a contributing factor to the collision.

Officers assigned to the hit and run office will conduct follow-up investigations on hit-and-run collisions, which are not solved by the original investigator. The purpose of the follow-up investigation is to determine the identity of the owner and possibly the driver of the hit and run vehicle and to take appropriate enforcement action.

225.40 Fatality Collisions

When death occurs as the result of a traffic collision, additional duties and responsibilities are necessary in the investigation. In addition to the responsibilities listed below, see also 264.40 regarding blood test without consent in a fatality/ serious injury collision.

Adopted 9/05; Revised 04/11

225.41 Duties of the Signal 30 Unit Supervisor

The Signal 30 Unit Supervisor, upon notification of a traffic collision involving one or more of the following criteria, will determine the appropriate personnel to respond to:

- A. Fatality collisions.

- B. Police vehicle collisions (except those which result in no injury and/or minimal damage); unless otherwise directed.
- C. City equipment collisions involving serious injuries or significant property loss.
- D. Serious injury collisions where death appears to be imminent.
- E. Collisions as directed by the Watch Commander.

Adopted 9/05

225.42 Assigned Officer's Duties

The following procedures are in addition to those included in traffic collision investigations:

- A. Upon arrival, the officer should check all persons for injuries. The officer should administer first aid and summon medical assistance, when necessary.
- B. If clear signs of death are present, the body will not be removed from the scene without prior authorization from the Medical Examiner. Officers should make every effort not to disturb the scene.
- C. The officer should summon sufficient assistance to handle traffic and crowd control problems, as necessary.
- D. Officers should note the exact location and condition of the body or bodies so details may be included in the investigative report and diagram.

Adopted 9/05

225.50 Traffic Collisions Involving Trains

Traffic collisions involving trains present unique problems to investigating officers. These problems arise from the need of trains to maintain certain schedules, their importance in the transportation of commodities, and because they may block numerous intersections creating traffic congestion problems in other areas.

In the event of a traffic collision involving a train, the following procedures are necessary in addition to the usual traffic investigation effort:

- A. Upon arrival attend to the needs of injured persons.
- B. Locate and identify the engineer and conductor.
- C. Record the engineer's name, train number, and engine number and number of years he has been an engineer. The train is actually under the control and direction of the conductor. The conductor should be interviewed, identified, and listed on the report as required.
- D. Take the necessary photographs.
- E. Mark key points for measurements and diagrams.
- F. Clear the track and right-of-way.
- G. Allow the train to continue with minimal delay.
- H. Conduct a thorough examination of the railroad crossing, including grade, visibility, and condition and operation of control signals.
- I. Coordinate follow-up effort with railroad investigators and the conductor to determine personnel on the train, their assigned responsibility and their location at the time of the collision.
- J. Train engineers are not required to have a motor vehicle operator's license, and they may not be required to provide a motor vehicle operator's license.
- K. Any improper action or condition of the train crew should be listed in the appropriate section of the collision report, and a Signal 30 supervisor should be contacted.

Adopted 9/05

225.61 Traffic Collisions

Officers investigating collisions where wrecker(s) are needed shall first determine if the driver(s)/owner(s) of the vehicle(s) have a preference of towing companies. If the drivers/owners do not have a preference or they have been removed from the scene, the dispatcher will be notified to call for district wrecker(s). If the driver has been removed from the scene and the vehicle(s) need to be removed, it shall be then classified as a police impound and the official Tow-In Report will be completed. The officer will record in his/her collision report the location the vehicle was towed.

In situations where the driver of the vehicle is capable of making the decision and has lawful control of the vehicle, he/she may elect to have his/her vehicle towed to a place of his/her choice utilizing a wrecker company of their preference as long as the vehicle is not needed as evidence. For this to be classified as an owner's request, the owner/operator must remain at the scene, be allowed to remove any property they desire, and sign the invoice form provided by the wrecker. The owner/operator then will be responsible for any expenses involved in towing and storage.

226.0 Small Unmanned Aircraft Systems (sUAS)

The purpose of the sUAS program is to provide aerial support in crime scene investigations, collision investigations and other operations, when approved, by collecting forensic digital data utilizing a sUAS. Use of the sUAS will be in strict accordance with constitutional and privacy rights and is governed by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulations.

The Uniform Support division major will serve as the sUAS commander. The Signal 30 unit captain will serve as the program manager.

Definition

A small unmanned aerial system is an unmanned aircraft weighing 55 lbs or less, capable of sustaining directed flight, whether preprogrammed or remotely controlled, and includes attached systems designed for gathering information through imaging, recording, or other means.

Selection Process

Employees must meet select criteria in order to operate a sUAS. Employees may apply through their chain of command to participate in the sUAS program. Division commanders should forward applications meeting the criteria to the commander of the Uniform Support division for consideration. The sUAS commander and program manager will select qualified candidates for available positions.

Employees must meet the following requirements to be a Pilot in Command (PIC):

1. Must be a department employee;
2. Must not be on any type of probationary status;
3. Must receive approval from division commander; and
4. Must successfully complete department training curriculum, to include Part 107 FAA commercial license.

Employees must meet the following requirements to be a Visual Observer (VO):

1. Must be a department employee;
2. Must not be on any type of probationary status; and
3. Must receive approval from division commander.

In order to be considered for either a PIC or VO position, there must be an opening in the employee's designated work area for the desired position.

Deployment

Only authorized operators who have completed the required department training and have successfully obtained the Part 107 commercial license shall be permitted to deploy the sUAS. Only department-approved sUAS and equipment shall be used to conduct deployments. Use of personal sUAS and equipment is prohibited.

No employee shall use a sUAS without approval of the program manager or sUAS commander. All deployments utilizing the sUAS must first be approved by the department's program manager.

Use of the sUAS to conduct a search of an area in which a person has a reasonable expectation of privacy must at all times comply with the 4th Amendment's reasonableness requirement. Absent exigent circumstances or the consent of the property owner, a warrant shall be obtained prior to deployment of the sUAS in an area in which a person has a reasonable expectation of privacy.

The PIC shall be the final authority for determining when the sUAS may be safely utilized or if a deployment must be terminated based on weather, airworthiness, darkness or other hazardous conditions.

sUAS equipment shall only be operated by qualified employees who can ensure a safe and secure deployment. Reasons for which an employee may be removed from the program include, but are not limited to:

1. Demonstrating an inability to safely or effectively operate the equipment;
2. Poor deployment decisions; or
3. Engaging in unprofessional conduct when using the department's sUAS or equipment.

The program manager and sUAS commander may remove an employee from the program for cause.

Incident / Collision Reporting

In accordance with 14 CFR § 107.9, the FAA requires notification no later than ten days after incidents involving the sUAS that result in:

1. Serious injury to any person;
2. Loss of consciousness of any person involved; or
3. Damage to any property greater than $500 (other than the sUAS).

The PIC must report the incident to the program manager immediately. The program manager will complete the online FAA incident report and submit it to the administrator of the FAA.

Collection and Preservation of Evidence

PICs operating a sUAS for investigative purposes will collect, preserve and submit physical evidence related to the incident in accordance with departmental directives. Photographic and video evidence will be uploaded to the Digital Evidence Management Unit for the preservation of such evidence.

227.0 Traffic Safety Concerns

Adopted 10/04

227.10 Roadway Hazards

Roadway and roadside hazards are contributing factors in many traffic collisions. Such hazards may include, but are not limited to, visual obstructions, debris in the roadway, defects in the roadway such as pot holes, damaged or missing roadway safety features, such as guardrails or reflectors; failure of signal lights or other traffic control devices or signs. Employees, who in the performance of their duty, are made aware of any of these conditions, should contact the Emergency Operations Center (EOC) through 9-1-1 or complete an Action Center Service Request Form to ensure the appropriate authority is notified depending on the immediate safety concerns.

If necessary, and to the extent reasonably possible, the employee should request through the Communications Unit temporary traffic control devices.

Adopted 10/04; Revised 1/06

227.12 Roadway Engineering Complaints

Employees may refer any complaints or suggestions regarding traffic engineering and design of any roadway or intersection to the Uniform Support Division Commander.

Adopted 10/04; Revised 1/06

228.0 Permits and Street Closures

Any street, road, sidewalk, alley, or easement within the public right-of-way may be closed and traffic restricted by barricades, fences or other structures with an authorized activity or revocable permit; or in cases of a procession, emergency or to ensure public safety as directed by the Police Department.

Adopted 04/11

230.0 Police-Citizen Encounters

There are three primary types of police-citizen encounters:

1. Consensual Encounters
2. Detentions
3. Arrests

These categories are not static and may convert from one to another. Officers must comply with the following requirements while participating in or conducting each type of encounter.

Revised 4/17

230.10 Consensual Encounters

A consensual encounter is the voluntary cooperation of a person in response to non-coercive questioning by a police officer. The encounter is consensual or voluntary as long as a reasonable person would believe they are free to disregard the officer's questions and walk away. A consensual encounter is not a seizure under the Fourth Amendment. Officers are free to initiate or participate in any consensual encounter, unless otherwise prohibited by law or department directives.

Officers shall permit a person to terminate and disengage from a consensual encounter at any time, except that officers:

1. May temporarily detain the person if officers have satisfied the requisite elements for an investigative detention, witness detention, or community-caretaking detention as provided for in this procedure; or
2. May arrest the person if officers have satisfied the requisite elements for an arrest as provided for in this procedure.

Absent these justifications, when the person expresses their desire to terminate and/or attempts to disengage from the consensual encounter, officers shall not:

1. Detain or keep the person against their will;
2. Unholster their firearm or display any other weapon or tool in a manner that an objectively reasonable person might find intimidating;
3. Touch or come into physical contact with the person;

4. Obstruct or restrain the person's movements;
5. Gather around the person in a threatening manner;
6. Use any commanding or threatening gestures or tone of voice that indicate compliance with a request might be compelled;
7. Engage in any accusatory, persistent, or intrusive questioning if it would convey to a reasonable person that compliance is required; or
8. Behave in any other manner that might lead an objectively reasonable person to believe he or she is not free to terminate the encounter.

Revised 1/16; Revised 4/17

230.20 Detentions

There are three categories of detentions:

1. Investigative Detentions
2. Witness Detentions
3. Community-Caretaking Detentions

All detentions are seizures and require officers to comply with the demands of the Fourth Amendment.

Investigative Detentions

An investigative detention is the detention of a person for the purpose of dispelling or confirming a reasonable suspicion that the person has been, is, or is about to be engaged in criminal activity.

Officers may stop and briefly detain a person for investigative purposes when they have reasonable suspicion to believe that the person has been, is, or is about to be engaged in criminal activity.

Reasonable suspicion is an objective standard and must be assessed based on the totality of the circumstances. Officers must have a particularized and objective basis for suspecting the particular individual stopped. Reasonable suspicion requires more proof of wrongdoing than an unparticularized suspicion or hunch, but less than probable cause.

All investigative detentions must be:

1. Justified at their inception; and
2. Reasonably related in scope to the circumstances which justified the detention in the first place.

An investigative detention must be temporary in nature and last no longer than necessary to effectuate the purpose of the stop. The reasonableness of the duration of any detention will vary with the particular circumstances of each case. Officers shall diligently investigate the circumstances justifying the detention and confirm or dispel their suspicions as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

Officers may take objectively reasonable steps to protect their personal safety and to maintain the status quo during the course of an investigative detention. Officers may frisk the outer clothing of a person detained for investigative purposes only where they have reasonable suspicion to believe that the person may be armed and dangerous. See Procedure 231, Searches of Persons, for specific procedures on conducting a cursory weapons frisk.

If during the course of an investigative detention, officers develop additional evidence that establishes probable cause to believe the detained individual committed a crime, they may place the individual under arrest. If officers dispel their suspicions or fail to develop probable cause during the course of the detention, they shall release the suspect as soon as possible.

Witness Detentions

Officers may approach any person to:

1. Determine if the person was a witness to a crime;
2. Ascertain whether the person is willing to provide their identification if the person did witness a crime; and/or
3. Ascertain whether the person is willing to voluntarily speak about the witnessed crime.

If the witness is willing to voluntarily speak or interview with officers, the encounter remains consensual and may continue until the witness withdraws their consent. The interview may be conducted at the scene or at a department facility as long as the witness consents.

If the crime being investigated is a misdemeanor and the witness is unwilling to voluntarily speak about the witnessed crime and unwilling to provide their identification, officers shall immediately release the witness. If the crime being investigated is a misdemeanor and the witness is willing to voluntarily provide his or her identification but is unwilling to voluntarily speak about the witnessed crime, officers shall record the witness's identification but shall immediately thereafter release the witness.

If the crime being investigated is a felony, officers may detain the witness, regardless of the witness's consent, if:

1. Officers have identified themselves as law enforcement and inform the witness of the grounds for detention;
2. The witness is not a victim of the underlying felony crime; and
3. Officers have probable cause to believe that the witness:
 - a. Is a necessary and material witness to the felony crime; and
 - b. Would be unwilling to accept service of a subpoena or may otherwise refuse to appear in any criminal proceeding.

If a person is detained as a material witness, they must be taken before a judge of the district court, without unnecessary delay, which shall be defined as taking the witness immediately to a judge, whether that judge is presiding over a court in session or otherwise.

If the above-listed criteria are not satisfied, the witness is unwilling to voluntarily speak about the witnessed crime, and the witness is unwilling to provide their identification, the officers shall immediately release the witness. If the above-listed criteria are not satisfied and the witness is unwilling to voluntarily speak about the witnessed crime but the witness is willing to voluntarily provide his or her identification, officers shall record the witness's identification and immediately thereafter release the witness.

When detaining a witness against their will, officers shall advise a supervisor immediately. The supervisor shall contact an on-call Homicide supervisor, regardless of the nature of the felony.

Community-Caretaking Detentions

A community-caretaking detention is a brief non-investigatory detention of a person for purposes of assuring the person's safety and/or the safety of the public.

Officers may effect a community-caretaking detention of a person where:

1. Officers have specific and articulable facts that the person's safety or well-being is in danger to the extent that an intrusion into the person's liberty is reasonably warranted;
2. The detention lasts no longer than necessary to effectuate its purpose; and
3. The scope of the detention is carefully tailored to its underlying justification.

Examples of permissible community-caretaking detentions may include, but are not limited to:

1. Checking the welfare of a person where officers have reason to believe the person may be in danger or need medical assistance;

2. Taking custody of or transporting a person for a mental health evaluation or care in accordance with Procedure 215;
3. Rendering assistance to, taking custody of, or transporting a person in apparent need of significant medical or emergency assistance; or
4. Taking custody of or transporting a runaway juvenile to the appropriate authority in accordance with Procedure 234.

Officers shall not use a community-caretaking detention as a subterfuge to conduct a search or seizure that would otherwise be unlawful or in violation of a written directive.

Revised 4/17

230.30 Arrests

An arrest is the taking of a person into custody to be held to answer for a public offense. An arrest may be made with or without a warrant in accordance with the following provisions.

When a Person Can Be Arrested by Police Officers

Officers may arrest a person based on a valid arrest warrant when they have a warrant or probable cause to believe a warrant has been issued or is being held by another peace officer commanding that such person be arrested.

Officers may arrest a person without a warrant:

- A. When they have probable cause to believe that a felony has been or is being committed and that the person to be arrested has committed or is committing it;
- B. For a misdemeanor not committed in their presence, when the misdemeanor is specified by state law to be one where the officer may arrest on probable cause (e.g., domestic violence violation, DUI, APC, VPO violation, or larceny of merchandise), and probable cause for the arrest is known to the officer at the time of arrest; or
- C. When they have probable cause to believe a misdemeanor was committed in their presence.

Citizen's Arrest Procedures

A citizen may arrest a person:

- A. When a felony or misdemeanor offense is committed or attempted in his or her presence; or
- B. When the citizen has probable cause to believe that the person committed a felony.

When a citizen has placed a person under arrest, officers shall take custody of the arrested person and process the person in accordance with written directives, unless:

- A. The officer reasonably believes, from his or her own knowledge, that no offense has been committed;
- B. The citizen has insufficient evidence to establish probable cause that the offense was committed; or
- C. The citizen making the arrest is incapacitated by mental illness, intoxication, or other effects to the extent that he or she is obviously incompetent to exercise reasonable judgment.

Officers shall make reasonable efforts to determine if the citizen satisfied the conditions to make a citizen's arrest.

If any of the above conditions apply, and officers do not have independent authority or additional charges to arrest the person, officers shall release the arrested person and complete a detailed report.

Probable Cause

Probable cause is an objective standard and must be assessed based on the totality of the circumstances. It is a flexible, common-sense, practical, and non-technical conception, not capable of being reduced to numerically precise degrees of certainty or a neat set of legal rules. The standard is based on probabilities, not certainties, of criminal behavior. Probable cause is a less-demanding standard of proof than beyond a reasonable doubt.

In the context of an arrest, probable cause is a set of facts that would warrant an officer of reasonable caution in the belief that a particular person has committed a particular crime.

Duty to Investigate When Determining Probable Cause

When determining whether probable cause exists to arrest a person or when independently verifying a citizen had probable cause to arrest a person pursuant to a citizen's arrest, officers must:

1. Investigate basic evidence or otherwise inquire if a crime has been committed at all;
2. Interview readily available witnesses; and
3. Evaluate easily accessible and undisputed facts, such as video evidence.

This procedure does not prohibit or otherwise restrict an officer from detaining a suspect for investigative purposes in accordance with the law and department directives. See Procedure 230.20. Nor does this procedure alter an officer's obligation to establish probable cause based on the totality of the circumstances that a suspect committed a particular crime prior to making any warrantless arrest.

Warrantless State Felony Arrests

When officers have probable cause to believe that a person arrested has committed a felony crime, they shall:

- A. Contact a supervisor to request authorization for state charges prior to transporting to the jail;
- B. Complete a probable cause affidavit; and
- C. Present the affidavit to the authorizing supervisor for review and signature.

Supervisors should meet the officer at the scene of the arrest or prior to arriving at jail if possible. Supervisors shall review the probable cause affidavit for accuracy and completeness and verify the elements of the crime have been met before signing it.

After the supervisor has signed the affidavit, the officer shall get the affidavit notarized, advise the Inmate Processing Unit clerk the person should be held for state charges, and provide the clerk with the notarized affidavit along with the person's booking sheet.

Warrantless State Misdemeanor Arrests

When officers have probable cause to believe that a person arrested has committed a misdemeanor crime for which there is a municipal and state charge, the person will be processed for the municipal charge unless the state charge is more appropriate.

When officers believe a state charge is more appropriate, they shall:

- A. Contact a supervisor to request a hold for state charges;
- B. Complete a probable cause affidavit; and
- C. Have a supervisor review and sign the affidavit.

If the supervisor approves a hold for state charges, he or she should meet the officer at the scene of the arrest or prior to arriving at jail if possible. Supervisors shall review the probable cause affidavit for accuracy and completeness and verify the elements of the crime have been met before signing it.

After the supervisor has signed the affidavit, the officer shall get the affidavit notarized, advise the Inmate Processing Unit clerk the person should be held for state charges, and provide the clerk with the notarized affidavit along with the person's booking sheet.

Even if the supervisor approves a request to hold for state charges, officers should still complete any relevant municipal complaints, but shall mark the hold for state charge (HFS) box before turning it in.

Municipal Arrests

See Procedure 182.50 for procedures on arresting a person for a violation of municipal ordinance.

NCIC Hits and Arrests

A person may be arrested based on a NCIC hit for a warrant or for a new crime based upon information obtained from a NCIC hit.

Arresting a Person Based on a NCIC Hit for a Warrant

A NCIC hit for a warrant on a person provides notice to officers that a person may be wanted by a law enforcement agency. Officers shall contact CIU after receiving a hit for a warrant on the person to confirm if the warrant is valid and the issuing agency is willing to extradite (if applicable).

The hit for a warrant alone does not establish probable cause to arrest the person. When officers receive a hit on a person that is not already under arrest, they may detain the person for a reasonable amount of time while confirming the warrant from the issuing agency. Once an officer confirms the warrant is valid and the issuing agency is willing to extradite (if applicable), the person may be arrested. If the warrant is not confirmed or the issuing agency is not willing to extradite, the person shall be released, unless under arrest for an independent crime or violation. Whether an arrest is made or not, the officer will complete a report.

If an officer receives a NCIC hit on a person that is already in custody and under arrest for an independent crime or violation, the officer must confirm the warrant prior to adding it to the person's list of charges.

A copy of the confirmed hit and/or warrant shall be submitted with the person's booking sheet.

Arresting Persons for New Crimes Based on NCIC Hits

Officers may arrest a person for a new crime utilizing information obtained from an NCIC hit under the following circumstances only:

- A. After having CIU verify the hit on the person or property is still valid; and
- B. After establishing probable cause the person committed the crime.

A confirmed NCIC hit is but one fact that by itself may or may not establish probable cause to arrest a person for a new crime. A confirmed NCIC hit must be evaluated with the totality of the circumstances when determining whether probable cause to arrest exists.

If CIU is unable to confirm the NCIC hit, the person shall be released (if detained), unless under arrest for an independent crime or violation.

Confirmation of Arrest Warrants

When officers plan the service of an arrest warrant on a person in advance, they shall confirm the warrant prior to service. When officers run a person for warrants in the course of their duties, without advance notice the person has a warrant, they must confirm the warrant prior to placing the person under arrest for the warrant, unless the person is already under arrest for an independent violation.

A copy of the warrant(s) shall be submitted with the person's booking sheet.

Disposition of Arrested Persons

All arrested persons that are to be booked in jail on their charge(s) shall be transported and booked into the Oklahoma County Jail, unless:

- A. The person is released in the field in accordance with written directives; or
- B. A supervisor approves other disposition.

Serving an Arrest Warrant

Serving an Arrest Warrant in a Public Place

Officers may serve any arrest warrant at any time if the subject of the warrant is found in a public place or on a public roadway.

Serving an Arrest Warrant On a Person in Their Residence

Misdemeanor arrest warrants may only be served on a person in their residence between the hours of 6:00 AM and 10:00 PM, unless the warrant is endorsed for nighttime service. Prior to serving a misdemeanor warrant endorsed for nighttime service at a residence, officers must verify with the issuing authority that the endorsement is valid. Under no circumstances shall officers force entry into a residence to serve a misdemeanor warrant, even if officers have reason to believe the subject of the warrant is present.

In the event officers are conducting an investigation inside a residence, or are otherwise lawfully inside a residence, and have placed a person under arrest for an independent criminal violation, officers may add any warrants, including misdemeanor warrants, to the person's charges.

Felony arrest warrants may be served on a person in their residence any time. If officers have not received written or verbal consent, they may only enter the wanted person's residence to serve a felony arrest warrant under the following circumstances:

- A. Officers reasonably believe the subject of the warrant resides at the place to be entered;
- B. Officers reasonably believe the subject of the warrant is present;
- C. Officers have provided notice of authority and purpose; and
- D. Officers are refused admittance or receive no response.

These provisions in no way diminish an officer's authority to forcibly enter a residence based upon exigent circumstances.

Serving an Arrest Warrant in a Third-Party's Residence

If the subject of an arrest warrant is reasonably believed to be inside a third-party's residence (a residence other than his or her own), officers shall not enter into the residence to serve the warrant unless they:

- A. Obtain consent from the third-party residents;
- B. Are in hot pursuit of a fleeing felon; or
- C. Obtain a search warrant for the third-party residence.

Entering a Residence without a Warrant to Effect an Arrest

Officers may enter a residence without a warrant to effect an arrest under the following circumstances only:

- A. When officers are given consent by a person with apparent authority to enter the residence, absent objection from another present person with apparent authority;
- B. When officers have probable cause to believe warrantless entry is necessary to prevent the destruction of evidence of a serious crime; or
- C. When officers are in hot pursuit of a fleeing felon.

Absent any of these conditions, officers are prohibited from entering a residence or crossing the threshold of any door, window, or other opening of the residence without a warrant.

Probable cause to believe a suspect is inside a residence, by itself, is insufficient grounds for entering a residence without a warrant. Even if a suspect opens a door or window, or is otherwise in plain sight within the residence, but remains in the residence, officers shall not cross the threshold of the residence to arrest the suspect, unless one of the above conditions apply.

Moreover, merely opening a door or window to a residence does not establish a resident's consent to enter the residence. Consent must be given voluntarily and must be unambiguous.

Officer Identification

When it becomes necessary for an officer to arrest a person, the officer will identify himself or herself as a police officer, recognizing that some circumstances may exist that may make identification prior to the actual arrest impossible. Identification will not be necessary if the officer is in a department approved uniform and is clearly visible to the person to be arrested. A plain-clothes officer shall display their badge prior to making the arrest.

Miranda Warning

In all cases when an arrest has been effected, the arrested person shall be afforded all constitutional and statutory rights.

When advising a person of his or her Miranda rights, the Miranda warning should be read from a Miranda card, not recited from the officer's memory.

In cases where immediate interrogation is not necessary, or when it is likely that other investigators will need to interview an arrested person, routine Miranda warnings should not be given. If Miranda warnings are given, officers shall document the person's responses in the appropriate report. In all cases, any voluntary statements should be documented in the appropriate report.

Mass Arrest Situations

A mass arrest situation exists when, in the judgment of the supervisor, the number of persons to be arrested in a single incident exceeds the ability to perform normal arrest, booking and reporting procedures.

Sufficient police staffing is to be gathered before any enforcement action is taken at the scene of mass arrests, if possible. Police officers at the scene should remain together as much as possible. No police officer will leave the group to pursue a subject into or through a crowd.

A processing site will be established and staffed with a number of officers and supervisors sufficient to maintain order when handling arrested persons. Arrested persons will be immediately escorted to the processing site. The arresting officers shall complete (1) a municipal citation, if the person is being arrested for a violation of city ordinance, or (2) a probable cause affidavit, if the person is being arrested for a violation of state law. In addition, police employees shall adhere to the "Mass Arrest Procedures" provided in the Emergency Operating Procedures.

Persons who are not going to be taken into custody will be directed to leave in the safest manner possible. Only one police officer or supervisor will give instructions to a crowd at a given time if possible. The instructions given and the name of the person giving the instructions shall be documented in written reports.

The on-scene supervisor will account for all police personnel and equipment before leaving the mass arrest site.

230.40 Reporting Seizures

Officers shall complete a crime incident report after arresting a person, except where the arrest was made for a misdemeanor traffic violation and the arrested person is required to be released on their personal recognizance by state law, city ordinance, or written directive.

Transporting a person to PIA (Detox) is considered protective custody and not an arrest. If there are unusual circumstances that need to be documented, officers shall complete a report. In the report, officers shall identify the person as an "IP" and shall not indicate or imply that the person was arrested or charged with a crime.

Officers shall also document any detention of a person in a crime incident report or on a field identification card, depending on the circumstances. See also Procedure 250.35.

231.0 Searches of Persons

Types of Person Searches

There are six general categories of person searches:

- A. Cursory Weapons Frisks
- B. Searches Incident to Arrest
- C. Consent Searches
- D. Jail Booking Searches
- E. Strip Searches
- F. Body-Cavity Searches

Cursory Weapons Frisks

During the course of a voluntary contact or investigative detention of a person, officers may conduct a cursory weapons frisk (sometimes referred to as a pat search) if they reasonably suspect the person is armed and dangerous or have the person's consent.

Officers should conduct a weapons frisk from behind the person, in a position of control. To conduct the frisk, officers shall pat the person and any outer garments (e.g., coat, jacket, etc.) to determine if he or she possesses any weapons or dangerous items. If an officer discovers what he or she reasonably believes to be a weapon or dangerous item, the officer may remove it. The final disposition of the weapon or item shall be handled in accordance with written directives.

When an officer comes into contact with a person that states he or she has a firearm in their possession or that is visibly carrying a firearm, but the officer has no lawful grounds to detain or arrest the person, the officer shall first demand to see the person's handgun license. If the person fails to produce a valid handgun license, the officer may take possession of the firearm and detain the person pending further investigation.

For procedures on conducting a cursory weapons frisk on a person of the opposite sex, refer to Opposite Sex Searches below.

Searches Incident to Arrest

When making an arrest, with or without a warrant, officers will first handcuff the person in accordance with Procedure 154 and then search the person and the person's immediate surroundings. The purpose of this search is to ensure the safety of the arresting officer(s) and to safeguard any potential evidence. A search incident to arrest will be conducted prior to placing the arrested person inside a police vehicle and prior to accepting an arrested person from any other officer or agency.

When arresting a person who appears to be intoxicated, or not in control of physical functions, officers will examine the person to ascertain whether the person is wearing a medic alert bracelet or necklace or any other identifying device delineating a medical disability which could account for the person's actions. If discovered, the officer will take immediate steps to aid the afflicted person in receiving medication or treatment for the disability.

Prior to conducting a search incident to arrest, officers should secure any items the arrested person may be carrying, such as a bag or purse. To conduct a search incident to arrest, officers should search the arrested person from top to bottom, to include the following locations:

- A. Hats;
- B. Hair - especially females;
- C. Back of the collar;
- D. Shoulder blades in the center of the back;
- E. Lapels;
- F. Sleeves;
- G. Neckties;
- H. Palms of the hands;
- I. Belts, waistbands, and surrounding body area;
- J. Pockets
- K. Crotch area; and
- L. Shoes.

The mouth may be searched for contraband at the beginning or end of the search depending on the arrest situation.

For procedures on conducting a search incident to arrest on a person of the opposite sex, refer to Opposite Sex Searches below.

Consent Searches

Officers may conduct a search of any person that consents. The consent must be voluntary and uncoerced. Consent searches may be carried out in the same manner as a search incident to arrest. Consent frisks may be carried out in the same manner as a cursory weapons frisk. However, the scope of a consent search or frisk is limited by the scope of the consent given. If a person limits their consent, officers must limit their search accordingly, in the absence of alternative justification.

Officers may not seek consent to conduct a jail booking search; that type of search is reserved solely for jail personnel. Consent to conduct a strip search or a body-cavity search, by itself, is insufficient to conduct such a search; additional requirements must be met as described below.

For procedures on conducting a consent search on a person of the opposite sex, refer to Opposite Sex Searches below.

Opposite Sex Searches

Officers shall not conduct a search or a cursory weapons frisk on a person of the opposite sex unless they have articulable reasonable suspicion that the person possesses a weapon or other dangerous item.

In the absence of reasonable suspicion that a person of the opposite sex possesses a weapon or other dangerous item and the officer has received valid consent to a search from the person, the officer shall contact an officer of the same sex as the person to be searched.

When an officer has arrested a person of the opposite sex, the officer shall not search the person incident to arrest. Prior to transporting the person, the officer shall contact an officer of the same sex as the person to conduct the search.

If an officer has reasonable suspicion that a person of the opposite sex possesses a weapon or other dangerous item, the officer:

- A. May handcuff the person for officer safety reasons;
- B. May conduct a cursory weapons frisk of the person, using the back of his or her hand if possible;
- C. May pat the pockets of the person's outer garments (e.g., coat, jacket, etc.);
- D. Should have another person or officer witness the frisk or search, if possible, and only if waiting for a witness does not pose any further or unnecessary danger or risk; and
- E. Shall document the justification for the frisk or search in a report.

If the person of the opposite sex is under arrest or the officer has reasonable suspicion the person possesses a weapon or other dangerous item, officers may search the person's immediate possessions.

Officers may search a person's possessions when they have received valid consent.

Jail Booking Searches

A jail booking search, commonly referred to as an inventory search, is a very thorough search conducted at the jail during the booking process, prior to admittance in the jail. The purpose of a jail booking search is to inventory an arrestee's property and to control contraband entering the jail. Jail booking searches are conducted by jail personnel. Officers shall not conduct jail booking searches.

Strip Searches

A strip search is a visual inspection of a naked or partially-naked person without scrutiny of the body cavities. A strip search may only be conducted by officers when they have the approval of the watch commander, and:

- A. A warrant expressly authorizing a strip search, or
- B. Probable cause to believe a person is concealing a weapon, controlled substance, stolen property, contraband, or evidence.

The person should be afforded as much privacy as possible during a strip search. A person of the same gender as the person being searched must perform the search. The observer(s) must also be of the same gender as the person being searched. The search must be conducted where it cannot be viewed by persons not directly involved in conducting or designated to observe the search. All employees present will be held strictly accountable for ensuring respect for the dignity of the individual being searched.

An officer should avoid touching persons being strip searched unless it is absolutely necessary.

Body-Cavity Searches

A body-cavity search is either a visual search or manual internal inspection of body cavities. A body-cavity search may only be conducted when officers have the approval of the watch commander and:

- A. A warrant expressly authorizing a search of body-cavities, or
- B. Probable cause to believe a person is concealing a weapon, controlled substance, stolen property, contraband, or evidence, and a body sample consent waiver signed by the person.

Only medical personnel are authorized to perform body-cavity searches, excluding buccal swabs.

The search must be conducted where it cannot be viewed by persons not directly involved in conducting or designated to observe the search. All employees present will be held strictly accountable for ensuring respect for the dignity of the individual being searched.

Buccal Swabbing

Buccal swabbing is a type of body-cavity search. Buccal swabbing is defined as the collecting of epithelial cells by means of a gentle wiping with a cotton swab similar to a Q-tip of that part of the oral vestibule bounded anteriorly and laterally by the lips and cheeks, posteriorly and medially by the teeth and/or gums, and above and below by the reflections of the mucosa from the lips and the cheeks to the gums.

Officers may collect buccal swabs from a person when they have:

- A. A warrant expressly authorizing the collection of buccal swabs, or
- B. Obtained a signed body sample consent waiver from the person.

Searching Persons Prior to Transport

Officers must search every arrestee, prisoner, or person in protective custody prior to transporting the person inside a police vehicle.

Officers should seek consent prior to searching any person not lawfully being detained prior to transporting them inside a police vehicle. If the person refuses to consent to a search, the person should not be transported inside the police vehicle.

Documenting Searches

Officers that conduct any of the above-listed searches shall document the following information in a report:

- A. The circumstances justifying the search,
- B. Any witnesses to the search,
- C. The location of any items discovered during the search and their disposition (if applicable), and
- D. Any other significant actions, incidents, or results of the search.

232.0 Transporting Prisoners in Police Vehicles

232.10 Safety of Prisoners

Once a person has been taken into custody, their safety and well-being becomes the responsibility of the arresting officer. A unit with a prisoner in custody will not engage in a pursuit at any time, nor will a unit with a prisoner engage in a Code 3 run, except when necessary to secure emergency medical treatment.

Units that are transporting a prisoner should not engage in traffic stops or any other police related activity unless the severity of the offense dictates immediate action by the officer.

Units transporting prisoners will not respond to any situation where there is a possibility that the prisoner could be injured.

Units transporting prisoners will not allow cellular or other electronic communications by the prisoner.

Revised 9/05

232.20 Transporting Prisoners - Opposite Sex

When an officer transports a prisoner of the opposite sex, the officer shall transmit to Communications the starting odometer reading. When the officer has arrived at the destination, Communications shall be advised of the current odometer reading. In all other instances where an officer transports a person of the opposite sex for any reason, the officer will give Communications the starting mileage and ending mileage and location.

If prisoners of the opposite sex are transported in the same vehicle, the prisoners will be properly handcuffed and should be secured with a seat belt. The prisoners will be kept under close observation.

Revised 9/05

232.30 Transporting Prisoners - Safety Barriers

Prisoners should be transported in vehicles equipped with safety barriers. If a prisoner must be transported in a vehicle without a safety barrier it shall be done utilizing two officers. The prisoner will be positioned in the back seat passenger side with the second officer seated behind the driver. The prisoner will be handcuffed and restrained utilizing a seatbelt to further minimize the movement in the seat.

If the officer believes the prisoner may become combative, resistive or attempt to damage City equipment, the prisoner will be transported in a vehicle with a safety barrier.

Adopted 6/14

232.40 Transporting More Than Two Prisoners

A one-man unit should not transport more than two prisoners at one time unless no other units are available to assist.

232.50 Prisoners Escaping Custody

In any situation where a prisoner escapes, the officer shall notify the dispatcher and request appropriate assistance immediately. A thorough and systematic search of the area shall be conducted and all surrounding jurisdictions notified with a complete physical description and information regarding the threat level the escapee poses if known.

Upon apprehension or termination of the search, a complete report detailing the circumstances of the escape shall be submitted to the Operations Bureau Commander.

Revised 9/05

232.60 Prisoners Not Allowed to Smoke

Transporting officers shall not allow prisoners to smoke, chew, or ingest any food, drink or any other substance while in the vehicle.

233.0 Medical Treatment for Persons in Custody

Whenever an officer reasonably suspects a person in police custody requires medical attention, the officer's first priority is to ensure medical attention is received as rapidly as possible. Whether the injury was a result of the detention or arrest of the person or was sustained prior to being taken into custody, the following information shall be documented in the report or call comments:

1. Name of the treating facility;
2. Attending physician; and
3. Extent of injuries.

233.10 Hospital Selection Guideline

This guideline applies to all persons in custody who reasonably appear to require medical attention of a non-emergency nature. In emergency situations where the person will be transported by ambulance, hospital selection is the responsibility of the ambulance service.

If an injury or illness occurred prior to detention or arrest, first priority will be given to the hospital of the person's preference. Persons in custody will be asked which hospital they prefer, and this preference will be honored provided the hospital is within the Oklahoma City limits.

When the person expresses no preference, he or she will be transported to the nearest or most appropriate hospital.

Arrestees who have already been released into the custody of the Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office who require medical attention will be transported to an appropriate facility for treatment. Transportation of arrestees who have been booked for state charges is the responsibility of the Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office. Transportation of prisoners held on municipal charges only is the responsibility of the police department.

233.20 Injured Before Booking

If the jail refuses to accept an arrestee because of the prisoner's health, the officer shall transport the arrestee to a hospital emergency room for treatment.

If the arrestee consents to treatment, the officer shall:

1. Remain with the arrestee until he or she is released, unless specifically authorized otherwise by a supervisor; and
2. Provide a completed hospital release form to jail personnel upon booking the arrestee.

If the arrestee refuses medical treatment, the officer shall:

1. Complete a refusal of treatment form provided by the hospital;

1. Booking Sheet;
2. Probable Cause Affidavit, if applicable; and
3. Copy of any warrants or radiograms, if applicable.

The transporting officer will notify hospital security when an arrestee is brought to their facility for medical treatment. The arresting officer shall request the hospital staff to notify the Police Department when the arrestee is to be released.

The officer shall complete an arrest report prior to the end of his or her shift. If another officer transports the arrestee to the jail for booking after his or her release, he or she should complete a supplemental report under the original case number.

234.10 Taking a Juvenile Into Custody

A law enforcement officer has authority to take a juvenile into custody (arrest or investigative detention) under the same circumstances and in the same manner as if the juvenile were an adult. The officer has a duty to pick up a juvenile when there is a verifiable and valid court order directing such. Any juvenile taken into custody should be transported to the appropriate facility without delay. A supervisor will be contacted if there is any question about the authority of the order.

A law enforcement officer may take a juvenile into custody when there is reason to believe the juvenile is a runaway from parents, guardians, or other custodian. The term "other custodian" can include shelter homes, juvenile detention facilities, and various other persons and agencies if the person or agency has a direct responsibility for caring for a juvenile. (Refer to Procedure 234.80 Runaway Juveniles)

If reasonable suspicion exists that a juvenile is in need of immediate protection due to an imminent safety threat, or the circumstances or surroundings of the juvenile are such that continuation in the juvenile's home or in the care or custody of the parent, legal guardian, or custodian would present an imminent safety threat to the juvenile, or by order of the district court; the juvenile shall be taken into protective custody. (Refer to Procedure 234.90 Joint Response on Protective Custody of Juveniles.)

Contact may be made with the appropriate District Attorney's Office if further documentation is needed during office hours.

The juvenile detention center will provide copies (faxed or other means) of adjudication dispositions to the arresting officer. The booking slip with attached copies must be presented to the detention officer upon incarceration. The JUVENILE BURGLARY portion of the booking slip must be completed including the intake counselor's name, adjudication dates, time and date of contact with the counselor.

If documentation cannot be retrieved and provided at the time of inquiry from the appropriate District Attorney's Office, the intake counselor will advise the arresting officer of two (2) prior adjudication dates involving Burglary I and/or Residential Burglary II listed in the JDC computer system. When documentation cannot be obtained prior to incarceration, the booking slip will be filled out in its entirety. On the counselor's following working day, adjudication dispositions will be faxed to the Jail via Crime Information Unit (CIU).

If the intake counselor is unable to confirm any portion of the adjudication record that would qualify the arrested to be incarcerated as an adult, he/she may admit the prisoner to the appropriate juvenile detention center until clarification can be determined.

- C. Vehicle description, if a vehicle was involved;
- D. Names and locations of places the runaway frequents, or where the runaway may have gone when he/she ran away and reason for running away if known;
- E. Any known mental or physical disabilities of the runaway juvenile; and
- F. Contact information for parent, guardian, or legal custodian if not the reporting party.

Upon supervisory approval, the reporting officer will phone in the report immediately to a report clerk in the Records Unit. The Records Unit clerk will be responsible for immediately delivering the information bulletin to CIU for NCIC entry. CIU will notify the Communications Unit to general broadcast the information.

Refer to Procedure 216.30 in regards to the possible use of "A Child is Missing Alert."

The reporting officer should advise the reporting person to call the Communications Unit if the juvenile returns or is located. The Communications Unit will dispatch an officer to confirm the juvenile has been located. The officer making confirmation will cancel the information bulletin and notify CIU to remove all information from NCIC and other communication systems. A supplemental report will be made.

234.82 Custody and Detention of Runaway Juveniles

When an officer takes a runaway juvenile into custody, the officer will:

- A. Verify a court order has been issued directing officers to take the juvenile into custody;
- B. When a court order has been issued, the officer will notify the Intake Officer at the appropriate JDC;
NOTE: The JDC will only take reported runaways when a court order has been issued; this includes runaways from both in state and out of state.
- C. Transport the runaway to the appropriate JDC and complete Crime Incident Report;
- D. When a juvenile has been reported as runaway or missing from a parent, guardian, or other institution, but a court order has not been issued, the officer will return the juvenile to their parent or legal guardian unless doing so would constitute a risk (as defined in Procedure 234.92A) to the juvenile's safety or welfare. If a parent or legal guardian cannot be contacted, the officer will contact the Pauline Meyer Juvenile Shelter. The officer will then be advised as to which Youth Services facility to transport the juvenile. The officer will transport the runaway to the appropriate facility and complete a Crime Incident Report;
- E. The officer will make a reasonable attempt to contact the parent or legal guardian. All attempts or notifications to the parents or legal guardians will be documented in the officer's report; and

- F. The officer will cancel any information bulletin issued on the runaway and will notify CIU to remove the information from NCIC.

234.83 Juvenile Abuse and Neglect Investigations

- A. The assigned officer should only obtain basic details from the juvenile and conduct an initial interview of the reporting party or witnesses. A more detailed interview of the juvenile will be conducted by a forensic interviewer or detective at a later time.
- B. The officer shall reasonably observe the juvenile for signs of injury and/or abuse. The officer will have photographs taken of the juvenile's injuries by a department employee. Any examinations of the genitalia of a juvenile, or breast of a pubescent female, shall be done at a hospital by medical personnel. Photographs of those body parts will be taken by a Crime Scene Investigations officer with the assistance or in the presence of medical personnel.
- C. When necessary, the juvenile will be transported to a hospital for examination and medical treatment. Neglected or abandoned juveniles do not have to be transported to a hospital unless the juvenile is injured or ill.
- D. The State of Oklahoma has enacted a comprehensive Child Abuse Reporting and Prevention Act, requiring a multidisciplinary team approach, which includes law enforcement officers.
 - 1. Absent reasonable suspicion that a juvenile is in danger of an imminent safety threat, police officers cannot take the juvenile into physical or protective custody unless medical attention is needed.
 - 2. Caseworkers from the Department of Human Services, acting upon a report of child abuse or neglect, are authorized to conduct an investigation into this report. Caseworkers are authorized to conduct an interview of the juvenile at any reasonable time and place. Normally, such an interview should be conducted after notification and consent, if possible, of one of the juvenile's legal guardians. According to State law, the Department of Human Services is required to make this notification.

There are times when the legal guardian(s) cannot be notified prior to the interview because one or both guardians is a possible suspect and/or may interfere with the interview. The forensic interview process will normally be conducted at an appropriate Child Advocacy Center. During this interview, the juvenile is not in police protective custody. Law enforcement can be present during the interview and can assist in the transportation of the juvenile to the Child Advocacy Center; however, the case-worker from the Department of Human Services must make the decision to interview the juvenile without notification of the legal guardian(s).
 - 3. If, during an interview, the juvenile discloses information which leads the officer to develop reasonable suspicion the juvenile is in need of immediate protection due to an imminent threat of harm, the juvenile can be placed in protective custody and taken to an appropriate shelter. The officer is required to provide written notice, on the department approved form, to the parent or legal guardian the juvenile has been taken into protective custody.
 - 4. After the interview, if no disclosures are made and the juvenile is not taken into protective custody, the caseworker, by state statute, is required to immediately notify the legal guardian(s) of the interview.

Adopted 7/11

234.90 Joint Response on Protective Custody of Juveniles

Officers respond to various calls in which circumstances may require a juvenile to be placed into protective custody without a court order or in emergency custody when a court order has been issued. State statutes require a joint response by law enforcement and the Oklahoma Department of Human Services (D.H.S.) when a juvenile has been taken into protective custody by law enforcement to determine if the juvenile can be placed directly from the home to relatives or other responsible adults rather than the juvenile going into D.H.S. emergency custody for placement outside the home. When an officer encounters a situation where the officer has reasonable suspicion an imminent safety threat to a juvenile exists due to physical or sexual abuse and/or neglect and protective custody of the juvenile has been assumed, the officer shall coordinate with D.H.S. in decisions regarding whether the juvenile can be protected through placement with relatives or others without the need for a court order placing the juvenile in the emergency custody of D.H.S. All decisions regarding juveniles who have been taken into emergency or protective custody will be made in accordance with State statutes.

Adopted 7/11

234.91 Definition of Terms Used in Joint Response Protocol for Protective Custody of Juveniles

- A. RISK – The likelihood that an incident of juvenile abuse or neglect will occur in the future.
- B. SAFETY THREAT – The threat of serious harm due to juvenile abuse or neglect occurring in the present or in the very near future and without the intervention of another person, a juvenile would likely sustain severe or permanent disability or injury, illness or death.
- C. IMMINENT – Is likely to occur in the very near future, impending.
- D. PROTECTIVE CUSTODY – Custody of a juvenile taken by a law enforcement officer or designated employee of the court without a court order.
- E. EMERGENCY CUSTODY – Custody of a juvenile following issuance of an order prior to adjudication of the juvenile as delinquent or deprived.
- F. RECEPTION CENTER – A designated location for D.H.S. to accept protective custody of juveniles from law enforcement when additional time is needed to conduct safety evaluations to determine whether the juvenile can be placed with a relative or others without the Department assuming emergency custody. A juvenile can remain at the reception center no longer than 23 hours.

Adopted 7/11

234.92 Considerations on Placement Options in Protective Custody

Physical or sexual abuse, or neglect has the potential to result in severe or permanent disability or injury, illness, or death. It shall be the intent of each joint response to result in the protection of each juvenile involved. Careful evaluation must be given to circumstances when a juvenile is or could be the victim of physical and/or sexual abuse and the suspect is either in the home or has access to the victim. In an effort to prevent the potential for continued abuse or “coaching” of the victim by family members prior to the victim receiving a forensic interview, the juvenile must not be allowed in any environment where the suspect(s) would have access to the juvenile prior to a forensic interview and initial investigative work. An emergency foster care home or a shelter are alternatives that can provide the fullest degree of protection of the juvenile in these cases.

Adopted 7/11

234.93 Joint Response Protocol on Protective Custody of Juveniles

- A. A juvenile may be taken into protective custody, without a court order, when officers have reasonable suspicion:
 - 1. A juvenile is in need of immediate protection due to an imminent safety threat; or
 - 2. The circumstances or surroundings of the juvenile are such that continuation in the juvenile’s home or in the care or custody of the parent, legal guardian, or custodian would present an imminent safety threat to the juvenile.When protective custody of a juvenile is necessary, officers will contact their supervisor to seek approval to initiate a joint response with D.H.S. With their supervisor’s approval, officers at a location in Oklahoma County will call the on-call D.H.S. Joint Response Supervisor at the designated phone number located on SharePoint. Officers at a location outside Oklahoma County will call the D.H.S. Child Abuse & Neglect Hotline at 1-800-522-3511. This hotline also serves as the back-up number to call for Oklahoma County. Officers will provide D.H.S. basic information by phone to include: the location, the circumstances warranting protective custody, demographic information on the involved adults and juveniles, and a call back number.

- B. The D.H.S. supervisor will call the officer back to communicate whether a juvenile welfare worker will assist with a joint response, and if so, whether he or she will respond to the officer's location or go directly to the designated reception center.
 1. In cases when the joint response is conducted at the scene, the juvenile welfare worker should respond to the scene within 30 to 60 minutes. D.H.S. will conduct a safety evaluation at the scene in order to determine an appropriate course of action regarding the juvenile. This will include checking D.H.S. family history of the involved parties and may involve a D.H.S. safety plan.
 2. There may be extenuating circumstances when the joint response is facilitated at a location other than the scene. For example, if there is a safety issue at the scene or it is not in the best interest for the juvenile's welfare to be kept at the scene for the joint response, the circumstances should be discussed between the officer and the on-call D.H.S. Joint Response Supervisor and/or the assigned D.H.S. juvenile welfare worker. If a timely response to the scene by a juvenile welfare worker is not possible, the juvenile welfare worker should communicate with the officer and the joint response may be moved to another appropriate location.
 3. In all such cases, a joint response and safety evaluation will occur.
- C. Officers and D.H.S. personnel shall work together to locate, notify and place the juvenile with a safe and protecting parent, relative, kinship adult, or emergency foster parent.
 1. Officers will conduct name-based checks on proposed alternative caregivers and other adult members of the alternative caregiver's household. These name-based checks will include the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Interstate Identification Index and an Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation criminal history check. The officer will also check for outstanding warrants and review OCPD's records management system to include active investigations. An individual's involvement in an active investigation will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.
 2. Arrests and/or convictions that would render a proposed alternative caregiver ineligible to assume custody includes all crimes against a juvenile such as physical or sexual abuse, neglect, abandonment, and juvenile pornography. Other prohibitions are domestic abuse, felony drug violations, any sex crime, felony act of violence, or any crime that may place the juvenile at risk of abuse, neglect, abandonment, or endangerment.
 3. Officers will not disclose specific details of the criminal records check, but may inform a D.H.S. worker if the proposed alternative caregiver or other adult members of the alternative caregiver's household are eligible or ineligible to assume custody.
 4. D.H.S. will complete a family history check of the involved adults, including potential caregivers and juveniles.
 5. Officers and D.H.S. personnel will coordinate information. The D.H.S. juvenile welfare worker will identify the most appropriate placement.

Adopted 7/11

234.94 Coordination of Protective Custody on Calls Requiring Call-Out of Detectives

When an incident requiring protective custody also meets the criteria for a call-out from the Investigations Bureau, it is important for responding detectives to arrive and be briefed on the circumstances prior to protective custody actions being implemented, as these decisions may impact a criminal investigation. To help ensure coordination on protective custody situations, the patrol supervisor should contact the appropriate on-call Investigations supervisor. Investigations personnel will contact D.H.S.

Adopted 7/11

234.95 Protective Custody Notification Form

A copy of the Protective Custody Notification Form will be provided to the parent or legal guardian, when possible. If the parent or legal guardian cannot be contacted after reasonable efforts to do so, the officer may provide the form to a custodian. This documentation instructs the parent and/or guardian to contact the appropriate agency where the juvenile has been placed. The original Protective Custody Notification Form should be submitted to the Records Unit.

Adopted 7/11

234.96 Transporting Juveniles in Protective Custody

Officers will work with D.H.S. personnel to determine the arrangements for juveniles to be transported to an alternative placement or to the appropriate reception center. If an appropriate alternative kinship placement cannot be made within a reasonable period of time, the juveniles will be transported to the appropriate reception center.

Adopted 7/11

234.97 Supervisor Review of Concerns Involving Protective Custody Placements

In the event there is a disagreement between the D.H.S. personnel and the officer about placement of a juvenile, both will contact their supervisors for further evaluation. If the matter cannot be resolved by the respective supervisors, the Juvenile Division of the appropriate county can be contacted to resolve the concern. In Oklahoma County, an on-call Assistant District Attorney for the Juvenile Division may be contacted. In Cleveland, Canadian, and Pottawatomie Counties, the D.H.S. supervisor will contact the appropriate Juvenile Division representative.

Adopted 7/11

234.98 Importance of Complete Documentation in Police Reports

When placing a juvenile into protective custody, officers must fully document in the appropriate report all actions taken. These reports will be completed prior to the end of shift so they will be available for the Show Cause hearing.

Procedure 441.11 Priority Reports includes any circumstance where a juvenile is taken into protective custody or is the victim of physical and/or sexual abuse. These reports will be called in to the Records Unit.

Adopted 7/11

234.99 Transfer of Custody of Juvenile Following Parent / Responsible Party's Arrest Unrelated to Juvenile Abuse, Neglect, or Endangerment

When a parent or person responsible for a juvenile is arrested on a charge or warrant other than child abuse, neglect, or any act of child endangerment, that person may designate someone to take physical custody of the juvenile. Upon this request, the officer may transfer the juvenile to the physical custody of the designated person. In these situations, the first choice for the designated person should be a family member. If no family member is available, the next choice should be a responsible person well known by the parent or person responsible for the juvenile. Prior to transferring the juvenile to the designated person, the officer will verify the designated person's identification, perform criminal history background checks through the Federal Bureau of Investigation Interstate Identification Index, the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation, and check OCPD's local records system to include active investigations. A designated person's involvement in an active investigation will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. The officer will also contact D.H.S. to obtain a juvenile welfare history check on the designated person. To obtain a juvenile welfare history check in these circumstances, the officer should call the D.H.S. Child Abuse & Neglect Hotline at 1-800-522-3511. The D.H.S. worker will conduct a juvenile welfare history check on the designated person and call the officer back with the results. If the juvenile can be released safely to the designated person in these circumstances, this would not be protective custody requiring the joint response protocol.

If the results of these checks reveal anything that may place the juvenile at risk of abuse, neglect, abandonment or endangerment as defined by state law, the officer will not release the juvenile to the designated person. The officer can ask the parent or person who is being arrested who is responsible for the juvenile to identify another designated person to be checked. If no other alternatives are available, protective custody would then be needed and officers should follow 234.93 Joint Response Protocol on Protective Custody of Juveniles.

Adopted 7/11

235.0 Booking Procedures

Most prisoners will be booked into the Oklahoma County Jail.

Upon arrival at the jail, officers will secure all weapons in the receiving area lockers. Weapons may also be secured in the trunk of the police vehicle.

Although the jail maintains electronic surveillance of the holding cell, the prisoner is the arresting officer's responsibility until the booking procedure is complete. No prisoner will be left in the holding cell for an unreasonable length of time.

Officers will not take any prisoner to the County Jail who is obviously in need of immediate health care, but will first take the prisoner to an approved health care institution for treatment. A treatment form will be presented at booking.

In the event that County jail personnel refuse to accept a prisoner because of the prisoner's physical health, the procedure as set forth in 233.20 will be followed.

Once entering the County Jail, the prisoner is escorted to the County side to begin the booking process. Once this is completed, the prisoner is taken to the OCPD Jail Lieutenant's desk where the booking and appropriate paperwork is completed. Officers will ensure that the paperwork regarding the arrest is completed prior to bringing the prisoner to the booking counter.

The booking officer will witness the inventory of property by the County Detention Officer to ensure all items are accounted for and that all counts are correct. Both officers will sign the inventory receipt form. If the property includes locked containers, such as suitcases or briefcases, they will be opened and the contents inventoried unless reasonable cause exists to believe the contents are evidentiary. If such reasonable cause exists, the locked containers will be processed as evidence as outlined in Procedure 184.31 of this Manual. Officers will initial the jail property inventory slip.

Evidence or confiscated property belonging to the prisoner is the arresting officer's responsibility and should be secured until proper disposition can be made under procedures in Procedure 184.0.

If the prisoner is violent, or if in the officer's opinion the prisoner may become violent or a flight risk, the prisoner will remain handcuffed until placed in a cell by Detention personnel.

Revised 9/05

236.0 Guarding of Prisoners

The Division that is assigned the original call or initiates the action that results in a prisoner being admitted to the hospital will be responsible for guarding that prisoner regardless of what Division the hospital is in.

Revised 10/04

236.10 Hospital Guard Assignment

The Shift Commander or Watch Commander will determine the need for an officer to guard a prisoner at a hospital. A shift supervisor will be responsible for assigning an officer to hospital guard duty. The officer will be furnished with a Hospital Guard Log, if he/she is the initial officer assigned to guard duty. If the officer is unsure of the proper manner in which to fill out the Hospital Guard Log, the supervisor will provide instructions.

The Shift or Watch Commander will be responsible for ensuring a guarded prisoner has been photographed and fingerprinted as soon as possible after the initial treatment.

Revised 10/04; Revised 10/08

236.20 Rules for Guarding Prisoners

Officers assigned to guard prisoners who require medical treatment should remember that the person is a prisoner and would normally be in a detention facility. For the safety and security of the officer, the prisoner, hospital personnel, and the citizens of Oklahoma City, the following rules are to be followed by all officers assigned to guard duty:

- A. The officer will report to the assigned hospital in full police uniform and assume his/her post in the room of the prisoner. If he/she is not the initial officer assigned to guard duty, he/she will officially relieve the guard on duty. The officer will date and sign the Hospital Guard Log and enter the time.
- B. The officer being relieved of guard duty will sign the Hospital Guard Log and enter the time and date the log. Prior to leaving, the officer being relieved will pass on pertinent information to the officer relieving him/her.
- C. A log will be kept reporting relevant events occurring during the officer's watch period.
- D. The relieving officer should first make a visual survey of the room and the bathrooms for likely escape routes that the prisoner might take advantage of.
- E. Officers will remain constantly alert
- F. Officers will not leave their post until properly relieved by another officer.

Revised 10/04; Revised 10/08

236.30 Observation of Hospital Rules and Regulations

Officers will observe all hospital rules and regulations but should point out potentially dangerous situations that might occur if regulations are observed without thought for caution and safety.

- A. Officers may be required to deviate from this procedure when and if it would interfere with the hospital's staff performing their duties.
- B. Officers may be required to deviate from this procedure when directed to do so by the investigative officer assigned to the case.

236.40 Remaining with Prisoner

Officers assigned guard duty will remain with the prisoner at all times, except:

- A. In the event of a medical emergency and the officer is requested to leave by hospital staff.
- B. During the visitation of the prisoner's attorney when he/she may be asked to leave the immediate area of the prisoner. The officer will, however, remain in close proximity, removed from the immediate area.

Revised 10/04

236.50 Questioning of Prisoners

Officers will not question the prisoner regarding the offense. In the event a prisoner makes any statement relating to an offense, the officer will file a report.

Revised 10/04

236.60 Phone Calls for Prisoners

Prisoners will not be allowed phone calls, incoming or outgoing, without prior approval of a supervisor of the division investigating the offense for which the prisoner is being held.

236.70 Visitors for Prisoners

No visitors will be permitted to see the prisoner without authorization. The written authorization must be obtained from the investigating sergeant assigned to the case or the supervisor of the division investigating the offense for which the prisoner is held. When a visitor does request to see a prisoner, the officer will:

- A. Check authorization for validity.
- B. Check purses or bags for weapons or contraband.
- C. Enter the visitor's name on the Officer's Guard Log and the time of the visit.
- D. Allow only one visitor in the room with the prisoner at any one time.
- E. Not allow physical contact between the visitor and the prisoner.
- F. Remain with the prisoner and the visitor at all times.
- G. Not allow visitors to give the prisoner any articles.
- H. Log the time that the visitor leaves.
- I. Attach the visitor's authorization sheet to the Officer's Guard Log.

Revised 10/04

236.80 Prisoner Release from Hospital

If the prisoner is released from the hospital during an officer's watch, the officer will personally take the Officer's Guard Log to a supervisor in the division investigating the offense for which the prisoner is held. If that supervisor is not on duty and no other Investigations Bureau supervisor is on duty, the officer shall deliver the log to his/her supervisor who will take necessary action to ensure delivery of the log to the Investigations Bureau Supervisor.

The officer will not, unless approved by a supervisor, transport the prisoner without the assistance of another officer.

The prisoner will be booked into the Oklahoma County Jail.

Revised 10/04

237.0 Crime Scene Investigators

In cases where no CSI is on duty, a field supervisor shall notify a CSI supervisor. If a conflict arises, the Watch Commander will make the final decision to utilize the CSI investigator.

Revised 9/05

237.10 Officer's Responsibilities

Once an officer determines a Crime Scene Investigator is needed, the officer will advise a field supervisor, who will request the CSI to the scene. Every effort will be made to utilize a CSI who is on duty.

238.05 Fingerprint Identification Devices

Use Regulations

Fingerprint identification devices shall be used solely for law enforcement purposes and under the following circumstances only:

1. When officers have probable cause to believe the person to be identified has committed a particular crime;
2. When officers have reasonable suspicion to believe the person to be identified has committed, is committing, or is about to commit a crime and reasonably believe that using the scanner will establish or negate the person's connection with that crime, as long as the detention is temporary, officers diligently pursue the investigation, and the person is not detained any longer than necessary to confirm or dispel the suspicion which justified the detention in the first place;
3. When the person to be identified is an otherwise unidentifiable mental health consumer in police custody in need of treatment, evaluation, or police transport;
4. When specifically authorized by a valid search warrant or court order;
5. When the person to be identified is deceased, unconscious, or incapacitated, the identification is pertinent or critical to a particular law enforcement purpose, and no other reasonable means of timely identifying the person are available;
6. When a person to be identified knowingly and voluntarily consents to submit to fingerprint identification; prior consent must be obtained from a parent or guardian when the person to be identified is a juvenile; or
7. At the request of another law enforcement agency, when any of the above conditions verifiably exist within the requesting agency's jurisdiction, upon the approval of an OCPD supervisor.

Fingerprint identification devices shall not be used merely because someone has requested an identification (to include, but not limited to, requests from doctors, nurses, or other police officers). Nor shall fingerprint identification devices be used merely because a police call has been generated.

Reporting

All uses of fingerprint identification devices shall be documented in a police report or in the comments section of a CAD call. At a minimum the documentation will include the date, time, location, name of the person being scanned, and the justification for scanning the person.

Care and Maintenance

Officers personally assigned a fingerprint identification device are responsible for its care, maintenance, use, and storage. Officers using a fingerprint identification device shall be responsible for its care, maintenance, and use. Officers shall notify a supervisor if a fingerprint identification device is malfunctioning, damaged, lost, or stolen.

Adopted 11/18

238.10 DNA Swabbing

When an officer is assigned to the scene of a crime and a Crime Scene Investigator (C.S.I.) does not respond to the scene and it is believed DNA evidence is present, the officer will process the scene in the appropriate manner pursuant to their training.

Any DNA evidence that is secured and/or collected will be submitted to Laboratory Services as described in Procedure 184.0.

All officers will then document in his/her reports the collection of the evidence as described in Procedure 184.0.

Lineups and field show-ups are valuable investigative tools. To ensure the integrity of the identification process and establish reliable identification testimony by witnesses/victims, police employees shall adhere to the following procedures.

Revised 06/08; Revised 6/12; Revised 10/15

239.10 Photo Lineups

Definitions

- A. Photo Lineup – An identification procedure in which a group of photographs are presented to a witness / victim for the purpose of identifying or eliminating a suspect.
- B. Sequential Photo Lineup – A photo lineup in which the photographs are presented to a witness/victim, one at a time, for the purpose of identifying or eliminating a suspect.
- C. Blind Administrator – A sworn police officer/investigator who administers the presentation of the lineup to the witness/victim and does not know the identity of the suspect.

Methodology

All photo lineups will be administered using the sequential photo lineup method utilizing a blind administrator. The witness/victim shall be informed before the identification procedure that the person who committed the offense may or may not be present in the procedure. The investigating officer will not be in the room when the photographs are presented to the witness/victim. Whenever possible, the sequential photo lineup will be conducted at a police facility and will be video and audio recorded. If the sequential photo lineup cannot be conducted at a police facility, it will be audio recorded.

Lineup Preparation

The sequential photo lineup will consist of at least six individual photographs, only one of which will be the suspect. The remaining individuals will have no known connection to the case being investigated. The photographs must be of individuals of the same gender and similar race, age, hair color and build. If scars, marks and/or tattoos are visible on the suspect, then all photos should have similar characteristics. All visible notations must be blocked out or covered. In particular, names, dates and other similar information must not be visible. The photographs will be of the same general size and printed on material of the same color and composition. When possible, the background of the photographs will be similar in nature. The person preparing the lineup will label the back of each photograph with a single capital letter, using A thru F. The suspect's position will be random. The blind administrator will present the photo lineup in alphabetical order.

Each witness/victim will have the lineup administered to them separately. Witnesses must not be allowed to consult with one another about their identification before, during or after the lineup procedure.

The investigating officer will advise the witness/victim the lineup will be presented to them by another investigator. The investigating officer will leave the room and advise the blind administrator to proceed with the lineup. Prior to presenting the lineup, the investigating officer will provide the blind administrator with the photo lineup and the admonition form. The investigating officer will not indicate to the blind administrator the position of the suspect in the lineup.

Lineup Presentation

The blind administrator will enter the room and present the witness/victim with the Photographic Lineup Admonition Form. This must be read to the witness/victim in the language in which they are most fluent. The witness/victim will sign and date the admonition form. The photographs will then be presented by the administrator in alphabetical order. Each photograph will be shown to the witness/victim one at a time. No more than one photograph will be visible at the same time. If a witness/victim indicates they know the person in one of the photographs, the administrator will ask the witness/victim how they know that individual. If an individual is identified by the witness/victim as the person who committed the crime, the administrator must ask them their level of certainty. The administrator will have the witness/victim initial and date the identified photograph. Even if a potential identification is made, the administrator will continue to show the remaining photographs. All questions and responses will be documented using exact quotes.

Once the presentation is complete, the administrator will advise the witness/victim that the investigating officer will continue the interview. The administrator will summon the investigating officer and advise them of the result of the lineup. The administrator will complete the Photographic Lineup Admonition Form, noting if a positive, tentative or no identification was made and the position of the photograph relative to the order they were shown. The administrator will then leave the room and the investigating officer will continue the interview. The administrator will complete a supplemental report.

At no time before, during, or after a photo lineup shall the investigating officer or administrator make statements or behave in a manner that might be suggestive to a viewer. Nor shall the administrator provide any feedback to the viewer regarding the results of the photo lineup.

Upon completion of the interview, the investigating officer will sign and date the form. The lineup packet containing the admonition form, photographs and the recording of the lineup presentation will be preserved in the case jacket. Copies of the entire packet may be made as the case requires. A copy of the Photographic Lineup Admonition Form will be forwarded electronically to the Investigations Bureau Administrative Assistant.

Multiple Lineup Presentations

When no identification has been made, the same blind administrator can use the photographs in the same sequence.

If an identification is made, the investigating officer will vary the order of the photographs to be presented by changing all of the letters on the back of the photographs and a different blind administrator will present subsequent photo lineups.

For each lineup presented to a witness/victim, the labeled photographs, the admonition form and the recording of the lineup will be preserved.

239.30 Field Show-Ups

Show-ups are a one-to-one in-person (no photographs) viewing of a suspect by a victim or witness. Courts have suppressed identification evidence based on the use of show-ups due to the inherent suggestiveness of the practice. If probable cause exists for an arrest, the preferred method of identification is a sequential photo lineup administered during the follow up investigation.

If probable cause does not exist for an arrest, but reasonable suspicion exists to detain a possible suspect it may be appropriate for an officer to conduct a field show-up. The officer must have supervisory approval to conduct a field show-up and all the following must be met:

- A. The officer has reasonable suspicion to detain the possible suspect; and
- B. The possible suspect must fit the general description of the suspect involved in the crime; and
- C. When possible, the show-up should be conducted within ONE HOUR of the commission of the crime.

When these conditions exist the officer shall transport the witness/victim to the location of the suspect. Prior to conducting the field show-up, the officer will read the Field Show-Up Admonition Form and shall inform the witness/victim that the person being shown may or may not be the person who committed the offense. The witness/victim will sign and date the form confirming they understand the admonition. Having the witness/victim view the suspect handcuffed and/or sitting in the back of the patrol car should be avoided if possible. If it cannot be avoided, the reason(s) shall be documented in the officer's report. When a witness/victim views an individual, do not refer to the individual as a "suspect". Officers should ask witnesses/victim to look at an individual to see if they recognize him/her. If a witness/victim indicates they know the person, the officer will ask how they know the possible suspect. If a suspect is identified as the person who committed the crime, the officer must ask them their level of certainty.

If there are multiple witnesses/victims, they should view the suspect separately. Officers should consider the following information when deciding the order of the field show-ups:

1. The witness'/victims' opportunity to view the suspect during the crime;
2. The length of time between the crime and the field show-up;
3. The accuracy of the witness'/victims' prior description of the suspect; and
4. The witness'/victims' level of attention during the crime.

At no time before, during, or after a field show-up shall an officer make statements or behave in a manner that might be suggestive to a witness/victim viewer. Nor shall the officer provide any feedback to the viewer regarding the results of the field show up.

If the witness/victim makes a positive identification, the witness/victim shall be asked to state in his or her own words the level of certainty in the selection and the statement shall be documented. If a positive identification is made, no further field show-ups should be conducted.

After the witness/victim has viewed the possible suspect, the officer will complete and sign the Field Show-Up Admonition form, indicating if an identification was or was not made. This form will be booked into the Property Room no later than the end of the shift.

The officer will complete a detailed report including the reasonable suspicion that led to the field show-up and the results of all field show-ups.

240.0 Protective Orders

Protective orders direct an individual to refrain from contacting, harassing, or molesting the petitioner. The Protection from Domestic Abuse Act offers relief to victims of domestic abuse, stalking, harassment, and rape. The act is expanded to provide relief to victims of forcible sodomy, sex offenses, kidnapping, and assault and battery with a deadly weapon, regardless of any domestic relationship. Further, the immediate family member of a victim of first-degree murder may seek relief under this act.

Emergency Ex Parte Orders

A victim may obtain an emergency ex parte order of protection without the assistance of law enforcement, as these orders are granted when the courts are open for normal business. A judge must issue the order, which may be granted based on the petitioner's statements and any supporting witnesses, documents or other evidence that is provided.

Victims of the following crimes may apply for an emergency ex parte order of protection:

- A. Domestic abuse;
- B. Stalking;
- C. Harassment;
- D. Rape;
- E. Forcible sodomy;
- F. A sex offense;
- G. Kidnapping; and
- H. Assault and battery with a deadly weapon.

When a victim of any of the above listed offenses requests a petition for an emergency ex parte order of protection when the courts are open for normal business, the officer should provide the victim with information on how to obtain the order.

Members of the immediate family of a victim of first-degree murder may also request a petition for an emergency ex parte order of protection. The officer should provide the immediate family member with information on how to obtain the order if the request is made when the courts are open for normal business.

An emergency ex parte order remains in effect until after the full hearing is conducted. If the defendant fails to appear for the hearing, the emergency ex parte order remains in effect until the defendant is served with the permanent order, unless the permanent order has the same terms as the emergency ex parte order, in which case the defendant does not need to be served with the permanent order.

State law mandates that the expiration date of an emergency ex parte order must be included as part of the order.

Emergency Temporary Ex Parte Orders

Emergency temporary orders, or emergency temporary ex parte orders, are orders of protection that are granted when the courts are not open for business. A judge must issue the order, which may be granted based on the petitioner's statements and any supporting witnesses, documents or other evidence that is provided.

Victims of the following crimes may apply for an emergency temporary order of protection:

- A. Domestic abuse;
- B. Stalking;
- C. Harassment;
- D. Rape;
- E. Forcible sodomy;
- F. A sex offense;
- G. Kidnapping; and

H. Assault and battery with a deadly weapon.

When a victim of any of the above listed offenses requests a petition for an emergency temporary order of protection, the preliminary investigating officer shall:

1. Provide the victim with a Petition for Emergency Temporary Protective Order, which can be found on the OSCN website (Quick Links – Self Help – Protective Orders), and assist the victim with completing the form, if necessary;
2. Notify, by telephone or otherwise, the on-call district court judge of the request for an emergency temporary order of protection and describe the circumstances;
3. Complete and sign the Statement of Peace Officer Attesting to Emergency Temporary Order of Protection, if it is granted verbally by the judge;
4. Inform the victim of the judge's decision;
5. Provide the victim or responsible adult, if the victim is a minor child or an incompetent person, with a copy of the petition and statement signed by the officer attesting that the judge has approved the order.

If the judge does not approve the order, the victim or responsible adult and the suspect shall be provided with a copy of the denied request. The judge's decision not to grant the order shall be documented in the officer's incident or arrest report and the associated documentation shall be forwarded to the Domestic Violence Unit.

The emergency temporary ex parte order shall be in effect until the court date that was assigned by the court during the approval of the order.

Members of the immediate family of a victim of first-degree murder may also request a petition for an emergency temporary order of protection. The steps listed above should be followed when a member of the immediate family of a victim of first-degree murder requests a petition for an emergency order.

The officer should attempt to notify the person subject to the emergency temporary protective order of the issuance and conditions of the order, if known. Notification may be made personally upon arrest, when possible, and the subject should be provided a copy of the petition and the statement of the officer attesting to the order of the judge.

The Petition for Emergency Temporary Protective Order and Statement of Peace Officer Attesting to Emergency Temporary Order of Protection shall be forwarded to the Domestic Violence Unit, regardless of whether an arrest was made, prior to the officer's end of shift.

The Domestic Violence Unit will be responsible for filing the petition and the officer's statement in district court immediately upon the opening of the court on the next business day.

Temporary Protective Orders

Temporary protective orders may be granted and remain in effect until a specific date, which shall be listed on the order. Upon appearing in court, the judge may extend, modify, or rescind the temporary order, or issue a final or permanent order.

Final Protective Orders

Final, or permanent, protective orders shall remain in effect for a period of three years, five years, or indefinitely, depending on when the order was issued.

Any protective order issued:

1. Prior to November 1, 1999 – will have no expiration and shall remain in effect unless vacated or rescinded;
2. On or after November 1, 1999, but prior to November 1, 2012 – shall be in effect for a fixed period not to exceed a period of three years unless extended;
3. On or after November 1, 2012 – shall be in effect for a period of five years unless extended, vacated or rescinded.

VPOs do not grant divorces, determine child custody, child support, or visitation, but may suspend child visitation due to domestic violence. VPOs do not affect title to any real property.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/20

240.10 Verification of Protective Orders

Prior to taking any enforcement action for a violation of a protective order, the officer shall make every effort to verify the protective order is valid and the suspect is the person named in the order.

When responding to a call involving a protective order violation, the officer should attempt to obtain a copy of the protective order from the victim. If the victim does not have a copy of the order, the officer should contact CIU to verify the order and provide a copy to the officer.

The officer should read the order and determine if the suspect is in violation of any of the conditions of the order.

If the officer has probable cause to believe the suspect has violated the protective order, he or she shall contact CIU to verify the order, if they have not already. The officer should provide the suspect name and protective order number to CIU. CIU will determine if the order is on file with the department and verify the order is valid with the county in which it was issued, if possible.

If CIU cannot confirm that a copy of the protective order is on file, the officer will request CIU to contact the county in which the order was issued to verify the order and obtain a copy, if possible. If a copy cannot be obtained, a list of the conditions of the order should be obtained. If the county can verify the order has been served to the defendant, the officer should determine if the suspect is in violation of any of the conditions of the order.

If CIU cannot confirm that a copy of the protective order is on file and confirmation cannot be made by contacting the county who issued the order, officers may rely on a copy of the order and effect an arrest if there is probable cause to believe the suspect has violated it or is in violation of it without a justifiable excuse. A copy of an unexpired protective order shall be prima facie evidence that the order is valid in this state when presented to the officer by the plaintiff, defendant, or another person on behalf of a person named in the order. If no arrest is made under these circumstances, an incident report shall be completed and submitted.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/20

240.20 Warrantless Arrest for Violation of Protective Order

Officers should comply with all written directives regarding warrantless state misdemeanor and felony arrests when effecting an arrest for a violation of a protective order.

Officers may effect a warrantless arrest for violation of a protective order only after the officer has contacted CIU to confirm the following conditions are met:

1. An emergency ex parte or final protective order has been issued and served upon the person;
2. A copy of the order and proof of service has been filed with the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction of the area in which the plaintiff or any family or household member named in the order resides, or a certified copy of the order and proof of service is presented to the officer;
3. The person named in the order has received notice of the order and has had a reasonable time to comply with the order; and
4. The officer has probable cause to believe the person named in the order has violated the order.

When an officer has probable cause to effect a warrantless arrest for violation of a protective order, he or she should complete the necessary arrest and post-arrest procedures in accordance with department directives.

241.0 Recovery of Stolen / Embezzled Property

Revised 10/90

241.10 Requirements of Seizing Stolen / Embezzled Property

A person innocently in control or possession of stolen or embezzled property may have a claim to or an “interest” in the property in question. Therefore, all seizures of property must be based on search warrant requirements and/or their court recognized exceptions.

Revised 10/90

241.20 Business / Retail Establishments

If confirmed stolen property or suspected stolen property is found in the possession of a business, i.e., pawn shop, used jewelry store, auction, flea market, or other such businesses, it is the officer’s discretion whether or not the property needs to be seized. If the officer decides to seize the property, he cannot seize it without meeting one of the following requirements:

- A. If the person in charge of the property will voluntarily release the property, the officer shall have that person sign a “Consent to Confiscate” form and shall also provide him with a “Confiscated Property Receipt” which lists the property to be seized, date, time and the officer’s name. The seized property and the Consent form shall be placed in the Property Room. The appropriate report shall be made and distribution made to the proper investigating unit.
- B. If the person in charge of the property refuses to sign the “Consent to Confiscate” form the officer will have to obtain a search warrant.; or
- C. If the officer decides that confiscation is not necessary, he shall inform the person in control of the property of its stolen/possible stolen status and advise him to secure the property until he is advised of its status by the police department. The appropriate report shall be made and distributed to the proper investigating unit where the assigned Detective Sergeant will be responsible for taking the appropriate action.

Revised 10/90

241.30 Non-Arrest Situations

If confirmed stolen property or property suspected of being stolen is found in possession of an individual(s) and the situation does not call for an arrest to be made, officers may still seize the property under the following circumstances:

- A. If the person(s) is willing to sign a Consent to Seize form, the same procedures will be followed as outlined in 241.20.
- B. If he is not willing to release the property, the officer shall contact his field supervisor for assistance in obtaining a search warrant, or
- C. If exceptions to the search warrant requirements are apparent, the officer shall contact his field supervisor and obtain authorization to seize the property. The officer shall detail the reasons for seizing the property in his report.

This does not mandate that the officer seizes the property in all cases. If the officer determines the person is reliable and will maintain control of the property, he shall advise him of the stolen/possible stolen status of the property and request that person hold the property in his possession until proper disposition of the property is made. The officer shall then complete a report and forward it to the proper investigating unit for further actions.

Revised 10/90

241.40 Property Seized Incident to Arrest

Any time stolen/embezzled property is found incident to a legal arrest when the officer has the right to search; the property can be seized. The consent to confiscate form does not need to be signed.

When the property is the object/reason for the arrest, nothing in this procedure limits the authority to confiscate that property.

Revised 10/90

248.0 Response to Newsworthy Incidents and Incidents Where the Media is Present

- B. Members of the media shall not be allowed access to any area wherein there lies the possibility that evidence may be damaged, destroyed, or altered, until such time that the evidence has been photographed and processed by the appropriate police personnel, and the evidence has been removed or secured.

Media Response at Incidents Involving Multiple Law Enforcement Agencies

At any incident where multiple jurisdictions or law enforcement agencies are present, the PIO or designee shall consult with members of the other agencies to develop a plan for managing and addressing the media.

Adopted 2/17

249.0 Crime Analysis

All Operations Bureau Division Commanders should review crime trends and take appropriate action.

The Operations Bureau Commander will brief the Chief of Police as appropriate.

Adopted 10/04

250.0 Reported Crimes – Patrol Responsibilities

Citizens who report crime rightfully expect that the police will make a diligent effort to identify and apprehend the perpetrator, to recover property which may be stolen and to otherwise perform those tasks that would be indicative of reasonable attempts to properly dispose of the matter. To accomplish this, officers should make every effort to complete the tasks described in this procedure, time and circumstances permitting, to increase the likelihood of a thorough disposition.

Revised 9/19

250.10 Scene Protection

The scene of the reported crime should be protected until all evidence has been identified, documented and properly collected.

Revised 9/19

250.20 Location and Identification of Involved Parties

A diligent effort should be made to locate and identify witnesses or others who may be able to provide information. This may require that the neighborhood or immediate area be canvassed. Persons with information pertaining to the incident should be interviewed, when possible, and all relevant information shall be documented in an incident report or incident supplement report.

Revised 9/19

250.30 Reporting

The crime should be thoroughly documented and recorded on the appropriate departmental form. The narrative for the report should contain a detailed description of the incident, including, at a minimum, information about who was involved, what transpired, when, where and why the incident occurred. Any relevant actions the officer took at the scene should also be included.

Revised 2/98; Revised 9/19

250.35 Field Interviews

A field interview is the voluntary contact or lawful stop of a person for investigative purposes. These contacts often occur when an officer is attempting to determine the person's identity and/or resolve the officer's suspicions about possible criminal activity. Useful information obtained during these contacts should be documented on a field interview form.

Adopted 07/07; Revised 9/19

250.50 Follow-Up Investigations

As time permits, officers should conduct as much follow-up investigation as possible at the scene to ensure the department has done everything possible to solve the crime.

Employees of the department who receive information about, or are investigating a reported criminal incident, should devote the same amount of time, energy and concern to the incident as they would expect and want if they were the victim of the crime.

Revised 9/19

250.60 Instructions to Involved Parties

After the officer completes his or her initial investigation, the involved parties should be instructed to call the appropriate investigative unit if they obtain any additional information which would assist in the investigation. Officers will provide the involved parties with follow-up contact information.

Revised 2/98; Revised 9/19

250.70 Coordination with Investigators

Patrol officers and investigators should work closely together to coordinate efforts in solving reported crimes and should regularly exchange information about criminal activities.

Revised 9/19

250.90 Disposition of Reports and Forms

All reports and forms will be completed and submitted during, or immediately following, the reporting officer's shift unless authorized by a supervisor. Each document will be reviewed for accuracy and completeness prior to submission.

Incident reports, incident supplement reports and probable cause forms all require supervisor approval before entry into the RMS. Supervisors are responsible for reviewing those reports for accuracy and completeness before approving them. Supervisors should ensure all reports within the divisional workgroup are approved or rejected for further action prior to the end of shift.

Booking, impound and field interview forms are entered directly into RMS and do not require a supervisor's approval.

Revised 2/98; Revised 9/05; Revised 9/19

250.95 Report Taker Responsibilities

There are certain reports that may be taken over the phone, without an officer responding to a physical scene. In many cases, these reports are handled by report takers, who are officers assigned to a static work station. The following reports may be taken over the phone by a commissioned officer:

- 102R Lost Property
- 110R Vandalism
- 150R Suspicious Acts
- 163R All Runaway Juvenile
- 165R Juvenile Problem

251.0 Death Scene Procedures

251.10 General

A body will not be removed from the scene without prior authorization from the Medical Examiner.

Names of deceased persons will not be released to any news media personnel until the next of kin have been notified.

In all cases where death has occurred on a premise other than that of the deceased, the officer or investigator assigned to the case will have the responsibility of collecting the victim's personal property and placing it in the Oklahoma City Police Department Property Room for safekeeping until the next of kin can take possession.

In cases where death occurs on the premises of the deceased person and the next of kin are not present, the assigned unit on the scene will be responsible for securing the premises by the best means possible, including all doors and windows. The officer will take custody of the personal property of the victim (i.e., watch, wallet, etc.) and place it in the Police Department Property Room, unless the Medical Examiner requests that the personal property remain with the body.

251.20 Homicides and Unexplained Deaths

251.21 Crime Scene Security

Only those units assigned will proceed to the crime scene. The first officer to arrive will secure the scene and maintain scene security until other assigned units arrive to assist.

When the scene is secured, the assigned officer will inform all personnel not assigned to specific crime scene duties that the scene is secured and they may not enter.

The assigned officer shall establish a crime scene perimeter and shall use crime scene barrier tape whenever possible. Witnesses and suspects will be secured until the assigned investigating sergeant arrives.

251.22 Crime Scene Log

The first unit or assigned unit will be responsible for having a Crime Scene Log initiated. The officer responsible for crime scene log reporting will record the name of every person who enters the crime scene, along with the time each person entered and the purpose for entering the crime scene. The crime scene log will be attached to the crime incident report after the investigation is completed.

251.23 Assigned Officer's Duties

The assigned officer will have the Communications Unit notify a Homicide supervisor and a Technical Investigations unit. Officers at the scene will NOT notify the Medical Examiner; this will be the responsibility of the assigned investigating sergeant.

Officers are not to allow anyone to enter into or remain within a crime scene, except for emergency medical personnel when there is doubt as to the physical condition of the victim. Officers will not allow anyone to move or remove any object within the crime scene. If the body or any object within the crime scene is moved by officers or medical personnel while attending to the victim, the reporting officer will include in his report the original position of the body or object and under what circumstances it was moved.

Officers will not remove a weapon from its original position at a crime scene, unless the officers are unable to control the movements of witnesses and/or suspects within the scene. Under these circumstances, officers should take custody of the weapon for reasons of safety and the reporting officer will note in his report the original position of the weapon before its removal and the reason for its removal. Officers will handle the weapon in such a way that they will not destroy or alter the evidentiary value of the weapon (fingerprints). Under normal circumstances, officers should not unload the weapon unless directed to do so by the investigating sergeant or lab technician on the scene.

Once the assigned investigating sergeant arrives, he will immediately take charge of the crime scene. The assigned officers will take directions from the investigating sergeant and will assist whenever possible.

251.24 Field Supervisor's Duties

A supervisor will routinely be dispatched to the scene and will assist in assigning specific duties to other officers at the scene. The supervisor will make a report as to his actions at the crime scene, specific assignments of each officer, and to whom the task was assigned.

251.25 Medical Personnel at Crime Scene

If conclusive signs of death are evident and medical personnel have not yet entered the crime scene, officers will not allow the medical personnel to enter the scene. Conclusive signs of death are:

- A. Putrefaction (decomposition)
- B. Rigor Mortis
- C. Complete separation of body parts incompatible with life (such as decapitation).

If there is any doubt about the condition of the victim or the presence of one or more of the conclusive signs of death do not exist, emergency medical personnel will be allowed into the crime scene. The officer will allow only one Medical Technician into the scene for the purpose of determining whether or not the victim is alive. Officers will insure that emergency personnel take the most direct route to the body, considering which route will disturb the least amount of evidence.

251.26 EMSA Procedures

The following two sections are excerpts from the EMSA Policy Manual and are included so the OCPD personnel will be familiar with the requirements under which EMSA personnel must function.

In cooperation with area law enforcement agencies, the following criteria have been developed so that the patient's welfare is guarded and that the needs of investigating agencies to conduct an effective and thorough investigation are likewise safeguarded.

- A. Units not assigned to a call will not respond to that call. Over response tends to cause confusion at the crime scene and destruction of evidence.
- B. When approaching a possible crime scene, one technician should approach the patient to determine whether the person is alive or has expired.
- C. If an officer is present, he should be consulted before entering the scene. If an EKG strip is needed, uses paddles only, and performs the procedure with only one technician. If possible, the technician examining the patient should have the monitor in order to avoid more than one technician entering the scene.
- D. The body should not be handled unnecessarily, but should be checked for radial pulse, eyes, for cyanosis, etc., to determine if alive. If the victim is obviously dead, do not attempt to resuscitate. If conclusive signs of death are present, do not handle the body or perform any other assessment.
- E. If the patient has expired, exit the scene by way of the approach originally made into the scene.
- F. Should an officer not be present, the crime scene should be preserved. Do not allow individuals to wander into the area. When an officer arrives, relate to him your information and approach to and exit from the scene.
- G. If the patient is alive, life-saving techniques should be administered, under the following guidelines:
 - 1. Keep medical equipment close to the victim.
 - 2. Stay close to the body.
 - 3. Keep hands out of any blood that has pooled.
 - 4. Do not wander around the scene.
 - 5. Minimize destruction of the patient's clothing. If the clothing has a puncture, do not use the hole in the clothing to start cutting. Begin cutting at another part of the garment.
- H. If objects at the scene have been used (a towel, wash cloth, etc.), notify the investigating sergeant at once.
- I. Do not litter the scene with expended dressings, papers, or other items.
- J. Do not:
 - 1. Go through the victim's personal effects.
 - 2. Cover the body with a sheet or other material.
 - 3. Move, take or handle any object at the scene.
 - 4. Touch or move any weapon. NOTE: if a weapon must be moved in order to treat a victim, pick it up by the wooded stock and lay it near the victim out of the blood or water. Report this action to the investigating sergeant.
 - 5. Clean the body of blood, etc.
 - 6. Wander around the crime scene; return to the vehicle.

7. Be pressured into moving the body if death is obvious.
8. Litter the crime scene with medical equipment, paper, dressings, bandages, etc.
- K. If possible, transfer the victim from the scene to the vehicle expeditiously and stabilize the victim in the vehicle.
- L. If the patient relates any information pertaining to the crime while in transit to the medical facility, tell the investigating sergeant at once.
- M. Use common sense and be aware of your surroundings. Remember, the less you do to destroy a crime scene, the less the likelihood you will spend your days off in court and the better chance there will be for a successful prosecution of any criminal wrongdoing.
- N. Under ordinary circumstances, emergency medical personnel will be allowed to assess the patient and perform all appropriate medical care necessary to maintain life, as so indicated. It should be noted that access to the patient should only occur when the crime scene is secured and indicated safe by law enforcement personnel.
- O. If the officer in charge chooses to accept the responsibility that the patient is beyond salvageability, and prohibits access to the patient by EMSA personnel, the ranking EMSA technician should do the following:
 1. Utilizing the current 10-23 Release Form, a brief report should be noted that includes time, date, location number of patients and the name and rank of the officer that accepted the responsibility for releasing the crew from pursuing patient care and assessment.
 2. Secure the signature of at least two witnesses.
 3. All documentation as noted above should be properly secured and forwarded to Headquarters for permanent filing.

251.27 EMSA Patient Protocol

As a routine procedure, exclusive of those patients displaying conclusive signs of death, the following steps should be followed in ALL suspected DOA cases (traumatic and non-traumatic):

- A. Attempt to secure vital signs including apical, carotid and femoral pulses; respiration and lung sounds; blood pressure; and pupillary reaction to light.
- B. If ALS is present or readily available, run an EKG strip.
- C. Report above findings to PMS for concurrence.
- D. Record findings on patient care record.

Use of cardiac monitor to determine death.

It is the policy of the Central Oklahoma Ambulance Trust to perform EKG rhythm strips to determine death, always bearing in mind to perform our medical procedures with a constant awareness for preserving crime scene evidence. The following guidelines have been established to enhance this goal. EKG documentation may be obtained by any of the following methods:

- A. "Quick look" through paddles.
- B. Chest lead placement.
- C. Paddles place on any two extremities.
- D. Leads of paddles place on back.

NOTE: These methods should eliminate the need to move the victim's body in most situations. Only two contact points are required to document a tracing. The site location should be selected to insure placement of the heart between the two recording points if possible, although locations such as arms and legs will suffice.

251.30 Suicide Investigation

Investigations of suicides will be handled following the same procedures as outlined under Homicide Investigation procedures. See Procedures 350.0 through 350.12.

251.31 Suicide Notes

When a suicide note is found at the scene of a suicide, officers should not handle the note. Allow a Technical Investigations unit or assigned investigating sergeant to take custody of the note.

251.40 Natural Death Investigations

251.41 Assigned Officer's Duties

After arriving at the scene of an apparent natural death, the assigned officer should establish the identity of the victim, including the name, date of birth, race, sex, and the Social Security number (if available).

If witnesses or the next of kin are present, the officer will attempt to obtain any pertinent medical information on the victim:

- A. Was the victim under a physician's care?
- B. Was the victim being treated for any severe or terminal illness?
- C. Was the victim taking any prescribed medication?
- D. What is the name of the physician and where can he be reached?

The assigned officer will notify his supervisor and advise him of any known circumstances surrounding the death of the victim.

When there are no family members of the victim present at the scene, and no family members have been notified of the death, the assigned officer will be responsible for contacting a family member and advising them of the death. The officer will note in his report whether he was able to make notification. The officer will include in his report the name, address and relationship of the person notified (or the person to be notified in cases where contact cannot be made).

251.42 Contacting the Medical Examiner

If death was not attended by a physician, the officer will notify the Medical Examiner and be prepared to present the Medical Examiner with all available information. The officer will then comply with the instructions of the Medical Examiner on disposition of the body.

If the Medical examiner authorizes release of the body to the family, the officer will obtain the name of the funeral home the family requests and will instruct the Communications Unit to notify that funeral home. When there is no family member present, and officers are unable to locate any family members, the Medical Examiner will send someone to pick up the body and hold it until the next of kin can be located.

If the Medical Examiner decides to have the body transported to his office, the assigned officer will remain at the scene until the authorized transporting personnel arrive at the scene.

Revised 3/93

251.50 Industrial / Accidental Deaths

Police officers assigned to investigate any industrial or accidental death will follow the procedures outlined in Section 251.0 through 251.27 - Death Scene Procedures.

251.60 Inmate Deaths Involving the Oklahoma County Jail

When the death of an Oklahoma County Jail inmate occurs, regardless of the date or location where the individual was pronounced deceased, the following will occur:

- A. The Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office will notify the Oklahoma City Police Department's Communications Unit in instances when:
 1. An Oklahoma City police officer made the arrest;

2. An Oklahoma City police officer did not make the arrest but was present during an arrest, use of force, or other physical contact involving another law enforcement agency or jail staff; or
 3. An Oklahoma City police officer did not make the arrest but assisted another law enforcement agency or jail staff during an arrest, use of force, or other physical contact.
- B. Police Communications will immediately notify all below personnel:
1. Logistical Support Division Major;
 2. Watch Commander; and
 3. Commander of the Office of Professional Standards.
- C. The Office of Professional Standards will obtain information regarding the involvement of department employees and provide a preliminary review to the Chief of Police.
- D. The Chief of Police will make a determination whether to assign the appropriate unit to conduct an administrative or criminal investigation regarding the actions of department personnel related to the deceased individual.

Adopted 12/18

252.0 Kidnapping and Abduction

In every kidnapping or abduction, the safe return of the victim is the primary concern; apprehension and prosecution of the suspect(s) is the secondary objective.

Revised 9/05

252.10 Assigned Officer's Duties

The assigned officer will gather all pertinent information available and make a complete and detailed Crime Incident report.

The first officer on the scene will gather all available information on the victim and suspect. The assigned officer should:

- A. Interview the person(s) making the report;
- B. Obtain the name, race, sex, DOB, and social security number of the person making the report;
- C. Obtain the name and race, sex, DOB of the victim, including clothing description if it is known;
- D. Obtain the name (if known) and physical description of the suspect;
- E. Obtain a detailed vehicle description (including victim's vehicle if it was taken during the crime);
- F. Identify the circumstances of the disappearance;
- G. Based on available information, make the initial determination of the type of incident whether non-family abduction, family abduction, etc.;
- H. Relay detailed description information to the Communications Unit for broadcast;
- I. Identify and interview all individuals who were present at the scene, or location where the person was last seen or reported abducted or kidnapped from;
- J. Request consent to conduct an immediate search of the missing person's home even if the person is reported abducted or kidnapped from another location (if consent is denied, immediately notify a supervisor);
- K. Treat the location where the person was last seen or reported abducted or kidnapped from as a crime scene;
- L. Secure the person's home until it is processed for evidence;
- M. Obtain photographs/videotapes of the abducted or kidnapped person; and
- N. Brief responding personnel including supervisors and investigative staff.

An exception to this would be in cases of KIDNAPPING FOR EXTORTION: officers shall not broadcast any information in relation to the case over the police radio communication system. All information should be transmitted via telephone.

Revised 9/05

252.11 Relay of Information to CIU and Communications

After all information is gathered on the victim and suspect, the officer will be responsible for disseminating the information to CIU and Communications for general broadcast and entry into NCIC network. The following procedures will be followed:

- A. The officer will notify Communications and CIU by telephone. The officer then relays to both Communications and CIU such information as is known at that time and requests a general city wide broadcast and statewide Teletype transmission.
- B. At the earliest convenience, the officer will telephone CIU to confirm, correct, and update the information in the earlier broadcast.
- C. The officer will then issue an Information Bulletin through the Report Clerks' office, either in writing or by telephone.

Revised 9/05

252.20 Supervisor's Duties

Once the assigned officer has confirmed a kidnapping or abduction, a field supervisor will be dispatched to the scene. The field supervisor will be responsible for:

- A. Receiving a briefing from the initial responding officer on the circumstances of the kidnapped or abducted child or person.
- B. Coordinating the investigation of the crime until an investigator is assigned to the case and arrives at the scene.
- C. If the victim fits the criteria of an Amber Alert, the supervisor will contact the Crime Information Unit and provide the information needed to request an Amber Alert be activated.
- D. Assigning specific duties to all field officers on the scene and assigning additional units to the scene if necessary.
- E. Keeping a line of communications open between officers on the scene and the Communications Unit.
- F. Notifying the appropriate investigations unit supervisor of the crime.
- G. Supervisor contacts Communications, CIU, and report clerks to determine that all broadcasts and the Information Bulletin have in fact been completed.
- H. Obtains teletype message number for future reference.

Revised 9/05

252.30 Amber Alert

The Amber Alert Plan is a cooperative agreement between the Office of the Governor, the Department of Public Safety (DPS), the Oklahoma Association of Broadcasters, and various law enforcement agencies in the state of Oklahoma. The plan is an early warning system available for use by law enforcement to alert the public when a child has been kidnapped and the police believe the child is in danger.

Adopted 9/05

252.31 Amber Alert Activation

The Amber Alert Plan requires law enforcement to meet criteria when evaluating an abduction. Law enforcement agencies must have all parts of the scenario present before an activation of the alert can occur. The Amber Alert should be activated:

- A. When a child 17 years of age or younger is the victim; or
- B. An individual under proven mental or physical disability is abducted and there is reason to believe the victim is in imminent danger of serious bodily injury or death.

In order to issue an Amber Alert, information should be available to disseminate to the general public, which could assist in the safe recovery of the victim and/or the apprehension of a suspect(s).

Once the above guidelines have been met, the Watch Commander will authorize the issuance of the alert. The Watch Commander will immediately notify Communications upon authorizing the Amber Alert. The reporting officer will immediately relay all pertinent information to the Crime Information Unit, who will relay pertinent information to the Department of Public Safety for issuance over the State Emergency Alert System (EAS).

Adopted 9/05; Revised 6/14

253.0 Sex Offenses

Sex offenses are classified as either primary or secondary. Primary offenses involve physical contact between the victim and the offender. Rape, sodomy and child molestation are examples of primary sex offenses. Secondary sex offenses are crimes, which involve no physical contact between the victim and offender, such as obscene calls, indecent exposure and Peeping Tom offenses.

Both primary and secondary sex offenses require thorough investigation and documentation. Victims of these offenses usually suffer psychologically and sometimes suffer physically. Fear and embarrassment are also common reactions. Consequently, all victims will be treated with respect and efforts will be made to conduct the investigation as professionally as possible.

Revised 7/18

253.10 Responsibilities of First Officer at the Scene

The first officer at the scene will provide for the immediate needs of the victim. If necessary, advise Communications to dispatch an ambulance to transport the victim to the hospital. After assessing and providing for any medical needs, provide emotional support. Calm and reassure the victim while obtaining suspect information if the incident recently occurred and there is a chance of apprehending the suspect. Advise Communications of suspect information.

If a male officer is assigned to the call, he should NOT, as a matter of routine, request that the call be reassigned to a female officer. In some cases, it is of greater benefit to the victim if a male officer is able to establish rapport with her and provide for her needs and emotional support. If a male officer is unable to establish such rapport, or if the victim requests a female officer, then the call should be reassigned.

If a crime scene is located, the officer will contact a field supervisor. That supervisor will determine if an Investigations supervisor is needed based on call-out procedures, and contact the Crime Scene Unit to process the scene.

Advise the victim not to bathe, change clothes or drink fluids until after the sexual assault examination. Clothing items and biological specimens will be collected from the victim at the hospital. It is extremely important that the medical examination be conducted as soon as possible. However, before leaving for the hospital, the officer will brief the assisting officer assigned to stand by at the scene. The officer who remains at the scene must be familiar with the case facts in order to assist the crime scene technicians.

Revised 4th Edit., 2000; Revised 2/03; Revised 7/18

253.20 Transportation for the Victim

If necessary, provide transportation to the hospital for the victim. The victim may prefer to ride with a friend or relative, which is permissible. However, discourage the victim from driving themselves to the hospital. An officer must accompany the victim to the hospital in order to sign the evidence collection form.

When the victim of the assault/abuse is a child 12 years of age or younger or is of limited or diminished mental capacity, the officer should not interview the child and should not encourage or allow any other adults to interview the child. The investigator assigned to conduct the follow-up investigation or the DHS worker assigned to the case will coordinate a forensic interview for the victim to be conducted at a later time.

Females and males, 14 years of age or older, will be informed there are specially trained Sexual Assault Nurses available at the participating hospitals. The victim should be taken to the closest one unless there is a stated preference. Females under 14 and males under 14 years of age are treated at The Children's Hospital of Oklahoma.

In cases where the assault/abuse is NOT recent and the child is NOT complaining of any pain or injury, the detectives assigned the case will make arrangements for a medical exam, if needed.

Revised 3/97; Revised 2/03; Revised 7/18

253.30 Forensic Evidence

If the victim insists upon seeking treatment at a hospital other than specified in 253.20, determine if the physician there is willing to collect the evidence and has a Sexual Assault Evidence Kit. If no kit is available, obtain one from the Sex Crimes office, Forensic Lab or one of the participating hospitals.

In order to maintain the chain of custody, the officer who accompanies the victim to the hospital is responsible for ensuring the Sexual Assault Evidence Kit is properly booked. If the officer who accompanies the victim to the hospital is unable to remain with the victim until the rape examination is complete, a supervisor will be notified and that supervisor will ensure the Sexual Assault Evidence Kit is collected and transported to the Serology drop box. The officer will document in his/her report which supervisor was notified. The officer or supervisor who submits this evidence must document it in a report. Prior to placing the Sexual Assault Evidence Kit in the Serology drop box, the officer will ensure the kit has been placed in the plastic bag included in the Evidence Kit. The officer should also ensure the Sexual Assault Report, completed by the Sexual Assault Nurse or the treating physician, is placed in the plastic bag outside of the Evidence Kit.

State law (Victim Compensation Act) provides the victim of a sexual assault the right to a free forensic medical examination (or SANE exam) regardless of their decision to file a police report or pursue a criminal case. In those instances, the officer will complete a Crime Incident Report and submit the Sexual Assault Kit as normal. The report should contain what information, if any, the victim chooses to provide or the SANE nurse provides and should note the victim does not wish to pursue a police investigation at this time.

The Crime Scene Investigator will ensure the victim's clothing and other evidence obtained from the examination at the hospital, are secured and submitted for analysis as specified in OCPD Procedure 184.50-184.59. The submission of the evidence must be documented in a report. If a Crime Scene Investigator is not available to respond to the call, the field supervisor will ensure the victim's clothing and other evidence collected from the scene and the exam of the victim is submitted in accordance with OCPD Procedures 184.50-184.59.

In cases involving physical injury to the victim, request a Crime Scene Investigator to obtain photographs of the injuries under their guidelines. If a Crime Scene Investigator is not available to process the scene, the field supervisor shall contact the on-call Crime Scene Unit Supervisor. If the decision is made to not have a Crime Scene Investigator respond, the field supervisor shall take pictures of the victim with a digital camera. The photos shall be submitted to the Digital Imaging Lab of the Crime Scene Unit.

When the officer transports the victim to the hospital, he/she should determine if the victim has a way home after the sexual assault examination is completed. If necessary, the officer will arrange transportation for the victim.

Conduct a preliminary interview of the victim (except as outlined in Procedure 253.20) and complete the Crime Incident Report. Most victims do not stay home alone after they have been sexually assaulted, so determine where the victim can be reached and include this information in the report for the follow-up investigators. A Victim's Rights Statement Card will be provided to the victim.

253.40 Rape / Sexual Abuse of Children

Rape and/or sexual abuse of children will be investigated in the following manner:

- A. If the rape or sexual abuse has occurred recently, clothing and any other physical evidence should be processed in the same manner as all other adult cases.
- B. Males and females under 14 years of age are treated at The Children's Hospital at OU Medical Center. Males and females 14 years of age or older will be informed there are specially trained Sexual Assault Nurses available at the participating hospitals. The victim should be taken to The Children's Hospital at OU Medical Center, unless there is a stated preference by the parent/guardian.
- C. Advise hospital staff if a rape has occurred and have a rape examination performed.
- D. Contact DHS and advise them of the incident.
- E. Have photographs taken of any visible injuries.
- F. Do not interview the child if the child is 12 years of age or younger or older than 12 years of age but of limited or diminished mental capacity. The investigator assigned to conduct the follow-up investigation or the DHS worker assigned to the case will coordinate a forensic interview for the victim. Note any voluntary statements or suspect descriptions given by but not solicited from the victim.
- G. Call in a detailed priority telephone report.
- H. If the relative of the child did not perpetrate the rape or sexual abuse, the officer may release the child to the custody of the parents. However, if the officer decides that release of the child to the custody of the parents may be detrimental to the child's welfare, he/she will initiate the DHS Joint Response Protocol.

254.0 Domestic Violence

This procedure was implemented to bring the Oklahoma City Police Department into compliance with Oklahoma state statutes governing the law enforcement response to domestic violence. The purpose of this procedure is to provide clear direction to officers who respond to scenes of domestic violence.

Definitions

Dating relationship – Intimate association, primarily characterized by affectionate or sexual involvement. A casual acquaintance or ordinary fraternization between persons in a business or social context shall not constitute a dating relationship.

Domestic abuse – Any act of physical harm, or the threat of imminent physical harm which is committed by an adult, emancipated minor, or minor child thirteen (13) years of age or older against another adult, emancipated minor or minor child who is currently or was previously an intimate partner or family or household member.

Family or household member – Parents, including grandparents, stepparents, adoptive parents and foster parents; children, including grandchildren, stepchildren, adopted children and foster children; and persons otherwise related by blood or marriage living in the same household.

Intimate partner – Current or former spouses; persons who are or were in a dating relationship; persons who are the biological parents of the same child, regardless of their marital status or whether they have lived together at any time, and persons who currently or formerly lived together in an intimate way, primarily characterized by affectionate or sexual involvement. A sexual relationship may be an indicator that a person is an intimate partner, but is never a necessary condition.

General Provisions

Officers shall treat all acts of violence identified as domestic violence as criminal conduct. Domestic violence incidents shall be treated the same as all other requests for police assistance in cases where there has been physical violence or the threat thereof. Dispute mediation or other police interventions may be used in addition to, but not as a substitute to, arrest.

Any domestic violence call involving a department employee as a victim, suspect, or witness, will require a field supervisor to respond to the scene. The field supervisor will notify the Watch Commander who will contact an investigations bureau supervisor.

Revised 11/98; Revised 9/01; Revised 2/12; Revised 9/14; Revised 9/20

254.10 Responding to Incidents Involving Allegations of Domestic Abuse

When responding to a call for service involving allegations of domestic violence, officers should consider and document the following information, when possible:

1. The statement of each involved party;
2. The location and type of injuries;
3. Any history of domestic violence between the involved parties; and
4. Statements from any potential witnesses.

This information should be used to determine which party is the dominant aggressor and appropriate action shall be taken against that person.

If an involved party complains of injury, whether visible or not, officers shall offer to arrange for medical treatment.

Felony and Misdemeanor Arrests

An arrest shall be made in a domestic violence incident when there is probable cause to believe that a felony has occurred.

Officers may make an arrest when a misdemeanor has occurred in their presence. State law allows an officer to make a misdemeanor arrest without a warrant of a person anywhere, including their place of residence, if the officer has probable cause to believe the person has committed an act of domestic abuse within the preceding 72 hours, even if the assault did not take place in the presence of the officer. Officers may not arrest a person without first observing a recent physical injury to, or an impairment of the physical condition of, the victim. Any arrest, misdemeanor or felony, is subject to the requirements of a warrantless arrest as provided by law.

Citizen's Arrest

Officers shall inform the victim of the right to make a citizen's arrest when a crime has been committed outside the officer's presence, which does not meet the requirements for a felony arrest. Whenever possible, such discussion shall be held out of the presence of the suspect. Officers shall accept a lawful citizen's arrest and shall not discourage victims from making a citizen's arrest.

Dual Arrest Situations

Officers are encouraged to make every effort to identify the dominant aggressor when responding to calls with allegations of domestic violence. Dual arrests may result in a decline of charges against one or both involved parties or may be detrimental to the prosecution of either party.

If officers are unable to identify a dominant aggressor, the incident should be thoroughly documented. The involved parties should be separated, if possible, but no arrest should be made, unless officers determine it is the most appropriate or necessary course of action.

Reporting of Domestic Violence

Basic Reporting

Any officer who responds to a scene of domestic abuse shall complete and submit an incident report. The incident report shall include, at a minimum, the following:

1. The Domestic Violence Risk Assessment results;
2. All elements of the crime or incident that occurred;
3. Interviews conducted by the officer;
4. A description of actions the officer took at the scene; and
5. A statement indicating the victim has been provided with an Oklahoma Crime Victims Rights – Domestic Violence, Sexual Assault and Human Trafficking brochure.

All incident reports and incident supplements related to a domestic violence incident shall be submitted prior to the end of the reporting officer's shift. The Domestic Violence Risk Assessment shall be turned in prior to the end of shift and forwarded to the Domestic Violence Unit via departmental mail.

Domestic Violence Risk Assessment

When an officer responds to a domestic violence incident involving an intimate partner relationship, he or she shall complete the Domestic Violence Risk Assessment. When a victim screens in for protocol referral based on their responses to the risk assessment, or the officer believes the victim may be at high risk and in need of immediate assistance, the officer shall inform the victim of his or her concern and contact the Domestic Violence Hotline at 405-917-9922. The officer will explain the circumstances to the advocate and encourage the victim to speak with the advocate to obtain immediate assistance.

For every Domestic Violence Risk Assessment conducted, the following shall be documented in the first line of the corresponding incident report:

1. The victim's willingness to participate in the assessment;
2. Whether or not the victim screened in according to the protocol; and
3. Whether or not the victim agreed to speak with an advocate, if he or she screened in.

Adopted 6/96; Revised 11/98; Revised 9/01; Revised 10/08; Revised 9/14; Revised 9/20

254.20 Evidence Collection

Employees shall attempt to collect as much evidence as possible at the scene of an incident involving domestic abuse.

The following evidence should be documented and/or collected at a domestic violence scene, when possible:

1. One overall identifying full length photograph of the victim;
2. Photographs of the victim's injuries, whether visible or not;
3. Photographs of crime scene;
4. Evidence (e.g., weapons used); and
5. Photographs of the suspect's appearance and/or injuries.

All articles of evidence shall be collected in accordance with department directives. If unforeseen circumstances prevent the collection of evidence, the employee shall provide a detailed explanation in the narrative of his or her report.

Adopted 07/10; Revised 9/14; Revised 9/20

254.30 Securing Weapons

Officers shall seize any weapon or instrument when the officer has probable cause to believe such weapon or instrument has been used to commit an act of domestic violence. The weapon or instrument shall be booked into the property room in accordance with the department's evidence and property control directives.

Officers may take temporary custody of any weapon or instrument at the scene of a domestic violence incident for safety reasons. If the weapon was not involved in any apparent criminal offense, and once the crime scene is secured and there is no immediate danger to any individual involving a threat to human life or physical assault, any temporarily seized weapon or instrument shall be returned to the owner or remain at the scene.

Revised 9/20

254.40 Victim Assistance

Officers should assist domestic violence victims in understanding the citizen's arrest process, if applicable, and protective order procedures.

Officers shall inform the victim, or a responsible adult if the victim is a minor child or an incompetent person, of the 24-hour statewide telephone communication service for domestic abuse victims. The officer shall give notice of certain rights to the victim, or to a responsible adult on behalf of the victim, by providing them an Oklahoma Crime Victims Rights – Domestic Violence, Sexual Assault and Human Trafficking brochure.

Victims should be encouraged to take steps to ensure their safety. The officer should refer the victim to VINELink when appropriate. VINELink provides victims and concerned citizens with safety and peace of mind by providing real time alerts of an offender's arrest, release, protective order status, or any change in an offender's status while in custody. This information can be sent via phone, text message, email or mobile app. VINELink can be contacted 24 hours a day, seven days a week, by phone, internet or mobile app.

VINELink's toll free contact number is 1-866-277-7477 (option 2). Their web address is VINELink.com. VINELink supports over 200 languages through their live operator support.

The officer should assist in arranging transportation of the victim to a different location or shelter if the victim expresses a concern for safety or if the officer determines a need exists.

Revised 9/01; Revised 9/20

254.50 Police Stand-By

When a party who has been involved in a domestic violence incident requests police assistance in removing personal property to another location, officers shall stand by for a reasonable amount of time until he or she has done so, except when allowing the party to remove personal property would result in the violation of a protective order.

Officers should attempt to determine if the person requesting assistance is a party in a protective order prior to assisting him or her in removing property. Some protective orders instruct the defendant to request a civil stand-by when collecting items. If this stipulation is included in the protective order, the defendant is not in violation of the order, and officers may conduct a civil stand-by. If the stipulation is not listed in the order, officers shall not assist the individual in violating the order and the defendant should be directed to collect his or her property after the protective order has been dismissed or a new order has been issued stipulating that the defendant may collect property.

Revised 6/96; Revised 9/20

255.0 Alarm Enforcement

Upon receiving an alarm call, the officer shall check the premise for intrusion. Once the premise is determined to be secure and a false alarm, the officer shall note the disposition and the alarm permit number in the comment field prior to closing the call via the MDT.

Revised 3/97

256.0 Bank Alarms

After receiving the call from Communications, the first unit to arrive will take command of the situation, obtain an observation point outside the bank where he can best observe as many exits from the bank as possible, and direct secondary units to other observation points not available to him. The observation point should be from a location not readily visible from the entrances or exits.

256.10 Communication with Bank Representative

Exterior observation will be maintained by all responding units until contact is made with the bank by Communications. A representative of the bank will be identified by name, physical and clothing description, and will be instructed by Communications (via information from the responding officer), which door to exit.

256.20 Suspect Present

If the alarm is determined to be valid and the suspect(s) is still inside the bank, all officers will maintain an external surveillance of the bank until a supervisor is on the scene to determine if the Tactical Unit is to be called.

256.30 Suspect Departed

If the alarm is valid and the suspect(s) have departed, the initial officer will enter and secure the bank and relay any additional information to Communications. Securing the bank shall include locking the doors, detaining witnesses and preserving physical evidence.

256.40 After-Hours Alarms

During hours the bank is closed, the officer will be expected to check the building for possible entry and advise Communications of any and all unusual circumstances, and proceed as per Procedure 257.0, Unsecured Premises.

257.0 Unsecured Premises

The inspection and security of businesses, and to some extent residences, is an important function of patrol as a means of detecting crimes in progress or crimes that have just occurred.

257.10 Purpose

The purpose of this procedure is to establish a proper and orderly method for handling situations when a breach of physical security of a business, residence or other property is discovered by an officer, or is reported by any other means.

257.20 Intent

The intent of this procedure is to provide a maximum degree of safety to law enforcement personnel and other citizens, to increase the likelihood of apprehension of criminals and to protect the integrity of the Department from accusation of misconduct at the scene of unsecured premises.

257.30 Discovery

Any door or window found open during a building check shall be viewed as a crime in progress until determined otherwise.

Upon discovery of an open door or window, the officer shall immediately notify Communications of the name of the business, the address or best description of location available and the particular location of the open door or window; he shall request additional assistance at that time.

Revised 07/10

257.40 Communications Unit Responsibility

Communications will assign additional units to assist as necessary.

Revised 07/10

257.50 Initial Officer's Responsibility

The initial officer shall take up a strategic position to be able to observe the building until such time as adequate assistance arrives to search the building safely. Officers should NOT enter an unsecured structure alone. Adequate perimeter assistance should be deployed to prevent escape of a suspect.

The second officer arriving at the scene should take a position on the opposite side of the building as directed by the original officer. Both officers should have a field of sight and line of fire along two sides of the building and neither should be in line with the other. The first officers on the scene should make sure all cover positions are maintained by other patrol units.

257.60 Outside Searches

When the assigned officer has arrived on the scene he/she shall make a quick assessment of the situation and order only the number of additional units needed. Excess units should be promptly returned to service.

Searches of the area should be made for vehicles parked at or near the location, i.e., check for warm hoods, unlocked cars, cars with no license plates, etc. Check boxes, trash bins, and any other possible hiding places for the suspects.

Searches of roof areas are sometimes very difficult. Be sure to advise other officers regarding officers on the roof. Officers ascending the roof should be covered. The helicopter should be requested for roof searches and other inaccessible areas.

When the search narrows down to the unsecured building itself, search the point of entry if one is established. Check doors, transoms or windows for pry marks, cut or broken glass, dust disturbed on window ledges, open windows or doors, bloodstains, etc. While making this search be mindful of preserving evidence. Don't silhouette yourself, or your partner, or stand in front of windows. One officer searches while the other officer covers.

Revised 07/10

257.70 Entry and Search

Officers making entry into an unsecured building should use extreme caution. K-9 Units should be used when available.

Whenever possible, consultation with the owner or responsible party should occur in order to identify specific target areas, probable hiding places and potential hazards, before entering.

It is generally best to turn on all interior lights to improve visibility and reduce tension. When only a flashlight is used, an intruder knows your location, but you don't know his.

Conduct a systematic and thorough search and go over it a second time from a different direction. In a multi-story building, search one floor at a time starting from the lowest level and working up. Secure stairs and elevator.

Revised 07/10

257.80 Search Completed

Once the search is complete and the all-clear has been given, one of the following courses of action will be taken:

- A. If the premises are simply not secure and no apparent unauthorized entry has taken place the responsible person will be allowed entry to confirm findings and to secure the business, residence or property.
- B. The responsible person will be allowed limited access, keeping in mind the need to preserve physical evidence.

Perimeter security will be released so that the officers may return to normal duties upon the all-clear being given by the supervisor in charge of the overall scene.

Should the responsible person decline to respond to the scene when requested, he will be informed by Communications that the premises will be secured in the best manner possible and the officers will have no further responsibility.

Should Communications be unable to locate a responsible party, the business, residence, or other property will be searched and secured in the best manner possible. The officers will continue to patrol the area as time and circumstances permit.

Revised 07/10

257.90 Officer Responsibility

This procedure is intended to provide guidance to officers when encountering unsecured premises. In cases where officers believe the premises may contain evidence of a crime, officers are to determine from the totality of the circumstances if reasonable suspicion exists that would require immediate action on the officer's part (check the welfare, possible crime in progress, etc.) to make entry into the premises without the owner's consent or warrant. Nothing in this procedure releases the officer's obligation to obtain a warrant or owner's permission to enter premises when the officer's intent is to obtain evidence of a crime.

Revised 07/10

258.0 Armed Robbery of a Business

Armed robbery calls are potentially one of the more dangerous types of police assignments, since the suspect is known to be armed and the potential for violence increases. The possibility that an armed robbery can escalate into a hostage situation also exists when police presence becomes known to the suspect. When an officer is assigned to an armed robbery call, and the possibility exists that the suspect is at the scene, officers should remember that the safety of innocent bystanders and victims supersedes the officers' interest in apprehending the suspect.

258.10 Response to an Armed Robbery

Unless otherwise notified by the dispatcher, officers responding to an armed robbery call should presume that the suspect is still inside the business and should not immediately enter the scene upon arrival at the business. The initial officer on the scene should assume an inconspicuous position near the business where he can observe activities within the business, if possible. The initial officer should wait for additional back-up units to arrive and direct the other units to strategic locations before taking any further action.

Officers at the scene should attempt to apprehend the suspect after he has left the business, circumstances permitting, in order to decrease the possibility of a hostage situation.

258.20 Crime Scene Investigation

258.21 Reporting Officer's Responsibilities

When the armed robbery suspect has fled the scene or has been taken into custody, the primary responsibility of the assigned officer will be that of securing the crime scene and retaining victims and witnesses to the crime.

The assigned officer shall secure the premises of the business, locking doors if possible, in order to prevent further access to the premises by unauthorized persons while the investigation of the crime is conducted.

When the suspect is not in custody, the initial officer should obtain the suspect's description, and any suspect vehicle information as soon as possible and broadcast that information to all other officers immediately, via the police radio.

258.22 Back-Up Units' Duties

Once the initial officer and/or assigned officer have advised Communications Unit of their arrival at the crime scene, all other responding units should remain in the area and canvass the vicinity, and should not continue to the actual scene of the robbery unless directed to do so by the officer at the scene.

258.23 Protection of the Scene / Evidence

The assigned officer at the scene should determine any areas or objects within the crime scene, which would contain fingerprints of the suspect, and determine if a surveillance camera was activated during the commission of the crime. If physical evidence can be obtained at the scene, a Technical Investigations unit should be called to the scene if one is available.

Fingerprints can be obtained by a qualified Police Officer when a Technical Investigations unit is not available. Exposed surveillance camera film should be left at the scene (in the camera) only if qualified personnel are not available to respond to the scene.

259.0 Bomb Incidents

Bomb incidents place unique demands upon the Police Department. In the event of the non-availability of a trained bomb technician from this department, the Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office Bomb Squad or the Oklahoma Highway Patrol Bomb Squad may be contacted for assistance through mutual aid and/or agency assist procedures.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

259.10 Limitations

No member of the Oklahoma City Police Department, except for qualified bomb technicians, will move or attempt to move, handle, dismantle or take any other action that could cause the detonation of a suspected explosive device unless such action is a last resort and an imminent danger to human life exists. All efforts will be made to evacuate people from the area of a suspected explosive device. Only when it is impossible to evacuate people, such as in the case of a hospital intensive care unit, would an officer, other than a bomb technician, become duty-bound to attempt to minimize the threat. It is emphasized that an officer should not attempt to take any action that could cause the detonation of a suspected explosive device unless no other alternative exists. If an officer must move a suspected explosive device, he or she should do so remotely by utilizing a rope, wire, or other means.

Revised 11/17

259.20 Responsibilities

The Operations Bureau will be responsible for the initial response and assuming control over the area where a suspected explosive device is located. A command post may be established and an orderly, systematic evacuation plan may be implemented.

The primary responding officer shall obtain as complete and accurate a description of the device as possible including color, composition, size, etc. The primary officer at the scene will provide information to support units (i.e., Fire and EMS) regarding the likelihood of an explosion.

The primary officer will ensure that telephone communications remain open and available and that all responding units are notified that no radio traffic or cell phone use is permitted within the tactical perimeter (300 feet) of where the suspected explosive device is located. Upon arrival at the scene, all radios will be turned off. All communication with the 911 Communications Unit will be made by phone outside the 300-foot zone. Communications will make notification to the necessary agencies as directed by the on-scene supervisor and departmental directives.

Upon arrival of a bomb technician at the scene, he or she will assume command of the scene and will maintain custody of the scene until all technical investigations are completed.

The bomb technician will coordinate the notification of federal agencies as needed. If the circumstances permit, photographs will be taken of the device.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

259.30 Bomb Threats

In cases of bomb threats where no specific evidence exists of explosive substances, the officer or field supervisor shall use discretion in searching the premises.

The evacuation of the premises is at the discretion of the person responsible for the property; however, an officer may order an evacuation when there is compelling evidence of the presence of an explosive device.

All searches shall be thorough and systematic, and supervised by the field supervisor on scene. Persons who are familiar with the premises should be used to identify suspicious looking items that may require further attention. The search should begin at the exterior of the premises and work inward, focusing particular attention on areas most accessible to the public.

If guidance is needed on a bomb threat call, the Bomb Squad Commander should be consulted. A field supervisor will contact the Bomb Squad Commander if any of the following criteria are met:

- A. There is a named suspect;
- B. There is a suspicious item or specific evidence related to the bomb threat;
- C. There is a suspicious package or article that cannot be identified by the person responsible for the property;
- D. There are facts that indicate a real possibility that an explosive event may occur against the location or person threatened; or
- E. The threat is against critical infrastructure or a local, state or federal government facility.

The Bomb Squad Commander will make a determination as to whether or not Bomb Squad team members will respond.

A bomb technician may request an explosive detection K-9 if needed. If time is a factor in the threat, the search shall be discontinued 15 minutes before the scheduled detonation time. The search shall not resume until 30 minutes after the scheduled detonation time.

If no device is found, the person responsible for the property will be advised that it is his or her decision as to whether or not to return people into the area.

The officer will complete and submit an incident report. A significant incident message should be posted by a field supervisor after any bomb threat incident.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17; Revised 9/19

259.40 Undetonated Explosive Substance

If an officer discovers an undetonated explosive, he or she shall notify Communications by telephone outside the 300-foot zone. The dispatcher shall then request a field supervisor to respond to the scene.

The supervisor shall request assistance of a bomb technician and start evacuation of the premises if necessary. The supervisor will provide the bomb technician the following information:

- A. Description and type of device, if known;
- B. Exact location; and
- C. Information regarding what type of action has already been taken at the scene.

If a bomb technician is requested to respond to the scene, the supervisor should obtain an estimated time of arrival from the responding technician.

No person shall be admitted into the danger zone unless authorized by the field supervisor.

No person shall touch, examine or otherwise tamper with any explosive substance except as directed by the bomb technician in charge of deactivation or removal.

The assigned bomb technician will determine if a detonation site is needed.

If a bomb technician requests an escort, the field supervisor shall provide the marked units necessary. All emergency lights, siren and headlights shall be activated, but the radio shall be used only at the recommendation of the bomb technician.

Revised 9/05; Revised 11/17

259.50 Explosions

In cases where an explosion has occurred, the procedures for notification, scene security and responsibility for follow-up investigation are the same as in a major crime scene.

When the scene is secured, the field supervisor shall coordinate the preservation of evidence and allow no unauthorized personnel into the danger zone.

Explosions may cause structural damage and other undetonated explosives may still be present. Persons on scene should use caution, and no person shall enter the danger zone except to prevent injury to another. This does not apply to investigators or specialists examining the scene. Secondary devices and explosions as a result of leaking gas lines or entrapment bombing techniques must be guarded against to prevent injury to other persons.

260.0 Stolen Vehicles – Including Aircraft, Boats, and Heavy Equipment

260.10 Reporting

The officer should make contact with the reporting person upon receiving a stolen vehicle call. Once the officer determines the reported stolen vehicle has not been repossessed or impounded, the officer shall:

1. Obtain all necessary information to make the report;
2. Complete a Larceny of Motor Vehicle Statement;
3. Ensure the reporting party signs the Larceny of Motor Vehicle Statement;
4. Contact dispatch to broadcast the relevant information or send out an MDC message to all divisions;
5. Complete and submit a detailed incident report;

6. Contact the Crime Information Unit and provide them the case number and any other pertinent information needed to generate an NCIC entry;
7. Submit the completed Larceny of Motor Vehicle Statement for delivery to the Crime Information Unit; and
8. Provide the reporting party with a Stolen Vehicle Information form and a PD-16 form.

If the stolen vehicle is recovered prior to the officer contacting the Crime Information Unit to enter the vehicle into NCIC, the officer shall not contact the Crime Information Unit to enter the vehicle. The officer shall complete and submit a detailed incident report regarding the theft and recovery of the vehicle.

Revised 8/99; Revised 06/08; Revised 12/19

260.20 Recovery Procedures

When the officer encounters property believed to be stolen, CIU will be contacted for verification. On “hits” from other agencies, the officer will abide by the NCIC “hit” procedures.

If a vehicle is confirmed stolen, CIU will attempt to contact the owner unless otherwise directed by the officer.

The owner of the vehicle may be allowed up to one (1) hour to retrieve the vehicle or request a specific wrecker. Circumstances should be considered before the vehicle is impounded after the one-hour period.

When the vehicle is impounded, only the district wrecker will be utilized. During impoundment, the officer will adhere to the current impound procedures. Unless other circumstances dictate, simply being a stolen vehicle does not warrant a hold being placed on the vehicle.

Officers should be alert to any evidence within or around the vehicle which could lead to the identity of the suspect or the possibility of the vehicles use in another crime. Evidence technicians or qualified officers should be contacted when applicable.

The officer shall complete and submit a detailed incident supplement report, recovering the stolen vehicle, as soon as is practical.

Revised 8/99; Revised 12/19

260.30 Stolen Aircraft, Boats and Heavy Equipment

Officers should make every reasonable effort to allow the owner to pick up this property.

When recovering a stolen aircraft, officers should allow the owner sufficient time to make a disposition of the aircraft. If disposition cannot be made, the supervisor of the Air Support Unit or a designee will be contacted for disposition.

Revised 8/99; Revised 12/19

261.0 Stolen Marked Police Vehicles

In the event a marked Oklahoma City Police vehicle is reported stolen, all officers responding to the area of the theft will engage the factory installed emergency flashers of their vehicle in order to make other officers in the area aware that theirs is not the stolen vehicle.

This information is not be broadcast over the police radio.

The above procedure will remain in effect until the stolen Police vehicle is located or the search of the immediate area is terminated.

262.0 Victim Rights Notifications

The Oklahoma Victim's Rights Act provides that victims of crimes have certain constitutional and statutory rights. Victims of crimes which occur within our city shall be notified of their rights in accordance with state statutes.

Victims of crime shall be provided with an Oklahoma Crime Victims Rights – General Crime brochure upon initial contact with a responding officer. If a victim is incapacitated or otherwise unable to receive or comprehend his or her rights, the brochure may be provided to a family member or other responsible person.

Victims of violent crimes shall be provided an Oklahoma Crime Victims Rights – General Crime brochure by the officer who interviews the victim. If the victim is a minor child or incompetent person, a responsible adult shall be provided with the brochure containing the victim's rights.

Pursuant to 21 O.S. § 142A-2, family members of homicide victims are entitled to the same rights as crime victims, regardless of whether or not the person is to be a witness in any criminal proceeding. The family member who receives the death notification shall be provided with an Oklahoma Crime Victims Rights – General Crime brochure.

Victims of certain crimes, including domestic abuse, sexual assault and human trafficking, have special rights which must be provided to them. Victims of these crimes shall be provided with an Oklahoma Crime Victims Rights – Domestic Violence, Sexual Assault & Human Trafficking brochure by the first officer who interviews the victim. If a sexual assault victim is a minor child or incompetent person, a responsible adult shall be provided with the brochure containing the victim's rights.

264.0 DUI and APC Procedures

264.01 APC Suspect

Officers who receive a call or come upon a subject who appears to be under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs and is in actual physical control of a motor vehicle may effect an arrest for APC if they can verify the vehicle is operable and the subject has the means to operate the vehicle (i.e., the keys) in their possession or within their reach. These elements must be documented in the arrest report. Arrests for APC will be processed in the same manner as DUI arrests. According to State law, officers are prohibited from arresting a subject for APC if the subject is parked in the driveway of their own residence. However, other criminal charges may apply.

Adopted 7/07; Revised 9/14; Revised 1/16; Revised 3/16

264.05 Stopping a DUI Suspect

When stopping a driver suspected of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs, officers should pay particular attention to the position and method of stopping the patrol vehicle and method of approaching the suspect vehicle. Officers should be especially alert for sudden or erratic actions on the part of the driver, which may consequently result in property damage or personal injury. Officers should position themselves and their vehicle in a safe manner in an attempt to prevent damage or injury.

OFFICERS MUST BE AWARE THE MAJORITY OF ASSAULTS ON OFFICERS AND RESISTING ARREST INCIDENTS INVOLVE PEOPLE WHO ARE UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF ALCOHOL AND/OR DRUGS.

Should the detention of a DUI suspect be coincidental with a collision investigation, a second officer should be requested to assist in the investigation of the collision, when practical, and the DUI suspect should be removed from the scene as soon as possible.

Revised 7/07

264.10 Observing a DUI Suspect

Subsequent to the traffic stop, officers should observe the physical appearance and the demeanor of the suspect driver. At the point at which the suspect's appearance and demeanor indicate evidence of driving under the influence, the driver shall be removed from the vehicle, searched and secured in a police vehicle.

Revised 3/93; Revised 7/07

264.20 Arrest of a Suspect

The arresting officer shall advise the suspect he/she is being arrested for DUI or APC. Officers must inform the suspect of his/her Implied Consent test request. The suspect shall be read the Miranda warning when appropriate.

Unless there is a situation when a breath test would be impractical or impossible, the test offered shall be a breath test. In cases when a different test is needed, the test offered shall be a blood test.

The arresting officer shall be responsible for the security or impoundment of the suspect's vehicle. The suspect shall not be permitted the intake of any substance (other than emergency medication), in his/her mouth prior to testing.

264.23 Testing Facilities

Whenever possible, officers will use the Intoxilyzer room provided by the Department. All arrestees will remain handcuffed while in the Department's facility for officer safety reasons. The Intoxilyzer room is not a holding facility. While in the testing facility, the arrestee will remain seated and handcuffed. The officer who has custody of the prisoner who is being tested will maintain his/her authorized duty weapon on his/her person while in the testing room. At no time will the arrestee be left unattended in the testing facility. Juvenile and adult suspects shall not be detained or tested in the Intoxilyzer room at the same time. If an officer is unable to handcuff an arrestee for any reason, an arrestee is combative, or the Intoxilyzer at Police Headquarters is not functioning, the officer will transport the arrestee to the testing site provided by the Oklahoma County Jail. If an officer utilizes the testing facility at the jail, he or she will follow all applicable jail procedures (see Procedure 235.0).

The use of cell phones, handheld radios or any other electronic device is prohibited in the Intoxilyzer room while the Intoxilyzer is in use, except in the case of an emergency. In the event that an officer needs to summon immediate assistance to the Intoxilyzer room, the officer may press the panic button which is installed in the wall.

If a subject is arrested for DUI or APC and is suspected of being under the influence of drugs or is physically unable to take a breath test, the subject will be transported to a medical facility to conduct a blood test.

Adopted 7/07; Revised 9/14; Revised 1/16; Revised 3/16

264.25 Deprivation Period

Upon arrival at the breath testing facility, the Intoxilyzer Operator shall check the arrested subject's mouth and determine no foreign substances are present. The Intoxilyzer Operator shall continuously observe the person to be tested for a minimum of 15 minutes prior to the administration of a breath test. The Intoxilyzer Operator shall be alert to any evidence of intoxication and should record these observations in detail for future testimony.

The Intoxilyzer Operator shall complete the required information on the Officer's Affidavit and Notice of Revocation form. The arresting officer shall distribute the appropriate forms and copies to their proper location.

When the results of the breath test determines the suspect to have a breath alcohol concentration higher than the tolerance level set by the jail facility, the arresting officer will be required to transport the suspect to a hospital for treatment by medical personnel. Officers shall contact the jail medical personnel to determine the current level of intoxication requiring transportation to a medical facility.

Whenever possible, the arresting officer and the Intoxilyzer Operator shall be the same officer.

264.30 Blood Tests

When a breath test cannot be administered, a blood sample shall be taken. If the suspect agrees to a blood test, an officer will transport the suspect to a hospital, where medical personnel will draw the blood sample. An officer must witness the blood being drawn.

Whenever an officer has probable cause to believe a person who is unconscious was driving under the influence, and was not involved in a great bodily injury or fatal collision, the officer shall request medical personnel draw blood from the suspect. The officer will process the vials of blood according to the blood kit directions. The blood kit will be completed, sealed, and placed in the refrigerated drop in the OCPD Property Management unit. When the suspect regains consciousness, the arresting officer (if he/she is still present) or investigator will read the Implied Consent test request to the suspect. The suspect's response will be noted in the report. All routine forms shall be completed and submitted.

The definition of great bodily injury can be found in Oklahoma State Statutes Title 47, Section 11-904.

Revised 7/07; Revised 9/14

264.40 Blood Test - Fatality or Great Bodily Injury Collision without Consent

Pursuant to 47 O.S. § 752 and § 753, whenever an officer has a person under arrest for DUI (alcohol and/or drugs) and the officer has reason to believe the arrestee caused a traffic collision that resulted in death or great bodily injury to any other person or persons, the officer will request a blood test. Should the arrestee refuse the test, the officer will attempt to obtain a search warrant for a blood draw as described in Procedure 264.41, unless medical personnel advise the officer there is not sufficient time to obtain a warrant due to emergency medical treatment in which case, the officer will request medical personnel to draw blood. Officers are not authorized to use force to obtain a blood sample.

In cases where an officer is unable to establish probable cause to believe the driver was under the influence of an intoxicant and no DUI arrest is made, but the driver could be cited for any other traffic offense where said accident resulted in a death or great bodily injury, as defined in Title 21 O.S 646(B), it is this department's position the driver will not be compelled to give a blood sample and the officer will not attempt to obtain a search warrant. This does not preclude an individual involved in a collision as described above from voluntarily submitting to a blood test. Voluntary submissions are encouraged and are completed in the same manner as prescribed in procedure 264.30 but the Officer's Affidavit and Notice of Revocation will readily reflect this blood draw is not to be used as an action against their driver's license.

Revised 7/07; Revised 4/11; Revised 9/14

264.41 Search Warrant Procedures

Pursuant to Procedure 264.40, when an arrest for DUI (alcohol or drugs) has been made and the arrestee caused a traffic collision resulting in great bodily injury or death to any other person(s) and the arrestee refuses the State's blood test request, the arresting officer shall notify an on-duty patrol supervisor of the need for a search warrant for the arrestee's blood. The on-duty patrol supervisor will make contact with the on-call Signal 30 supervisor with details regarding the arrest.

If the on-call Signal 30 supervisor believes there is enough evidence to obtain the search warrant for blood, he/she will assign a Signal 30 investigator to collect the details regarding the arrest and impairment from the arresting officer in order to request the blood draw warrant. The Signal 30 investigator will contact a district judge of the county where the blood will be drawn and request a search warrant as per the Signal 30 Unit's SOPs. This can be done by one of three means: traditional process, telephone or by electronic mail/other electronic communication.

If a search warrant is obtained and the arrestee is not already at a hospital, he/she will be transported to a hospital where the arresting officer will inform the hospital personnel of the circumstances of the arrest and request hospital personnel draw blood from the arrestee without his/her consent but pursuant to the search warrant. The appropriate officer will process the blood kit as required.

Adopted 9/14; Revised 1/16

264.42 Fatality or Great-Bodily-Injury Collision Involving a Driver Who is Unconscious at the Time of the Blood Draw

Whenever an officer has probable cause to believe a person who is unconscious, was driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was operating a vehicle in such a manner as to cause a collision resulting in a fatality or great bodily injury to any other person or persons, the officer shall inform medical personnel this suspect is under arrest and request that medical personnel draw the suspect's blood. A hospital guard will be assigned to the suspect. Once the suspect regains consciousness and is capable of understanding the Implied Consent test request, a Signal 30 lieutenant or investigator will advise the person of the Implied Consent. The person's response will be noted in the appropriate report. The Signal 30 investigator will contact the appropriate prosecutor to determine when or if to apply for a search warrant to test the suspect's blood.

Adopted 9/14

264.45 DUI/APC Drugs

When a suspect is arrested for DUI or APC and is suspected of being under the influence of drugs, the only test available is the blood test. The officer shall offer the suspect a blood test under the Implied Consent law. If the suspect agrees to the blood test he/she will be transported to the proper hospital and medical personnel will draw the sample. If the suspect refuses the blood test and is not involved in a great bodily injury or fatality collision, this will be classified as a refusal and no warrant will be requested.

Once this is done, the arresting officer shall sign the affidavit entering the time and date of service. The officer will then complete a Probable Cause Affidavit (if necessary) and an arrest report.

No person shall be found intoxicated in any public place or upon any private property not lawfully under his or her control.

Revised 2/03; Revised 4/17

265.10 Alternative Treatment Programs (Public Inebriate Alternative)

Where the Oklahoma Department of Mental Health or the governing body of any municipality has approved a program alternative (PIA) to statutory or municipal requirements of prosecution and imprisonment of intoxicated persons, such facility will be utilized until the capacity to accommodate intoxicated persons has been exceeded in the facility. The officer involved in detaining an intoxicated individual shall utilize such alternative treatment program upon the voluntary approval of the intoxicated person and the receiving facility rather than proceeding with an arrest under the statutory or municipal laws pertaining to prosecution and imprisonment of intoxicated persons.

PIA will not accept any intoxicated person who:

1. Has not voluntarily agreed to go to the PIA;
2. Is in need of immediate medical attention that includes severe head injuries or lack of consciousness;
3. Is on the PIA Ban List for being violent toward PIA staff or other PIA clients;
4. Is or is alleged to have been acting, threatening or otherwise demonstrating violent or aggressive behavior which includes but is not limited to verbal abuse or have reportedly done so in a reasonable time prior to being taken into custody so as to suggest they may be a threat or pose a risk of harm to themselves, others or property;
5. Is, has been, has threatened, or is threatening to engage in fighting or violent threatening behavior or threatened others or themselves or threatened or acted in a manner so as to endanger public or private property with any injury or damage.

Officers are authorized to consider any person meeting any one of the non-acceptable PIA admitting categories as “not approved” for the PIA, as allowed by state law and place them in jail. Officers that arrest and place a person in jail for public intoxication, as the sole charge, shall document in their arrest report the justification for not placing the person into the PIA.

Transporting a person to PIA is considered protective custody and not an arrest. If there are unusual circumstances that need to be documented, officers shall complete a report. In the report, officers shall identify the person as an “IP” and shall not indicate or imply that the person was arrested or charged with a crime.

267.0 Foreign Nationals

Revised 11/07

267.10 Legal Requirements

Oklahoma City Police Department employees have no lawful authority to enforce federal immigration laws.

All foreign nationals legally living in the United States should have proper identification. A foreign national means any person who is not a United States citizen by birth or naturalization. Identification and determination of immigration status is complicated and may include any of the following types of valid status: Non-immigrant visa, immigrant visa, pending application for “Asylum” or “Protected status”, refugee status and/or pending application for adjustment of legal status.

Revised 11/07

267.15 Consular Notification

Federal law requires all arrested foreign nationals be advised of their right to contact their consulate and in certain cases provide for mandatory notification. Oklahoma County Jail personnel, by agreement, will provide said notice and make notifications when required.

Adopted 11/07

267.20 Police Involvement

A significant goal of law enforcement is to foster trust between the Department and the community by ensuring enforcement actions will be taken without regard of a person’s immigration status.

Officers are reminded of the prohibition of bias-based policing (Policy 225.0) and the lack of authority to enforce federal immigration laws. Therefore, officers should not inquire into a person’s immigration status during routine calls for service unless the officer can show reasonable suspicion, supported by objective and clearly defined facts that the immigration status of the involved person is relevant to the scope of the investigation.

If an officer believes a violation of State Statute Title 21 Section 446 has occurred, they will contact a supervisor, complete an appropriate report, and notify United States Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) to verify immigration status of any involved party prior to taking enforcement action. Title 21 O.S. 446 states the following:

- A. “It shall be unlawful for any person to transport, move, or attempt to transport in the State of Oklahoma any alien knowing or in reckless disregard of the fact that the alien has come to, entered, or remained in the United States in violation of law, in furtherance of the illegal presence of the alien in the United States.
- B. It shall be unlawful for any person to conceal, harbor, or shelter from detection any alien in any place within the State of Oklahoma, including any building or means of transportation, knowing or in reckless disregard of the fact that the alien has come to, entered, or remained in the United States in violation of law.”

Should an officer develop reasonable suspicion a federal immigration law has been violated, ICE may be contacted. If ICE is contacted, the involved officer must contact a supervisor and complete an appropriate report. Only an on-scene ICE agent will make decisions regarding permanent detentions and arrests for violations of Federal Immigration laws.

271.0 Foot Patrol

It shall be the policy of this Department to utilize the foot beat officer as a supportive tool, to assist with crime deterrence, offender apprehension, traffic direction and public relations.

The duties of the foot beat officer are to patrol his assigned areas in a random manner to deter any criminal activity, and to assist the citizens with any problems, which might occur.

Oklahoma City currently has four beat areas: Downtown Oklahoma City, N.E. 23rd street, Capitol Hill and a 24-hour beat in the Stockyards area.

271.10 Responsibilities

During his assigned shift, a foot patrol officer will be required to perform the following duties:

- A. Check all businesses within his assigned beat to assure that all-accessible doors and windows are secure during hours that the business is closed.
- B. Check all taverns and clubs within his assigned beat, during business hours, for possible criminal activity.
- C. Patrol through all alleys within the assigned beat to observe and deter criminal activity.

Foot patrol officers will be equipped with a portable radio during their tour of duty and will have the radio turned on at all times to keep the line of communications open between themselves, dispatchers and other officers.

Foot patrol officers should become acquainted with business owners and employees within their beat and should check with the employees periodically in order to become aware of any problems or potential problems.

Foot patrol officers should familiarize themselves with known criminal elements who are living or working within their beat, as well as those who patronize businesses within their beat.

Foot patrol officers should periodically meet with vehicular patrol officers assigned to districts within and around their beat, to exchange and relay information on criminal activity.

272.0 Lake Duties

Primary duties for officers assigned to lake districts include:

- A. Enforcing water safety regulations;
- B. Enforcing game and fish regulations; and
- C. Enforcing City permit ordinances that relate to the use of recreational facilities on or about the municipal reservoirs. In addition to these duties the officer will also be responsible for taking enforcement action on violations of municipal ordinances or state laws occurring in the officer's lake district that may be of either a criminal or traffic nature.

On-Water Patrol Activity

While officers are patrolling on a lake, all water safety regulations will be observed and each officer in a patrol boat will wear an approved personal flotation device (Type I, II or III).

During periods of inclement weather, officers will not launch a patrol watercraft unless necessary to effect a rescue operation.

The following rules will apply when operating a patrol watercraft:

- A. All safety equipment will be inspected and in good operating condition prior to launch.
- B. Two officers will be required aboard the vessel when conducting rescue operations except in cases of extreme emergency. Routine assists, such as towing, can be done at the officer's discretion allowing for safety considerations.
- C. Nighttime operations of any kind require at least two officers aboard.

Inspection and Repair of Patrol Boats

Each patrol boat shall be inspected prior to each use or at least twice per month.

All normal boat repairs will be performed by qualified boat service repairmen. Officers will not attempt to make repairs or adjustments on boats or engines that could result in damage or an unsafe operating condition without prior approval from a supervisor.

Any officer observing or knowing of any damage or needed repair to a boat should report the condition to the Lake Patrol Supervisor. The extent of damage or the repair needed will determine the priority for maintenance. Any safety related defect noted will require that the boat be taken out of service until repaired.

Officers may perform minor repairs related to prop replacement and loose fittings or bolts as needed.

Off-Water Patrol Activity

During periods that an officer chooses to patrol the shore area of his or her assigned lake, he or she will remain in the immediate vicinity of the lake and patrol known areas of concern or special areas of assignment.

Special Patrol Requests

Officers will receive requests from the Oklahoma City Game and Fish Commission to provide a survey of the reservoirs from time to time in reference to recreational use. Officers will comply with these requests whenever possible, as time and circumstances permit.

Marine Investigation

When notified of a boating accident, officers should attempt to gain as much information as possible from the reporting party. Officers should obtain as much information as possible regarding any possible injuries or deaths, the number of boats involved and locations, and the possible location of the scene of the accident. The officer's first priority should be to provide aid to any persons who have been injured.

If the scene can be located it should be preserved, if possible, until all physical evidence is located and recorded.

Statements from witnesses should be recorded and in the event of a serious injury or death a statement handwritten by the witness(es) is preferred.

A Marine Investigation Report form will be completed for all accidents involving death, injury or total property damage of $2000.00 or more.

Accidents reported to an officer verbally or after a significant amount of time has passed will be recorded as an incident report. A statement should be included in the remark section of the report that information was obtained from statements made only by the reporting party.

An incident number is required on all forms and should be placed on the top center of the form inside the black borderline.

Damage to Patrol Boats

In the event of a collision, the operator of the involved patrol boat will notify his or her supervisor as soon as possible of the incident and provide information regarding the extent of injuries and/or damage.

An uninvolved officer will be requested to investigate the incident and complete the appropriate forms. A written report of the investigation will be required if there is damage to the crafts involved.

If a patrol boat is damaged under any other circumstances, a report will be completed if the damage exceeds what would be considered normal wear and tear. A supervisor will respond to the scene and determine if the damage meets reporting requirements.

If a patrol boat is damaged as a result of a collision or any other incident and requires repair, the boat operator will complete a damage to city equipment report form.

In the event that a patrol boat is incapacitated, it will be removed from the lake and transported to an authorized city vendor.

Impounding Boats / Trailers

Due to the difficulty in arranging for an impoundment of a boat that does not have an attendant trailer, the officer should explore every reasonable alternative to impoundment. For example, if a temporary relocation will alleviate the problem, then moving the boat to an unused stall would be appropriate. The officer should make every effort to protect the boat from damage while it is in use.

Any boat that has been involved in a collision should be released to a responsible party, if possible, under the following circumstances:

1. If the operator is removed from the scene, or
2. If an arrest is made and the operator is taken into custody.

Consideration may also be given to removing the boat to a secure place instead of impoundment.

The Oklahoma City Water Trust rents both wet slips and dry stalls at Lake Hefner and Lake Stanley Draper. The impoundment of boats and trailers for non-payment of rent shall be carried out by the Water Trust. The impoundment of boats and trailers in this circumstance follows Water Trust procedure. Officers will not impound boats for failure to pay for the rent on wet slips and dry stalls.

Boats presenting a navigational hazard due to their location, either afloat or sunken, may be impounded unless their removal can be carried out by the owner in a timely manner. The boat may be removed to a secure place until the owner is notified and makes arrangement to retrieve their boat. When all means of notifying the owner have failed the Oklahoma City Water Trust will be notified. The impoundment will then follow Water Trust procedure.

Officers may assist as needed by towing impounded boats only the distance necessary for the towing company to take over. Officers will take into consideration the impounded boat's condition, weather, lake conditions, location of the boat, and whether or not the towing company is incapable of moving the boat without our assistance.

Boats on trailers and empty trailers in any dry stall or gated facility under the control of the Oklahoma City Water Trust will not be impounded for non-payment of rental fees. These boats and trailers may be impounded by the Oklahoma City Water Trust.

All boats and trailers not within a dry stall, wet stall, or gated facility controlled by the Oklahoma City Water Trust will be treated in accordance with all applicable ordinances regarding derelict or unattended boats.

Disabled Boats

When advised of a disabled vessel, officers will assist the owner of the vessel in the safe and timely removal from the waters or ramps of City owned reservations. Vessels disabled on the water may be towed by the officer to the place of entry for removal. Officers stopping, towing or otherwise assisting disabled vessels shall leave in operation all emergency lights of the patrol boat to protect both vessels during the operation.

The removal of any sunken vessel shall be the responsibility of the owner unless the vessel is under investigation due to a boating accident, or is a navigational hazard due to its location. The vessel may be impounded if removal by the owner has not been completed in a timely manner after a request for such removal has been made by the officer.

Stall Area Security

Officers are responsible for maintaining security at the wet and dry stall facilities. They will ensure that all gates are closed and locked and entry to these areas should be limited to authorized renters and guests.

During each shift, officers will conduct a visual or physical check of all stall areas. Individuals found in or around these areas will be interviewed to determine purpose or authority for entry. Field Interview cards will be completed on anyone not authorized entry in the area. In the event that a violation has occurred, the officer may make an arrest or issue a citation as necessary.

Officers should vary inspection times to avoid setting noticeable patterns.

Upon observing problems with moored vessels, the owners should be notified, if possible, as soon as possible.

Boat Alarm Response

Officers responding to a boat alarm should check the stall section gate for a possible break-in and check the boat for signs of break in or vandalism. Officers should attempt to locate and arrest suspects and contact the owner of the boat when appropriate.

Recreational Facilities Use and Violations

Officers should familiarize themselves with all City owned properties and recreational facilities within their assigned area. Special use areas, such as the Draper motorcycle area, String of Pearls parks, etc. and the ordinances pertaining to them should be of particular interest.

Recreational activities considered to be dangerous or not in the best interests of safety or the City of Oklahoma City will be terminated until further evaluation of the activity can be made by the appropriate authority.

All recreational facility enforcement activity will be consistent with current city, state, and federal laws and officers will, when possible, attempt to gain voluntary compliance.

Game and Fish

Officers are expected to obtain and familiarize themselves with material aiding in the identification of all game and fish in their patrol district. Officers should make an attempt to learn the particular method and means of taking the various species of game and fish in their area. This will result in a more professional image for the department if an officer is called on to make an identification or asked to provide advice to a citizen.

Officers should be familiar with all hunting and fishing regulations of both the state and city.

In order to prevent or detect violations of the hunting and fishing laws, officers should become familiar with the various methods of illegally taking game and fish such as: use of drop lines, trot lines, nets, spotlights traps, and snares.

All violators should be arrested for a municipal charge unless it can be determined that a state charge would be more appropriate. A supervisor will have to authorize a state charge. In the event that state charges are filed all equipment used in committing the violation should be confiscated for evidence in accordance with Title 29 §6-306.

Weather Watch

Officers should watch for and identify any possible hazardous weather conditions that would affect safe boating or safety of the general public.

Diving

Diving is not permitted in City lakes, except with the express permission of the Chief of Police, or during an emergency situation or salvage operation.

Revised 3/93; Revised 11/18

282.11 Out of Jurisdiction Request for Assistance

In the event the Tactical Unit is requested for out of jurisdiction assistance, the requesting agency must first seek assistance from the Sheriff's Office having jurisdiction. If the Sheriff cannot respond, only then will the Oklahoma City Police Department be contacted.

Protocol has been established to provide guidelines and authority to assist other law enforcement agencies when requested to resolve police tactical unit situations.

Providing the location is within the metropolitan area, the Watch Commander will respond to the location. An evaluation of the incident and determination of what resources will be needed will be made. The requesting agency will articulate the inability of the Sheriff to respond with the means necessary to resolve the situation. The Watch Commander shall contact and brief the Tactical Unit Commander.

The Tactical Unit Commander shall contact the Chief of Police or a designee. Either the Chief of Police or a designee must authorize the assignment of the Tactical Unit to another jurisdiction. This authority is established by Oklahoma State Statutes (1988), Title 11, Section 34-103. If approval is given, the Watch Commander will request a Tactical Unit Commander or designee.

The Tactical Unit Commander or a designee will respond to the location for an evaluation of the incident. The Chief of Police will be briefed for his final authority and assignment of personnel.

The Tactical Unit Commander or a designee will contact and brief the requesting agency. The Commander will define what authority and responsibilities the Tactical Unit will assume in resolving the situation. If authority is granted by the requesting agency, the Department will retain operational and command control over all aspects of the tactical situation. In the event the Tactical Unit assumes the operation or serves as a support unit; this will be established prior to the assignment.

The Tactical Unit members shall be supervised only by the Oklahoma City Police Department Tactical Unit Commander or a designee. All policies and procedures of the Operations Manual shall be followed.

The Chief of Police may directly assign the Tactical Unit to out-of-jurisdiction incidents upon direct requests of said agency or scheduled events.

Adopted 1/96

282.20 Operations Bureau Responsibilities

282.21 Responsibility of Officer On Call

Officer receives information of a situation that, if confirmed, requires the use of the Tactical Unit (See 281.10). Upon arrival, he confirms that the reported situation actually exists. He then advises the field supervisor and requests additional personnel as needed.

He secures the area and, if possible, tries to identify the number of suspects and determine whether or not they are armed, and whether or not hostages are present. He evacuates citizens that can be evacuated safely and keeps a log of buildings evacuated and all names of those evacuated.

Revised 4/92

282.22 Responsibilities of Field Supervisor

The on-scene supervisor will assume responsibility for the incident upon his arrival. He will insure that certain appropriate preliminary steps are taken while awaiting the Tactical Unit. These steps may include but are not limited to:

- A. Responds to scene and makes perimeter assignments as needed.
- B. Advises Watch / Shift Commander of the situation.
- C. Activates a tactical radio channel.
- D. Advises dispatch of the best location for the Command Post and Tactical Unit truck.
 1. The location should be close enough to the scene to allow for the ease of deployment of men and equipment, but preferably out of view.
 2. The location should be in an area that will allow access to and from the Command Post without endangering those personnel using it.
- E. Cordon off the area around the incident.
- F. Establish a traffic control perimeter.
- G. Establish an area for the media and request the Public Information Officer.

Revised 4/92

282.23 Responsibilities of the Watch / Shift Commander

Makes the decision when to request a tactical unit call out and advises the Communications Unit. He will insure that a tactical situation does indeed exist.

282.30 Tactical Unit Arrival

When the Tactical Unit Commander arrives at the scene, he will be briefed by the on-scene supervisor and will assume command of the operation.

283.0 Hostage Negotiations

283.10 Objectives

The objective in any hostage situation is the release of the hostage unharmed and the arrest of the hostage taker(s) without incident. Officers should not lose sight of the objective and should remain flexible, adapting to the circumstances and conditions unique to that particular situation. The concept of time, talk, and tactics will be applicable to negotiations.

283.40 General Information

In order to avoid having any additional hostages taken, no one will be allowed to enter the subject's area of control. Under no circumstances should weapons, alcohol or drugs be provided to the subject during negotiations.

An attempt should be made to ascertain the number, identity, condition and specific location of any hostages.

As a general rule, the initial officers on the scene should avoid any form of direct contact with the suspect; officers are strongly discouraged from engaging the suspect in conversation. There will be instances where this general rule will be violated, but this must be done with the knowledge that these are the great exception to the rule. If some form of direct contact is made with the suspect, the job of the negotiator is made more difficult once he arrives, as the suspect may be reluctant to deal with someone new once he has established what he feels is a rapport with the initial officer.

284.0 Active Threats

Adopted 9/01; Revised 10/15

284.05 Definitions

- A. Active Threat - An active threat is any situation where a person(s) is actively in the process of killing, inflicting serious bodily injury, or otherwise causing serious imminent danger to others. An active threat may occur in any environment and is not limited to any particular weapon or means of causing danger. Active threats may occur inside a structure such as a school, mall, or business, but they can also occur outside, in public, and in other open areas.
- B. Contact Team (Call sign "Contact One") - An officer or group of officers whose primary mission is to stop the active threat.

- E. Rescue Team (Call sign "Rescue One") - A group of Fire and Police personnel assigned to enter areas cleared by the Contact Team to locate, recover, and facilitate the evacuation process of victims to safe areas or to medical personnel for treatment. Adopted 10/15; Revised 3/16; Revised 3/18; Revised 4/19

284.10 Police Objectives in Response to an Active Threat

In response to an active threat, the Police Department’s overarching objectives are to:

- A. Locate the active threat;
- B. Stop the active threat;
- C. Rescue victims; and
- D. Secure and preserve the crime scene.

Adopted 9/01; Revised 10/15

284.15 Implementation of Active Threat Protocol

When an active threat is reasonably believed to exist based on the determination of a law enforcement officer at the scene or a supervisor at Communications, a coordinated response is needed by Police, Fire, and Emergency Medical Services (EMSA). This will be initiated through an active threat protocol by Communications. This protocol will result in the notification of Police, Fire, and EMSA, command staff and designated support personnel.

An active threat protocol will generally require three radio channels. The primary channel will be used during the crisis phase to keep radio communications on the original channel/frequency as when the incident began. The primary channel will be used by the Contact Team, Recon Teams, Rescue Teams, and Inner Perimeter. The secondary channel (OCPD1 Dispatch 6) is designated for all other personnel on the incident (e.g., outer perimeter, staging area, intel team, media relations) as this channel allows both OCPD and OCFD to communicate with each other. A third channel will be used by the affected division for all radio traffic not related to the incident. The affected division will be directed to utilize their TACT channel for non-incident related communications. See Procedure 284.50.

Coordinated response components should include Contact Team(s), Incident Commander, Staging Area Manager, Medical Team Leader, Inner Perimeter Team Leader, Outer Perimeter Team Leader, Intel Team Leader, Rescue Team(s), Office of Media Relations, Family Assistance Center, and a Safety Officer.

An active threat response is managed using initial response incident management. The initial response on-scene incident management shall minimally include the use of a functional approach and application of the principals of the incident command system. The functional approach involves identifying the functions that need to be performed based on the circumstances and assigning resources to accomplish them.

Adopted 3/16; Revised 3/18; Revised 4/19

284.20 Responsibilities of Responding Officers

Officers are authorized to respond as quickly and safely as possible to an active threat and adhere to the following procedures:

- A. Responding officers do not need to notify the Communications Unit they are responding Code 3.
- B. The first officer(s) on scene will conduct a quick assessment of the situation and determine if an active threat exists and rapid deployment is appropriate. Facts available on scene will be relayed to Communications.
- C. When an active threat is reasonably believed to exist, request the Communications Unit implement the Active Threat protocol.
- D. If appropriate, the first officer(s) on scene will establish a contact team. The team should consist of at least two officers. However, depending on the circumstances and availability, the team may range from one to six officers.
- E. The contact team will identify one member to be the lead officer. The lead officer will direct and control all movements of the contact team. A supervisor or Tactical Team member will serve as the lead officer if one is immediately available.
- F. The lead officer of the contact team will designate a member of the contact team to be the communications officer. The communications officer will use call sign Contact One and be responsible for advising the Communications Unit:
 1. the unit number of the officers on the team;
 2. whether any members of the Contact Team are in plain clothes, and if so a clothing description;
 3. when the contact team makes entry;
 4. the entry point;
 5. direction of travel;
 6. updated suspect information;
 7. notify Incident Commander if victims are located;
 8. the location of barricades or potential explosive devices; and
 9. any other pertinent information.

Critical information broadcasted by radio should be repeated more than once to increase awareness and understanding. If there are additional Contact Teams deployed, call signs will be Contact Two, Three, etc.

- G. The contact team's primary objective is to locate and stop the active threat. The contact team will attempt to locate the suspect(s) as quickly as possible, consistent with tactical considerations and reasonable officer safety concerns.
- H. If the contact team locates and confronts the suspect(s), the team will take actions that are reasonably necessary to prevent any further injury or death. The contact team's response will be largely dependent on the actions of the suspect(s). In the event the suspect(s) barricades themselves in a location where there are no known or potential victims or captives, the contact team shall establish an inner perimeter to contain the suspect(s) and request the response of the Tactical Unit. In the event the suspect(s) barricades themselves with potential captives or victims and no further active assaults are occurring, the contact team should determine whether an immediate entry is necessary or establish an inner perimeter to contain the suspect(s) and request the response of the Tactical Unit.
- I. If the contact team locates ambulatory persons who could be safely evacuated, officers will direct them to the safest exit route. If persons cannot safely be evacuated, they will be directed to shelter in place.
- J. If the contact team is unable to locate the suspect(s), the team will initiate a systematic search for the suspect(s).
- K. As each area that includes injured persons is cleared by the Contact Team, the Contact Team should assess whether it is safe for a Rescue Team to enter each cleared area. Any information known about a secondary hazard needs to be communicated. For purposes of using unified terminology between Police, Fire, and EMSA first responders, the following location identifiers are defined:
 1. Kill Zone – Area of imminent danger to responders and general public where the threat is present; this includes the threat's field of fire
 2. Hot Zone – Areas that have not been cleared by Police
 3. Warm Zone – Areas that have been quickly cleared by Police but not secure
 4. Cold Zone – Areas that are secure

- L. If additional contact teams are formed, they will consult and coordinate with the communications officer in the first contact team prior to making entry.
- M. A Recon Team may be formed and deployed.
 - 1. A Recon Team is responsible for moving in the direction of the contact team and directing rescue teams to the locations of victims.
 - 2. A Recon Team should provide first aid limited to apparent life-threatening injuries.
 - 3. A Recon Team should not seek out the active threat but may engage the active threat if they are presented with it.
- N. Responding officers not part of a contact team should:
 - 1. monitor the primary channel for updates from the Contact Team;
 - 2. begin forming and deploying rescue teams, if necessary;
 - 3. render medical aid to victims, if necessary;
 - 4. secure and preserve the scene(s) and triage area;
 - 5. respond to and assist the contact team(s) as directed;
 - 6. direct uninjured victims and witnesses to a safe designated area away from the inner perimeter. Police officers must be assigned to this location to obtain victim and witness information and provide security. Depending on the scale of the event, this function may become a Family Assistance Center. The location of a Family Assistance Center will be determined by the Incident Commander and Oklahoma City Emergency Management; and
 - 7. assist the on-scene supervisor or incident commander with accomplishing other objectives and related tasks.
- O. Information on the incident developed by responding officers will be provided to the first supervisor on-scene.

Adopted 9/01; Revised 10/15; Revised 3/16; Revised 3/18; Revised 9/18; Revised 4/19

284.30 Responsibilities of the On-Scene Supervisor

The first supervisor on the scene of an active threat that is not part of a Contact Team will serve as incident commander using call sign Incident Command, pending the arrival of the watch commander. This supervisor will notify Communications of this role and is responsible for the following duties:

- A. While establishing contact and monitoring communications from the Contact Team, the Incident Commander will be briefed by responding officers, make an initial assessment of the incident complexity, and begin managing the incident using a functional approach that involves identifying the functions that need to be performed and assigning resources to perform them. These early organizational steps will help first responders provide a coordinated response and establish the framework of an extended response. Call signs used will be the name of the function of each response component to assist with multidisciplinary coordination. Logistical communications will be broadcasted using a secondary channel, so the primary channel is available for emergency air transmissions from the Contact Team.
- B. Assign a Staging Area Manager (Call sign "Staging One").
 - 1. When possible, a Fire Officer will serve as Staging Area Manager.
 - 2. A police officer will be assigned to the Staging Area Manager to assist with coordination efforts.
 - 3. Multiple staging areas may be needed based on the scale of the event. Staging areas may be designated geographically or by function. Each staging area needs its own Staging Area Manager (Staging Two, etc.).
 - 4. The responsibilities of the Staging Area Manager include the following:
 - a. Ensure Communications is notified of the Staging Area Manager's unit number and location;
 - b. Identify a safe location outside the danger area with clear ingress and egress to serve as the staging area;
 - c. Notify Communications of the specific location of the staging area;
 - d. Immediately direct incoming resources to the staging area;
 - e. Ensure full ingress and egress is maintained for triage and Police, Fire, and EMSA. It is important to plan for ambulances in multiple casualty incidents constantly moving into and out of a staging area;

- f. Do not allow any unoccupied or parked vehicles to block access;
 - g. Organize and maintain a running list of incoming police vehicles, ambulances, and fire companies available for assignment. Log by agency, unit ID, type, and time;
 - h. Notify Communications what additional resources are needed at Staging;
 - i. Resolve radio problems while in Staging; and
 - j. Respond to Incident Command requesting resources.
- C. Assign a Medical Team Leader (Call sign “Medical”) after consulting with Fire/EMSA supervisors.
1. When possible, an EMSA supervisor will serve as Medical Team Leader.
 2. A police officer will be assigned to the Medical Team Leader to assist with coordination efforts. Safety intel will be shared between Police, Fire, and EMSA personnel working with the Medical Team.
 3. The responsibilities of the Medical Team Leader include the following:
 - a. Ensure Communications is notified of the Medical Team Leader’s unit number and location;
 - b. Ensure full ingress and egress of emergency medical services by coordinating with Staging Area Manager;
 - c. Ensure triage is performed through identifying the severity, number, and location of injured persons;
 - d. Ensure stabilizing treatment is rendered;
 - e. If a central triage, treatment, and transport capability is established but not sufficient due to the specific circumstances of the incident, multiple areas of triage, treatment, and transport may be required; and
 - f. Ensure injured persons are transported to appropriate medical facilities based on severity.
- D. Assign an Inner Perimeter Team Leader (Call sign “Inner Perimeter”).
1. When possible, a police supervisor will serve as Inner Perimeter Team Leader.
 2. The inner perimeter controls the incident through containment, which entails keeping the incident from expanding, restricting suspect movement, protecting the crime scene, and isolating the area by controlling access to it. Contain and isolate the incident by assigning personnel to specific posts at points of ingress and egress. Remove the general public and unauthorized persons from the inner perimeter.
 3. The responsibilities of the Inner Perimeter Team Leader include the following:
 - a. Ensure Communications is notified of the Inner Perimeter Team Leader’s unit number and location;
 - b. Ensure only public safety personnel authorized by the Incident Commander enter the inner perimeter;
 - c. Cover exit points for victims, witnesses, and suspects;
 - d. Officers maintaining the inner perimeter will assist in directing evacuees to either the medical triage area if injured or the Family Assistance Center if not injured. This response will allow each evacuee to receive assistance as needed and aid in the investigative process; and
 - e. Ensure crimes scene log(s) are completed.
- E. Assign an Outer Perimeter Team Leader (Call sign “Outer Perimeter”).
1. When possible, a police supervisor will serve as Outer Perimeter Team Leader.
 2. The outer perimeter controls the response to the incident by civilians, media, and emergency responders. The primary function is to control ingress and egress to the scene. Personnel should be assigned to specific posts at points of ingress and egress (e.g., streets, intersections, gates) to provide traffic control and control or restrict access.
 3. The responsibilities of the Outer Perimeter Team Leader include the following:
 - a. Ensure Communications is notified of the Outer Perimeter Team Leader’s unit number and location;
 - b. Evaluate the need to coordinate with Public Works for barricades as perimeter maintenance support;
 - c. Direct responding concerned parties to the Family Assistance Center; and
 - d. Ensure crimes scene log(s) are completed.
- F. Assign an Intel Team Leader (Call sign “Intel”).

1. When possible, a police supervisor from the Special Investigations Division will serve as the Intel Team Leader.
 2. The Intel Team Leader should gather and analyze information to support the following principles of incident management:
 - a. Situational Awareness – Identifying and understanding critical information about an incident
 - b. Threat Assessment – Measurement to analyze a threat’s credibility based on confirmation of its existence; history of criminality or terrorism; credible information that the threat endorses violence, is developing or acquiring weapons, or has plans to participate in a violent attack; capability of the threat to acquire resources and use them effectively to cause mass casualties; and credible information that a threat is planning an attack against a specific target.
 - c. Development of a Common Operating Picture – Overview of the incident shared amongst responders, managers, and affected parties
 - d. Development of Actionable or Tactical Intelligence – Information that has been evaluated and produces intelligence with time sensitive or immediate objectivesInformation and actionable intelligence should be shared with response partners, when appropriate. Information may include: building floorplan/schematics; suspect(s) information; known weapon(s); layout of neighborhood, surrounding area, or building(s); previous events at the location; suspect associates; size of affected area; number of persons involved; potential threats or opposition, timeline of events, and weather forecast.
 3. The responsibilities of the Intel Team Leader will include the following:
 - a. Ensure Communications is notified of the Intel Team Leader’s unit number and location;
 - b. Assist with obtaining contact information and a brief interview with each individual who has information about the event;
 - c. Function as the intel liaison with agencies (federal, state, local) which may need information or have information about the event;
 - d. Determine what additional intel assets are needed for the event and get the assets deployed;
 - e. Ascertain if any direct or peripheral threats (person, group, vehicles, residences, businesses) still exist at the initial event location or at a secondary location; and
 - f. Update the Contact Team or Incident Commander as needed with pertinent information.
- G. Coordinate Rescue Teams with Fire Department personnel (Call signs Rescue One, Rescue Two).
1. When numerous non-ambulatory injured persons are identified and the Contact Team has cleared a specific area, the Incident Commander will coordinate Rescue Teams with Fire and Police personnel.
 2. The role of the Rescue Team is to enter areas cleared by the Contact Team for the purpose of rescue. During rescue, treatment provided by Rescue Team personnel will be limited to life-threatening injuries only; others should be evacuated to the triage area for treatment.
 3. Rescue Teams should be formed with a minimum two Fire personnel and two Police personnel. Rescue Team size may be increased in multiples of two up to a maximum of eight Fire personnel and eight Police personnel for each Rescue Team.
 4. Police Officers assigned to a Rescue Team will provide protection and security for the Rescue Team and will focus on that priority and the movement of the team rather than the physical removal of casualties. If it is safe to do so, members of the Fire Department will tie a five foot strip of black and white triage tape to either the wrist or ankle of a confirmed deceased individual. The Fire Department will also close and conspicuously mark the doors of rooms that have been cleared of live victims with a strip of six foot yellow marking tape. The markings will reduce duplication efforts when more than one Rescue Team is operating. If the threat level increases to an unacceptable level, police officers assigned to a Rescue Team may suspend rescue operations, transition to extrication only without treatment, or shelter in place.
 5. Rescue Team efforts will be coordinated based on information provided by the Contact Team. Rescue Teams will notify Communications of their entry point, movement, and other safety information that will assist in life saving efforts.
 6. Additional uniformed police officers may be assigned to enter areas cleared by the Contact Team and move with the Rescue Team but focus on evacuation when it can be safely accomplished.

7. If there are additional Rescue Teams deployed, call signs will be Rescue Two, Three, etc.
- H. Coordinate with the Police Office of Media Relations to establish a designated media staging area outside the outer perimeter. The Police Office of Media Relations will be responsible for public information releases.
- I. Coordinate with Oklahoma City Emergency Management the establishment of a Family Assistance Center (FAC). Police officers/investigators must be assigned to this location to assist with the below listed duties.
 1. A Family Assistance Center (FAC) may be established in a safe designated location away from the scene. The FAC will be established and operated in accordance with the City's Family Assistance Center Plan. The FAC is a collaborative effort of the American Red Cross, the Oklahoma City Police Department, Medical Examiner's Office, funeral home directors, local clergy, and mental health professionals.
 2. Uniformed police officers must be assigned to this location to provide security.
 3. The FAC can be scaled as necessary to provide the following functions in a secure, controlled, and centralized location. The responsibilities of the FAC include the following:
 - a. Accounting for victims and survivors in the affected area or location of attack;
 - b. Reunification of families and separated persons;
 - c. Missing persons reporting and investigations;
 - d. Collecting victim and witness information;
 - e. Collecting ante mortem information on deceased and missing and presumed dead persons;
 - f. Delivering death notifications to next of kin and coordinate the release and disposition of human remains;
 - g. Providing information to friends, families, and next of kin about search and rescue and body recovery operations and the investigative process;
 - h. Protecting the next of kin and families from the media and curiosity seekers;
 - i. Providing emotional, spiritual, and mental health care for next of kin, families, and survivors; and
 - j. Meeting the immediate needs of the victims, survivors, and families.

Adopted 9/01; Revised 10/15; Revised 3/16; Revised 3/18

284.40 Responsibilities of the Watch/Shift Commander

- A. Contact the on-scene Incident Commander and receive a briefing.
- B. Assume the role of Incident Commander and notify Communications of the change.
- C. Assign the original Incident Commander as Safety Officer to continue making the assignments outlined in Procedure 284.30. Notify Communications of the assignment.
- D. Establish communications with the Contact Team on primary channel and ask for an update if needed. Command and logistics should be done on a secondary channel while the Contact Team is deployed.
- E. Establish a Command Post location when possible near the Staging area.
- F. Establish and maintain a face-to-face communication and coordination capability with Fire and EMSA Supervisors.
- G. Identify resources needed for the event and request them from Staging. If resources needed are not available at Staging, they should be requested from Communications.
- H. If an extended response is necessary, notify the Division Commander, create or request an incident management team, and begin the planning process to develop an Incident Action Plan.
- I. After the event response is complete, the Watch Commander will coordinate with Fire and EMSA representatives to prepare an after action report to assist with Procedure 284.70.

Adopted 10/15; Revised 3/16

284.50 Responsibilities of the Communications Supervisor

When an active threat is reasonably believed to exist based on the determination of a law enforcement officer at the scene or a supervisor at Communications, a coordinated response is needed by Police, Fire, and Emergency Medical Services (EMSA). This will be initiated through an active threat protocol at Communications. The active threat protocol will result in the notification of Police, Fire, and EMSA responders to include command staff and support personnel.

The Communications Supervisor is responsible for the following duties in response to an active threat:

- A. Activate alert tone to notify Police, Fire, and EMSA, and broadcast the call on all channels. The broadcast will advise all on-duty Tactical Unit members to proceed to the scene. The Tactical Unit notification system will be activated and all members will be advised to proceed to the scene. The Bomb Squad and Hostage Negotiators are activated with the Tactical Unit. The Tactical Unit Commander will contact a Communications Unit supervisor to be briefed on the situation. The Tactical Unit Commander will make the final determination on whether to continue or cancel the deployment. If the Tactical Commander cannot be immediately contacted, an Assistant Tactical Commander will be contacted.
- B. The Watch Commander will be immediately contacted and briefed on the circumstances.
- C. Ensure the primary radio channel is cleared for the contact team(s), Rescue Teams, and Inner Perimeter personnel.
- D. The secondary channel (OCPD1 Dispatch 6) is designated for all other personnel on the incident (e.g., outer perimeter, staging area, intel team, media relations) as this channel allows both OCPD and OCFD to communicate with each other. If possible, Communications will repeat updates from the Contact Team(s), Rescue Teams, and Inner Perimeter on the secondary channel.
- E. Ensure a third channel is assigned for use by the affected division. The division will be directed to use their TACT channel for non-incident related communications.
- F. Relay information from the contact teams(s) or rescue teams as necessary. Critical information needs to be broadcasted more than once to increase awareness and understanding.
- G. Notify OKC Emergency Management.
- H. Notify the Police Department's Office of Media Relations.
- I. Notify surrounding jurisdictions or other resources as directed.
- J. Notify proper command personnel.

Adopted 10/15; Revised 3/16; Revised 3/18; Revised 4/19

Assignment

Naloxone kits will be assigned to patrol officers and other units as approved by the Chief of Police as resources allow. Only officers that have received Naloxone training may use a Naloxone kit.

Storage

Officers are responsible for maintaining the Naloxone kit assigned to them. Officers that have been assigned a Naloxone kit shall carry it in their vehicle or on their person while working on duty. When not working, officers should remove their Naloxone kit from their vehicle when it would be subject to extreme hot or cold temperatures.

Procedures

When responding to or discovering a possible overdose, officers shall contact dispatch and request or ensure emergency medical personnel are dispatched as soon as possible.

When an officer is on the scene of an overdose prior to medical personnel, the officer shall:

- A. Determine if the victim is exhibiting signs of an opioid overdose or if evidence suggests a possible overdose. Signs/evidence of an opioid overdose include, but are not limited to:
 1. Pale or blue face
 2. Breathing slow or stopped
 3. Heartbeat slow or stopped
 4. Gurgling noises
 5. Vomiting
 6. Unable to awake or speak
 7. Pinpoint pupils
 8. Presence of drugs and/or drug paraphernalia
 9. Witnesses statements
- B. Administer Naloxone if the officer believes the victim:
 1. Has overdosed on opioids;
 2. Has overdosed on opioids in combination with other drugs; or
 3. Is unresponsive from apparent drug use but uncertain if opioids were involved.

- C. Start CPR if the victim is not breathing and does not have a pulse.
- D. Place in a recovery position if/once the victim is breathing.
- E. Remain with and monitor the victim until medical personnel arrive and assume responsibility.
- F. Notify medical personnel of any observations and actions taken prior to their arrival, including the number of doses administered and the approximate time each dose was given.

If the victim does not have a positive response to the first dose of Naloxone within 3 to 5 minutes, a second dose may be administered. No more than two doses shall be administered to a single victim.

Officers shall seize any illegal substances and/or drug paraphernalia found on or around the victim and book them into the Property Room in accordance with written directives.

Safety

When interacting with any overdose victim, officers shall exercise universal precautions, ensure the victim is in a safe location, and remove any potential weapons or dangerous items from the victim's reach. Officers should conduct a cursory pat frisk of the victim for weapons prior to administering Naloxone. If a weapon is located, the officer should secure the weapon for the duration of any attempts to revive the victim. Officers should remain alert when interacting with an overdose victim in the event the victim becomes combative and/or violent.

After a Naloxone kit has been used, it shall be disposed of in a designated bio-hazard container.

Reporting

When an officer administers a dose of Naloxone to any person, whether the person ultimately recovers or not, the officer shall complete an Overdose Prevention Program Report-Back Form and a crime incident report.

The incident report shall be entered under offense code Public/Narcan Administration, unless the incident involves an independent incident or crime, in which case the report shall be titled accordingly. The officer shall document in the appropriate report:

The officer shall forward the completed Overdose Prevention Program Report-Back Form and a copy of the crime incident report to Operations Administration.

Naloxone Kits Supplied to Individuals

Officers may provide Naloxone kits to individuals who have experienced or witnessed an opioid overdose, to be used by those individuals at a later date. Officers should confirm the person they are providing the kit to has, in fact, experienced or witnessed an overdose prior to supplying the kit to him or her.

Referral for Treatment Services

Any time an officer administers Naloxone to any person or leaves a kit with an individual for future use, the officer shall ask the victim and/or his or her family and friends at the scene if they wish to participate in a referral survey. The survey will notify the Oklahoma Citizen Advocates for Recovery and Treatment Association (OCARTA) to follow-up with the victim and connect him or her with treatment and recovery services. The survey is voluntary and the victim or individuals at the scene are not required to complete the referral. The survey will be completed and submitted by the officer.

294.0 Emergency Streetcar Operations

Notifications

When responding to a streetcar derailment, incapacitated operator, or a major event involving a streetcar, officers should request a supervisor and the fire department respond as soon as possible. The 911 Communications Unit will ensure the fire department and a supervisor are responding and notify the Streetcar Operations Control Center (OCC).

Response to Derailments or Collisions

When responding to a streetcar derailment or collision, officers should look to the operator's cabin window to see whether the operator has posted a green safe sign or red stop sign. A green sign indicates the streetcar is not energized and is safe to touch and enter. A red sign indicates the streetcar is still energized and is not safe to touch or enter. If an officer cannot obtain visual confirmation from the operator, he or she should treat the streetcar as though it is energized and unsafe.

A streetcar that has been derailed but is still connected to the overhead power line may be energized and will electrocute anyone who touches it. Officers should keep all persons away from the streetcar if the operator has posted a red sign or if the operator is incapacitated.

Entering the Main Cabin in a Streetcar Deemed Safe

If the power to a streetcar is deemed safe, officers may enter the streetcar by utilizing the yellow door button located in the center of the entry doors. If the doors will not automatically open by pressing the yellow door button, they may be opened manually by accessing the emergency release (ER) panel on either side of the streetcar. To access the emergency release panels, officers will need to obtain the key from the operator, a streetcar supervisor, or inside the Knox Box at a Traction Power Sub-Station (TPSS). Officers may open the emergency release panel with the key, pull the red lever, and pry the doors apart.

Response to Energized Streetcars

In the event officers have verification from an operator that a streetcar is energized or officers are unable to verify whether a streetcar is energized and it appears the streetcar may have been derailed or involved in a collision, and the pantograph is in the up position, touching the overhead lines, officers should not touch or attempt to enter the streetcar. Officers will secure the area around the streetcar and advise any bystanders to stay away from the streetcar and any persons onboard to remain in the streetcar. Officers should make contact with either a streetcar supervisor, the fire department, or the Streetcar Operations Control Center to have them shut off the power to the overhead line.

Once officers have received confirmation from the fire department or streetcar personnel that power has been shut off, officers may touch or enter the streetcar. Officers do not have to shut off the streetcar's onboard power (by accessing the Emergency System Shutdown (ESS) panel) prior to being able to touch or enter the streetcar, as long as they have verified power to the overhead line has been shut off.

Shutting Off Power to Overhead Lines

Officers will not attempt to shut off power to the overhead lines. Officers should contact a streetcar supervisor, the fire department, or the Streetcar Operations Control Center to have them shut off the power to the overhead line.

The Streetcar Operations Control Center can remotely shut off power to all of the overhead lines. Officers should request dispatch to contact the Streetcar Operations Control Center to shut off power.

Traction Power Sub-Stations

There are six Traction Power Sub-Stations located throughout the streetcar routes. Officers may obtain an emergency release/emergency shutdown switch key and an operator's cabin key at each Traction Power Sub-Station. These keys may be retrieved from inside a Knox Box mounted on the outside of the stations.

Officers shall not touch or enter a station if the amber light above the door is flashing.

Opening the Operator Cabin Door

Officers can utilize an operator's cabin key to gain access into the operator's cabin should the need arise. Officers may obtain an operator's cabin key from a streetcar supervisor or from inside the Knox Box on the outside of a Traction Power Sub-Station.

Shutting Off a Streetcar's Onboard Power

There may be some emergency circumstances or tactical situations where shutting off a streetcar's onboard power will be necessary to conduct police operations.

To shut off the onboard power, officers will need to access the Emergency System Shutdown panels on both sides of the streetcar. To access the Emergency System Shutdown panels, officers will need to obtain the key from the operator, a streetcar supervisor, or inside the Knox Box at a Traction Power Sub-Station. The key that accesses the Emergency System Shutdown panels is the same key that accesses the Emergency Release panels. Open the Emergency System Shutdown panel with the key and push the red button. The onboard power will not be fully shut off until the red button in the Emergency System Shutdown panels is pressed on both sides of the streetcar.

Streetcar Collision Investigations and Reporting

Collisions involving streetcars will be documented the same as train collisions. When reporting streetcar collisions on the state form, officers will:

7. Utilize the following designations for the streetcar:
 - a. Configuration – 14;
 - b. Make - OTHE;
 - c. Model - STCR; and
 - d. Special Function - OTHER BUS; and
8. Document all passengers that were on the streetcar and location where they were seated or standing.

All officers assigned to the Investigations Bureau will wear their badges on the outside of their clothing or will display the badge visibly during arrest situations, when practical.

An investigative task force may be formed for a specific investigation. If a unit supervisor feels that a specific case needs a task force assigned, he is to make a request through the Chain of Command to the Bureau Commander for the authority to form the task force.

If approval is given, personnel are to be selected and temporarily transferred to the task force. These persons will work directly for the task force supervisor. Transfer of any person outside of Investigations Bureau must be approved by the Chief of Police prior to being transferred to the task force.

The task force supervisor is to be held responsible for the task force operations. The supervisor will read all reports relative to the task force investigation and make assignments to task force investigators and office personnel.

Daily verbal reports will be given to the appropriate Division Commander by the task force supervisor. A task force briefing should be held daily with all persons involved in the task force. The Division Commander should be involved in this briefing.

Press releases concerning the task force are to be issued only by the task force supervisor. These press releases should be done through the Office of Media Relations.

The task force supervisor will prepare an after-action report, which will be used to determine whether or not the effort was successful. The report will be submitted to the appropriate Division Commander within fourteen working days from the date of the task force being terminated. The Division Commander will provide a copy of this report to the Bureau Commander within five working days of receiving it from the supervisor.

Division participation in a task force under the direction of another law enforcement agency will be with the approval of the Chief of Police. Personnel selected for such task forces will be transferred to that task force and will work under their supervision. Task force personnel assigned to other law enforcement agencies will still adhere to Oklahoma City Police Department policies.

Any investigator assigned to an out-of-department task force will, within fourteen working days of the task force termination, submit an after-action report to his Division Commander. The Division Commander will provide a copy of this report to the Bureau Commander within five working days after receiving it.

Investigators assigned to out-of-department task forces are to keep expense records.

312.0 U Visa Certifications

The purpose of this procedure is to maintain a consistent approach to handling requests to complete a Certification Form I-918B for U nonimmigrant status (U Visa) submitted to the department pursuant to the federal Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act.

Certifying Official

The Deputy Chief of Investigations is the designated certifying official for the department. All U Visa applications will be directed to his or her office for review and approval. The Investigations Major will be the secondary designee should one be needed. Only the Deputy Chief of Investigations or his or her secondary designee will sign U Visa applications on behalf of the department.

Procedure

Once a request for a U Visa Certification Form I-918B is received, the request must be fully reviewed to determine if the request meets the qualifying criteria. The certifying official should make this determination by referencing the guidelines in the U Visa Law Enforcement Resource Guide created by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, and by confirming:

1. The applicant was the victim of a qualifying crime;
2. The individual was, is, or is likely to be helpful in the investigation or prosecution of a qualifying criminal offense;
3. The statute of limitations on the alleged crime has not expired; and
4. The investigation or prosecution is still in progress.

All reports and documents related to the incident listed in the request should be reviewed before determining if the applicant meets the criteria for approval. The request for certification will be classified as meets criteria or does not meet criteria based on the certifying official's review. All U Visa determinations will be forwarded, along with supporting reports and documents, to the Police Legal Advisor for review.

The certifying official will prepare a written response to the requester informing them of the decision. If the request is approved, the certifying official will also complete and sign Form I-918B to send with the response.

Adopted 7/20

313.0 Transfer of Property

The law provides unclaimed personal property, or property whose ownership is unknown that has been in possession of the Police Department for a period of 90 days, may be transferred for use by any department of City government. Any such property which is considered unserviceable will be destroyed.

Serviceable property may be transferred as allowed by law if a request has been submitted and approved. Otherwise, it will be disposed of by established procedures.

The methods by which a department may request particular items are as follows:

- A. As a need for an item is determined, a written request should be submitted by the requestor's division commander and forwarded to the Investigations Bureau deputy chief for final disposition;
- B. All requests for firearms must be directed to the Training Division commander, who will ensure the request is appropriately researched and authorized before sending it to the Investigations Bureau deputy chief for final disposition;
- C. Requests will be considered in the order in which they are received;
- D. Once a sufficient number of items have been designated for transfer, a request for transfer will be submitted to the appropriate court for approval, in accordance with state statutes and municipal ordinances; and
- E. Once approved, the Property Management Unit supervisor will notify the requesting division commander the property is available for transfer.

After property has been transferred, the disposal of the property, once it becomes unserviceable, becomes the responsibility of the commander of the division which originally accepted the property.

Adopted 07/07; Revised 9/20

314.0 Disposal of City Owned Property

City owned property that becomes unserviceable or is surplus, will be disposed of by the following method:

The Division Commander will follow the procedures set forth by the City of Oklahoma City, Policy and Procedure of the Disposal of Surplus.

Adopted 07/07

315.0 Evidence and Property Disposition

Disposition of evidence and property, including weapons, is the responsibility of the investigators assigned to conduct the follow-up investigation. A property disposition will be entered by the investigator on each item of evidence/property attached to the case upon closing the case. The investigative unit supervisors will run weekly RMS reports to monitor evidence/property dispositions for all cases in which the evidence/property item dispositions have not been updated for six months to ensure they are routed to, and updated by, the correct investigator. Case investigators will have 14 business days to update each property disposition in RMS from the time they are notified by their supervisor. If an application or motion for release of evidence or other property is filed by an owner or person previously in possession of the property, the disposition shall be updated within the time period imposed by the court filing, in consultation with the police legal advisor and any assigned prosecutor. PMU staff will pull RMS reports for evidence/property items with updated property dispositions and take the appropriate action for each case.

Evidence and Property Dispositions

Hold

This evidence may or will be needed for criminal prosecution or appeal. The reason for the hold shall be explained in the RMS comments section. These cases shall be reviewed every 6 months by the investigative unit supervisor(s) to determine if the property will or may still be needed for criminal prosecution or appeal. If no longer needed, the disposition shall be changed to “Release to owner” or if unable to determine or locate the rightful owner, the property disposition can be changed to “Destroy/dispose” with an explanation in the comments. The explanation shall include the specific actions taken by the assigned investigator to identify, locate and notify the owner or person last in possession, as well as the results of that activity.

Hold – Statute of Limitations

This evidence may or will be needed for criminal prosecution or appeal. Evidence will be held for the duration of the statute of limitations as required by state statutes. A review date shall be included when this property disposition is utilized on when the statute of limitations expires. At the expiration of the statute of limitations, the case will be reviewed by the assigned investigator or investigative unit to update the disposition of all remaining evidence/property. If a prosecution has been commenced, the investigator shall determine the status of the case (e.g., warrant issued).

Release to Owner

Property or evidence which is no longer needed for criminal prosecution or appeal and is authorized for release to the rightful owner should have a “release to owner” disposition. The following instructions will apply to property with a release to owner disposition:

1. Each item to be released must have an associated owner listed. The owner’s name, date of birth and last known address should be listed. If a business is listed as the property owner, the address should be listed.
2. If the owner is deceased, the name of the next of kin or the name of the legally appointed representative of the estate, including his or her date of birth and last known address, should be listed.
3. When authorization for release is received, the Property Management Unit will send a letter, as required by state law, to the last known address of the owner or person last in lawful possession, informing them the property is authorized for release and may be claimed at the Property Management Unit office.

Release to Other Agency

This disposition shall be used when property is authorized for release to another agency (e.g., FBI, U.S. Secret Service, OCSO). The name of the agency and the name of the person the property is to be released to must be listed in the comment section of RMS.

Destroy/Dispose

This disposition shall be used when property will be destroyed or disposed of by being sold at auction or converted to City use in accordance with municipal ordinances and state laws regarding property which cannot be returned to its rightful owner. The following instructions will apply to property with a destroy/dispose disposition:

1. If the owner is known or identified, only the Release to Owner disposition can be used. The PMU will properly dispose of the property in cases when the property goes unclaimed by the owner.
2. If the owner is unable to be determined, the property can be disposed of.
3. If the owner cannot legally possess the property (e.g., contraband, illegal weapons), the property can be disposed of (see 11 O.S. § 34-104.F).

4. If the owner cannot legally possess a firearm, the firearm can be disposed of, unless the owner makes satisfactory arrangements to lawfully transfer the firearm to another person.
5. PMU staff will determine what can be sold at auction or converted to City use based on value and condition. All other property will be destroyed in accordance with existing state statutes and municipal ordinances.

The Police Department must attempt to return property, money or legal tender to the rightful owner before it can be legally disposed of. Disposition of property other than to the rightful owner requires review by the Municipal Counselors office and an order issued by a district judge before any property can be destroyed, sold or transferred to the City.

Currency Dispositions

To reduce and maintain the least amount of currency physically maintained at the Property Management Unit, all currency booked into the PMU will be deposited into the City's PMU bank account after 7 calendar days from the date the currency was booked, unless it receives a property disposition of "Hold currency as evidence" in RMS.

There are only two property dispositions that shall be used when currency is required to be held before it can be released to its owner or disposed of: Hold currency as evidence and Hold currency, deposit in bank. If the currency will not be needed for criminal prosecution or appeal, the money shall be released to its rightful owner or person last in lawful possession, if known. Currency dispositions may not be used for any other type of evidence or property.

Hold Currency as Evidence

To designate the currency property disposition as "Hold currency as evidence," the currency itself must have evidentiary value to a case, meaning the currency has physical evidence critical for the prosecution of a case. Physical evidence may include, but is not limited to, serology and fingerprints. Currency may be held as evidence when it needs to be scanned or photographed to document the denominations and serial numbers of the currency.

Hold Currency, Deposit in Bank

To designate the currency property disposition as "Hold currency, deposit in bank," the currency must have already been processed for physical evidence or the currency itself no longer needs to be maintained on-site in the Property Management Unit. Currency awaiting final disposition, asset forfeiture proceedings, or any other currency that does not need to be maintained on-site as evidence shall be designated as "Hold currency, deposit in bank."

Investigator Responsibilities for Currency Evidence

If the currency itself is evidence, a "Hold currency as evidence" shall be placed on the currency until the currency itself is no longer needed to be held as evidence. Any "Hold currency as evidence" property disposition shall be accompanied by a notation in the comments section describing the requested follow-up (e.g., processing for fingerprints or serology) or noting the reason for holding the currency as evidence. If the currency has been processed for physical evidence, upon completion of processing, the currency's RMS property disposition shall be changed from "Hold currency as evidence" to "Hold currency, deposit in bank," until the final disposition of the currency can be determined.

Currency that has been deposited will be kept in the PMU bank account until a final property disposition can be determined and it can be released to the rightful owner or person lawfully in possession prior to seizure, or, if unclaimed, it may be processed through the appropriate district court to be transferred to City ownership in accordance with state statutes. If a forfeiture is denied by the court, the currency shall be returned to the owner or person last in possession.

The assigned investigator shall reevaluate property dispositions of "Hold currency as evidence" for currency physically maintained at the Property Management Unit every 30 calendar days. The unit's lieutenant must approve any currency dispositions of "Hold currency as evidence" or "Hold currency, deposit in bank" after 90 days. The unit's captain must approve any currency dispositions of "Hold currency as evidence" or "Hold currency, deposit in bank" after 180 days.

Release and Disposal Procedures

Investigators are responsible for providing a disposition for each piece of evidence related to their incidents within the RMS and must associate a master name record to each piece. This allows the PMU to run a report within the RMS that identifies property to be released or disposed of.

The assigned investigator is responsible for completing the Triple I check prior to authorizing the release of a firearm to ensure the person receiving the firearm may lawfully possess it.

Every reasonable effort will be made to ensure property is returned to its rightful owner. When property is to be released to an owner, the assigned investigator or investigative unit supervisor will perform their due diligence to identify and notify the owner. The investigator will document such notification and will update the property disposition in RMS to include the name, date of birth, address and zip code of the person to whom the property is being released. If the owner has received a written notice from the arresting officer to claim the property at the time of seizure, however, no further notice is required. If the owner is not contacted, the investigator will check to see if the owner is incarcerated in the county jail or is in DOC custody. If the owner is incarcerated, the investigator will document what facility the owner is located at in RMS along with the property disposition. Once the PMU personnel receive the "Release to owner" property disposition from the assigned investigator, PMU personnel will send a letter of notification to the owner according to the address listed in RMS by the investigator.

If there is an indication that the released property, or documentation of the released property, may be needed for future court proceedings, the investigator should notify PMU personnel at the time of release. In response to such notification, PMU personnel will photograph and document the property prior to its release. If the property goes unclaimed after the notices have been sent out, the PMU will dispose of the property through a legal process and will either sell it, convert it to City ownership, destroy or discard it in accordance with municipal ordinances and state statutes.

When a weapon is placed in the PMU and no criminal charges are pursued, the booking officer shall be responsible for submitting a Property Disposition / Release - Disposal card at the time of booking. PMU personnel will complete an appropriate disposition of the weapon as indicated and authorized by the booking officer. PMU personnel shall confirm the weapon is not stolen and complete a Triple I check through CIU prior to releasing a firearm that was booked in the PMU for safekeeping in order to ensure it is not unlawful for the person to possess the firearm.

If there is reason to believe the person seeking return of a firearm is or was mentally or emotionally unstable at the time the weapon was placed in custody or at the time of the request for the return of the weapon, the firearm will not be released to the person until the Municipal Counselors office can be contacted for guidance.

Property Management Unit personnel may release property based solely on the authority of a court order. If compliance with a court order would result in a violation of state or federal law, PMU personnel will not release the property item at that time and will confer with the Municipal Counselors office for guidance. PMU personnel releasing property in compliance with a federal or state court order will immediately notify and forward a copy of the court order to the appropriate investigator or investigative unit supervisor as notification of the release. If instructed by the court order to do so, PMU personnel will photograph the released property. PMU personnel will document all court-ordered property releases by combining a copy of the recipient's identification credentials and a copy of the court order with the corresponding PMU property release records.

Medical marijuana (regardless of form) shall only be returned when the defendant presents an order from a court authorizing or directing the return of the marijuana. If compliance with a medical marijuana related court order violates state law, PMU personnel will not release the marijuana at that time and will confer with the Municipal Counselors office for guidance.

A federal, state or municipal judge may issue a court order to release property.

If the officer decides to seize the property, he cannot seize it without meeting one of the following requirements:

- A. If the person in charge of the property will voluntarily release the property, the officer shall have that person sign a "Consent to Confiscate" form which lists the property to be seized, date, time and the officer's name. The seized property and the Consent form shall be placed in the Property Room. The appropriate report shall be made and distribution made to the proper investigation unit.
- B. If the person in charge of the property refuses to sign the "Consent to Confiscate" form, the officer will have to obtain a search warrant. OR
- C. If the officer decides that confiscation is not necessary, he shall inform the person in control of the property of its stolen/possible stolen status and advised him to secure the property until he is advised of its status by the police department. The appropriate report shall be made and distributed to the proper investigating unit where the assigned Investigator will be responsible for taking the appropriate action.

316.30 Non-Arrest Situations

If confirmed stolen property or property suspected of being stolen is found in possession of an individual(s) and the situation does not call for an arrest to be made, officers may still seized the property under the following circumstances:

- A. If the person(s) is willing to sign a "Consent to Confiscate" form, the same procedures will be followed as outlined in 316.20.
- B. If he is not willing to release the property, the officer shall contact his field supervisor for assistance in obtaining a search warrant, or
- C. If exceptions to the search warrant requirements are apparent, the officer shall contact his field supervisor and obtain authorization to seize the property. The officer shall detail the reasons for seizing the property in his report.

This does not mandate that the officer seize the property in all cases. If the officer determines the person is reliable and will maintain control of the property, he shall advise him of the stolen/possible stolen status of the property and request that person hold the property in his possession until proper disposition of the property is made. The officer shall then complete a report and forward it to the proper investigating unit for further actions.

316.40 Property Seized Incident to Arrest

Any time stolen/embezzled property is found incident to a legal arrest when the officer has the right to search; the property can be seized. The consent to confiscate form does not need to be signed.

When the property is the object/reason for the arrest, nothing in this procedure limits the authority to confiscate that property.

317.0 Release of Stolen / Embezzled Property

Property which is stolen/embezzled that has come into custody of the Police Department shall not be released to the original owner without a court order in cases where there is another interested party, regardless of whether or not the property was voluntarily released or seized with a warrant. The exception is stolen motor vehicles, which may be released at the time of recovery. Investigating officers should advise the owner of the procedures that are to be followed in order to re-obtain custody of the property. Property Recovery Information sheets should be available at the information desk. Information sheets are available for the owner to assist him in understanding those procedures.

These procedures apply only in those cases where there are other persons or entities having an interest in the property and when that property has been reported stolen or embezzled. If all such persons have signed an "Affidavit of Non-Ownership" releasing all ownership rights and interests in the property, or if the property falls into a category other than stolen or embezzled a hearing will not be necessary. The property may be released at the appropriate time.

In order to regain possession of stolen property which has come into custody of the Police Department, members of the public will need to make application through the appropriate District Attorney's office, notify by certified mail all "interested parties," then attend a hearing for determination of ownership. If a suspect in possession of the property was not charged, or was charged in municipal court, the same procedures will apply but will be handled through the municipal court and Municipal Counselors Office.

Complete instruction and pertinent forms are available at the appropriate county District Attorney's Office and the Municipal Counselors Office. Personnel there will assist the person attempting to regain possession of his or her property in all phases of the process.

If property is needed for evidence, the person may apply to the district court or municipal court for its release prior to final prosecution of the case. The property will only be released prior to disposition of the case if a court order is obtained. In such cases, the investigator assigned to the case will ensure that the property, including money, or legal tender, is properly photographed and documented prior to its release.

Revised 7/20

320.0 Activity Management Guidelines

320.10 Purpose

Activity management guidelines are a method by which accurate records can be maintained.

320.20 Monthly Activity Report

A Monthly LFR Activity Report from each unit will be prepared. Entry into the LFR database will be completed by an investigations division captain.

320.30 Annual Report

An Annual LFR Activity Report will also be prepared and distributed in the same manner as prescribed for the monthly.

320.40 Activity Reporting Guidelines

The LFR report(s) may contain the following categories:

- A. Cases received – A total count of all cases received, including incident reports containing a reported crime and arrest reports without an accompanying incident report.

- B. Cases assigned – Each incident report or arrest report without an accompanying incident report assigned to an investigator for follow-up investigation will be counted as one case assigned.
- C. Cases pending – Counted from the follow-up investigation reports. When a follow-up investigation is completed and the case is not cleared, the case will be counted as “pending.”
- D. Investigations conducted – Counted from the follow-up investigation reports. When a follow-up investigation report is completed and turned in on a case, this counts as an investigation. Multiple investigations can be counted into one case.
- E. Felonies cleared – Counted from the follow-up investigation reports. When a felony crime is reported and the crime is cleared following current division guidelines, count one clearance for each crime reported. Example: An incident report is received on a burglary I, robbery, and rape. If the case is cleared following division guidelines, you would count one case assigned, one investigation conducted, and three felonies cleared.
- F. Misdemeanors cleared – Counted the same way as for felony crimes, except the reported crime is a misdemeanor.
- G. Felony arrests – When an arrest is made for a felony crime by an officer from the Investigations Division, one arrest will be counted for each person arrested.
- H. Misdemeanor arrests – Same as for felony arrests, except for a misdemeanor crime.
- I. Federal charges filed – Count one for each charge filed in federal court. There may be multiple charges filed against one defendant.
- J. State charges filed and cleared – Count one for each charge filed in state court, either felony or misdemeanor. There may be multiple charges against one defendant. If there are multiple defendants, count the total number of charges filed. Example: If one defendant has the crimes of burglary I, robbery and rape filed against him, this will count as three charges filed. If two defendants are filed on for the same burglary, conjointly, count two charges filed.
- K. Insufficient evidence – Use this category in all cases which are declined by the district attorney for lack of prosecutable evidence. This includes cases which are declined as a result of an improper search, and any case in which the evidence does not support the crime. Example: An ADW with only slight injuries or drug cases with a small amount of drugs.
- L. Victim does not desire to prosecute – All cases where the victim indicates no desire to prosecute.
- M. Unreliable witness – All cases where the district attorney declines to prosecute based on the unreliability of the witness or victim.
- N. Unfounded – Cases in which the crime did not occur in our jurisdiction, the crime did not occur at all, or the elements of the crime reported are not present.
- O. Total not filed – The total of the categories insufficient evidence, victim does not desire to prosecute, unreliable witness and unfounded will equal the number of state charges cleared and not filed.
- P. Total state charges cleared – The total of category “State charges filed and cleared” plus the total of category “Total not filed.”
- Q. City charges filed – A count of all charges referred to the Municipal Counselor’s Office for filing.
- R. Value of property recovered – The estimated total dollar value of all property recovered or seized as a result of the investigation of criminal activity.
- S. Stolen vehicles recovered – The total count of all stolen vehicles recovered by the department. This will include recoveries of vehicles that were stolen from another jurisdiction.
- T. Value of narcotics seized – The total dollar value of all narcotics seized, based on the estimated street value.

324.0 Case Management

The Case Management System is designed to focus department resources on cases with a measurable probability of being solved. The decision concerning whether a case will be closed, pending, or assigned for investigation is determined based on the solvability factors associated with the case.

In addition to providing an organized and systematic approach to supervisory control, as well as management tools for individual investigators, the case management system assists with properly tracking the progress of cases. Investigations can continue with only minor interruption when an initially assigned investigator becomes unavailable for any reason.

Case Selection

Case selection should consider a multitude of factors, including, but not limited to:

1. Solvability – The potential for solving the case;
2. Known suspects – If suspects are known, the case should usually be assigned, unless a verified refusal to prosecute or some other reasonable exception exists;
3. Eyewitness available – If the crime or incident was witnessed, the case should normally be assigned;
4. Suspect vehicle information – A description and/or full or partial tag information for a suspect vehicle;
5. Crime scene evidence – The presence of forensic and physical evidence;
6. Identifiable stolen property – Unique or identifiable property that can be traced to a suspect and property that has been entered into the NCIC database;
7. Suspect method of operation – An unusual or sophisticated modus operandi that can be compared through investigative analysis. Elements of modus operandi that may help identify crime patterns include:
 - a. Methods used to commit criminal acts;
 - b. Location of offense;
 - c. Time of offense; and
 - d. Specific targets.
8. Type/amount of loss – The loss of large sums of money or amounts of property, especially firearms or narcotics;
9. Short time lapse from occurrence – Incidents brought to the attention of investigators shortly after occurrence may provide the opportunity to canvass an area for witness information;
10. Public interest – Crimes in which there is a great deal of public interest;
11. Impact – Resolution may assist in reducing crime.

Case Assignment

Cases should be assigned equitably to all investigators.

The following reported incidents shall be assigned for investigation, regardless of solvability or other factors:

1. Homicide;
2. Suspicious or unexplained death;
3. Officer-involved shooting;
4. Missing persons; and
5. Runaway juvenile.

Investigation of Hate-Bias Crimes

All hate-bias crimes will be assigned to a detective for follow-up investigation. The report will be assigned to the unit responsible for conducting investigations of the listed offense.

The assigned investigations supervisor will determine whether or not the incident qualifies as a hate-bias crime.

Continuity

Those cases which appear to involve the same suspects or MO should be assigned, whenever possible, to one investigator or team of investigators. If it is impractical to assign those cases to one investigator or team, another investigator or team may be assigned, and should be familiarized with the previously assigned cases.

Knowledge and Expertise

In some instances, supervisors may be aware of investigators who possess knowledge of, or expertise in, a certain field or type of investigation. This awareness should guide them when assigning certain types of cases.

Case Status

When an investigator is assigned to conduct a follow-up investigation, he or she should conduct an evaluation of the case. A determination as to how to proceed with the case should be made based on the investigator's experience and the solvability of the case, as evidenced by the elements provided in the incident report. The guidelines below should be followed when determining the status of a case.

Cleared Cases

A crime may be cleared only when one or more of the following conditions are met:

1. City, state or federal charges are filed against a defendant for the crime in question;
2. A corroborated confession or admission to a particular crime, either written or oral, is obtained;
3. There is enough information to support arrest and prosecution, but a condition outside of law enforcement control precludes the district attorney's office from prosecuting the offender; or
4. A victim expresses a desire, either verbal or written, not to prosecute the offender for a particular crime.

Pending Cases

A crime may be pended only when one or more of the following conditions are met:

1. The suspect information provided by the victim or witness is insufficient to make identification or arrest;
2. The case had some leads that have been investigated with no results;
3. No further information or leads are available at this time; or
4. The victim has demonstrated a lack of interest in pursuing prosecution against the suspect (e.g., will not return phone calls or make contact with investigators).

Unfounded Crimes

Unfounded crimes shall not be counted as cleared. When the elements of a crime are insufficient to determine a crime has been committed, it shall be categorized as unfounded.

When a reported crime is discovered to have occurred outside of the City of Oklahoma City, the proper agency shall be notified and the crime shall be categorized as unfounded.

Case Supervision

Monitoring of Cases

Each supervisor who assigns cases for investigation will establish and utilize a system which allows the ability to easily and quickly review case status and identify those investigations which are not proceeding satisfactorily. The supervisor will review each investigator's cases on a regular basis.

Preliminary Review

It is essential for supervisors to review follow-up-investigations with assigned investigators to determine whether an investigation should continue, be pended, or categorized as unfounded.

Investigative Priority

All cases with a suspect in custody-should have a high priority, since charges must be filed or the suspect must be released from custody. It is-essential for supervisors to be continually cognizant of the status of investigations where a subject is in custody.

Time Element and Case Load

It is normal for each investigator to be actively conducting investigations on multiple cases within a given work period. Each investigator's case load should be evaluated, as some types of investigations are more time consuming.

Cases which focus on career criminals, crime patterns, and serial offenses can consume a great deal of time and manpower, but this concentration often provides greater impact on crime than standard investigations.

Case Disposition

Timely disposition of assigned cases is a critical part of effective case management. Generally, a case should reach a disposition within five to fifteen business days from the date the case was assigned to an investigator.

Revised 12/19

330.0 Investigative Planning

Deciding upon the best method to pursue each investigation should be the result of good planning. Reviewing all reports and information is the most logical starting point. Each case will vary with regard to sequence to be followed and the priorities to be established.

330.10 Utilization of Available Resources

Investigators are responsible for developing an awareness of the many resources available to them. Some examples are:

- A. Internal resources: Crime Analysis tools provided by the Department and the Records Information Unit.
- B. External resources: Utility companies; Court records; Private sector records, other governmental agencies.

Revised 9/05

330.20 Similar / Prior Offenses

The reviewing of offenses similar in nature, suspect information, location, etc., may be of benefit before starting an investigation. Information from these prior offense files could yield important information such as vehicle descriptions, tag information, suspect names, physical evidence, methods of operation, etc.

330.30 Time Management

The proper management of each investigator's time is extremely important. For this to be accomplished, the Investigator must be personally organized, have organized working files, and pursue investigations in accordance with a systematic plan.

330.40 Cooperation with Other Investigators

Investigators shall as appropriate, cooperate with all Department personnel and investigators in other law enforcement agencies.

Revised 9/05

330.50 Inactive Investigations

Often it becomes difficult to "give up" a case and classify it as inactive. This is especially true when a great deal of personal effort has been expended. Inactive cases are always subject to being reactivated with the acquisition of new information.

The following guidelines will assist investigators in deciding whether or not to recommend a case for inactive status:

- A. Have all available information sources been obtained and checked?
- B. Have all available leads been pursued?
- C. Has the case been properly managed (i.e., area canvass conducted, witnesses contacted, evidence reviewed)?
- D. Have all reasonable leads been investigated with negative results?

Revised 9/05

330.60 Victim / Witness Notification Cards

Victim/Witness notification cards should be mailed to victims when the investigator has made several unsuccessful attempts to contact the victim in person or by telephone.

Revised 9/05

331.0 Preliminary Investigations

331.10 Definition

The preliminary investigation is that part of a criminal investigation which includes the collection of available facts necessary to complete the Crime Incident Report and any other investigative tasks performed by the initial investigating officer.

331.20 Conduct of Preliminary Investigations

The investigator dispatched to the scene will be responsible for coordinating the preliminary investigation and making the appropriate reports.

The preliminary investigation will include:

- A. Interview of victim(s) and witness(es).
- B. Processing of the crime scene.
- C. Collecting physical evidence.
- D. Conducting an area canvass.
- E. Making an arrest if appropriate.
- F. Completing the necessary reports.

The shift supervisor will be responsible for insuring that the preliminary investigation is properly conducted.

332.0 Follow-Up Investigations

332.10 Definition

A follow-up investigation is any investigation of a crime that is performed subsequent to the filing of a crime incident report.

Revised 9/05

332.20 Conduct of Follow-Up Investigations

The investigator's primary mission is to conduct follow-up investigations into reported incidents of criminal activity.

The investigator should review and analyze all reports and information pertaining to the case and decide on the most logical way to pursue the investigation. Cases where suspects are in custody must take priority over other cases, due to the limited time a suspect can be held before being released or filed on.

Investigators shall diligently attempt to interview victims, witnesses and suspects to confirm facts of the case and to obtain information not contained in initial reports, to make a determination as to whether the victim wishes to prosecute should a suspect be identified and/or apprehended. A detailed summary of statements made by victims, witnesses and suspects shall be made a part of the investigative file. Deviation from this requirement must have approval of the supervisor of the detail to which the case is assigned. The reasons for deviation shall be submitted in writing and become a part of the case file.

If suspect information is known, the investigator should check information sources such as the Records Information Unit, crime analysis tools provided by the Department, other investigative units, and, when necessary, other law enforcement agencies for additional information.

Physical evidence gathered by Crime Scene Investigations personnel may need to be examined to assess the relevance or usefulness in identification and prosecution of the suspect. Additional lab analysis of the evidence may be warranted.

Revised 9/05

333.0 Interviews and Interrogation

The most important tool used in an investigation is the interview and interrogation. To become a competent investigator, one must have well-rounded interview and interrogation skills.

The interview is the exchange of information from a witness or other person to the investigator. Whenever possible, interviews should be conducted at a location that enables the investigator to control the atmosphere of the interview.

The interrogation is the formal questioning of a suspect about a specific crime.

333.10 Interviews

All witnesses to a crime or any other persons who have information about the crime are to be interviewed.

If the witness to the crime is a juvenile, there is no requirement to have a parent present during the interview.

Witness interviews are to be done away from the suspect.

All interviews should be done in reverse order if at all possible. Reverse order starts with victim and works toward the suspect. The suspect should be interviewed last.

333.20 Interrogations

All suspects, including juveniles, who are IN CUSTODY, are to be given the Miranda Warning prior to being interrogated. If there is any doubt whether or not a suspect is in custody, then the Miranda warning should be given in order to protect the admissibility of any statement in court.

All juvenile criminal suspects arrested for a crime other than the crimes listed in Procedure 234.50 are to be given their Miranda Warning in the presence of their parent, guardian, or attorney. The parent or guardian and juvenile must all be fully advised of the constitutional and legal rights of the child. When possible, a waiver should be signed by both the suspect juvenile and the parent, guardian, or attorney before any questioning. The parent, guardian or attorney must be present during all questioning.

Investigation personnel shall interrogate and/or interview a juvenile suspect in custody pursuant to Procedure 234.50.

Revised 2/03; Revised 9/06; Revised 10/08; Revised 1/16

333.30 Interview Rooms

Purpose

This procedure is intended to provide clear direction for the use of departmental interview rooms to ensure the safety of OCPD personnel and the admissibility of statements made therein.

Definition

Interview Room – Any designated room(s) in a police facility which is used by OCPD personnel to either conduct custodial interviews of arrestees or non-custodial interviews of witnesses, victims, or potential suspects.

General Security

- A. Prior to and after conclusion of an interview/interrogation, officers shall search the room for weapons and/or contraband that may pose a threat not only to OCPD personnel, but also the arrestee, witness or victim.
- B. All arrestees/prisoners shall be searched prior to being brought in the interview room.
- C. It will be the sole discretion of the officer whether or not he/she maintains his/her authorized duty weapon on his/her person while in an interview room. Should the officer elect to remove the weapon, it shall be properly locked and secured.
- D. Removal of handcuffs from an arrestee/prisoner inside the interview room will be at the discretion of the officer conducting the interview. At no time will any person be secured to any furniture, chairs, equipment, or fixed objects within the interview room.
- E. It shall be at the discretion of the interviewer if the presence of a second officer is needed for interviewing, due to security issues. Additionally, the interviewer may request a second officer to monitor the interview either from an interview monitoring room or on the officer's computer if that officer has obtained permission to view the interview.
- F. If the interviewing officer needs assistance while conducting an interview, they can either verbally summon assistance or utilize the emergency button on their hand-held radio. In interview rooms which are equipped with a panic button, the interviewing officer may press the panic button if immediate assistance is needed.

Interview Room General Guidelines

- A. Interview rooms are not holding cells and shall not be used as temporary detention facilities.
- B. Items in the interview room should be limited to a table and enough chairs to accommodate the individuals in the room. Any other items brought into the room shall be at the discretion of the officer conducting the interview.
- C. The number of personnel allowed in the interview room shall be governed by officer safety, the size of the room and the purpose of the interview/interrogation. Special circumstances may require the presence of a parent, a guardian, translator, or legal representation. Ultimately, it will be up to the officer conducting the interview/interrogation as to who may be present.
- D. Persons being interviewed/interrogated shall be provided access to water and restroom facilities. Lengthy interviews should include comfort breaks as needed.
- E. Any audio or video recording devices within the interview room shall be operated in accordance with written directives of the City of Oklahoma City Police Department.

Adopted 10/08; Revised 1/16

334.0 Follow-Up Reports

A typed report must be made before making case disposition. The date, location, suspects, evidence and witnesses all should appear in the heading. The body of the report should contain details of the investigation in chronological sequence. The disposition and summary should describe briefly the action taken, along with whether or not the case will be closed and the crime cleared, or opens pending further investigation. Also, if the crime is cleared without charges being filed, reasons shall be given. In all assigned cases, the detective will contact the victim, inform them of the case disposition, and document this contact in the follow-up report.

A follow-up report on a pending case shall be a typed report indicating the facts/evidence/information/which relates to the investigation. Include all actions the investigator has taken and information received from the victim, witness, suspect, etc. The disposition shall briefly indicate why the case was pending.

Follow-up reports will also be made in these circumstances:

- A. Change of status (closed, cleared, etc.)
- B. Upon reassignment of the case to another investigator.
- C. When new information is developed on a pending case.
- D. At the discretion of the supervisor.

Revised 8/16

335.0 Filing State Charges

Investigators should be aware that they will have occasion to file charges in several different counties, depending upon the location of the crime. The investigator should familiarize himself with the differing procedures and requirements of each District Attorney for the filing of charges.

Investigators should submit all cases to the prosecutor when all the elements appear to be met and a suspect has been identified.

Felony charges presented to the District Attorney must include the following documents at the time of filing:

- A. A complete Case Record, including prior convictions, i.e., all known offenses obtained through interviews, personal knowledge and record checks.
- B. Any criminal history sheets on defendants within the submitting agency's files.
- C. A current OSBI history sheet. (FBI rap sheet if in Records Unit)
 - 1. Obtain copy from Records Unit by telephone. Request clerk to pull copy and place in basket at officers' counter.
 - 2. Assure OSBI Rap Sheet conviction data is current. If not, contact convicting jurisdiction for update.
 - 3. If no OSBI Rap Sheet is available through Records Unit, obtain a copy from OSBI via Teletype.
- D. A Buck slip will be attached to all charges filed where the defendant is in custody and has been fingerprinted prior to bonding out (Oklahoma County only). The Buck slip is obtained from Technical Investigations.
- E. If the charges are filed AFCE, and the former conviction(s) is in another state, the District Attorney's office where the conviction occurred must be called by the investigator; the date(s) of conviction and the crime information must be entered on the Case Record before being presented to the District Attorney. The investigator must also request the District Attorney of the other state to send copies of case records to the DA handling the current case in our state.
- F. Maintaining information flow is extremely important. Bearing in mind that criminal activity can spill over into other unit's areas of responsibility, investigators should be alert for any information, MO patterns, suspect descriptions, etc., that could be of interest or assistance to other units in the investigation of crimes assigned to them. For example, a burglar can progress to crimes of sex, narcotics, robbery, and even murder. This type, as well as other types of sensitive information in a case, should be brought to the attention of the investigator's immediate supervisor.

336.0 Photo Line-Ups / Field Show-Ups

Refer to Procedure 239.0

Revised 06/09

337.0 Disposition of Jailed Suspects

Once a suspect has been arrested and jailed with the potential of being charged with a violation of a State Statute, a Hold for State Charge may be authorized by a supervisor. The hold, for investigative purposes, is generally recognized as being valid until 5:00 p.m. of the seventh calendar day following arrest. At the end of the seven day period, if the investigation has not reached a point where the suspect may be charged or released, the investigator shall request authorization for an extension of the hold from his / her supervisor. Extensions should be authorized only when:

- A. The complexity of the investigation requires an unusual length of time to develop sufficient evidence to clear or charge the suspect, AND
- B. There is substantial reason to believe that the suspect could not be served with an arrest warrant after state charges are filed.

Once an extension is authorized by a supervisor, the investigator will request an extension from the appropriate district attorney's office. If the request is denied, the investigator will complete a jail disposition form and deliver it to the County Jail.

Some form of release must be made by the assigned investigator on each charge. If during the investigation the investigator determines one or more of the charges are UNFOUNDED or the District Attorney declines to file one or more of the charges, the investigator will immediately complete a disposition sheet for that specific charge, dropping the charge from the jailed suspect's booking record. If the suspect is formally charged in State Court, the suspect will be released to the Sheriff's Office on that charge. If the DA's office declines to file the charge, the suspect must be released, either to liberty or to City Court on a companion City ticket.

There will be instances when the victim will change his/her mind and desire no prosecution against the arrested subject. When this occurs, it is advisable to require the victim to sign a statement stating his/her decision not to prosecute. The victim's desires will be communicated to the prosecutor for final disposition.

Revised 07/07

338.0 Disposition Reports

In all cases where suspects have been jailed on a Hold for State Charge, a disposition report will be filled out by the assigned investigator at the conclusion of the investigation and forwarded through the proper channels to the Division Commander of the arresting officer. If the prosecutor declines to accept the charge(s) for which the suspect was held, the investigator will give the specific reason(s) and the name of the prosecutor who declined to file the charge(s).

340.0 Utilization of the Polygraph

340.10 Considerations in the Use of the Polygraph

Any sworn officer may make requests for polygraph service in conjunction with criminal investigations. Final determination of whether an examination will be conducted, and the specific questions asked, will be made by the polygraph examiner. Factors considered in making the determination are suitability of the case and subject for polygraph.

The Polygraph Technique will be used as a supplement to, not a replacement for, traditional investigative techniques. The Polygraph Technique will not be used in any case as a substitute to a good, thorough investigation.

340.20 Procedure for Use of the Polygraph

Although polygraph examinations will generally not be done until the field investigation is complete, the investigating officer should contact the polygraph examiner to discuss the case as soon as it becomes apparent that polygraph may be helpful. Discussion of the polygraph examination with subjects should be limited to an inquiry as to the subject's willingness to take a polygraph examination.

The investigating officer requesting an examination will provide the examiner with any and all reports and details of the investigation.

The polygraph examiner will provide an agreeable appointment time for the polygraph examinations. The investigating officer is responsible for notifying the subject of the appointment time.

The investigating officer must be present at the beginning and end of the examination, and will be available for contact throughout the examination process. In cases where the examinee is a prisoner, a police officer must remain physically present outside the examination room to maintain custody of the prisoner.

Polygraph reports in criminal cases will be provided directly to the requesting officer.

350.0 Major Crime Procedures

For purposes of this procedure, major crimes shall include (but not be limited to) the following: homicides, questionable deaths, rape, multiple aggravated assaults, any felony crime known to be part of an existing pattern crime investigation.

The function of the Police Department is to collect from the scene, and from other sources, all evidence which bears on the issues of the major crime and identification of the parties responsible for the commission of the crime. It is also the Police Department's function to determine the identity of the next of kin in death cases, so that notification of death can be delivered.

In death cases, the Medical Examiner is notified and may establish the physical cause and manner of death of the deceased person through postmortem examination of the body and through medical investigative procedures.

350.10 Crime Scene Management

Purpose: to provide a systematic approach to the management of crime scenes and the preservation of evidence; to identify areas of responsibility; to assure that all evidence and information pertaining to a crime scene may be obtained and preserved for possible future use in court.

350.20 Initial Responsibilities

The first officer on the scene of a reported major crime will gather all information necessary and available to complete a Crime Incident Report. He will then notify RACOM and CIU, requesting them to meet him on Channel 3. The officer will then transmit pertinent information and request a general citywide broadcast and statewide Teletype. This officer will start a crime scene entry log.

As soon as possible and not more than one hour after the initial broadcast, the officer will locate a telephone and contact CIU to confirm, correct and update the information in the initial broadcast.

The officer's supervisor will respond to the scene immediately upon notification and insure a crime scene entry log has been started. He will then contact RACOM, CIU and the report clerks to confirm that all broadcasts and messages have been completed.

Only those units assigned will proceed to a crime scene. The first officer to arrive will secure the scene, conduct a preliminary investigation and maintain scene security to the best of his ability, until the arrival of technical or investigative personnel. If the victim is living at the time the first officer arrives, all appropriate aid shall be given.

A supervisor will routinely be dispatched to advise and assist assigned officers. The supervisor will make the necessary reports as to his actions and all assignments given out and to whom tasks were assigned.

The supervisor assigned is to assure that communication with headquarters is established and maintained by radio and/or telephone.

350.30 Security of the Scene

When the scene is secured, the assigned officers will inform ALL personnel not assigned to specific crime scene duties that the scene is secured and they may not enter.

Assigned investigators will assume responsibility for the scene upon arrival. When requested, the officers on the scene will remain to assist the investigators. When relieved, the officers will complete necessary reports and return to duty.

Technical Units assigned will work with the officers or investigators assigned to the scene. If an investigator is assigned, technical work will not begin until arrival of that unit, unless unusual circumstances dictate otherwise.

Officers will ensure that EMSA or other emergency personnel take the most direct route through the crime scene, considering which route will disturb the least amount of evidence.

Officers will ensure that EMSA and other emergency personnel adhere to EMSA Policy 7.17, Crime Scene Management; also, see Section 351.0 below.

350.40 Deceased and Injured Victims

No deceased bodies will be removed from a crime scene without the specific authorization of the State Medical Examiner's Office representative.

If injured parties are removed to a hospital, careful notes should be made indicating the location and position of the injured when discovered the type and extent of injuries, who removed them and their destination.

In cases where human bodies are present, if conclusive signs of death are evident, officers will contact the Communications Unit and have them cancel EMSA. Conclusive signs of death are:

- A. Putrefaction
- B. Rigor Mortis
- C. Complete separation of body parts, which is incompatible with life (such as decapitation).

NOTE: Should any questions exist whether the patient should be resuscitated, such efforts should be immediately initiated.

If the officer has any doubt about the condition of the victim, then EMSA is to be called and will, as a routine procedure, follow the steps spelled out in EMSA Patient Care Protocols, dated July, 1985, page 101, Sections "O" and "P"; also, see Section 351.10 below.

After death has been established and/or the injured have been removed from the scene, the investigators will determine whether a Search Warrant or Search Waiver is necessary before processing the scene.

350.50 Crime Scene Follow-Up Management

If the scene is spread out over a large area or involves a large amount of evidence or victims, the investigator may want to request additional investigators to assist with the crime scene investigation. After the scene has been thoroughly investigated and the investigators are ready to release any bodies at the scene, the Medical Examiner is to be notified. The investigators are to stand by until the arrival of the ME. While waiting for the Medical Examiner, the investigators may want to compare notes or interview any witnesses that the uniformed officers have detained at the scene.

After the arrival of the Medical Examiner, the scene is released to him. He is to be briefed on the findings of the investigators still at the scene. After he completes his own scene investigation, the ME will take responsibility for any bodies and their removal from the scene.

The investigator will put in his report the actions taken at the scene and the management techniques used to preserve the scene during the investigation.

350.60 Investigations Bureau – Responsibility

The investigator assigned to the case, in addition to routine follow-up investigation, will monitor and update the police communications network through Unit 800 to include additional information, upgrading of the broadcasts or cancellation of information.

NOTE: The following two sections (351.0 and 351.10) are excerpts from the EMSA Policy Manual, and are included so that OCPD personnel will be familiar with the requirements under which EMSA personnel must function.

351.0 EMSA Crime Scene Management (Policy 7.17)

In cooperation with area law enforcement agencies, the following criteria have been developed so that the patient's welfare is guarded and that the needs of investigating agencies to conduct an effective and thorough investigation are likewise safeguarded.

- A. Units not assigned to a call will not respond to that call. Over response tends to cause confusion at the crime scene and destruction of evidence.
- B. When approaching a possible crime scene, one technician should approach the patient to determine whether the person is alive or has expired.
- C. If an officer is present, he should be consulted before entering the scene. If an EKG strip is needed, use paddles only, and performs the procedure with only one technician. If possible, the technician examining the patient should have the monitor in order to avoid more than one technician entering the scene.
- D. The body should not be handled unnecessarily, but should be checked for radial pulse, eyes, for cyanosis, etc., to determine if alive. If the victim is obviously dead, do not attempt to resuscitate. If conclusive signs of death are present, do not handle the body or perform any other assessment.
- E. If the patient has expired, exit the scene by way of the approach originally made into the scene.
- F. Should an officer not be present, the crime scene should be preserved. Do not allow individuals to wander into the area. When an officer arrives, relate to him your information and approach to and exit from the scene.
- G. If the patient is alive, life-saving techniques should be administered, under the following guidelines:
 1. Keep medical equipment close to the victim.
 2. Stay close to the body.
 3. Keep hands out of any blood that has pooled.
 4. Do not wander around the scene.
 5. Minimize destruction of the patient's clothing. If the clothing has a puncture, do not use the hole in the clothing to start cutting. Begin cutting at another part of the garment.
- H. If objects at the scene have been used (a towel, wash cloth, etc.), notify the investigating Sergeant at once.
- I. Do not litter the scene with expended dressings, papers, or other items.
- J. Do not:
 1. Go through the victim's personal effects.
 2. Cover the body with a sheet or other material.
 3. Move, take or handle any object at the scene.
 4. Touch or move any weapon. NOTE: if a weapon must be moved in order to treat a victim, pick it up by the wooded stock and lay it near the victim out of the blood or water. Report this action to the investigating Sergeant.
 5. Clean the body of blood, etc.
 6. Wander around the crime scene; return to the vehicle.
 7. Be pressured into moving the body if death is obvious.

8. Litter the crime scene with medical equipment, paper, dressings, bandages, etc.
- K. If possible, transfer the victim from the scene to the vehicle expeditiously and stabilize the victim in the vehicle.
- L. If the patient relates any information pertaining to the crime while in transit to the medical facility, tell the investigating Sergeant at once.
- M. Use common sense and be aware of your surroundings. Remember, the less you do to destroy a crime scene, the less the likelihood you will spend your days off in court and the better chance there will be for a successful prosecution of any criminal wrongdoing.
- N. Under ordinary circumstances, emergency medical personnel will be allowed to assess the patient and perform all appropriate medical care necessary to maintain life, as so indicated. It should be noted that access to the patient should only occur when the crime scene is secured and indicated safe by law enforcement personnel.
- O. If the officer in charge chooses to accept the responsibility that the patient is beyond salvageability, and prohibits access to the patient by EMSA personnel, the ranking EMSA technician should do the following:
 1. Utilizing the current 10-23 Release Form, a brief report should be noted that includes time, date, location number of patients and the name and rank of the officer that accepted the responsibility for releasing the crew from pursuing patient care and assessment.
 2. Secure the signature of at least two witnesses.
 3. All documentation as noted above should be properly secured and forwarded to Headquarters for permanent filing.

351.10 EMSA Patient Care Protocol

As a routine procedure, exclusive of those patients displaying conclusive signs of death, the following steps should be followed in ALL suspected DOA cases (traumatic and non-traumatic):

- E. Attempt to secure vital signs including apical, carotid and femoral pulses; respiration and lung sounds; blood pressure; and pupillary reaction to light.
- F. If ALS is present or readily available, run an EKG strip.
- G. Report above findings to PMS for concurrence.
- H. Record findings on patient care record.

Use of cardiac monitor to determine death.

It is the policy of the Central Oklahoma Ambulance Trust to perform EKG rhythm strips to determine death, always bearing in mind to perform our medical procedures with a constant awareness for preserving crime scene evidence. The following guidelines have been established to enhance this goal. EKG documentation may be obtained by any of the following methods:

- E. "Quick look" through paddles.
- F. Chest lead placement.
- G. Paddles place on any two extremities.
- H. Leads of paddles place on back.

NOTE: These methods should eliminate the need to move the victim's body in most situations. Only two contact points are required to document a tracing. The site location should be selected to ensure placement of the heart between the two recording points if possible, although locations such as arms and legs will suffice.

352.0 Joint Police Department / Fire Department Homicide or Death Scene Investigations

352.10 Purpose

The purpose of this procedure is to ensure an organized and professional approach to the protection, management, and investigation of fire scenes that have resulted in or led to the discovery of a death.

Revised 2/03; Revised 07/07

352.20 Procedure

Homicide Unit Investigators will investigate deaths when a body is discovered at the scene of a fire, whether the fire is intentionally set or not. Additionally, they will investigate when the cause of the fire is unknown, uncertain, deliberately set, or set to cover up, or to commit a homicide. The Fire Department Incident Commander (or designee) will contact dispatch to request Fire Investigators and the on-call Homicide Lieutenant providing the pertinent information surrounding the fire and discovery of the body. In all cases when OCPD and/or OCFD personnel are on a fire death scene, the scene will be secured and protected as required. All witnesses will be separated and secured with the assistance of police operations personnel. Public safety, crime scene investigation, and evidence preservation, are of paramount importance during the initial arrival of first responders.

Anytime a possibility exists that evidence may be lost during the initial stages of response, the first investigators to arrive at the scene, whether Police or Fire personnel, will take the necessary steps to preserve evidence. Once the Homicide Unit arrives at the scene, the Homicide Unit Investigator(s) and or Lieutenant(s) will take charge of the crime scene investigation. Fire Department Investigators and the Police Department Homicide Unit will investigate the death conjointly.

After a fire has been extinguished, the fire or police personnel discovering a person's body will:

- A. Check for conclusive signs of death, and call for EMSA if appropriate.
- B. Secure the scene and maintain scene security until relieved by personnel from either the Fire Investigators or the OCPD Homicide Unit.

The Fire Department Incident Commander or designee will be required to complete the following tasks:

- A. Notify EMSA (if appropriate);
- B. Notify Police dispatcher, to request Homicide Units; and
- C. Notify Fire dispatcher, to request Fire Investigators.
- D. Once the area is secured, a complete list of persons who entered the scene prior to and after discovery of the death will be obtained.

Upon arrival of the Homicide/ Fire Investigators, they will be briefed concerning the fire circumstances (if known), information pertaining to possible witnesses, fire survivors, and the discovery of human remains. Additionally, a preliminary crime scene walk-through may be needed for a complete understanding of the event.

A Preliminary crime scene walk-through will consist of the following:

- A. An assigned Homicide and Fire Investigator will be allowed to walk through the crime scene for preliminary investigation ONLY. In most instances, there will be no need to have more than one Homicide Investigator and one Fire Investigator assigned to the walk-through unless otherwise determined by a Homicide supervisor. A Homicide Investigator may request a member of the assigned C.S.I. Unit to participate in the preliminary walk-through. If detailed information is learned during the walk-through that is important for other Homicide or Fire investigators to view, photographs will be taken at the time of the walk-through by CSI. The photos should be viewed outside the crime scene perimeter by other investigators assigned to the case. At the end of the initial scene investigation, those photographs will be downloaded and stored with the case file photographs.
- B. For the purpose of this procedure, a preliminary investigation will mean a walk-through of the crime scene only. No item will be moved, touched or processed.

In order to maintain proper crime scene control and investigation, the Homicide supervisor will be in charge of death scenes once the Homicide Unit becomes involved in the investigation.

- A. The Homicide supervisor shall be briefed by Homicide personnel and/or Fire Department personnel on the scene.

- B. The Homicide supervisor will be responsible for the assignment of an investigating team consisting of the necessary Fire Investigators, Homicide Investigators, and a Crime Scene Investigators to process the scene.
- C. Homicide investigator(s) or supervisor(s) shall have the authority to restrict access to the scene to only those necessary to the criminal investigation.
- D. Homicide Investigators will be responsible for interviewing all witnesses, suspects, and other involved parties.
- E. Anytime the Oklahoma City Police Department Homicide Unit is conducting an investigation into a fire death, all media releases pertaining to the case will be made through the Oklahoma City Police Department Office of Media Relations or designee.

Determination of the origin and cause of the fire will remain the responsibility of the Fire Investigators. While investigating the immediate area where the victim(s) body is located within the burned structure or area, the assigned Homicide supervisor is responsible for contacting the State Medical Examiner's Office and coordinating with them.

- A. Physical evidence surrounding the origin and cause of the fire is generally collected by Fire Investigators and will continue to be collected and stored by them. If requested, C.S.I. personnel are available to assist in the collection of fire related evidence.
- B. Physical evidence in the immediate area where the victim's body is located within the burned structure or area that may or may not be related to the death, will be the responsibility of Oklahoma City Police Department C.S.I. personnel as directed by the assigned Homicide Investigator(s).
- C. If it is determined the fire death is not a Homicide or related to a criminal act, the assigned Homicide investigators will provide their reports to the Fire Department's Investigation Unit for final disposition.

Revised 2/03; Revised 07/07; Revised 3/16

353.0 Sex Offenses

Sex offenses are classified as either primary or secondary. Primary offenses involve physical contact between the victim and the offender. Rape, sodomy and child molestation is examples of primary sex offenses. Secondary sex offenses are crimes, which involve no physical contact between the victim and offender, for example, obscene calls, and indecent exposure and peeping Tom offenses.

Both primary and secondary sex offenses are "crimes against persons" and require thorough investigation and documentation. Victims of these offenses usually suffer psychologically and sometimes suffer physically. Fear and embarrassment are also common reactions. Consequently, all victims will be treated with respect and efforts will be made to conduct the investigation as professionally as possible.

353.10 Responsibilities of the First Officer at the Scene

The first officer at the scene will provide for the immediate needs of the victim. If necessary, advise Communications to dispatch an ambulance to transport the victim to the hospital. After assessing and providing for medical needs, provide emotional support. Calm and reassure the victim while obtaining suspect information if the incident recently occurred and there is a chance of apprehending the suspect. Advise Communications of suspect information.

If a male officer is assigned to the call, he should not routinely request that the call be reassigned to a female officer. In some cases it is of greater benefit to the victim if a male officer is able to establish rapport with her and provide for her needs and emotional support. If a male officer is unable to establish such rapport, or if the victim requests a female officer, then the call should be reassigned.

Locate the site of the sexual assault and protect the crime scene. If the scene is located, start the crime scene log book and contact crime scene technicians to process the scene.

Officer notifies his supervisor. The supervisor will determine if a Sex Crimes Supervisor should be contacted.

Advise the victim to NOT bathe, change clothes or drink fluids until after the sexual assault examination. Medical personnel will collect clothing items and biological specimens from the victim at the hospital. It is extremely important for the medical examination to be conducted as soon as possible. However, before leaving for the hospital, the officer will brief the assisting officer assigned to stand by the scene. The officer who remains at the scene must be familiar with the case facts in order to assist the crime scene technicians.

When the victim of the sexual assault/abuse is a young child, or is mentally retarded, with the mental development of a young child, the assigned officer(s) should interview the victim sufficiently to establish the elements of the crime and take whatever action is appropriate. However, an in depth interview should be deferred to the Sergeant assigned to conduct the follow-up investigation, in the interest of protecting the child from as much emotional trauma as possible.

353.20 Transportation to the Hospital

The victim's clothing will become evidence and will be held in most instances; therefore, the officer should advise the victim to take a change of clothing to the hospital.

If necessary, provide transportation to the hospital for the victim. The victim may prefer to ride with a friend or relative, which is permissible. However, discourage the victim from driving herself to the hospital. An officer must meet the victim at the hospital in order to sign the evidence collection form.

Females and males, 14 years of age or older, are generally treated at University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center; females and males under 14 years of age are treated at The Children's Hospital of Oklahoma.

Revised 3/97

353.30 Forensic Evidence

If the victim insists upon seeking treatment at another hospital, determine if the physician there is willing to collect the evidence and has a Sexual Assault Evidence Collection Kit. If no kit is available, one can be obtained from the Sex Crimes office, Forensic Lab or one of the participating hospitals.

In order to maintain the chain of custody, the officer who accompanies the victim to the hospital is responsible for ensuring the Sexual Assault Evidence Kit is properly booked. The officer will transport the Sexual Assault Kit to Police Headquarters, 2nd floor Serology drop box located around the corner from the drug drop box. Prior to placing the Sexual Assault Evidence Kit in the Serology drop box, the officer will ensure the kit has been placed in the plastic bag included in the Evidence Kit. The officer should also ensure the Sexual Assault Report, completed by the Sexual Assault Nurse or the treating physician is placed in the plastic bag, outside of the Evidence Kit. The submission of the evidence must be documented in a report.

If the officer who accompanies the victim to the hospital is unable to remain with the victim until the rape examination is complete, the officer's supervisor will ensure the Sexual Assault Evidence Kit is collected and transported to the Serology drop box. The officer or supervisor who submits this evidence must document it in a report.

The Crime Scene Investigator will ensure the victim's clothing and other evidence obtained from the examination at the hospital, are secured and submitted for analysis as specified in OCPD Procedure 184.50-184.59. The submission of the evidence must be documented in a report. If a Crime Scene Investigator is not available to respond to the call, the field supervisor will ensure the victim's clothing and other physical collected from the scene and the exam of the victim is submitted in accordance with OCPD Procedures 184.50-184.59.

In cases involving physical injury to the victim, request a Crime Scene Investigator to obtain photographs of the injuries under their guidelines. If a Crime Scene Investigator is not available to process the scene, the field supervisor shall contact the on-call Crime Scene Unit Supervisor. If the decision is made to not have a Crime Scene Investigator respond, the field supervisor shall take pictures of the victim with a digital camera. The disk containing the pictures shall be submitted to the Digital Imaging Lab of the Crime Scene Unit.

If the victim was bitten during the assault, advise Communications to contact the odontologist (forensic dentist) on call and have him/her proceed to the hospital. It is very important to request medical personnel not to disturb the bite wound area until after the odontologist examines the wounds.

When the officer transports the victim to the hospital, he/she should determine if the victim has a way home after the sexual assault examination is completed. The officer will transport the victim home if transportation cannot be arranged.

Conduct a preliminary interview of the victim and complete the Crime Incident Report. Most victims do not stay home alone after they have been sexually assaulted, so determine where the victim can be reached and include this information in the report for the follow-up investigators. A Victim's Rights Statement Card will be provided to the victim.

Revised 3/97; Revised 2/03

354.0 Kidnapping for the Purpose of Extortion

In every case of kidnapping for the purpose of extortion (where a demand for ransom is made), the safe return of the hostage or victim is the primary concern; apprehension and prosecution of the suspect is the secondary objective. These cases should be handled as discreetly as possible, unless there are witnesses to the actual abduction and a suspect or vehicle description is available for dissemination. Abductions where the motive is unknown or where there are witnesses will be handled as specified in 354.10.

The dispatcher or other person who receives the initial call will obtain from the caller the following information:

- A. Name and address of the caller.
- B. Name and address of the victim.
- C. Telephone number of the caller and of the victim.
- D. Description of the suspect.
- E. Details of the incident.

The reporting person will be asked to stay by the telephone and await an immediate return call by a member of the Investigations Division. The Commander of the Robbery/Homicide/Missing Persons Unit (or secondly, the Homicide Supervisor on call) will be contacted immediately and given all information. The Communications Shift Supervisor will also be informed of the situation. Unless there is suspect or vehicle information to be broadcast, there will be no press releases and no remarks on the police radio, unless cleared by the Homicide Supervisor.

The Communications Supervisor will see that no uniformed personnel are dispatched to the scene, unless cleared by the Robbery or Homicide Supervisor.

The Robbery/Homicide Commander or Supervisor will immediately contact the reporting person for further information, including:

- A. Is the victim really missing?
- B. What are the alternative locations where the victim might be found?
- C. Is there any reason to believe the complaint may be a hoax?

The Communications Commander will be notified of the current state of the case and what communications activity is to be expected.

The Chief of Police and Investigations Division Chief will be notified, as well as the FBI. The Commander of the Special Projects Group will also be contacted for assistance in conducting a discreet investigation into the possible location of the victim. This assistance will include telephone recordings and other intelligence gathering functions.

The Robbery/Homicide Commander or Supervisor on-call will direct the investigation.

All other officers WILL NOT drive by or make contact with the reporting party, except as ordered by the supervisor directing the investigation. Special care should be taken to avoid the dissemination of information to unauthorized persons. The PIO should be contacted, briefed and kept updated as the case progresses. The release of case information to the news media should be postponed until such release will not jeopardize the hostage.

354.10 Kidnapping / Abduction Cases Where Motive is Unknown or Where the Abduction was Witnessed

These cases where suspect/victim/vehicle information is present and ready for dissemination must be handled differently than a ransom case. These cases require the rapid dissemination of information by the Law Enforcement Communications Network, i.e., information bulletins, NCIC entry; Teletype messages (statewide, regional, national, etc.).

The first officer on the scene will contact the dispatcher or RACOM and request that a general broadcast be made on all frequencies of the available description of:

- A. Victims
- B. Suspects
- C. Vehicles
- D. Any other pertinent information.

This officer will immediately contact by telephone (or radio if a phone is not available) CIU Unit 800, and give them the same information for entry into the Police Communications Network.

CIU or Unit 800 will enter the available information into the Network:

- A. All pertinent information such as victim/suspect/vehicle descriptions, etc., will be sent by a Teletype all-points bulletin, Statewide or Nationwide as the situation warrants.
- B. The victim will be entered into NCIC as a Missing Person.
- C. If applicable, all vehicle descriptions will be entered into the NCIC Felony Vehicle File. This includes the victim's and/or the suspect's vehicle.

An Investigations Bureau supervisor will be notified to supervise the follow-up investigation. Investigators assigned to the case will monitor and update the Police Communication Network through Unit 800. The monitoring and updating will include, but not be limited to, additional information, upgrading of the broadcasts or canceling all or part of the information.

355.0 Wire Taps – Illegal

When an illegal wiretap is suspected or detected, officers shall leave the device intact without disturbing it and contact a Criminal Intelligence supervisor, who will initiate an appropriate criminal investigation.

360.0 Probable Cause Affidavit

The Oklahoma City Police Department has instituted a policy of completing a probable cause affidavit for each and every prisoner placed in the county jail on a state misdemeanor or state felony charge. A supervisor is responsible for reviewing the probable cause affidavit and authorizing the hold for state charge(s). The probable cause affidavit prepared by the arresting officer shall be reviewed and approved by the supervisor when all elements of the crime are present.

The probable cause affidavit should include:

- A. Location of the arrest, including county;
- B. Actions of the arrested person;
- C. Circumstances of the arrest;
- D. All elements of the crime; and

E. Arresting officer's commission number and signature.

For certain crimes, the officer may be required to include specific information on the probable cause affidavit that exceeds the five general required items listed above.

Once the affidavit has been completed and approved by a supervisor, the arresting officer must print it and present it to the Inmate Processing Unit data entry clerk upon booking the arrested person into the county jail. Any person(s) arrested on probable cause (without an arrest warrant) for a state misdemeanor or state felony crime will not be booked into the county jail without a completed probable cause affidavit and booking form at the time of the booking procedure.

If a state charge(s) is to be added or changed by an officer or investigator after the initial booking, a separate handwritten probable cause affidavit and handwritten supplemental booking form must be completed for the new state charge(s) to be added to the jail blotter under the arrested person's name.

Revised 9/95; Revised 9/05; Revised 10/15; Revised 12/19

361.0 Probable Cause Affidavit(s) – Specific Charges

361.05 Probable Cause Affidavit – Drug Charges

An officer, who arrests an individual for any drug violation, must perform a field test on the drug(s) and obtain a positive indication for the drug. The officer is responsible for including this information in the probable cause affidavit. The jail provides supplies used for field-testing cocaine, methamphetamine, amphetamines and heroin. Marijuana can be identified by an officer's observation and description. All other drugs should be identified by name in the probable cause affidavit.

Adopted 9/95; Revised 10/15

361.06 Probable Cause Affidavit – After Former Conviction (AFC)

Any charge involving an arrest with "After Former Conviction" must be documented by the arresting officer. The jurisdiction and date of the former conviction must be included in the probable cause affidavit.

Adopted 9/95; Revised 10/15

361.07 Probable Cause Affidavit – Driving Under the Influence, After Former Conviction (DUI-AFC)

An arrest for Driving Under the Influence with an "After Former Conviction" must be documented by the arresting officer. The jurisdiction and date of the former conviction must be included in the probable cause affidavit.

Adopted 9/95; Revised 10/15

361.08 Probable Cause Affidavit – Violation of Victim Protection Order (VPO)

If an officer arrests an individual for Violation of a Victim Protection Order, there must be documentation indicating the date the VPO was granted by the Court. In the event the VPO was issued from another county, the arresting officer should contact the Sheriff's Office in that county and obtain the date the VPO was granted. The information must be included in the probable cause affidavit.

Adopted 9/95; Revised 10/15

361.09 Probable Cause Affidavit – OCPD Information Bulletin

An officer who issues an information bulletin is responsible for listing the elements of the crime and enough information to establish probable cause for the arrest of the individual named in the bulletin. The arresting officer will obtain this information from the bulletin and include it in the probable cause affidavit prior to booking the person into jail.

Adopted 9/95; Revised 10/15

362.0 Probable Cause Hearing Procedure

The Inmate Processing Unit is responsible for ensuring every probable cause affidavit presented by an arresting officer is notarized prior to the officer booking a person into jail on a state misdemeanor or state felony charge. The Inmate Processing Unit will temporarily retain notarized probable cause affidavits and make two copies of them. One copy will be sent to Records with a copy of the original booking sheet and one copy will be scanned and uploaded into SharePoint by the Inmate Processing Unit.

Once a day, the Inmate Processing Unit will prepare a docket containing the names of persons booked into jail on state charges within the previous twenty-four (24) hours. The docket should correspond, both by name and charges, with the probable cause affidavits retained in SharePoint.

The Inmate Processing Unit will provide the docket and original probable cause affidavits to the Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office. The Sheriff's Office will in turn present them to the assigned district judge for probable cause determination. The docket indicating the judge's probable cause determinations will be returned to the Inmate Processing Unit. The Inmate Processing Unit will then update RMS to include the judge's probable cause determinations.

Adopted 9/95; Revised 10/15; Revised 12/19

370.0 Property Management Unit

This procedure establishes standards to ensure items accepted by the Property Management Unit are properly documented, booked and stored. This procedure ensures the facility is properly secured to support the preservation, chain of custody and disposition of evidence in all criminal cases and requires regular inspections and audits to verify the integrity of the unit's processes.

Adopted 12/90; Revised 07/07; Revised 2/20

370.10 Accepting Property for Booking and Storage

Property Management Unit (PMU) personnel shall ensure compliance with proper procedures prior to accepting property for booking and storage.

The Property Management Unit reserves a right of refusal for any property not accurately documented at the time of initial booking or when the property is returned from being checked out. Property not booked in accordance with established department procedures will not be accepted for booking until the discrepancies are corrected. Items will be inventoried and stored, but not officially booked until all corrections are made.

PMU personnel will inventory all property received except items secured with an evidence seal or a package which is commonly sealed with tape and initialed by the officer booking evidence.

PMU personnel will document the location where the property is stored within RMS and ensure all property items are properly documented and updated in RMS.

Revised 12/90; Revised 07/07; Revised 1/16; Revised 2/20

370.20 Security of the Property Management Unit Facility

PMU personnel may only access those areas of the PMU facility they are authorized to enter. Any other persons seeking or requesting access into the secured portions of the PMU must:

- A. Receive authorization from the PMU supervisor or designee before entering or being granted access;
- B. Complete the Security Control Log Sheet to include:
 - 1. Full name;
 - 2. Agency/employer;
 - 3. Department/unit (if applicable);
 - 4. Date;
 - 5. Time in;
 - 6. Purpose;
 - 7. Time out; and
- C. Be escorted and accompanied by PMU personnel at all times.

Unauthorized access is strictly prohibited.

Property Room personnel shall be responsible for maintaining security of the property storage areas by keeping all doors locked and all alarms set on areas not occupied by PMU personnel. Keys to the PMU shall not be reproduced or made available to anyone other than assigned personnel without written authorization from the Property Management Unit supervisor.

Revised 07/07; Revised 1/16; Revised 2/20

370.30 Inspections and Audits

The Property Management supervisor shall ensure a random inspection of property and records relating to the property is conducted at least semi-annually.

An audit of property and evidence will be conducted any time the Property Management supervisor is transferred, retires, or is otherwise replaced. The incoming supervisor and a designee of the Chief of Police will conduct this audit.

A supervisor who is not routinely or directly connected with the control of property and evidence will be appointed by the Chief of Police to conduct an annual audit of property and records. That person will report the findings directly to the Chief. In addition, an unannounced inspection will be conducted by the Staff Inspections Unit at least once a year.

Inmate Processing Unit

380.0 Introduction

The Oklahoma City Police Department, in conjunction with the Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office, operates a jail facility as outlined and approved by the Oklahoma Crime Commission through legislative action.

The goal of the Oklahoma City Police Department is to provide training for Inmate Processing Unit employees; to maintain the authorized level of staffing; and to comply with 100% of the applicable State Jail Standards.

The Inmate Processing Unit (IPU) provides priority support to police line units. Support is also provided to the Courts, officers of the Court, rehabilitative services, and to the public.

The IPU administrator is a Police Captain, also known as the Jail Commander, who has overall responsibility for the operation, implementation and enforcement of these policies and procedures. The Jail Commander reports to the Laboratory and Support Services Division Commander.

Revised 8/99

381.0 Intake of Prisoners

The goal is to provide for the effective and speedy intake of prisoners; to ensure an intake health screening of prisoners through inquiry and observation; and admit prisoners who do not require emergency treatment.

Adopted 8/99

381.05 Identification Technicians

Responsibilities include, but are not limited to, processing of prisoners for identification and the comparison of fingerprints through the use of the AFIS Computer and Digital Photo Lab. See SOP for further duties.

Adopted 1/06

381.10 Police Officer

Upon arrival, all weapons and contraband are secured in the lockers prior to entering the secured area of the facility. The officer places all personal property of the prisoner on the property counter and verifies by signature the collection of the property by an Oklahoma County Detention Officer. The property is sealed in a property bag. The prisoner is then thoroughly searched and secured in the holding area.

An officer shall not bring to the County Jail any prisoner who is obviously in need of immediate health care, but first takes the prisoner to an approved emergency health care institution for treatment. The IPU Lieutenant will be provided with a hospital release form at the time of booking.

If an arrested person is eligible to be released on bond, the arresting officer shall escort the person to the Public Counter of the Municipal Courts (or other designated location) and allow the person to post bond and then be released according to the restrictions of the bond. Booking and incarceration are not necessary so long as applicable bonding requirements are met.

422.0 Planning and Research Unit

The Planning and Research Unit supports Command Staff by performing functions listed in Planning and Research Standard Operating Procedures, Section 300.00.

Revised 2/98; Revised 9/05

423.0 Staff Inspections Unit

The Staff Inspections Unit is established in order to assure that the policies of the Chief of Police are complete, current and objective and further, to assure that compliance with directives is prevalent throughout the Oklahoma City Police Department. The Staff Inspections Unit is organizationally assigned to the Office of Administration and will function as a unit to improve the overall performance of the Department.

The purpose of the Staff Inspections Unit is to provide a management tool to the Chief of Police by conducting comprehensive review and analysis of departmental operations, procedures, personnel and facilities. The primary objective of the Unit is to enhance maximum efficiency and utilization of departmental resources. Further, the Staff Inspections Unit will assist in recognizing commendable performance by units of our Department and will assist the various operational units in more effectively communicating and interfacing with one another. The focus of this unit is to attempt to identify potential problems throughout the Police Department before they occur and to make recommendations for improvements and/or to prevent the occurrence of problems.

The Staff Inspections Unit will, upon the charge of the Chief of Police and the City Manager, conduct special examinations and investigations within areas of the government of the City of Oklahoma City outside the Police Department. Reviews of this nature may be either administrative or criminal in nature, and will be reported through the Office of the Chief of Police to the City Manager. It is anticipated that through the discharge of this function, the Staff Inspections Unit will contribute to the maintenance of the highest possible levels of integrity and efficiency within all governmental units of The City of Oklahoma City.

Revised 2/98

423.10 Authority and Independence

The scope of inquiries performed by the Staff Inspections Unit includes all areas of Police Department operations and administration. Therefore, the Inspectors assigned to this Unit will from time to time find the need to review various departmental records and interview Departmental personnel during the performance of an inspection or audit. The Office of Administration Commander and the Staff Inspections Unit will have full, free, and unrestricted access to all Departmental functions, records, property and personnel. Inspectors will be permitted to review and appraise policies, plans, procedures, and records of the Department. The complete cooperation of all affected personnel will lend itself to a more complete, accurate and expeditious inspection.

None of the functions of the Staff Inspections Unit will serve to relieve the various supervisors and administrators of the Oklahoma City Police Department from the performance of line of staff inspections. Indeed, the most comprehensive inspections must be conducted at the operational level, where the primary responsibility for control rests. Inspection and quality control are not and cannot be performed by a single unit within our Department. They must, of necessity, permeate the entire organization.

423.20 Responsibilities of the Staff Inspections Unit

The Staff Inspections Unit will be responsible for the following activities:

- A. Establishing policies for the inspection activity and directing its technical and administrative function.
- B. Developing and executing a comprehensive inspection program for the evaluation of management control for all Department activities.
- C. Performing the inspection in a professional manner and in accordance with the approved inspection program guide.
- D. Examining the effectiveness of all levels of management in their stewardship of departmental resources and their compliance with established policies and procedures.
- E. Surveying functions and activities in assigned areas to determine the nature of operations and the adequacy of the system of controls to achieve established objectives.
- F. Recommending improvements of management controls designed to safeguard departmental resources, improve operational systems and methods.
- G. Reviewing procedures and records for their adequacy to accomplish intended objectives, and appraising policies and plans relating to the activity or function under review.
- H. Publishing and distributing reports on the results of inspections and audits, including recommendations for improvements, as directed by the Chief of Police.
- I. Appraising the adequacy of the action taken by operating management to correct reported deficient conditions; accepting adequate correction; continuing reviews with appropriate management personnel or action considered inadequate until there has been a satisfactory resolution of the matter.
- J. Assisting operating line units in the planning and analysis of their formal reports of line inspections to note deficiencies and strengths.
- K. Conducting special examinations and investigations within the Department and within other areas of the government of the City at the direction of the Chief of Police.

423.30 Inspection Methodologies

Since all operations relative to the Police Department must be subject to managerial control, inspections should be conducted to include everything in the Department's range of operation. The wide diversity of operational functions within this Department mandates different types of inspection formats to adequately measure varying unit's effectiveness. The Staff Inspections Unit will employ the following methodologies of inspection.

423.32 Staff Inspections

Staff Inspections will focus upon a single entity (Unit, Detail, Division, or Bureau) within this Department. During such as inspection, areas of examination would include:

“Is this unit in compliance with the applicable departmental policies and procedures?”

“Does this unit have written internal procedures in place?”

“Does this unit follow their own written procedures?”

“How can this units performance regarding their compliance with policies and procedures be improved?”

When in this format, answers to these questions will be sought through examination of the entity's internal records, interviews with personnel within the unit, and direct observation of the operation of the Departmental entity.

Revised 2/98

423.34 Internal Audits

The Internal Audit format will be employed to analyze a particular departmental entity much as a Staff Inspection would. The audit will be used in areas, which lend themselves to quantified numerical analysis. Such an audit might be performed on an entity dealing heavily with fiscal and financial matters, but need not be limited to such entities. Operational audits can be conducted for all Departmental elements to determine if management controls are effective and are in compliance with written policies, procedures and directives, so as to achieve that element's goals and the goals of the Department. The audit format seeks voluntary compliance with Departmental policies and procedures and takes note of noncompliance, but also recommends means of improvement which have been mutually arrived at by the auditor and the element being audited.

When performing an internal audit, the Staff Inspections Unit is concerned with any phase of departmental activity where it can be of service to the Chief of Police. This involves going beyond the accounting and financial records to obtain a full understanding of the operations under review. The attainment of this overall objective involves such activities as:

- A. Reviewing and appraising the soundness, adequacy, and applications of accounting, financial, and other operating controls, and promoting effective control at reasonable cost.
- B. Ascertaining the extent to which assets are accounted for and safeguarded from losses of all kinds.
- C. Ascertaining the reliability of management data developed within the Department.
- D. Appraising the quality of performance in carrying out assigned responsibilities.
- E. Recommending operating improvements.

423.36 Trace Inspections

A Trace Inspection attempts to follow a particular law enforcement event or occurrence through the entire police "system" with the objective of determining where and why the system breaks down and fails to accomplish its goals. For instance, this type inspection might examine a major kidnapping from the inception of the call for police into communications through the uniformed officer's participation, through the Investigative Bureau's activities, etc. All components of the Police Department, which participated in any manner in the particular case under review, would have their actions analyzed, including Technical Investigations, Detention, Property Room, Records, etc. By its design, the Trace Inspection is then a systems analysis of the entire police operation, which focuses upon the points of interface among the various units of the Department and attempts to locate weak points or areas of risk.

At the direction of the Chief of Police, a Trace Inspection can be conducted regarding a specific, high-profile police case, or can be conducted under a randomly selected call for police service. A partial Trace Inspection can also be conducted to review a limited area of police involvement. For example, a partial Trace Inspection could be performed relating to a piece of evidence taken into custody by an officer in the field. The trace might seek to analyze the handling of that evidence by the field officer, the property management facility, and the assigned investigating officer.

Revised 2/98

423.38 Compliance Inspections

Compliance Inspections will be conducted only at the direction of the Chief of Police. When, in the Chief's judgment, some significant deficiencies have been identified within an entity of the Department by a previous inspection or audit, the Chief will direct the Staff Inspections Unit to conduct another inspection or audit of that entity. The purpose of the Compliance Inspection is to determine whether or not the deficiencies previously identified have been addressed and/or corrected.

Revised 2/98

423.40 Inspection Process

423.42 Scheduling of Inspections

It is the goal of the Staff Inspections Unit to inspect or audit each operating unit of the Department. Such inspections will normally be conducted on a rotating basis. Additionally, certain cash handling operations will be audited more frequently, such as petty cash, evidence money, etc. In addition to the normal rotation process, special inspections and examinations will be conducted at any time at the specific direction of the Chief of Police. Any supervisor, upon identifying a specific area of need or deficiency, can request through the chain-of-command that the Staff Inspections Unit conduct a special audit or inspection. Such requests will be reviewed by the Chief of Police and upon the Chief's discretion; such a special examination will be conducted.

Revised 2/98

423.44 Notification of Upcoming Inspection

Regular inspections and audits will be announced two weeks prior to their initiation by engagement letter to the Commander of the unit to be inspected. This letter will set forth the scope of the inspection/audit, the date upon which an on-sight review will be initiated, and the anticipated completion date of the inspection. At that time of the receipt of the engagement letter, a series of questions or interrogatories may be delivered to the Commander of the affected unit. The purpose of such interrogatories is to allow the affected unit time to collect data and records to be reviewed by the Staff Inspections personnel prior to their arrival in order to minimize disruption of the unit's normal business during the on-site inspection or audit.

Unannounced or "surprise" inspections and audits will not normally be conducted unless specifically directed by the Chief of Police.

Revised 2/98

423.46 On-Site Inspections

Upon the arrival of the Staff Inspections personnel in the work place to be inspected or audited, a pre-inspection interview with the Commander of the affected work unit will be conducted. The Commander will be given details of the scope of the inspection or audit and will be advised of the methodologies to be employed. Every effort will be made not to disrupt the normal course of business of the unit; however, Inspectors will be given access to all records requested and will be afforded the opportunity to privately interview any employee upon request.

Since it is imperative that the Unit Supervisor and/or Commander be aware of any irregularities and deficiencies detected during an inspection, every effort will be made to keep them informed during the course of the inspection. This should normally occur during the inspection process by virtue of the fact that the Unit Supervisor/Commander will be assisting in that process for clarification purposes. Additionally, every effort will be made to discuss the findings of the inspection with the Unit Supervisor or Commander at the conclusion of the on-site inspection. Such exit interviews will be conducted in the normal course of an inspection/audit whenever feasible.

Revised 2/98

423.48 Inspection Reports

Upon completion of the inspection, an Inspection/Audit report will be prepared by the Staff Inspections Unit and submitted to the Chief of Police within two weeks of the completion date.

In addition, the applicant must graduate from the Police Academy as well as successfully complete the Field Training and Evaluation Program before the incentive is awarded.

If hired, and upon completion of the Field Training and Evaluation Program, the training staff will generate to the officer's Division Commander a memo recommending three days off with pay.

2. All weapons will be inspected by the Range Master, his/her assistant or designee before any firing. Even a new handgun can malfunction and an officer should not attempt to fire it until it has been inspected.
3. Snapping or dry firing behind the firing line is strictly prohibited except in the designated dry fire area and with permission of the Range Master or his/her assistant.
4. Blank ammunition or ammunition of uncertain origin will not be allowed on the range unless authorized by the Range Master or designee.

Conversation behind the firing line will be kept to a minimum. Those not shooting must remain at a safe distance behind the firing line.
6. If you are spoken to while on the firing line, listen, but do not turn around. If you do not understand a command, raise your off-gun hand.
7. In case of a misfire with a revolver: Continue firing until that round has been struck again. 14. When drawing the weapon, the trigger finger or any finger, WILL NOT be inserted into the trigger guard and/or on the trigger until the weapon is pointed down range and is ready to be fired. Speed is not as important as first shot accuracy when drawing and firing the gun in a rapid manner.
15. No one will proceed from the firing line to the targets until all firearms are holstered and the command to go forward has been given by the tower or the principle line officer. NO ONE is to bend down on the line or turn away from the line until the command is given.
16. All shooters and observers will wear hearing and eye protection during any firing.

Requests by OCPD Personnel and other Law Enforcement Agency Personnel

OCPD personnel and other law enforcement agencies have access to all reports kept in the Records Unit, except homicides and/or questionable deaths. The initial incident report, any arrest report, and reports made by the requesting officer will be released on homicides and/or questionable deaths. Additional reports and information will be released by court order or with the approval of the Homicide Unit.

Requests by Department Employees

The requesting employee will come to the Records Unit counter and complete the “Dissemination Log” prior to receiving information or the report requested.

After the requesting employee completes the Dissemination Log, the counter clerk will search RMS, locate the BR microfiche and produce documents to be released to the requestor from the archived reports or the scanned information. All reports released to OCPD personnel will be stamped appropriately.

Requests from Outside Agencies

Law enforcement officers from outside agencies will complete the OCPD records request form and documents will be produced according to the above procedure. All reports released to outside law enforcement personnel will be stamped appropriately.

Requests for Incident Reports by Civilians

The requestor will complete an application request for records inspection or copy request with reasonable information and signature.

The counter clerk will ensure the request form has adequate information to identify the requested incident report. The requestor will be informed of the fees for copies of police documents. Fees will be assessed in accordance with the department’s current fee schedule. The counter clerk will collect the appropriate fees and produce a receipt.

Confidential information shall not be released. Confidential information includes, but is not limited to, the following:

The requestor will complete an application request form with all available information.

The counter clerk will ensure the request form has correct information, including the full name, date of birth, race, sex and social security number, if available, of the person whose record they are requesting.

The counter clerk will check through the computer system and the Manix fiche using the provided information. Criminal history documents will be stamped with the arrest record. The counter clerk will refer to the municipal courts or district court for charges and disposition.

The counter clerk will then collect the appropriate fees in accordance with the fee schedule and produce a receipt.

City employment applications will be processed, stamped and returned to the requestor. A copy of the request and all arrest information will be given to a Records Unit supervisor.

470.0 Information Desk

The Police Information Desk operates from 0700 to 0300 hours daily and serves as a vital function of the daily operations of the Police Department. Its proper operation relieves the 911 Communications Unit of the responsibility of handling non-emergency telephone calls, thereby lowering the response time in answering these calls for service. It also serves as a central location for assisting and directing citizens.

470.10 Responsibilities

The Police Information Desk is responsible for:

- A. Keeping files on and releasing impounded vehicles;
- B. Completing incident reports for persons who come to headquarters to make a report after business hours and on weekends, when the Information Desk is staffed with two or more officers;
- C. Giving information and directions to persons who call or enter the building;
- D. Handling all non-emergency phone calls when the switchboard is closed;
- E. Ensuring building security outside of normal business hours;
- F. Monitoring fire, hold up, and intrusion alarms for Police Headquarters and the Municipal Court building;
- G. Maintaining a logbook and keys issued to authorized personnel for special vehicles, offices and the Police Department building.

Vehicle File

The vehicle file on the computer is used to track impounded vehicles, run vehicle registration, check vehicles for stolen against NCIC, and check jail records.

For instruction in the use of the computer, refer to the computer Vehicle File instruction book located at the Information Desk.

Special Instructions for Civilian Employees

Civilian personnel assigned to the Information Desk will not make arrests, but will instead call for a police officer when confronted with an incident which would necessitate an arrest.

Civilian personnel will not physically respond to intrusion or hold up alarms within the police facility. If an officer is not on duty at the desk when an alarm is activated, civilian personnel will notify 911 Communications of the alarm and request that a unit be assigned to respond to that alarm.

Telephone Use Restrictions

Use of the telephones at the Information Desk will be restricted to Information Desk personnel, supervisors, on-duty commissioned personnel and/or other City personnel, from outside the unit. All calls made by personnel not assigned to the Information Desk will be limited to official business only. Members of the public are not authorized to use a phone at the Information Desk except for in the case of an emergency.

Revised 1/96; Revised 2/20

470.30 Personnel Contacts

When an officer calls the Information Desk for another officer’s address and/or telephone number, Information Desk personnel will ask for the calling officer’s telephone number to verify their identification. If verification is made, only then will Information Desk personnel release the requested information.

If a member of the public calls for an officer’s address and/or telephone number, the Information Desk personnel will not release that information under any circumstances. If the person states it has to do with a current felony case being investigated by the officer requested and cannot be handled by a field officer, or a family member is calling to notify of an illness or death in the family, the calling party’s name and telephone number will be taken. Information Desk personnel will then notify the officer and relay the message. All other messages will be routed to the officer through e-mail or voicemail.

Information desk officers are responsible for completing incident reports for the walk-in public if no on-scene investigation report is required (e.g., a residential or business burglary or an assault requiring follow-up at the hospital). Information Desk personnel will take walk-in reports after business hours and on weekends when the desk is staffed with two or more officers. The Information Desk shall maintain a supply of forms which may be requested or utilized by members of the public (e.g., PD-16 forms).

472.0 Documentation of Impounded Vehicles

All vehicle impounds are documented within the RMS by completing an FBR impound form and attaching the vehicle registration and NCIC return information. Impounding officers are required to verify the vehicle's information for accuracy when completing an impound form in FBR at the time of impoundment.

Information Desk personnel are responsible for verifying the information imported into the impound record in RMS is accurate.

Information Desk personnel will be responsible for updating any changes and documenting the release of the impounded vehicle once notified of:

1. The release by the wrecker company; or
2. A released hold by the assigned investigator.

Holds on Impounded Vehicles

Holds will be placed on vehicles within the FBR impound form by the impounding officer. Holds placed on vehicles for a specific investigative unit shall be updated by the investigator within the RMS' Impound Report.

When a hold is released, the assigned investigator will fill out an Impounded Vehicle Hold Release Form and email or hand-deliver the form to the Information Desk. Information Desk personnel are responsible for faxing the form to the appropriate wrecker company and documenting the release within the RMS.

If there is a request for fee waiver, the assigned investigator will fill out a Waiver of Impounded Vehicle Cost and Fees and email or hand-deliver the form to the Information Desk. After obtaining this information, personnel will note on the form whether the vehicle has been reported stolen and the registered owner's name and address. If the vehicle has been reported as stolen, the form will be delivered to the Crime Information Unit so a recovery report can be completed by a field unit. State impounds will be entered and scanned into the RMS.

Whenever possible the Information Desk officer will respond to the alarm through the back entrance; assigned units will cover and/or enter through the front. Information Desk officer will maintain contact with the Communications Center and the assigned units at all times utilizing the portable police radio assigned to the Information Desk. The Information Desk officer will remain on call until the alarm is determined to be false or the officer is relieved by the field unit, which was assigned by the Communications Center.

These alarms will be activated only in cases of extreme emergency where imminent threat of great bodily harm is apparent. The panic alarm at the Information Desk when activated will result in a Field Unit being assigned by the Communication Center to assist the officers on duty. Should the danger dissipate prior to the field officer's arrival, Information Desk personnel will notify the Communications Center. All other panic alarms will be responded to by Information Desk personnel unless there is only one (1) officer on duty. In this event, the Information Desk officer will notify the Communications Center so a unit can be assigned to the call.

Revised 1/96

474.30 Police Headquarters Alarms

480.0 Permit and ID Section

Taxis and Vehicles for Hire

The Permit and ID Section will ensure that all drivers of taxis and vehicles for hire and their vehicles comply with municipal ordinances. It is the responsibility of this section to investigate complaints against these companies or their personnel.

Vehicle Inspections

Vehicles used by licensed companies are inspected for compliance with minimum equipment and safety standards, and at periods established by municipal ordinances. The inspector maintains accurate records of these inspections and spot checks vehicles as needed to confirm continued compliance with minimum standards. Vehicles successfully passing inspection are awarded an inspection sticker. Those that fail inspection are ordered to be removed from service until they comply with the requirements and pass inspection.

Processing of Driver Applications

Applications are submitted to the inspector on forms provided by the department. Taxi and vehicle for hire drivers must pay the appropriate fee and shall be issued a receipt.

Background Checks of Applicants

A background check is performed on each applicant to determine eligibility for the applied position as required by municipal ordinances. When this process is completed, the applicant may return to the inspector's office to have a permit issued. All applicants are given a photo ID which serves as a driver's permit.

Disapproval of Driver Applications

Applicants who are not approved are so notified in writing and, if requested, given information on how to effect an appeal of this denial. If the applicant requests an appeal, the inspector shall take the required steps to start the appeal process. The inspector shall then abide by whatever decision the License Appeals Board reaches.

Records

The inspector shall maintain accurate records of all applicants.

Processing of Complaints

The inspector investigates all complaints filed by either citizens or officers against any of those companies or personnel regulated by the inspector and reports findings to the Oklahoma City Traffic Commission. Complaints of a criminal nature are referred to the proper unit within the department for investigation. The inspector monitors these investigations for record keeping purposes and notes the findings in the appropriate file.

Fees Collected

The inspector will collect fees in accordance with municipal ordinances.

Revised 1/95; Revised 9/20

481.0 Alarm Enforcement

Purpose

The purpose of this procedure is to reduce the number of false alarms answered by the Police and Fire Departments. This is accomplished by registering alarm sites and keeping records on the number of alarms activated on each site, requiring those with an excessive number of false activations to be repaired.

Processing of False Alarm Reports

Alarm incidents are obtained from the Operations Bureau through the 911 Communications Unit. A daily report is extracted from the CAD system. Reports that show the alarm site to be secure, caused by employees or owner, disposition unknown, and duplicates are processed. Reports that show the alarm site to be a valid alarm, canceled (10-22'd) and unfounded are not processed.

Each alarm report processed is checked through the alarm program software for a valid permit number. Alarm sites without a valid permit number are mailed an application form and a letter explaining the municipal ordinance governing the registration of alarm sites. As these sites purchase alarm permits, the alarm reports are processed. A log is kept of all identified locations that have not come into compliance with the ordinance.

Alarm reports with permit numbers are entered into the alarm program software. An alarm site that has more than the allowed number of false alarms is mailed a letter advising the user to repair the system and report, in writing, what action was taken to prevent future false alarms. If the alarm site does not respond, in writing, a certified letter is mailed advising that their alarm permit is suspended, and they must disconnect or remove their alarm system. Suspended alarm sites are reinstated when a written statement is received that corrective action has taken place and the reinstatement fees paid.

Processing Applications for Permits

Applications for alarm permits are received through walk in traffic and the mail. Each application received is reviewed to ensure the information is complete and that the appropriate fee accompanies the application. A cash receipt is issued with each application. The applicant is given an alarm permit to post at the site, the receipt, and a letter explaining the alarm ordinance. The information on the application is entered into the alarm program software.

Revised 1/95; Revised 9/20

490.0 Communications Unit

490.10 Responsibility of the Communications Unit

The emergency communications system is a vital part of any Police, Fire and Emergency Medical operation. It is the first link between the person with the problem and the field personnel who can help resolve it most effectively. It also offers field personnel a degree of security through contact with headquarters and other field units. A dispatcher's ability to meet the rigid demands of reliability and attention to duties is a requisite that demands an above average individual. Strict attention to radio traffic is of critical importance in order to ensure safety and consistency of operation.

490.20 Assigning Calls for Service

Dispatchers are responsible for assigning and deploying field units to calls for police service during normal operations and within the guidelines of the Standard Operating Procedures. Field officers will carry out the assignments received from Communications personnel as if they were received directly from a superior officer. There are three exceptions to the rule:

- A. Assignments from dispatchers may be altered or countermanded by a field supervisor or other superior officer. It is important to note that the Field Supervisor has overall authority and responsibility for all field activity.
- B. Field officers, who have good reason to believe that a dispatcher directive entails a potential violation of law or Department policy, or an unnecessary risk to the safety of officers or the public, may so advise the dispatcher. The dispatcher's supervisor and the field officer's supervisor will handle the resolution. Non-urgent field officer complaints about a dispatcher must be handled through the appropriate chain of command.
- C. During tactical situations (i.e., high priority occurrences requiring the concerted and coordinated effort of two or more units) supervisory or command personnel in the field will assume direct responsibility for the assignment and deployment of police resources. If supervisory or command personnel are not readily available, the first field officer at the scene will assume control with assistance of the dispatcher. The dispatcher's responsibility during the tactical operation is to monitor closely and assist where needed.

Field supervisors who believe that the performance of a dispatcher is not adequate to a given situation will contact a Communications supervisor, not the individual dispatcher, for remedy.

490.30 Demeanor

The Public Safety Communications System is for official traffic only. Messages shall be brief and impersonal.

Use of first names or nicknames is not allowed. When necessary to refer to another person by name, use their title and last name.

Words or voice inflections that reflect irritation, disgust, sarcasm, or jokes are prohibited.

Courtesy is better expressed on the air by the tone of voice and manner of message presentation than by using the words "thank you", "you are welcome", or "please".

491.0 Personnel Duties and Responsibilities

The Communications Unit is located with the Emergency Management Unit in the Logistical Support Division of the Support Services Bureau. The unit is staffed by personnel of the following ranks:

- A. Captain - E911/EOC Commander
- B. Lieutenant - E911/EOC Coordinator
- C. Sergeant - Records Officer and MDT Coordinator
- D. Shift Supervisors / Assistant Supervisors
- E. Civilian Dispatchers
- F. Field Officers on temporary assignment.

491.10 Shift Supervisor

The Shift Supervisor has authority to make changes within the unit dealing with the organization of work assignment function to subordinates.

The Shift Supervisor is responsible for workload adjustments, which involve more than day to day changes, for planning to meet changes, and for proposing needed revisions in staffing levels in work priorities.

He schedules days off, vacations, daily areas or work assignments and makes adjustments as necessary. He coordinates subordinates' activities on all major crimes or incidents and normal duty assignments.

Shift Supervisors have authority to approve leave for his subordinates as set forth in the guidelines of the City Personnel Policy and the AFSCME contract.

The supervisor makes work assignments and arranges for and assists in the training of new personnel. He conducts investigations of complaints against subordinates; makes recommendations concerning re-assignments, recognition of outstanding performance, disciplinary problems and personnel needs.

491.30 Lieutenant

Lieutenants assigned to the unit must have knowledge of and perform a wide variety of law enforcement activities. The activities are related to Department policies, procedures and regulations, state and federal laws and city ordinances. Duties contained within this function generally consist of tasks requiring a high degree of decision making ability and good judgment.

Lieutenants are held accountable for the outcome of all actions taken by self and subordinates acting under their instruction.

491.40 Sergeant

Sergeants assigned to the communications unit are primarily responsible for the impoundment and safekeeping of recording tapes when requested by investigators, Municipal Counselors, or other interested parties. He assists the Lieutenant and Shift Supervisor with citizen complaints, work planning and organization, and review of work assignments. The sergeant assists other communications personnel whenever needed.

491.60 Security of Communications

The Communications area is designed and designated as a limited access area. Background noise in the Communications area hampers the dispatcher's ability to do his job.

Only the following will be freely admitted to the operations area:

- A. City Manager
- B. OCPD Police command & supervisory personnel
- C. OCPD Public Safety Communications personnel
- D. OCFD Fire command personnel
- E. Equipment repair and installation personnel

The on-duty supervisor or his designee will be held accountable for any unauthorized entry allowed.

Exceptions to this procedure may be made in any justifiable emergency situation.

The outer gate and doors to the Public Safety Communications Facility (EOC) will remain locked at all times.

GLOSSARY57

FOREWORD

The purpose of this plan is to establish standard procedures for managing emergency operations in the field. An emergency operation is any situation or circumstance, which requires substantial deviation from normally, assigned duties of personnel and equipment. In addition to the procedures contained in this manual, personnel should be guided by law as well as the Department's goals, philosophies, policies, and procedures.

This plan identifies the basic mission of the Police Department. Checklists are provided to guide supervisors in performing their mission and to insure tactical coordination.

Since each emergency operation is unique, the police response must be flexible. While extremely serious emergencies may require strict compliance with the procedural checklists contained in this manual, deviation for good cause is permitted for less serious incidents. In other words, our response should be dictated by the scope and severity of the incident.

MISSION STATEMENT

The men and women of the Oklahoma City Police Department are committed to enhance the quality of life and lessen the criminal fears of all citizens.

Utilizing the authority and safeguards of the Constitution of the United States and the freedoms cited in the Bill of Rights, the laws and statutes of the State of Oklahoma and the charter and ordinances of the City of Oklahoma City, we, the members of the Oklahoma City Police Department, will work cooperatively with all segments of the general public and government to provide a safe environment and preserve the peace.

This partnership is drawn on the premise that our product be one of service to all citizens with special focus toward solving real and perceived problems within the community. Our remedies and resources shall be from all levels of government, working in concert, to accomplish our desired goals. Thus, as a department of, and on behalf of, the City of Oklahoma City, we obligate ourselves toward becoming a catalyst for positive interaction between all services and functions of the City.

INCIDENT COMMAND SYSTEM

I PURPOSE

The Oklahoma City Police Department is the Municipal agency concerned with the preservation of life, the protection of property, and the enforcement of laws in the City of Oklahoma City. During certain incidents or events, the magnitude of the police response is so large that a standardized command system must be utilized.

The Incident Command System will provide for uniform communication, operational and tactical planning methodology and at the same time ensure operational efficiency during any police operation.

II APPLICATIONS

The ICS provides Police Personnel with a dynamic command structure for major incidents that could possibly require assistance from other Oklahoma City departments, as well as, surrounding agencies. The ICS should be used in all incidents and especially in the following incidents:

- Natural Disaster
- Civil Unrest
- Hazardous Material Incident
- Explosion / Bombing
- Mass Arrest Incident
- Mass Casualty Incident
- Major Transit Incident
- Penal Institution Disturbance
- Evacuation

III PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES

Under Oklahoma City's master emergency plan the Oklahoma City Police Department will have primary responsibility for law enforcement related incidents, evacuations, traffic control, and establishing perimeters.

The Police Department has secondary responsibility under the master plan for warnings, public information, shelter, damage assessment, emergency operations center, and hazard mitigation. The lead agencies will use ICS.

IV OPERATIONAL CONTROL – POLICE

At any incident where ICS is being used, an Incident Commander will be designated according to the principles of ICS. The Incident Commander will not necessarily be the highest-ranking command personnel but the most qualified. The Incident Commander will be responsible for command, communications, control, and tactical functions of the incident. ICS will be staffed and operated by trained personnel from our department and could involve personnel from a variety of outside agencies.

V PHASES OF EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

- A. Mitigation-Mitigation activities are those which eliminate or reduce the probability of a disaster occurring. It also includes those long-term actions, which lessen the undesirable effects of unavoidable hazards.
- B. Preparedness-Preparedness actions serve to develop the response capabilities needed in the event an emergency should arise. Planning, training, and exercises are among the activities conducted under this phase.
- C. Response-Response is the actual providing of emergency services during a crisis. These actions help to reduce casualties and damage, and speed recovery. Response activities include warning, evacuation, rescue, and similar operations.

- D. Recovery-Recovery is both a short-term and long-term process. Short-term operations seek to restore vital services to the community and to provide the basic needs of the public. Long-term recovery focuses on restoring the community to its normal, or improved, state of affairs. Examples of recovery actions include restoration of non-vital government services and reconstruction in damaged areas. The recovery period offers an opportune time to institute mitigation measures, particularly those related to the recent disaster.

VI MANAGEMENT PRINCIPLES

A. Manageable Span of Control

The span of control of any individual with emergency management responsibility is five under optimum conditions. When the span of control exceeds five, additional supervisory levels should be added. When the span of control exceeds seven, the volume of incoming information becomes unmanageable and supervisory control is reduced. The span of control may be increased depending on assignment and or training of responders, i.e. special units.

B. Unified Command Structure

Unified Command Structure affects command of police personnel in two ways:

1. Police Personnel should only receive orders from one superior. An employee that receives conflicting orders should follow the conflicting order and inform the issuing supervisor of the conflict. The issuing supervisor is responsible for informing the Incident Commander of the change of assignment.
2. Operations that require agencies in addition to the Police Department, including other City/State/Federal agencies, should include all agencies in determining incident objectives, selecting strategies, planning tactical activities, integrating tactical activities, and maximizing the use of available resources. The Incident Commander will make the final decisions and issue the orders for implementation, and the operations commander will implement the action plans.

C. Common Terminology

(See the Included Glossary)

D. Direction and Control

1. Command supervision is required at all incidents where ICS is utilized.
2. No freelancing. Freelancing is the undirected efforts of a supervisor and his personnel that may be in direct conflict with the strategy held by the Incident Commander. Freelancing by supervisory personnel involved in an ICS incident prevents coordination towards a common goal and hinders in the safety of employees involved in the incident. Emergency action for the preservation of life requiring personnel to leave their post is acceptable after the immediate supervisor has been notified.

E. Consolidated Action Plan

Every incident shall have some form of an action plan. Small incidents may only require directions from the Incident Commander and may not require a written action plan. An action plan must be written if:

1. Resources from multiple agencies are being used.
2. Several jurisdictions are involved; or

3. The incident requires changes in shifts of personnel and/or equipment. The action plan should cover all tactical and support activities.

F. Comprehensive Resource Management

Resources may be managed in three different ways, depending on the needs of the incident.

1. Single Resources - Individual special equipment such as bulldozers, cranes, fire engines, light units, etc. that will be assigned as primary tactical units. May be crews of individuals.
2. Task Forces - Any combination of resources temporarily assembled for a specific mission. All resource elements in a task force must have common communications (provided by the lead agency) and a leader. Forces must have transportation as required.
3. Strike Teams - A set number of the same kind and type, (such as ERT Squads), which have an established number of personnel.
4. There are three status' of resources:
 - a. Assigned
 - b. Available
 - c. Out of Service

G. Pre-Designated Incident Facilities

The Incident Commander or other section supervisor, based upon the requirements of the incident, may designate facilities to be established around the area. These include the Command Post staging area, aircraft landing site, incarceration facility, processing site for mass arrests or permits and passes, or rehabilitation area.

H. Integrated Communications

- I. Communications at major incidents are managed through the use of an incident-based communications plan established for the use of command as well as tactical and support resources assigned to the incident. Common terminology is essential in any Emergency Management System. Common names are used for personnel, equipment, and facilities except in tactical operations. Clear text is used in radio transmissions (No "Ten" codes in some instances).

J. Integrated Communications may consist of:

1. Handheld Radios
2. Mobile Phones
3. Mobile Data Terminals
4. Other as deemed necessary

VII INCIDENT COMMAND SYSTEM MODULAR ORGANIZATION AND COMMAND POSITION RESPONSIBILITIES

As designed, the ICS can be expanded in a modular fashion based upon the type and magnitude of an incident. The organization's staff builds from the top down with responsibility placed on the Incident Commander. As the need develops, separate groups can be established, such as operations, planning, logistics, and finance. The organizational structure selected for a particular incident will depend upon the management needs of the incident. If one individual can simultaneously manage all major functional areas, no further organization will be required. If one or more of the areas requires independent management, an individual will be assigned to that area by the Incident Commander. ICS is not intended to establish an elaborate command structure for minor incidents.

The Chief of Police will appoint the Incident Commander, Liaison Officers, Finance Officer, and the Public Information Officer to the incident. General and specialized instructions will be provided as well.

A comprehensive system of personnel accountability will be maintained by the Operations Officer to ensure the safety and protection of all employees involved in an ICS incident.

X SPECIAL UNITS AVAILABLE FOR COMMAND FUNCTION

A. Command Post

Location - The Command Post serves as the location for command. It is the tactical and communications control center for an emergency incident. The Command Post should be located close to the incident unless the magnitude of the incident calls for the operation of the Emergency Operation Center. Revised 11/18

EMERGENCY MOBILIZATION PLAN

I PURPOSE

The Emergency Mobilization Plan is designed to notify personnel and require them to respond when an incident warrants their service.

II LEVELS OF RESPONSE

The level of response is dependent on the size and severity of the incident. Sufficient personnel must be summoned to bring the incident under control.

For purposes of these levels of response, all other units, groups, and divisions of the department are support to uniformed patrol. Uniformed patrol officers assigned to the ERT, Tact Team, and Command Post must be relieved if possible to report to staging areas as they are activated.

*Special units such as: ERT, Tact Team, and the Mobile Command Post may be summoned at any level. However, activation time must be considered when requesting these units.

*Special units such as Command Post, Tact Team, Processing Team, and ERT may be activated independently and at any time.

Level 1-The incident can be managed by on-duty officers and supervisor in the patrol division of the incident. Special Unit personnel are activated by the Division Major or Watch Commander.*

Level 2-The incident requires on-duty personnel from more than one patrol division. Personnel are activated by the Division Major or Watch Commander.*

Level 3-The incident requires the additional response of all on-duty uniform personnel in all Bureaus. Personnel are activated by the Operations Bureau Chief.*

Level 4-The incident requires the additional response of all on-duty non-uniform personnel. Personnel are activated by the Chief of Police.*

Level 5-The incident requires the activation of off-duty personnel. These personnel are activated by the Chief of Police.*

Level 6-The incident requires full departmental mobilization. This is a declaration of Local State of Emergency by Mayoral Action. All personnel will be activated by the Chief of Police.

Level 7-Declaration of a State of Emergency by Gubernatorial Action - State agencies and or National Guard are requested.

Level 8-Declaration of a State of Emergency by Presidential Action. Federal agencies and or military are requested.

III PROGRESSIVE RESPONSE AND COMMAND

As an incident escalates, so will the number of personnel involved. The following Chain of Command will be adhered to until the Chief implements ICS and identifies an Incident Commander:

First Officer on Scene
First Supervisor on Scene
Shift Commander
Watch Commander

Division Commander
Bureau Chief
Chief of Police

IV EMERGENCY CALL-BACK PROCEDURES

Each Division will maintain an updated emergency callback list with the address, home phone, and other communication numbers of their personnel. If necessary, the Chief or Incident Commander may direct the Public Information Officer to notify off-duty officers to report for duty via radio and television announcements.

V ALERT STATUS

Besides determining the level of personnel response needed to control the situation, other factors should be considered, as they become necessary in the alert status such as:

- A. Equipment Services will be contacted to speed up repair of downed vehicles and postpone preventive maintenance on equipment.
- B. Pool vehicles will be filled with gas and the keys will be located for issue.
- C. Administrative, investigative and other support personnel will have uniforms and equipment available.
- D. All personnel will monitor Channel 5 until assigned or otherwise informed.
- E. If communication by phone or radio is not available or permitted, responding officers should report to their work facility if possible. If it is not possible to report to their facility, they should report to the facility closest to theirs.
- F. Security and lock down of all police satellites.
- G. Use of police satellites for sheltering, resting, briefing, feeding, or triaging persons as well as processing mass arrests or setting up a temporary morgue.
- H. Preparations must be made for continuity of the government and continued police service to the City based on the priority issues.

VI DIVISIONAL RESPONSE TEAMS

Response teams will consist of sworn personnel (Police Officers and Sergeants) commanded by a Lieutenant. Ideally, response teams should consist of five (5) to seven (7) officers per Lieutenant. Division Commanders should identify and organize these teams and assign personnel as soon as possible. When deployed in field operations, these response teams will be assigned and accountable to the Shift Captain. Their assignment may vary depending on the type and magnitude of an incident. The Captain will inform his Commander of the location, status, resources, and equipment of his unit. The Captain will also document all of his actions in a report at the conclusion of the assignment or incident. These teams are activated by the Operations Bureau Chief.

VII DIVISIONAL RESPONSE TEAM CALL NUMBERS

When divisional response teams report to a location, confusion and difficulty in tracking personnel will result if the individual element numbers are used in all radio transmissions. The importance of response teams remaining as one unit cannot be overemphasized. When response teams report to an emergency incident, the following communications procedures will be implemented if possible:

- A. Individual element numbers of the members of the response team will no longer be used.
- B. Individual team members as well as response teams should communicate to each other or other units by MDT or mobile phone when possible.
- C. The team number should be based on the Lieutenant's call number such as: L412's, L125's, L210's, L333's, L774's etc. (i.e. all team members with L412 will be 412's - as 412-1, 412-2, 412-3, 412-4, 412-5).

VIII DUTY SHIFTS

At level 6 and above all affected personnel may be placed on an Alpha-Bravo shift rotation. Alpha-Bravo shifts will be 12 hours and every effort should be made to keep personnel from being held over after their shift ends. Alpha-Bravo shift rotation will be implemented by the Incident Commander through the Operations Officer.

CIVIL DISTURBANCE

I PURPOSE

The primary goals when handling any Civil Disturbance Incident are command, containment, communications, control, and conclusion. The Civil Unrest Plan may be used in conjunction with the Incident Command System and the Emergency Mobilization Plan.

II DEFINITION

Civil Unrest - Any domestic emergency such as a demonstration, strike, riot, and or public panic that has the potential of causing casualties or major damage to property.

III RESPONSE LEVELS

Level 1-The incident can be managed by on-duty officers and supervisor in the patrol division of the incident. Special Unit Personnel are activated by the Division Major or Watch Commander.

Level 7-Declaration of a State of Emergency by Gubernatorial Action - State agencies and or National Guard are requested.

Level 8-Declaration of a State of Emergency by Presidential Action. Federal agencies and or military are requested.

IV DEPARTMENT'S RESPONSE

When the City is confronted with a situation, which may escalate into a civil disturbance, the department must establish control of the situation by reacting quickly and committing sufficient resources to control the situation. Control must be established in all parts of the involved area so that there are no areas into which the department cannot go. Law violators must be arrested and their prosecution sought. Finally, the Department must remain in the affected areas with adequate personnel and equipment for a sufficient period of time after order is restored to convince all concerned that additional outbreaks will not be tolerated.

The Department will expend whatever resources are necessary to protect the rights of any person or group to conduct a peaceful and lawful demonstration at any location within the City. However, unlawful activity, whatever its guise, requires prompt and effective action by the department.

The tactics employed by dissidents engaged in disruptive activities frequently include efforts to draw the police and other public officials into responses likely to produce violence and injury to participants and thus garner support for their cause. It is therefore incumbent upon the department to cope with disruptive situations in a professional manner, which will minimize the potential for violent confrontations.

HAZARDOUS MATERIAL WEAPONS (NUCLEAR-BIOLOGICAL-CHEMICAL) (N/B/C)

I PURPOSE

To ensure that safe established procedures are followed while responding to an event concerning a hazardous material weapon. The goals in responding to this type of incident are protection of life, minimizing property damage, and containment of the weapon. The Oklahoma City Police Department and FBI will be unified lead agency.

II MISSION STATEMENT

The United States shall give the highest priority to developing effective capabilities to detect, prevent, defeat and manage the consequences of N/B/C materials or weapons used by terrorists.

III DEFINITIONS

Biological Weapons - Are regarded as infectious agents or toxins, which are pathogenetic to man. These substances possess the common ability to kill or incapacitate large numbers of people.

Chemical Weapons - Are compounds, which through their chemical properties produce lethal or damaging effects in man, animals, plants, or materials. They exist as solids, liquids, or gas and are classified by their effects: nerve, blood, choking, or blister agents. They are also divided into three broad classifications, sometimes referred to as lethal agents, incapacitating agents, and harassing agents.

Improvised Nuclear Device - A device incorporating radioactive materials designed to result in the formation of an explosive nuclear yield. Such devices may be fabricated in a completely improvised manner or may result from the sabotage, seizure, theft, or loss of an U.S. or foreign nuclear weapon.

Nuclear Weapon - A general name given to any weapon in which an explosion results from the energy released by reaction involving atomic nuclei, either by fission or fusion, or both. A nuclear weapon may be of U.S. or foreign manufacture.

IV RESPONSIBILITIES

- A. FBI - Within the United States, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been assigned the lead law enforcement operational role in responding to acts of nuclear/biological/chemical (N/B/C) terrorism or other criminal-related N/B/C incidents in which the FBI maintains jurisdiction. The FBI derives its fundamental legal jurisdiction to deter, investigate, direct, organize, and prepare for a N/B/C incident from an assortment of Federal statutes and executive branch directives.

Their duties include the coordination of contingency planning for national security emergencies beyond the capability of local law enforcement, and the development of terrorism related contingency plans.

- B. The listed agencies will support, facilitate, and assist the FBI as necessary to resolve such incidents:

1. Oklahoma City Police Department
2. Oklahoma City Fire Department
3. EMSA
4. Other entities as deemed necessary.

V FOUNDATION FOR THIS PLAN

Based on the specific details of an incident, at some time during the crisis, law enforcement responsibilities will be resolved or no longer be a priority and another Federal agency with consequence management responsibility for the incident will assume the role of the lead Federal agency. The probability of a major terrorist or other criminal-related C/B incident in the near future cannot be realistically quantified. However, based on a number of factors, it appears that the prospect of such an incident occurring in the United States is increasing.

VI WARNING

Officers coming into contact with N/B/C items, components, cultures, devices or forms should immediately notify:

Their Supervisor;
Communications;
FBI; and OCFD.

Avoid contamination. Gather intelligence on the threat if possible. Other plans will be activated as necessary such as setting perimeters, evacuations, etc. These N/B/C elements are classified as integral components for weapons of mass destruction. Accompanying the destruction, in all likelihood, will be mass casualties or fatalities. Response to these types of incidents or threats should be handled with extreme caution.

Bacterial Agents	Can be provided in the laboratory or purchased from a number of medical research firms. Dissemination would probably be accomplished by aerosol or natural dispersal such as food contamination. Infections are introduced through the respiratory tract. Incubation may last from one day to several weeks and the fatality rate for untreated cases may exceed 80 percent. Water supplies are particularly susceptible to contamination by strains of certain bacteria.
